DEBATERS PLAN ACTIVE YEAR UNDER DR. PAGE

Elliot Goldstan Appointed Manager; Partial Schedule is Announced

Thirteen men, eight of them with college debating experience, attended the first debate meeting of the year, called by Professor E. R. Page, Director of Debate, on Tuesday afternoon.

Professor Page reported on the annual meeting of Pennsylvania Colleges' Debating Association, held recently at Harrisburg, and also outlined schedules and questions for the coming year.

Those present included Jay Fay, Howard Mayer and Leroy Brininger, of the Senior class; Newton Danford, Elliott Goldstan, and Paul Fye, Juniors; LeRoy Garrigan, James Doyle and Hunter McKain, Sophomores, and Eugene Barth, Irvin Batdorf, Arthur Morris, and Lewis Marderness, of the Freshman class. Of this group, Elliott Goldstan was appointed manager of debate for the coming year, with Doyle and Garrigan as assistants.

Probable debates for the coming season include contests with St. Thomas College, Susquehanna, St. Francis, Gettysburg, Western Maryland, Ursinus, and Juniata, and one or two others. A full schedule will be announced later.

Among the debate topics chosen at the Harrisburg conference, the following probably will be discussed by teams from Albright:

"Resolved, That the Federal Government Should Own and Operate All Banking Institutions."

"Resolved, That The NRA Provisions Should be Made Permanent."

"Resolved, That the U. S. Should Recognize Russia."

"Resolved, That the Extraordinary Powers Conferred on the President by the 73rd Congress Should be Made Permanent."

Regular preparations for these debates will begin soon, under Professor Page's coaching.

Interest in a woman's debating team has not yet been determined, and any women who wish to take part in debate are urged to confer with the Director of Debate, so that he may make arrangements for intercollegiate contests.

PROF. H. G. BUCKWALTER ADDRESSES COLLEGE Y. M.

Professor Henry G. Buckwalter presented a short address on "N. R. A. and Education" at the weekly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. in the chapel on Wednesday, October 11. Mr. Buckwalter's address was followed by an interesting discussion period. It was gratifying to learn that quite a large group is interested in forming a research party for the purpose of studying how to apply Christianity to the economic problem.

HONOR IS CONFERRED UPON DEAN G. W. WALTON

Word was received during the summer of the conferring of an additional honor to George W. Walton, Dean of the college and professor of Botany and Geology. He has become a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

ANNUAL YM-YW SOCIAL WILL BE MASQUERADE

Special Musical Numbers and Hallowe'en Games to Feature Program

The annual "Y" masquerade social will be held in the college dining hall, Friday, October 27. The grand march begins at 8.00. All guests are urged to mask. Prizes will be awarded for the most original, most artistic, and most comical costumes.

Entertainment will consist of Hallowe'en games and special musical features. Refreshments appropriate to the season will be served.

The committee in charge consists of: Peg Wittmann, Catherine Winter, Jean Goodling, Lester Stabler, John Wiley, Marshall Brenneman, Robert Workman, Alfred Cooper, and Jan Van Driel. They predict an evening of fun for all.

Chaperones will be: Miss Innis, Mrs. Currier, and Dr. Gingrich.

Find a costume, wear a mask, and be there at 8.00!

BERKS COUNTY ALUMNI PLAN HALLOWE'EN PARTY

The Berks County unit of the Albright Alumni Association is planning a Hallowe'en party to be held at Freihofer's Hall. The party will take place on Thursday evening, October 26. The entertainment for the evening will be of a varied nature, among which will be cards and dancing.

The hall will be decorated with orange and black crepe paper, pumpkins and other novelties characteristic of Hallowe'en. Refreshments in keeping with the season will be served. All Alumni members are invited to attend the party. The committee in charge of arrangements is composed of Miss Emily Yocum, chairlady; Mrs. Early, Miss Emily Faust, Mrs. Florence S. Miller, and Adrienne Eisenbise.

