Senator Seeks New Legislation Aimed At Labor

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Sen. Karl E. Mundt, Republican from South Dakota, a member of the Senate Committee on Appropriations and the select sub-committee of the Labor Committee currently investigating racketeering in labor unions, was in Reading on Monday to address the Berks County Manufacturers Association at its annual banquet in the Abraham Lincoln Hotel. Prior to his address, Sen. Mundt consented to comment on the national scene for The Albrightian by answering questions submitted to him by this newspaper.)

Federal legislation aimed at restoring democratic principles to the operation of labor unions and regulating the financial practices of such organizations was advocated by Sen. Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota while on a visit to Reading on Monday. Sen. Mundt said he felt such measures should be enacted to cope with the recently uncovered misuse of funds in the Teamsters Union, and to correct the present situation of labor organization that has tended to a concentration of power within the unions themselves.

This concentration of power, it is believed by Sen. Mundt and other members of Congress, may prevent the rank and file members of the unions from correcting corrupt practices in organized labor. Legislation should therefore be passed that, by guaranteeing the use of democratic principles in the unions, will make such corrections by the ordinary union members possible.

With regard to federal aid for education on the college level, Sen. Mundt stated that he felt aid should be given along the lines of Vice-president Nixon's suggestion of tax concessions for the institutions of higher learning in the U. S., particularly with regard to the income tax. The Senator stated that such aid should be given in view of the vital position that the American educational system fills in our society, and from which must come the statesmen of tomorrow.

Sen. Mundt went on to say that he believes college students, and all Americans, should view with alarm the results of the current Senate investigation into corrupt practices in organized labor and that college students, in particular, should follow closely, and with genuine interest, the proceedings in Washington.

With regard to the previously referred to legislation, the Senator

Harold O. Miller Wins Oratorical Contest

Harold O. Miller, 60, recently won first prize in the annual Kelchner Oratorical Contest held in White Chapel. Miller's topic was "The Family Teaches Prejudice."

The second and third place winners were Carolyn Stillwaggon, '59, who spoke on "Pride," and Alan Kutner, '60, whose topic was "Wake Up and Learn."

The prizes are the gifts of Charles S. Kelchner, a former Albright athletic coach and member of the college faculty. The winners will be awarded their prizes at the awards assemblies on Tuesday and Thursday.

Last year, the first prize of fifteen dollars was awarded to Eustace Renner, '58. Second and third prizes of ten and five dollars each were won by Jane DeWald, '56, and Anne Young, '59.

Analysis

A gigantic step was taken toward clearing up one of the perennial confusion spots regarding student activities, that concerning the scheduling of meetings and events and the college calendar system, on Tuesday by Frank York, '58, president of Student Council. A meeting, convened at the instigation of York, was held and attended by a majority of the presidents of all student organizations at Albright concerning next year's activities calendar. All of the presidents were made aware of the calendar setup by Mrs. Anna H. Smith, associate professor of home economics, who explained the scheduling system.

The representatives from the various organizations were notified of the events already scheduled on the calendar for 1957-58 and were given a chance to air any possible differences of opinion that arose over scheduling for next year. The administration's calendar policy was explained.

The meeting went a long way toward not only clearing up the scheduling confusion, but also toward establishing a feeling of unity among the campus leaders as those responsible for leading the various student organizations in 1957-58. This meeting was the first step toward establishing closer co-operation among the students as organized into special groups, and as such was a successful innovation on the student activities scene.

York's foresight in holding such a meeting far enough in advance so that it could be of genuine help to all of the organizations involved is a credit to the new Student Council president. Future actions aimed at closer student co-operation will be a welcome sign on this campus.

Step Forward

Spring, graduation time, is often found to be the time of year when it is well to look at and analyze the functions of educational institutions of all types. Graduation is a fitting time for an appraisal of the over-all aims and programs of a college or university and their successful or unsuccessful fulfillment. Students should enter an institution of higher education in order to learn how to serve when graduation time comes and they pass through the gateway of reality onto the world scene. For this reason, the knowledge gained at college should obviously prepare the student, not only in the academic disciplines essential to the successful execution of his chosen task, but also with the necessary practical experience that will enable him to proceed through the gateway smoothly.

Toward this end, all of the experiences that a student receives at college should be geared to making his path after graduation easier. The academic, activities, and social program of the educational institution should all be planned in co-ordination with each other so that the proper balance between the theoretical and practical realms of knowledge is made available in the program presented for the students' consumption.

