

Albrightians Receive Awards For Outstanding Achievement

The award announcements, a yearly feature of Albright commencement exercises, were presented Monday, June 5, by President Harry V. Masters to outstanding seniors and undergraduates. Of the twenty-four recipients, thirteen were seniors.

Honor graduates were Sarah A. Davenport and Robert L. Batdorf who received their degrees Magna Cum Laude having 80 per cent of their total credits "A" and not more than 20 per cent "B" or "C". Receiving a grade of "A" for 60 per cent of their credits and not more than 40 per cent "B" or "C", Betty M. Savage and Edward P. Seisler received their degrees Cum Laude.

The gold "A" award is presented to seniors who have shown outstanding leadership, especially as this ability has been evidenced in securing student response to constructive participation in college activity. The recipients are chosen by vote of the faculty. Recipients of the gold "A" award were: Doris Chanin, Frank Bird, Robert Hoffman, and Robert White.

The Alumni Graduation Award of $35, presented to the senior who throughout his or her college life has made the greatest contribution to Albright through enthusiastic participation in academic, social and religious activities, and who has been the most influential in fostering and promoting aims and objectives of Albright was awarded to Doris Chanin. Edward Anlian received the C. W. and H. R. Matten award of $25 and the memorial prize of $13.66 from the class of 1926. The former is awarded to the senior having the highest scholastic standing and who is a member of the football, basketball or baseball squads. The latter goes to the senior on the basis of scholarship, character, leadership and participation in athletics.

The Kappa Upsilon Phi Fraternity award of $10 to the student who attained the highest average in General Biology was given to Winifred Kaebnick, a sophomore. The Glenn K. Morris award of $15 for the highest standing in mathematics in the sophomore year was awarded to Howard Peiffer. Alpha Greek Award of $25 given by the William Penn Chapter, Order of Alpha, to the student in advanced Greek who has shown the greatest proficiency in that language was received by Kenneth Kline, junior. The Charles S. Kelchner Awards of $15 and $10 to the winners of the Public Speaking contest were

Varied Summer Program Offered

One hundred and 60 students have enrolled for the eight-week summer session, June 19 to August 11, according to Newton S. Danford, registrar. A number of these students are from colleges other than Albright.

Thirty-five courses are being offered, Monday through Friday, in the following fields: geology, business administration, chemistry, education, English, German, history, mathematics, philosophy, physics, psychology, religion, science fundamentals and Spanish. Students are taking on the average eight semester hours.

Summer school is for students who plan to accelerate, to meet the requirements of professional schools and to earn credits to qualify for a permanent teaching certificate.

Dean George W. Walton and Danford are directing the summer program. The faculty is made up entirely of Albright personnel.

All facilities of the college are available to summer students.

215 Frosh to Be Enrolled This Fall

A freshman class of approximately 215 students is expected to enroll in September. This group will be selected from 400 applicants. Twelve hundred made inquiries.

The freshmen will come from 12 states and three countries. As was expected the percentage of veterans enrolled has decreased. At the present time all openings for boarding women are filled and many are on the waiting list.

Sixty freshmen have been awarded academic scholarships on the basis of their high school records, recommendations of the principal and evidence of participation in extra-curricular activities. Fifteen of these graduated first or second in their class.

At the present time 450 high school students are interested in enrolling at Albright in September 1951.

Masters Speaks To Phila. Grads

Dr. and Mrs. Harry V. Masters attended the annual session of the New York Conference of the Evangelical United Brethren Church held in Towanda, N. Y., from Thursday, June 15, to Saturday, June 18.

President Masters was the commencement speaker for the 1950 graduating class at the Philadelphia School of Osteopathy on June 10. He was also the speaker for the Reading Evening High School commencement exercises held June 6 and the baccalaureate speaker at his own high school in Warren, Ohio.

Masters Confers Degrees on Seniors; Thorp Cites Need for Greater Faith

Speaking to a class of 138 seniors and an audience of approximately 1,000 relatives and friends of the graduates at the 91st annual commencement exercises on Monday, June 5, Willard L. Thorp, Assistant Secretary of State, declared that the United States has a clear-cut record of achievement in promoting international relationships and understanding. "The basic concept of freedom," he said, "is expressed in the economic, social and political areas of a nation's life and not merely in thought and speech." He labeled the accusations of Senator Joseph McCarthy concerning communism in the State Department as "argument by epithet." He said that such name calling is hardly "that form of mature behavior which is required in a democracy."