The chapter is also planning to hold a large card party during the month of November at the Womens' Club or the Berkshire Hotel. This will be open to all Alumni and friends. The price of admission and the exact location will be announced at a later date.

Y. W. C. A. CONDUCT SUCCESSFUL FOOD SALE

The Y. W. C. A. food sale, held Wednesday evening in the Spanish dining room at Selwyn Hall, was a marked success. The committee reports a complete sell-out and a net profit of five dollars and five cents. This response received in their initial experiment has encouraged the organization to continue the sales. They propose sponsoring similar sales every two weeks.

The committee in charge of the Wednesday evening affair was composed of Ethel Sprinkle as chairman; Jean Goodling, Edith Jones, and Mary Bentz. In connection with this, the Y. W. wish to announce that they will have home-made candy for sale in rooms 210 and 305 of Selwyn Hall every day.

If the candy is as good as the food, it merits investigation.

NOTICE!

The Annual Alumni Home Coming Day at Albright College will be held this year, Saturday, November 25. Events, which include the annual tussle with Lebanon Valley College on the gridiron, are being planned by officials of the Alumni Association. Students are urged to keep this date in mind.

HOME EC. DEPT. TO OPEN LUNCH ROOM MONDAY

Department Will Serve Cafeteria Style Lunch From 12.30 to 1.30 P. M.

The Home Economics Department announces the opening of a lunch room, beginning Monday, October 23d, from 12.30 to 1.30 P. M.

There will be a choice of foods, including soups, sandwiches, salads, desserts, plate lunches, milk and beverages. The service will be cafeteria, but of special note is the service to day students who desire to "take their lunch out." For their convenience we pack a chosen lunch in paper containers.

The aim of the lunch room is to give the day student a better chance to get wholesome food at a low price. We especially urge them to either supplement their lunch, brought from home, with a hot soup or beverage or buy good food at a low price and save expenses.

Daily menus will be posted in all day student rooms.

The lunch room is being managed by the following Senior Home Economics girls:

Misses Kay Winters, Harriet Venus, Martha Flemlee, and Lillian Slater.

MR. H. DAVIS SPEAKS TO INT. RELATIONS CLUB

At the 4th meeting of the International Relations Club in Selwyn Hall, October 22, Mr. Harry Davis, of the Davis Real Estate Company, was the guest speaker. After he had discussed the well-organized objects of the NRA movement, which he described as propaganda in the war against depression, he emphasized its great achievements at present and its probable effects on the systems of other countries.

Mr. George Deininger, the new president, presided over a short business meeting. Tentative plans for future programs were discussed.

On October 26 Professor Von Aesch will speak to members and friends on the present situation in Germany.

DR. PAGE TO SPEAK AT FIRST QUILL MEETING

The Quill Club will meet for the first time this year on Tuesday evening, November 7, at 8 o'clock, in the lower social room of Selwyn Hall.

Dr. Eugene Page will be the speaker. The meeting will be open to the faculty, and all students, especially those who are majoring in English or interested in creative writing.

LIONS OPPOSE VILLANOVA IN FIRST HOME TILT

Red and White Aggregation Hope to Capitalize on Breaks to Upset Philadelphians

Albright's football huskies intend to open their winning season on the same date that they open their home season, when they meet Villanova on November 4.

Although the Lions' record thus far is not brilliant, neither does the Main Line appear to be in the throes of a spectacular season. Villanova has won two tilts, one a 45 to 0 massacre over the perennially weak West Chester Teachers and the other a 15 to 6 verdict eked out in the last quarter over a fair South Carolina aggregation. The Philadelphians were held to 7 to 7 stalemate by little Ursinus, and were robbed of a victory over Bucknell by a bad break, losing 19 to 17 on a blocked kick in the last minute of play. The faults which Albright displayed in their two losses on foreign fields, to Fordham and La Salle, will be ironed out, it is hoped, in the three weeks which precede the Villanova fray.