The extent to which the college is able to successfully accomplish this function will be determined by the percentage of its graduates that readily become well-adjusted personalities in the world of practical experience. The fact that Albright graduates are well-known for just such adjustment is ample proof of the well-balanced program in practice on this campus.

Long Awaited Day

By Catherine Diefenderfer

As you sit at the window, watching the sun paint the pale, blue sky a golden yellow, you think of another day and another sunrise. The sun wasn't as golden on that day, but it was just as beautiful.

Everyone was very excited and, as the day went on and time grew closer, they were very nervous. The girls combed their hair and made sure their make-up was on correctly a million times over. The boys slicked their hair down and straightened their ties at least once every five minutes. Everyone was babbling, but no one knew what was said. The chatter was baseless and the laughter hollow.

Corsage

Finally, it was time to pin on the corsage and line up for the professional. As you marched to your seat, you wondered why you had never noticed the Adam's apple before, it certainly seemed large enough now.

You never knew what the speakers said, but you did know that you would miss all the friends you made during those years. All the school functions such as dances, football, basketball, baseball, and all other school activities would always bring a smile to your lips, as you thought back on those wonderful high school days.

Cap And Gown

Now, as you watch the sun rise, you realize that in another few fleeting hours you will march to your seat garbed, once more in a cap and gown.

Even now, your Adam's apple seems much larger than before. You know that you will miss your college acquaintances and all campus activities. You also know that once you receive your degree, a whole new world will be opened to you. This world will be your life's work and will hold many surprises for you. There will be disappointments, setbacks, and discouragements, but you will never give up. This is what you have worked for these four years—four long, hard years.

Beginning And End

Your heart will be sad because you are closing a chapter in your life that was enjoyable and satisfying. But you will hold your head high and proudly for the chapter you are now beginning will prove even more enjoyable and more satisfying than the previous one.

This is the beginning and the end. This is your GRADUATION DAY.

It seems a crime
To stand in line
And waste such time
In crowds sublime.

The dining hall
Is quite a brawl
When luncheon call
Releases all.

Registration
Brings frustration
In conglomeration
And regimentation.

Students say
A line's O. K.
As it leads away
Graduation day.

Albright Personality

• Dick Ebright •

By Billie Williams

One of the more colorful students here at Albright is Dick Ebright. His sense of humor and quick wit combine with leadership ability to form an unusual personality for this week.

Participation

Six years after graduation from Reading High School Dick entered Albright. As a freshman, he heartily participated in a variety of campus activities. He was elected vice-president of the new class. He joined the German Club and the Daymen's Association, continuing membership in the latter through to his senior year. He also served on the student council for three consecutive years, holding the chairmanship of the social committee when he was a freshman. "Ebie" has done a lot of behind-the-scenes work in the planning for numerous campus dances.

The Zeta Omega Epsilon social fraternity took him into their ranks and this year he served as president of the organization. He has helped the Zetas in many capacities.

Bus. Ad.

For four years, Dick has been pursuing his education in the realm of business administration. In three weeks he will receive his well-earned sheepskin and enter the business world. A walk down a flowered aisle is also figured into his future plans. We wish a rich and happy life to this potential business executive.

Parents' Day

Cheers—To everyone who helped to make Parents' Day a large success, even though the rain didn't cooperate with the request put in by the hard-working chairmen of this event.

Jeers—To the students who disillusioned their visiting parents by telling them that Parents' Day food was a bit different than our usual Saturday fare.

Cheers—To the seniors who finally made it!

Close Quarters

Claustrophobia—A number of next year's sophomore roommates will have to learn how to coordinate their breathing by September. Two girls are being housed in space for one. What will bring double rent for the college, will bring double discomfort to the inmates of these two-by-four cells.

Have you heard—One of the fraternities is going to attend a tea "en masse" in preference to their previously planned function?

Showers

Weather report—The bridal rain has been quite heavy in Teel Hall. Happy fiancées wade their way to at least one shower a week. Soon the wading will end and the march down the aisle will begin.

Cheers And Jeers

By Sandra Strickler

Five Pi Tau Beta pins found new homes last week. Congratulations are in order for Ron and Barb, Ken and Dottie, Tom and Esther, Chuck and Brenda, Charlie and Marianna. Who's next?