In contrasting the American way of life and the communistic doctrines, he said the communists live in an atmosphere of censorship with "oversize blinders on their eyes." "It is hard for us to imagine a whole people living under the conditions created by communism."

Thorp asked the graduates to put forth an effort to keep mentally alive and to maintain and increase the breadth of their interest and understanding. Freedom can exist only if it is cherished at home, he told them.

In conclusion he added, "the record of this country in international affairs will depend upon whether the Greater Voice of America is a confused whisper or a ringing declaration of faith."

Doctor Masters delivered the charge to seniors and conferred the degrees in course on the class, largest in the history of Albright commencements. He also conferred

N.S.A. Schedules August Conference For 1,000 Students

More than 1000 students will meet August 23 to 31 at the University of Michigan to debate important educational issues-of-the-Association. This will be the third annual NSA Congress.

Attending the conference with the students will be college and university administrators, faculty members, representatives of college newspapers, representatives of UNESCO, World Student Service Fund (WSSF), the U. S. Office of Education, and other groups that work with students on U. S. campuses.

However, the decisions that students make—on discrimination in higher education, international affairs, scholarship aid programs, student rights and academic freedom—will be made by the vote of delegates from each of the more than 315 NSA-member schools.

Regular NSA programs, including the Purchase Card System, faculty rating, foreign study programs, symphony forum, and others, will come up for analysis and review. Ideas for new programs will be brought out and hammered into practical form. "Extra" meetings to be conducted in conjunction with the Congress include: A conference of student government officers, a conference on initiating campus leadership programs, seminar on human relations programs, a press conference for college newspaper editors, conference on Junior College problems, conference on Technical School problems, and a faculty-administration Conference.

Keynote speaker at the Congress will be Ralph E. Himstead, general secretary, American Association of University Professors. The welcoming address will be given by, Erich A. Walter, dean of students, University of Michigan. Students attending will also view the third National Art Exhibit which will be judged and sent on the road during the 1950-51 academic year to more than 100 colleges and universities.

Three New Faculty Members Appointed to Psychology, English, History Departments

The appointment of three new faculty members have been announced by President Harry V. Masters. Beginning their duties in September will be Dr. Charles E. Kistler, head of the history department; Prof. John W. Reid, assistant professor of psychology and acting director of the Psychological Service Center; and Mr. Walter F. Staton Jr., instructor in English.

Dr. Kistler received his A.B. degree from the University of Michigan

Albrightians Hear Dr. A. Doescher

At the baccalaureate service held Sunday, June 4, in Union Hall, the Rev. Dr. Arthur H. Doescher, of Dayton, Ohio, executive secretary-treasurer of the board of pensions of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, spoke on the theme, "What Are We Going to Do About God?"

He gave three rational bases for belief in God; the amazing structure of the world and universe and the wonder of the human body and mind; the longing for God within a very human being; the reality of God proven by the experience of millions of people.

"Do now what you conscientiously believe in your hearts God wants you to do and you will find him," Doctor Doescher advised the seniors.

Our Dedication

Your editor has decided that this issue of The Albrightian shall be dedicated to students attending the summer sessions (they deserve some recognition for sitting in classes in this heat), and especially to the students who are entering Albright for the first time this summer.

We on the staff hope that you will find this newspaper another guide to becoming acquainted with the college, her doings, and her personalities. We also hope it may help you to get the feeling that IS Albright. We consider it a privilege to have our weekly paper published by the students. Through it we hope that you will be helped in solving your problems as new students just as we were helped when we were freshmen.

Our campus is constantly growing. More specialized courses are being offered, modern buildings are in the process of being built, and our academic standards are being raised. We wish you to use The Albrightian as one very important instrument in learning what Albright College is, what it has to offer you, and what you, as a student, can contribute to it.