Villanova has a real backfield star in Captain Whitey Randour, who was good enough to rate All-American mention last year. Once Randour gets past the preliminary defense, it's tough stopping him. He dashed 77 yards for a touchdown against Bucknell, Saturday, and gained most of the ground against the Bisons. The Wildcats sport a trio of heavy, hard-charging fullbacks in Patzsch, Cook, and Weisenbaugh, and a smart quarterback, Cavanaugh.

Albright can parry Villanova's stars with a fast pony backfield, in which Co-Captain Stan Hino is the shining light, and a line starring Co-Captain Charley Karlovich and two tackle behemoths, Bailey Gass and Tom Hepler.

No foolhardy predictions may be entered for this contest, but be prepared to see a fighting Lion band which may capitalize on the breaks to upset the larger, favored Villanova squad.

SKULL AND BONE CLUB INITIATE NINETEEN

The ossified tissue forming the skeleton of most vertebrate animals as seen hanging about the necks of various Albright students this week does not indicate that they are suffering from a too thorough study of the ancient brontosaurus or uinatherium. It is the familiar sign of the Skull and Bones Society's initiation ceremonies. Nineteen pledges will be taken into the society at a final ceremony next week.

The officers of the society are: President, Kenneth A. Bergstresser; Vice-President, Melvin Lustig; Secretary-Treasurer, Douglass Sechler.

The pledges are:

EXTRA-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

The problem of over-stressed extra-curricular work is becoming more and more serious in the small college today. Albright is no exception. The ever-widening scope of these activities and the difficult problem of properly distributing time and talent among the various organizations of the campus has presented the student with the necessity of making definite selections. We heartily agree that such organizations have their value and proper place in the student curriculum. The modern college has come to accept these activities as a positive necessity in acquiring a well rounded college education. But to overcrowd is fatal, for talent, no matter how brilliant, when spread over too vast an area benefits no one.

The question is one for the individual. His choice should coincide with his need and deepest interests. He should determine his selection with the same care as he does his study program and allow the same amount of time in its preparation and participation as he does for one of his classes. If the student would adopt such an attitude toward extra-curricular work, it would be a simple matter to regulate their function so that they might in no way interfere with the scholastic side of our college life. Faculty, upper-classmen, and fraternities may do a great deal in guiding new men into the proper channels of extra-curricular activity.

As an outside activity we believe the ALBRIGHTIAN has much to recommend itself, for in what other channel may you gain a better opportunity for self-expression. One glance at our staff box will show you that our editorial board is composed chiefly of seniors. It is obviously clear the necessity for members of the Junior and Sophomore classes to show a definite interest in the work of the school paper. May we use this editorial to urge students interested in journalism to make this step.

Literary Column

PRE-VUES

Stella M. Hetrich

Here is an item that will be or should be of intense interest to all America, yes, to all nations. And I do not mean the doings of Hitler!

On November 15, at Radio City, the newest technical advance in radio broadcasting will be accomplished by the National Broadcasting Company when the largest broadcasting plant in the world will be dedicated. It will mark 13 years of scheduled broadcasting by N. B. C.

These new studios, in the central building of Rockefeller Center, are, needless to say, the last word. They are the largest, most modern and most completely equipped broadcasting studios in the world. These superlatives are warranted, as you will agree when you have the opportunity to see them for yourself. The opening will be an event of real importance to the entire listening public of the United States, as it will result, undoubtedly, in improving program transmission through better facilities.

N. B. C. will have 35 studios in Radio City, 16 of which will be completely equipped on the night of opening. The auditorium studio will be the largest: three stories in height and 78x132 feet (just to give you an idea). The balcony will seat 250 spectators; the semi-circular stage will accommodate an 100-piece orchestra. The next largest will be two stories high and will be known as the Radio Guild Studio, equipped with a glass curtain.

On the eighth floor is a children's studio 20x30, which will be used exclusively for children's programs and is appropriately decorated. The designers surely had television in mind when they constructed a group of four studios on the ninth floor. They are built around one central control room of circular design, the floor of which consists of a huge turntable. Thus it may be swung mechanically to face any of the four studios.