Dances

Cheers—To those who attended the two recent all campus dances. May next year bring even more dancers to the floor.

Jeers—To the administration for enforcing the ridiculous "Bermuda ruling." How we love those long, hot coats over our nice, cool Bermudas.

Cheers—To the spring sports teams. Good luck to you as you complete your schedules.

Jeers—To the weather man for ordering rain for May Day.

Lions Will Play Muhlenburg, Lafayette Nines

IN THE LION'S DEN

By Lee Swartz, Sports Editor

"An Albright Athlete's Thanks From the Fans"
We cheered for you through defeat and fame.
Win, lose, or draw, if you did your best;
Our thanks to you and all the rest
Who helped to make a better game.

The Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Conference track and field championships proved for the most part a battle between St. Joseph's and LaSalle with the Hawks reclaiming the title from the defending champion Explorers.

Charley Smith, Albright freshman, was the only frosh to win a gold medal in the meet. Smith's jump of 5 feet, 11 inches, was good for a four way tie for first place in the high jump event as he won the toss for possession of the medal. By copping the title, he became the first Lion to win a MASC event since Bill Shirk's two-mile run victory in 1955. John Setzer finished fourth in the shot put and George Mack placed fourth against tough competition in the 880 yard run. Albright totaled 7 1/2 points to place ninth among seventeen conference members.

Reber Leads Team . . .

After bowing to Penna. Military College, the baseball team has evened its record, 7-7, with a victory over St. Joseph's. Terry Reber is on his way to leading the team in batting for the second straight season. Reber, who is currently hitting .351, is trailed by Bob Shoup who has increased his average 41 points in the last two games for a .321 clip. Jim Doremus follows with .317 to round out the Lions' .300 hitters.

Interest in tennis has shown a marked increase at Albright this year. This is partly due to its being one of the units taught in the physical education course to the sophomore class in the Fall program.

Evidence of this interest is shown by the crowded conditions of the courts this spring and the fine turnout (15 candidates) for the varsity squad. Eleven different players saw action in match competition.

Hard Surface Courts Needed . . .

Because spring is such a short, rainy season, the need for hard surface courts is apparent. They would be a worthy addition to Albright's ever increasing athletic facilities.

The school has seen the crowded conditions and has made every effort to make Albright's courts available for the college students. Signs have been posted which give the student court preference over outsiders at all times, and an effort to police the situation has been put into effect.

Berks County has also shown an expanding tennis program. The Albright squad has reaped the benefits of this with Nelson Haller, Jack Reinhard, Norm Bennet, Lynn Sarig, Ted Gabriel, and Carl Witonsky among the varsity team's ranks.

It is the desire of those planning the physical education course that the students have the opportunity to play the type of sport they can play after leaving college. It is therefore logical the squash and hand ball would be the next step in the program. These courts could be used by community teams as well and thus win friends for the school.

I would like to thank Mike Tettelman, Louis Andre, Bob Sidman, and Ken Sands for their invaluable service in writing the sports page. Without their constant effort our sports coverage would have been impossible.

Tennis Squad Boosts Record To 8-3

The Tennis team improved its record to 8-3, winning a close decision over LaSalle while losing to F&M in recent competition. The representatives at the MASC matches at Swarthmore were eliminated in the second round of play.

Albright recorded its eighth win on Tuesday with a 5-4 win over LaSalle. One week earlier they traveled to F&M, where they were defeated 7-2.

Jack Rosen in the singles and Nelson Haller and Charles Sample in the doubles represented Albright in the MASC competition. Rosen won in the first round but was defeated in the second round by Bob Fullard of Haverford. Haller and Sample drew a first round bye but were defeated in the second round by the scores of 6-0 and 8-6 by Swarthmore's Gordon Power and Pat Coyle.

The squad concludes the season with home matches on the 18th and 25th of May with Lycoming and Ursinus, and plays at Scranton on the 23rd.

At Scranton the Lions were defeated 104-74.

In the MASC Golf Championships held at Juniata the team finished ninth out of 17 entries as Bucknell took the title.

Grid Candidates Meeting

On Tuesday, May 21, Coach Patskan will hold an important meeting of all candidates for next year's football squad. There will be a discussion of the program for the coming year. It is imperative that all candidates for next year's squad be present. The meeting is scheduled for 4:00 p.m. at the fieldhouse.