We also hope to interest you to the extent that in September you will want to try out for a position on The Albrightian staff. Since it is your paper, we would like to have any suggestions that you might have for the improvement of the paper. The success of our paper, as of any college newspaper, depends not only on the ideas of the staff members but also on you, the readers.

Greetings Everybody

Our aim in this issue is to inform the readers about Albright news since the end of examinations and to give you a preview of what will be happening at Albright this summer. This issue, the first of two summer publications, is the last one in volume forty-six of The Albrightian. The second summer issue, the first of volume forty-seven, will appear in August. Since the official closing of the college on June 5, not much has been happening and the news interest has been dead. This was caused by the absence of the students and faculty, for they are the ones who make the news.

To the 1950 graduates, who have joined the ranks of the alumni, we wish good luck and hope they return often to their alma mater. We on The Albrightian staff would like to hear from you, the recent graduates, the alumni, the student body, and faculty members, over the summer months, concerning your vacations, summer employment, activities, and any other news items that would be of interest to readers of the Albright newspaper.

We hope these summer papers will bring closer together all of our Albrightians wherever they may be. This is our way of keeping you in contact with each other and your alma mater. If we have neglected to mention you in this issue, send us a card. Have a wonderful vacation, and here's hoping to see you soon.

To Hire or Not To Hire

Right now, Albright's recent graduates are plodding the pavements looking for jobs. Some have been successful and by now almost have the down payment on a new convertible, but others, who are still collecting unemployment compensation, are receiving even less per week than camp counselors do. The purpose of this article, however, is not to raise a fund for needy ex-Albrightians, but to study the methods used by these job hunters so that we may know better what to do when our turn comes. We have chosen as our subject Mr. Ima Eagerbeaver, an outstanding graduate who while at Albright was known as the scholarly schmo.

Mr. Eagerbeaver's first step, after selecting a prospective employer, was to write a letter of application from which we take an excerpt. "... while in college I belonged to 11 clubs, two honorary scholastic fraternities, and directed a campaign against cribbing. I graduated with honors. I contain lanolin..."

Mr. Eagerbeaver got an appointment and showed up right on time. (It was rumored that while at Albright he had never even been late for a class let alone ever cut a class.) Two other applicants, both Albright graduates, were in the reception room—Jimmy Hordyce and Amelia Abelard.

While at Albright, Jimmy Hordyce was strictly a BMOC—big man on campus. He could rhumba and do the samba, and he owned more sport coats than Hart, Schaffner and Marx combined. The only reason he didn't carry a hip flask was because it spoiled the drape of his clothes. Jimmy had other qualities too. He was the only one in his class who could lift a pinball machine seven inches off the floor before it tilted. Because he had never been on academic probation twice in a row, Jimmy had graduated. So here was Jimmy now, playfully sprawled across the desk of the pretty receptionist, trying to impress her with his sparkling wit.

Amelia Abelard, who had been a varsity cheerleader for four years, sat with her legs crossed in the same way Betty Grable had in one of her recent pictures. Amelia once had a small part in a Domino Club production, and a kind critic from The Albrightian had mentioned her resemblance to Betty Grable. Amelia had never gotten over it. Right now, Amelia was practicing the smile that she planned to use to disarm the personnel manager.

Each of these Albright graduates, Amelia with her sparkling smile, Jimmy with his bright quips, and Mr. Eagerbeaver with his college record, had an interview. Mr. Ima Eagerbeaver got the job.

This story has a moral: Eager beavers at whom all scoff while in college usually have last laugh. T. F.

Here and There

After the last examinations, Albrightians scattered. Here's an account of where some of them are and what they are doing.

On Atlantic City beaches basking in the sun, when they're not working as waitresses, are Clea Rein, Betty Bratton, and Barbara Wisley. Jane Reynolds and Jane Roney are busily splashing around in the Atlantic at Ocean Grove.

Also out in the sun are Blaine Schmehl, Ben Reynolds, John Savidge, Frank Bird, Stan Taub, and Harry Nelson, working as counselors at Camp Winaukee. Norm Dettra is working at Camp Conrad Weiser.