YOUR TEAM

Rumor has come to my ear concerning particular sentiment that is being directed toward our football team this year. Although no direct accusations are being made, there are evident signs of disloyalty on the part of the students. We realize the general curtailment of scholarships and of our athletic program comes as a serious blow, not only to the athletes and the coaches, but the school at large. But while the Red and White maintains a program on our campus, we should without question support it one hundred percent. Such comment and sentiment released in connection with our football team should be discredited and looked upon as idle propaganda which finds its source with those who know nothing of the true facts concerning our team. The bearer identifies himself with the radical, for a college athletic program must have the co-operation of the students equally as much as of the athletes themselves. Might I suggest that the spirit of our team would have been greatly uplifted had the student body given them the proper send-off at the bus last Saturday morning.

There are many more studios, but I have said enough about what I hope will arouse in you a keen desire to see them, which will prove a rare and inspiring experience indeed.

Your visit to the studios would not be complete without attending one of those sumptuous and colorful "Roxy" programs. Each week Patricia Bowman, premier danseuse of the Music Hall, and by common critical consent one of America's finest young ballerinas, presents a new dance creation on the stage of that huge theatre. Then there are the lovely Roxyettes too and the corps de ballet, and that splendid orchestra under the direction of Erno Rapee.

Keep apace with progress—join the N. R. A. and see Radio City and its wonders. You will not have a dull moment, I promise you!

LITERARY SIDELIGHTS

James Doyle

If you chance to pick up one of the Sunday papers and find therein a page of cartoons and cracks labelled "Gags and Gals," you will, no doubt, enjoy its clever and original ideas. Now direct your eye toward the lower right hand corner and there, in a rather illegible scrawl, you will find the name Jefferson Machemer. It is a rather ordinary name, but the gentleman who bears it is no ordinary cartoonist; he is, in fact, one of the most original and witty of his profession, and when you say that you are saying something, for nowhere in this broad land of ours is there to be found a group of people possessing more wit than the modern cartoonist.

Machemer's greatest appeal lies in the fact that he sketches extremely gorgeous girls and absurdly homely men. The women like his drawings because he flatters them, and the men enjoy them because they like to believe that there could be no one so homely as the men portrayed in these cartoons (most of them refuse to believe their own mirrors).

Some of his best work can be found in "College Humor" and other periodicals, including "Life," "Judge," and others. "College Humor," one of my pet magazines, recently ran a short biography of Machemer, and that is how I know what I do know about the gentleman. Indications are that he is dragging down plenty of shelves for his artistic efforts and his popularity is increasing, since his name is becoming more and more a by-word on the tongues of people who read the more frothy writings of our time. Personally, I enjoy his work more than that of any cartoonist since Billy deBeck. My only fear is that he will succumb to the wiles of one of the charmers whom he has immortalized and cease to please the eye of the avid public. Happy hunting, Jeff Machemer; may all your tosses be "naturals"!

Among other things I like to do is to peruse papers from other schools and see what kind of chatter or gossip columns they have. One of the most clever and amusing of these columns is to be found in the Boston University News. It is known as The Walrus Column; a clever cartoon at the head of the column shows the Walrus seated before a typewriter pounding out the news with his flippers. Hanging on the wall behind him is a sign inscribed on which are the immortal words . . . .

"The time has come,"
The Walrus said, "To
Talk of many things,
Of shoes and ships
And sealing wax,
Of cabbages
And kings."

The columnist then proceeds to retail the gossip of the school in an extremely interesting way. The whole thing is very cleverly arranged and is an enjoyable feature of the paper.

The "Y" Column

The Y. M. C. A. on Albright campus has a definite thought structure underlying its multiple activities. The impelling thought is "awareness" to student needs on Albright campus. This cannot be accomplished until the student is "aware" that there is an organization on the campus that is eager to serve their needs. The only tangible way to arrive at this state is to share, one with another, suggestions, constructive criticisms, and group action. We cannot serve your wishes until we know what you would have us do; where do we fail to meet student problems, where are we doing good, if at all, and where can we do better.