Thinclads Bow To Haverford

Coach Eugene Shirk's track team placed second to Haverford in a triangular meet including Gettysburg at Haverford. The home team swept to victories in every field event plus the 440 and two mile run to amass 68 1/2 points. The Lions finished second with 44 1/2 points and managed to nose out Gettysburg, who trailed with 41 points.

George Mack registered a double win for Albright as he copped the 880 and mile runs. Bob Wetzel captured the 120 high hurdles for Albright's only other win. Charlie Smith placed second in the high jump and the broad jump for the Shirkmen. Larry Foreman and Ralph Boyd each captured two events to lead the way for Haverford while Stan Musser, Jim Apple, and Ron Paul posted individual victories for Gettysburg.

Smith Ties For First

Franklin and Marshall was host to the Middle Atlantic States Championships where the powerful Hawks of St. Joseph's College rang up 62 1/2 points to easily win the meet. Albright finished ninth with a total of 7 1/2 points. Charley Smith soared 5 ft., 11 inches in the high jump to gain a four way tie for first. The freshman athlete then won the toss of the coin to receive the gold medal. John Setticeerze placed fourth in the shot put to score two points and George Mack also placed fourth in the 880 to also score two points for the Shirkmen.

F&M Last

The Lions travel to PMC tomorrow and then take on F&M next Wednesday at home. They will rest for over a week and then round out the season by competing in the IC4-A Championships in New York City on the weekend beginning May 31.

PLAYER OF THE MONTH

Tom Pollock and Charlie Smith have been chosen as The Albrightian's Players of Month for April and May of 1957. Pollock, senior pitching ace from Downingtown, has been one of the mainstays on the mound staff for four years. Smith, who performs for the track squad, is a freshman from Asbury Park, N. J.

Thus far this season, Pollock has compiled a 4-1 record for the Albright team. He holds victories over Susquehanna, Franklin and Marshall, Gettysburg and St. Joseph's.

Quality Performance

The Gettysburg triumph, a four hit, 1-0, shutout, was one of the most masterly pitching exhibitions turned in by an Albright hurler in years. His lone defeat was a tough 3-1 decision to Juniata in a game that went ten innings. In five starts this season he has given up just nine runs and has also taken a turn in relief.

Besides playing baseball, Pollock, was a stellar halfback for the Lion eleven this past season and received the Anthony J. Lanshe award as the outstanding backfield player on the team.

Smith Ties For First

Smith, a versatile performer, has scored consistently in four events for Coach Eugene Shirk's track squad. Besides his speciality, the high jump, which he has won six times, he has won the broad jump three times, and placed frequently in the 120 and 220-yard hurdles. His best performance this season was a tie for first for the MASC high jump championship.

The freshman star was also a standout for the Lions' junior varsity basketball team, and he averaged ten points per game.

Pollock Hurls Victory Over St. Joseph's

The Albright Lions will be facing the hardest part of their season's schedule during the next few days. The Lions travel to Allentown to play the red hot Mules of Muhlenberg tomorrow and on Monday the Lions play that perennial powerhouse, the Lafayette Leopards, at Kelchner Field. The Mules are paced by second baseman Bill Keeny who has a .333 batting average in ten games. The best game for Muhlenburg was a victory over strong Moravian, 5-4.

Lafayette is led by many stellar players. Lefty Hal Stoneback won 11 and lost but two pitching for the Leopards last year. A sophomore pitcher, Ray Smith, has been the surprise of the team, hurling a losing one-hitter against Bucknell and defeating Yale and Rutgers. Tom Morgan, a second baseman, and Al Caesar, a third baseman, are the leading Lafayette hitters.

The Lions split even in two games last week. The Potsdammen were trounced by Pennsylvania Military College, 13-4, at Chester. Richie Greene started for Albright but gave up five hits in 1 2/3 innings. His successors, Art Olson and Fred Dietzel could not hold the Cadets bats silent and it took some fine pitching by Chuck Kachel to stop the opposition.

Lions Pound Hawks

The Lions blasted St. Joseph's College 10-1 at Albright last Saturday. Tom Pollock scattered five hits and Greene gave up one as the Lions romped to victory, their seventh in fourteen starts. The hitting of Bob Shoup and Terry Reber was timely, and captain Bob Florindo drove in three runs with a triple and a single. The starter for St. Joseph's was Kurt Englebut, all-state basketball player, but the Hawk ace lasted only four innings.