Many of Albright's sons and daughters are working in this city as playground instructors. Among them are Johnny Wise, Winnie Johnson, Ginny Seems, Lois Gehris, Ruth Zimmer, and Sarah Davenport. Other guardians of the sandboxes are Howard Peiffer, Cynthia Reinhart, Bill Heck, Ginny Kitzmiller, Marie Kaputo, Curt Rentschler and Florence DaDamio.

Terry Connor, Collin Linkletter, Al Peyser, Ron Cassel, and Mr. Parsons just completed a two weeks cruise to Bermuda with the Naval Reserve. Kay Collins is taking a trip to California.

Fred Neuroth, Walt Hayum, Hal Matter, and Harry Hart spent a busy week looking for jobs in New York.

Bob Batdorf is teaching geology classes at the Reading Museum. Unable to leave books alone, Jay Siemk is attending Presidents' School in New York.

Pat Poore and Lois Smith are carrying dishes at a hotel near Lake Hopatcong, and Dick Chambers is a desk clerk at Bynden Wood. Nan Hecavan is working for WEEU.

Ralph Stutzman pushes a lawnmower in a cemetery in his hometown, Johnstown. Dag Eberly is selling electrical appliances in Hamburg, and Jack Snook is working at the Boys' Home in Reading.

Have a good time over the summer, but when you come back and meet those poor characters who went to summer school, don't rub it in.

For Young Men

"Be a little more subtle, Shanahan."

It seems that Albright has more Dandy Lions than The Albrightian has issues. As a result, this issue contains accounts of two outstanding Albrightians.

Unofficial reports have it that Jane Reynolds was originally blown to Albright College by a strong, southerly wind, while shopping in her home town of Alexandria. Using the editorial "We," we doubt if even a strong southerly wind could have made Jane do something against her will.

At Albright Jane became a member of the Phi Beta Mu sorority and held the office of chaplain during her senior year. Unable to find the Bowers Country Club in time, Jane's successor had to pinch-hit for her at the last formal affair of the year. She never had any trouble locating the printer of The Albrightian, and she performed her weekly pilgrimage there in a quiet and efficient manner as the feature editor of our dynamic and righteous college paper. Her ideas on good features were quite definite, and many a shattered young writer had to go to Barb Kast or even Bob Hoffman for consolation.

During her senior year, Jane attended typing and shorthand classes at Reading High three nights a week. On one of these trips she got caught in the rain and then had to spend a few days in the infirmary with a bad cold. Undaunted, our Dandy Lion persisted and would now make an efficient secretary.

As an English major and Spanish minor, Jane belonged to Sigma Tau Delta, and cherishes the memory of an unforgettable Spanish class field trip to New York. Albright's female Falstaff, Jane Roney, accompanied her on this trip, and it may be said that the two Janes have been a source of mutual inspiration. At the time of this writing, both of them are romping over the beaches of Ocean Grove, in a last mad post-graduate fling.

Jane has given her time freely to Y cabinet, and served as a conscientious and progressive member. She worked on SCAN with Bill Heck against uncooperative obstacles and managed to get the issues out per schedule. She's shouted her little lungs out in Glee Club, and after four years of it will certainly miss those Tuesday and Thursday rehearsals. Jane, whether in play or work, has freely labored for Albright's extra-curricular activities and growth. Indirectly, she even inspired The Cue. All that in four years must lead to success!

Here's a Dandy Lion with a bright red mane. Who is it? None other than the student commencement speaker who is probably even better remembered for his role as father in "Life With Father"—Ralph Stoudt.

The personality he displayed in this performance was an assumed one, though. Ralph, to the best of our knowledge, possesses none of Father Day's eccentricities. On the contrary, Ralph is a rather quiet, good-natured scholar and gentleman.

Milford, N. J., claims our hero as its own, but now that he has been here for four years, Albright can claim some credit for his future successes. A philosophy major, Ralph proved a very competent president of the Philosophy Club. Ralph has been outstanding in several Domino Club productions, and during his senior year served as prexy of this organization. It seems this week's Dandy has quite a flair for the gavel, but he has no intentions of becoming a politician.

As a pre-ministerial student, Ralph was a member of K.T.X. He is a member of both Delta Phi Alpha, honorary German fraternity, and Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science fraternity. He has also devoted some of his time to the Radio Workshop.