With this co-operative plan embodied in our program, we offer "special interest" voluntary groups to the students who are vitally concerned with the searching questions of the day. If we are approaching a socially planned society, is it not time for some planned student thinking in which we can discern the implications that the new social order may hold for us, or shall we stand by and be poured into a social mould like so much clay? We dare not fail to think things through. The Y. M. C. A. on Albright College campus is dedicated to this end. May we entertain a student reaction to such a policy? What is your pleasure?

The new college vesper season has already yielded splendid addresses by our leaders and some hidden talent, but the fourth service presided over by Lloyd Helt was one of the finest, a new feature being harmonica selections by Paul Ottey and Gene Barth.

Dr. Gingrich presented the problem, "How Best to Regulate Human Conduct." He emphasized that one gets his first real taste of freedom at college. This freedom may either be creative to build better and higher life ideals or degenerative to break down what good personality traits we already possess. The challenge of freedom is that it comes to us and must not be misinterpreted.

Again on Wednesday at "Y" meeting another illuminating and worthwhile message was brought by Dr. M. E. Ritzman, who spoke on the subject of "The Meaning of Prayer." He emphasized the fact that prayer is dynamic to religion, that without prayer religion could not survive. To him prayer meant—first, a communion, a fellowship; second, guidance, leading him to the right path of life; third, to work where he was not, that through prayer he could influence something beyond him.

An interesting session is in view for Vespers, Sunday afternoon. The Young People's Union, East Pennsylvania Conference of the Evangelical Church, will be present and an interesting program is in view. Vespers will be at 4.00 o'clock in the college chapel. The speaker will be the Rev. Dr. E. W. Praetorius.

By all means don't forget that "Y" show on November 10. Mystery by means of a magician's wand, drama on the stage, and music. An evening's entertainment through local talent.

Take It From Me . .

Jay Fay

It has come and what are you going to do about it? Are you going to sit back and alibi or cry? Why not be true sportsman and real students and take it with a smile and get behind the team and give them at least our moral support and good cheer. Let's all stop the continual criticism that is making the rounds on the campus and the blaming of this man or that man or the coach. There is one thing that the student body as a whole must come down to earth and realize Johnny Smith, Ding Shaffer, and Hal Carney are giving the best they have in them to produce a winning team and that they feel worse than we do about the results of the football season this year. They have twenty-four men on the football squad, which, incidentally, is the smallest squad in years, and they are trying hard. Let's give these coaches all the credit in the world and stop this criticism.

The most spiteful thing in the world is rumor when that rumor has no foundation. The rumor that is being breathed about the campus concerning certain men on the team should be spiked, and the quickest way of spiking it is to bring it to the foreground immediately. There wasn't one Albright player that played in that game Saturday who can be accused of "laying down." All the players are fighting hard and none of them would willingly "lay down" for the sake of impressing the authorities on the scholarship question; in fact, they realize and know that they can do nothing about it. I think that any student that talks of such things is quite low and his word should be taken for what it is worth when we think of what he is saying. There is no student who has the right to accuse any player of this. Let's forget about the La Salle defeat and remember that when the whistle blows for a game to start that the hardest thing in the world is to try and "lay down."

If we have to find a cause, let's go farther and think about other things. Do you remember our baseball team of 1932? One of the only two undefeated teams in the country, yet this team with the same players in 1933 had a losing season. The reason for that was not enough competition, in my estimation. Did you ever stop to consider that in football? Our schedule should have more games on it because a team can easily go stale with too much practice and not enough competition. I think that Ed Hill of the Times hit the nail on the head when he wrote, "The powers that be at Albright have made their football bed, in a way of speaking, and it is up to them to try and sleep in it. The trouble lies in the fact that the Lions of 1933, suffering a severe case of de-emphasis, are not strong enough to go through with a schedule arranged last year for a superior eleven. When athletic scholarships were discontinued at Albright, that was the proper time to discontinue the football schedule."