INTRAMURALS

Third Annual All-Stars Selected

The Dorm team, placing three representatives, heads The Albrightian's third annual intramural softball all-star team for 1957. The team was chosen by a poll of the coaches in the league.

Two players each were chosen from the Pi Tau, APO's, and Kappa's, with one Zeta player being selected. The players were chosen on the basis of all-round play.

Lowell Scherer, Dave Townley, Myron Hallock, and Larry Nester were unanimous choices for the team.

Brooke Moyer, Hallock, and Nester were the lone repeaters from last year's squad, with Hallock being chosen for the third consecutive season.

The players were named to the positions they played the most during the season, although some performed in more than one position. The selections:

Albrightians Disclose Views On Additions To Curriculum

In a recent all-campus survey conducted among the student body on the question, "What course would you most like to see offered at Albright?" the following comments were revealed, as gathered by Robert Poff, '60.

Richard Reidler, '60: "I would like to see the Russian language offered because of its importance in world affairs, and the experience it would give the student in the Slavic language."

Howard Vassallo, '59: "A course in Practical Theology, as a foundation for the pre-ministerial student before entering seminary, would be a good course. Despite all opposing views on the matter, the course would still serve a function in preparing a student for one of the most important phases of the ministry."

Barbara Boyer, '60: "Most large schools offer jazz music as a regular course. I think it would help many students who are interested in music to have a course such as this."

Mildred Folk, '58: "Mainly I would like to see Theory of Sociology, which is a one semester course, extended into two semesters. It is very worthwhile and there is so much material that it is hard to cover in one semester."

Margaret Raab, '59: "I would like to see a Latin course offered at Albright."

John Ramsey, '58: "I think that a course in Oriental and Far Eastern history should be instituted, not only for the significance which these areas are assuming in the world today, but also for the cultural interest which such a course would afford."

George Guldner, '60: "ROTC training is a course which should be given since the U.S. is a leading military power, and it is training that all young men should experience."

Louise Reid, '59: "A course in Latin would be very useful for language students who plan to teach since there is a call for Latin instructors in high schools today."

Sports Banquet To Be Monday

The annual All-Sports Banquet, honoring members of Albright's athletic teams for the current year, will be held Monday in the college dining hall. LeVan P. Smith, principal of Reading Senior High School and formerly dean of men and head of the education department at Albright, will be the main speaker for the evening.

The invocation is to be given by Jonathan Hole, '58, Eugene L. Shirk, faculty manager of athletics and coach of the cross-country and track teams, will present awards to the outstanding athlete of the year, the best track athlete, and the most outstanding athlete of the senior class.

Women's Awards

Awards for the winner of the women's tennis tournament, the most outstanding woman athlete of the senior class, and the best woman athlete of the year will be presented by Mrs. Eva M. Mosser, director of women's physical education.

George Conrad and William Shirk, both seniors, were selected the outstanding senior athlete and the best track athlete at the banquet last year. Alma Grove was named the outstanding woman athlete of the year.

Kappa Tau Chi Group Holds Banquet

The Kappa Tau Chi honorary pre-ministerial fraternity held its annual induction banquet yesterday at 6:30 p.m. in Frank Reeser's Restaurant.

The principal event of the evening was the induction of new members and newly-elected officers, which were announced at the meeting.

Rev. John F. Willson of the Christ Evangelical United Brethren Church in Reading delivered the main address. He spoke on the problems in pastoral counseling.

Charles Shearer, '58, presided over the meeting, which was the last of the year for the group.

SENATOR SEEKS NEW LEGISLATION

said that labor as a whole does not fear such Congressional action, and pointed out that many tips for the investigators have come from labor itself. He predicted that the current investigations will run well into 1958.

Asked if further investigations into the activities of labor unions other than the Teamsters were now planned, Sen. Mundt stated that many other unions would be scrutinized, but that at the present time only the UAW (United Auto Workers) could be announced publicly. He added, however, that there is no indication that corruption is universal in organized labor.

Future Inquiries

Sen. Mundt explained that, in the immediate future, inquiries will be made into alleged collusion between management and labor on corrupt practices. For instance, it has been alleged that in some cases there would be an agreement between management and labor whereby the union regulations concerning pension fund monies would be waived.