This list of activities becomes awesome when one realizes that Ralph was not a passive but an active member of the organizations listed above. Extra-curricular activities took a large portion of his time, but somehow this Albrightian found time to be an honor student.

Undoubtedly, Ralph Stoudt is one of the Dandiest Lions who has ever roared around the Albright campus.

Conversation Pieces

The King's English. Students in England have a set of slang terms that is completely different from ours. To us, a student noted for earnest study is a grind. English students, however, call him a swot, a brown-bagger or a mug. At Oxford and Cambridge, the academic gowns are called cover-arises or tail-curtains. To fail an examination is to be gulphed, pilled, pipped, ploughed or plucked. Chemistry is known as the stinks. Newsweek.

Blub, blub, blub. Just before examinations, approximately 400 students of the University of Syracuse had a water battle which overflowed into downtown Syracuse. Water pistols, buckets, and hoses were used as bystanders and uncooperative policemen were drenched. Police finally arrested the leaders and hung them up in jail to dry. Newsweek.

Teaching Techniques. Dr. Gerald Erlich, who was recently voted the most popular professor at City College of New York, employs a unique teaching method in his hygiene classes. If the students' attention begins to wander, the good doctor pulls out a cap pistol and takes a couple of pot shots at those students who are gazing out the window. Or he might throw a raw egg against the blackboard. Anything to wake the students up. Some system! Reading Times.

Loyal to the last drop. A group of alumni and friends of Theford Academy, Vt., demonstrated their loyalty recently. Each agreed to sell a pint of his blood to the local hospital and have the money turned over to the school. Newsweek.

LION NINE POSTS 3-1 RECORD IN FINALS

Once again the time has come for the Albright Lion to cast a side glance at his team records for the past season of athletic activity. The spring season with its four active sports has again passed and with it has gone the 1949-50 sports year at Albright College. Only the record books remain to be surveyed by fans and future historians.

Taking a general look at the year's results we find that only two teams, those in football and cross country (both fall sports), dropped below a .500 percentage. The overall result of the Lion's activities was 53 wins, 34 losses, and three ties. The spring track team posted the best average of seven wins and only one loss for a stellar .875 finish.

Coach Eddie Gulian, in his three sports of football, basketball, and baseball, put in a successful debut of a total of 31 wins, 20 losses, and one tie for a .608 percentage. His basketball team turned in the best mark of 17 wins, eight losses, a .680 percentage, and the Western Division title of the Middle Atlantic Conference.

Grid Results

The outstanding achievement for the Lion gridgers of 1949 was their 13-13 tie with Gettysburg College, which supposedly had one of the best small college teams in the United States. The Albright eleven only defeated Moravian and Franklin and Marshall, while they lost to West Chester, Lincoln, Muhlenberg, Lebanon Valley, Scranton, and PMC. The 1950 squad will have to find replacements for ace quarterback Al Harnly and other seniors such as Captain Bernie Koskultiz, Frank Bird, Fred Rosen, Cal Cizewski, Dick Koch, Jerry Pedota, and Bill Wesner. A notable achievement in Coach Gulian's first Lion football squad was the installation of the two-platoon system.

Coach Eugene L. Shirk's cross country squad racked up a two win, two tie, and five loss record after defeating only Gettysburg (the jinx) and Ursinus. They emerged in ties with King's College and Delaware. Eddie Anlian and Dave Roland were the only last year men on the squad.

The hardwood quintet piled up the second best record of the year for any sport, and the best for Coach Gulian. Captain and senior Eddie Anlian's 501 points which brought his four year total up to 1,681 set the pace for the Albright team which again copped the Middle Atlantic, Western Division title in a victory over Scranton. On the list of teams which suffered at the Cats' hands were such names as King's College, Gettysburg (again), St. Joseph's, West Chester, F&M, Seton Hall, Lebanon Valley, Wagner, Moravian, Shippenburg, Lincoln, Dickinson, Bucknell, Juniata, Elizabethtown, and Scranton. Additional seniors on the squad besides Anlian were Ray Chelius, John McKenna, and Jesse Ervin.