Some of our rivals over the week-end surprised us in one way or another. Ursinus being held to a 7-7 tie with Dickinson shows that comparative scores again mean nothing. Our old rivals, Lebanon Valley, knocked off C. C. N. Y. by a comfortable margin. It looks like a great year for the Annville boys and we can push that defeat by Penn State into the background. Muhlenberg beating Penn State 3-0 was more or less a major upset. Villanova showed a tower of strength holding Bucknell to a low score. The one big upset of the week was Cornell taking a beating from Michigan.

LASALLE TOPPLES RED AND WHITE GRIDSTERS 12-0

Lions Kept Constantly on the Defense; Hino is Bright Spot on Offense

Although they put up a game fight, the Albright Lions found the combination of a strong La Salle line plus constant over-officiation too strong for them and went down in defeat. The excellent aerial attack of our eleven went for naught, largely because of the failure of the official to recognize interference with the receiver.

Kept constantly on the defensive thru the superior punting of the opposition, Albright could do little in an offensive way. The team had the doubtful honor of being scored on in every possible way, including a safety, touchdown, point after touchdown, and field goal, resulting in a final score of 12-0.

Stan Hino especially scintillated for the Lions, spraying La Salle with accurate passes, altho the receiving end of the aerials looked very weak. Tony Intesta was extremely good on the defense, and his smashing tackles stopped many enemy advances. There is no doubt that the team did their best, but were outsmarted by the La Salle backs, of whom one in particular, Sciarretta by name, especially shone.

KAPPA FRAT. LEADS TOUCHBALL LEAGUE

Touch football, at first an experiment, has been well received by the fraternities and now completes a list of five sports sponsored by the Inter-Fraternity Council. Coach Smith announces that five trophies have been purchased, so all of the sports should prove fast and interesting. The inter-fraternity program is adding keen rivalry and collegiate coloring to the campus.

Following is the standing of the fraternities in touch football:

Team	Won	Lost
Kappa Upsilon Phi.....	2	0
Non-Filiated .....	2	1
Alpha Pi Omega .....	1	1
Pi Tau Beta .....	0	1
Zeta Omega Epsilon ....	0	2

"Charlie" has starred in football for the past three years, and has also acted as reserve catcher on the baseball team. "Karlo the Killer" is the treasurer of the Z. O. Although some have predicted a wrestling career for him, "Butch" would prefer a coaching career or resort to teaching if no one wants a good coach. There is some report that Mr. Karlovich meets his secret passion after fraternity meetings on Monday evenings—don't forget, he's the treasurer!

Around the Campus . . .

The Pi Alpha Tau sorority takes great pleasure in announcing that they have taken into active membership: Marjorie Beglinger, Madge Dieffenbach, Ruth Hicks, Florence Howell, Elma Kaseman, and Jean Rosenkranz. The formal service was held on Tuesday evening, after which refreshments were served.

That curly-haired Frosh had better stop camping on the doorstep of a girl whose name begins with "D" or one of the Angel Factory lads is going to chew him up. No less.

On Friday afternoon at four the Pi Alpha Tau sorority will hold a tea in the parlors of Selwyn Hall. Those receiving invitations are: Mrs. Morris Greth, Mrs. Eugene Page, Nancy Bartolet, Sally Caramana, Mae Caramana, Julia Giles, Margaret Hodges, Grace Ketner, Ann Lawrence, Margaret Maurer, Sally Hunter, Rachael Snyder, and Margaret Shaffer.

Rumor has it that some Junior and Senior girls are greatly nonplussed by the influx of not-bad-looking Frosh girls and have ordered "no dates."

The Alpha Pi Omega fraternity has been busy the past week painting and redecorating its quarters. Plans for an open house are in progress.

Was that Sophomore's face red when he pulled a "fox pause" at the game and turned around to see one of the faculty behind him?

The annual smoker of the Kappa Upsilon Phi fraternity will be held on Tuesday evening, the 31st of October.

What co-ed who resents the name applied to a beverage is now being strung along by a certain dark-haired upper-classman, altho she doesn't know she is getting the run-arounds?