This would, in turn, reduce the cost of labor for management, and this reduction in expense would enable the company in question to submit a lower bid for a given project. After the awarding of the contract, the labor union leaders who agreed to waive the pension regulations would receive a kick-back.

Beck Investigation

The Senator explained that the reasoning behind the constant questioning of Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters, despite the fact that he constantly invokes the Fifth Amendment, is to make available to the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee all the evidence possible, and also to give Beck a chance to refute new charges as they come up.

When asked if there was any phase of the future investigations aimed specifically at Reading, Sen. Mundt replied in the negative, but did say that several messages had been received from this area alleging corrupt labor practices.

The Senator noted that Reading had been brought up in preliminary

Mays Elected Prexy Of Chemical Society

William Mays, '58, was recently elected president of the campus chapter of the American Chemical Society for 1957-58. Balloting took place at the organization's annual banquet.

Other officers elected were: John Bright, '58, vice-president; and Leon Thorsen, '59, secretary-treasurer. Adviser of the group is Dr. Paul M. Leininger, associate professor of chemistry.

The banquet, which was held May 8, featured Charles E. Wickard, a representative of the E. I. DuPont Co. of Wilmington, Del. He spoke about synthetic fibers and their manufacture.

discussions by the sub-committee investigating labor, but that nothing significant resulted for this city.

Turning from the discussion of labor, Sen. Mundt declared that the biggest problem the U. S. faces today is to keep out of war. Despite the publicity given to the labor hearings, he considers his work on the Committee on Appropriations to be his most important task.

He believes the budget should be set at something over two billion dollars and has no specific cuts in expenditures in mind, but rather a general horizontal shaving of the budget that would hit all phases of federal activity. The Senator did say, however, that the economic and foreign aid and public works sections of the budget might possibly be cut the most.

Sen. Mundt does not think that such budget cuts would hurt our national security, but feels they are necessary in view of the "general feeling of retrenchment sweeping the country." The budget dispute between the administration and Congress does not indicate a split between President Eisenhower and the Republican Party, he added.

Service Fraternity Receives Charter

The members of the campus chapter of the Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity will be installed as members of the national affiliate of the fraternity in a ceremony in the college dining hall at 1:45 p.m. Sunday. The Albright group will receive its charter recognizing it as a member of the national organization at that time.

The Albright chapter was organized last year and became eligible for the national charter by displaying an active program of service projects. There are at present 34 active student members of the chapter, headed by John Feick, '58, president.

The group has six faculty advisers: Edwin L. Bell, assistant professor of biology; Thurman R. Kremser, instructor in mathematics and physics; Dr. Paul M. Leininger, associate professor of chemistry; Charles A. Reitzel, assistant professor of political science; Albert Schwartz, instructor in biology; and Dr. H. Tudor Westover, dean of men and professor of education.

Elizabeth Domenick, '58, and Virginia Hatton, '58, have been selected by the junior women to make the advance preparations for the 1958 May Day. Miss Domenick will serve as custodian of the crown and Miss Hatton as mistress of ceremonies. The election for these officers was held recently in Krause Hall. The results were announced last Saturday at this year's May Day exercises.

Jeanne Palm, '57, and Mary Jo Wolf, '57, held the positions of custodian of the crown and mistress of ceremonies, respectively this year.

PAT Veep

Miss Domenick is a member of the Pi Alpha Tau Sorority and has been elected to serve as vice-president of that organization for 1957-58.

Miss Hatton is president of the PAT sorority for the coming year. Her other activities include president of the Home Economics Organization, vice-president of Future Teachers of America, Women's Student Association, and Intersorority Council.

This year's May Day festivities were executed in the rain. The activities lasted 40 minutes on the lawn in front of the library; it was the shortest May Day program in Albright's history.

Two Pages

The pages, Nancy Heilman, '60, and Doris Schock, '60, started the colorful procession at 2 p.m. Behind them came the 10 senior women, the 16 junior women and 32 dancers, the queen's court, and the mistress of ceremonies. Then Queen Barbara Ross, '57, appeared, followed by two train bearers, Sally Bishop and Linda Raith.

After the queen was crowned and handed her scepter, the whole court joined in a bow of homage. Then the dancing began. The sophomore women entertained the queen with an English folk dance, and the freshmen women with a Swiss folk dance. The junior girls ended the activities with the traditional French Maypole Dance.