Coach Gulian's diamond squad

with 12 wins, six losses, and a .667 average, was the team with third highest standing. Although their excellent record enabled the diamondmen to enter the Middle Atlantic Conference playoffs, they were defeated 2-1 by Lehigh in their initial battle. West Chester, Muhlenberg, F&M, Elizabethtown, Lebanon Valley, Moravian, Bucknell, Susquehanna, La Salle, Drexel, and St. Joseph's went down to defeat at the Lion's claws. Ervin, George Baumgaertel, Jim Fromuth, and Russ Millard were seniors on the squad.

Fourth place in the standings was held by Coach Leo Bloom's tennis team with nine wins in 14 matches for a percentage of .643. The Cat racketeers vanquished Elon, Guilford, and Lynchburg on their annual southern junket and G-burg (jinx!), Muhlenberg, Drexel, Ursinus, E-town, and Susquehanna (even with Barbara Staggs, granddaughter of Amos Alonzo Stagg) on the regular card. Captain Jim Mengel, Paul Siegfried, Darlington Hoopes, Jr., and Stan Taub all went the graduation route.

Four wins and three losses for a .572 percentage was the result of this season for Coach Paul Matten's golf team. The linksmen topped Scranton, Dickinson, Bucknell, and Ursinus, and lost Art Dunlop, Kenny Dougherty, and Chelius through graduation.

Trackmen Post Best Record

Last, and most important, was the seven win, one loss record turned in by Coach Shirk's track squad for the highest percentage of the year. The climax of the cindermen's season was Al Harnley's victory in the IC4A javelin event with a toss of 207 feet, $\frac{3}{4}$ inch. Lebanon Valley, Juniata, PMC, Drexel, F&M, and Ursinus were all defeated by the Red and White in dual meets. A two point heart-breaker suffered at the hands of Dickinson was the only loss for the Lions. Seniors on the cinders were Co-captains Anlian and Harnly, Jack Snook, Dick Koch, and Dave Roland.

Not to be forgotten in our summary are those men who probably had the best average of all—the team managers. Those lost through graduation were Art Diaz and Gene Friedman.

Judging from past records, therefore, the Lion prospects for 1950-51 look especially bright. Here's hoping that Coaches Gulian, Shirk, Bloom, and Matten are inspired to the best year in Albright's sports history.

Harnly Cops First In IC4A Javelin To Climax Career

Anlian Named Coach At Robesonia School

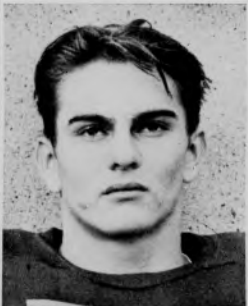

Two of Albright's former outstanding athletes have recently made names for themselves in the outside world of sports, one in acquiring coaching duties and the other in track and field competition. They are Eddie Anlian, who recently was appointed to the Robesonia High School faculty, and Al Harnly, the winner of the javelin event in the IC4A track championships on Saturday, May 27.

On Wednesday, May 17, Anlian's appointment to the faculty of the Robesonia High School was announced by C. Gilbert Snyder, the supervising principal of the high school. He is expected to teach mathematics and science and will assist in coaching all sports of the school. Thus the black thatched Union City, New Jersey, native, who only a short time ago closed a stellar sports career with the Lions, especially on the basketball court, expects to continue his career in his two chosen fields.

Harnly Cops IC4A Javelin

A climaxing 207 foot, $\frac{3}{4}$ inch javelin toss gave the Lion's Harnly first place in that event in the 74th annual IC4A track championships held at Randalls Island, New York, on May 26 and 27. It was Harnly's best and final toss of his Albright sports career and gave the Lions five points in the carnival. Gerry Potts, discus and shot put ace, also attended the tourney but failed to earn any laurels.

Entering through the Berks Athletic Club in the Middle Atlantic Amateur Athletic Union track and field championships on Saturday, June 10, at Harrisburg, Harnly failed to defend his winning spot of last year in the spear event. A rain soaked field, reminiscent of the Penn Relays, held the winning toss of Theodore Rodgers down to a skimpy 194 feet, $\frac{1}{2}$ inches. The former Red and White luminary managed to place third in the dampened event.