Samuel Showalter, of Temple University, and former Albright student, and Robert L. German, of the University of Pennsylvania, were the week-end guests of George and John Deininger.

Was I astonished when I opened my Sunday paper and saw there in the smiling faces of several of our co-eds? There was a crack passed about the size of the bribe which changed hands, but I discredit the rumor.

Wally Hangen an Gene Allyn, Pi Tau Beta alumnus, visited the fraternity quarters over the week-end. Gene has been pledged to the Phi Alpha Sigma fraternity at Jefferson Medical School, and Wally is assistant manager of a store in Salisbury, Maryland.

What handsome Sophomore went to Western Maryland over the week-end and came back engaged? Wotta man! Wotta man!

At the last meeting of the Phi Beta Mu sorority the following alumni were present: Helen Buck, Mary Knerr, and Mildred Reber.

A certain cocky Frosh is heading for a beating unless he reforms soon. The fact that his brother is a Sophomore won't deter those who are thirsting for his blood.

Roland Kennedy has been appointed house manager of the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity in place of Robert Shipe, who recently resigned.

John Bostwick, prexy of the Frosh, is now singing "Farewell to Arms."

Carl Shaffer, former Pi Tau Beta president, has visited the fraternity several times within the past few weeks. Carl is now science teacher at the Birdsboro High School.

Albert Kuder, the college magician, talked himself into wearing a girls' gym suit. We wonder if he had to perform a magic trick in order to get into it.

Selwyn Hallites attending the Albright-La Salle game were: Catharine Yerkes, Dorcas Haines, Betty Rimel-spacher, and Ann Benninger.

Freshman "Lou" Drucher looked like a ham on rye when he appeared on the campus wearing ears made of bread.

Ruth Turner, vice-president of the Phi Beta Mu sorority, had as her week-end guest at her home Rachael Snyder.

Charles Barnard and Stanley Van Ostrand K. U. Phils, and Frederick Anstein, freshman, were enrolled Tuesday at the new college infirmary. Speedy recovery!

Was that Sophomore girl burned up when she tried to pass our car on Broad Street and couldn't? It's a good thing those coppers weren't watching when she went thru a couple red lights.

Arthur Vivino, a member of the Sophomore class, has been pledged to the Kappa Upsilon Phi fraternity.

Four Albright students started for the La Salle-Albright game on Saturday in "Newt" Danford's town car. At Collegeville the car had a sudden attack of old age and as a result the loyal Albrightians thumbed back to Reading in true collegiate manner, but are just a little doubtful now as to the merits of Danford's car.

John Heilman, alumnus of Albright and the Kappa Upsilon Phi, has opened a chirodist office in Reading. He recently received his graduate chirodist degree from Temple University.

Marian Myers, of Phi Delta Beta sorority, spent the past week-end in Perkasio, Pa.

Freshman Arthur Morris attended the Kearny Irvington football game at Irvington, N. J., last Saturday. See "Wes" Stevens and Charles Barnard for the final score of the game.

THEY CALL IT HUMOR??

I suppose you noticed a number of our fair students going around here last week with a chip on their shoulder asking everybody, "Who's afraid of the big, bad wolf?" We wonder—Who is the wolf?

A certain Frosh asked a certain Senior how long girls should be courted. The same as short ones, of course.

Is it true that a co-ed is never so happy or unhappy as she thinks she is?

Majorie Beglinger was asked why she didn't change her name, and she replied that she expected to. Do we have to be told that?

We understand that the German professor is contemplating furnishing beds for his 7.00 to 11.00 German class.

Here's some good advice for the Frosh: Never tell a Senior he's a liar—he knows it.

A certain fellow student was pretty much distressed the other day because of a boil on his neck. Someone ventured that he now has an idea how uncomfortable the freshman girl felt when her nose was shiny and the sophomores permitted her to use no flour.

If a fellow has the cheek to ask a co-ed for a date, she seldom has the face to refuse.

Here's one that just came to light: One of our professors fell overboard during his vacation and nearly lost his life by forgetting he knew how to swim.