Harnly bettered his mark in national intercollegiate competition this year by placing fifth in the 29th National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) track and field meet held on Friday and Saturday, June 16-17, at Minneapolis, Minnesota. His toss of 198 feet, $\frac{1}{4}$ inches garnered him fifth place in competition which was won by Stanford's Bud Held with a throw of 216 feet, 8 inches, and bettered his tenth place finish of last year when he was the first Albright athlete ever to attend an NCAA meet. He was accompanied on both trips by Albright's faculty manager of athletics and track coach, Eugene L. Shirk, who attended a track coaches clinic and meetings of the committee on rules while at Minneapolis.

Today Harnly will participate in the National AAU Junior Championships at College Park at the University of Maryland in that state in an attempt for further honors.

Loses to Lehigh in Initial Fracas of MAC Tournament

Defeats La Salle, Drexel, St. Joseph's To close Coach Gulian's First Season

The Lion diamondmen racked up a three win, one loss record in their four concluding contests with victories over La Salle, Drexel and St. Joseph's and a loss only to Lehigh in their initial contest of the Middle Atlantic Conference tournament. The Cats lost to the future engineers by the heartrending score of 2-1 on Saturday, May 20; they defeated La Salle, 8-4, on Monday, May 23; trounced Drexel, 11-4, on the following Saturday; and nudged St. Joseph's Hawks, 4-2, on Saturday, June 3.

Tracksters Tally Wins in Finales

Defeat Bears, Royals; Emerge With 7-1 Card

The Lion tracksters racked up two victories in their final meets to tally a final record of seven wins and one loss after having been defeated only by Dickinson with a two point, 62-64, margin in dual meet competition. In their last two matches the Cats emerged victorious over Ursinus, 77-49, on Wednesday, May 17, and defeated Scranton, 88-43, the following Saturday in the final dual meet of the 1950 season.

Consistent double winners Al Harnly and Gerry Potts led the victors with first places in the broad jump and javelin, and shot put and discus, respectively, in the final, Scranton meet. Yurishim was the double winner for the Royals in the 220 and 440-yard dashes.

Running Firsts

Albright's firsts in the running events were by Charley Zellner in the one-mile run, Zellner and Fulmer in the two-mile run, Jack Snook in the 120-yard high hurdles, and Dave Roland in the 220-yard low hurdles. The only other winner in the field besides Harnly and Potts was Elwood Alberts in the pole vault.

Four of five senior trackmen participated in their last intercollegiate competition in the meet against the Royals. They were Harnly, Roland, Dick Koch, and Snook. Eddie Anlian, co-captain of the track squad with Harnly, was unable to participate in this meet.

Alberts Sets Record

Alberts' 12 foot pole vault tally and a new Albright record in that event sparked the Cats in their 77-49 victory over Ursinus College. Lee Cappel did his bit by turning in a triple win card. He was not only first in the two hurdle events, but nosed out Harnly to cop first in the javelin toss.

Single winners for the Lions were Anlian in the 880-yard run, Harnly in the broad jump, and Potts in the shot put event. Rod Shine and Alberts were tied with a year contender for first position in the high jump event. Russ Binder with victories in the 100 and 200-yard dashes and Joe Shaw, winner in the 880-yard and mile runs, headed the losing Ursinus contingent.

Fromuth Named Northwest Mentor

Wilfred O. (Bud) Fromuth was recently appointed to succeed Bill Horine as coach for the Northwest Junior High School gridiron squad. In the establishment of a new policy under which no Reading High School coach will be assigned to more than two sports, Horine, who coached basketball at Albright during the 1947-48 season, was elevated from Northwest to assistant coach of the Red and Black in basketball and football. He will be JV coach in both sports.

Fromuth, who has assisted both Levan P. Smith and Eddie Gulian at the task of coaching the Lions' football eleven, was a stellar linesman on the Reading High and Albright gridiron squads in past years. He captained the freshman eleven in 1941, participated on the 1942 varsity before entering the service, captained the varsity in 1946, and has assisted in coaching ever since a war injury forced him off the playing field.

Hal Conway, Lehigh's ace moundman, bettered Charley Martone in the Lion's MAC contest which turned into a stiff pitching duel and an ultimate 2-1 loss for the Lions. In later contests in the MAC play-offs, Lehigh downed Moravian, 5-2, but lost to the championship-winning Bucknell nine, 4-2, in the final contest. Lehigh's Conway was tapped for four singles by the Cats while Martone allowed four singles, and three extra base bingles.

The Engineers scored their tallies in the first and fifth innings while the Cats scored their orphan in the seventh. A wild third baseman's throw allowed Jim Fromuth to dash to second on his bingle which opened Albright's scoring action. Jesse Ervin walked, Bill Krohto fanned, but diminutive Blackie Moyer's timely tap drove in Fromuth for the Lion's only score. Two Lions parked on the sacks in the closing stanza of the contest but the Engineers stifled their scoring threat and they died on base.

In their 8-4 conquest of La Salle the Lion's tosser, George Baumgaertel, allowed his opponents only six safeties while fanning 11. His teammates backed him up most in the fifth inning when they went on a single spree for four big tallies. The victors also scored two each in the second and seventh stanzas while the vanquished scored two each in the third and ninth innings.

The combination of Hook Martone and 14 hits gave the Cats their 11th victory in 18 contests with their 11-4 conquest of Drexel. The victors tallied all of their runs in three innings with three in the third, six in the fourth, and two in the fifth; while the losing visitors scored their first run in the second stanza and three more in the fifth. Singles by Jay Sherlach, Moyer, Krohto, Ervin, Bernie Lillis, and Martone, plus a grand slam homer by Johnny Santo in the big fourth inning, were the examples of the Lion's winning power.

Senior pitcher, George Baumgaertel, tossed the Cats to their twelfth and final victory with a 4-2 win over St. Joseph's College of Philadelphia before a 300-strong crowd of Alumni Day visitors. It was his fifth decision in seven starts this season.

Martone, playing the outfield in this contest, started off his three for five day in the first inning when he slammed a homer for Albright's first score of the game. St. Joseph's retaliated with a tally in the next stanza but a fly ball by Santo brought in Lillis for another counter in the third inning. Santo dented the plate himself in the fifth inning after making a bingle, stealing second, and scoring on Sherlach's Texas Leaguer. Millard made the winner's last tally in the seventh on Martone's single for an insurance run after the visitors had just racked up another for themselves.

Albright Netmen Split Two Matches

Albright's sprightly tennis team was cheated out of a number of its final scheduled matches by inclement weather. Thus the Lion netmen rang down the curtain on a nine win, five loss season with a close 5-4 loss at the hands of the St. Joseph's College tennisiers on the home courts on Saturday, June 3. They had previously defeated Drexel by the same score on Wednesday, May 17, for their ninth and last victory of the season.

Three singles and two doubles victories gave the Lion netmen the necessary edge in their match against Drexel to nudge their opponents, 5-4. Jim Mengel, Don Ermold, and Jay Shenk were the singles powerhouses for Albright, while the combines of Bob Ruoff-Paul Kissinger and Mengel-Ermold provided the doubles punch.

The Lion courtmen met their fifth and final defeat at the hands of St. Joseph's before an Alumni Day crowd of spectators by the close score of 5-4. Although the two opponents split evenly on the

Golf Squad Falls Victim to F&M, 6-3

Coach Paul Matten's Lion golf squad met rainy weather at the close of their schedule and thus were enabled only to meet Franklin and Marshall on May 17 to close their schedule. The linksmen fell victim to the Diplomats by a score of 6-3, which lowered their season's record to four wins and three losses. Earl Langford and Floyd Becker were the only Cats to defeat their opponents on the Lancaster greens.

singles matches as in the Drexel contest, the visitors' 2-1 edge in the doubles contests provided them with the necessary margin for victory. It was the visiting Philadelphians' eleventh win in fourteen starts and their seventh out of eight away meets.

Jim Mengel, Paul Kissinger, and Forrest Strawbridge were the Lions' single winners while the duo of Mengel and Ermold was the lone Albright doubles victor.

Dorms To Be Redecorated; New Physics Lab Planned

During the summer Mr. H. Eugene Pierce and his staff will be carrying on numerous renovation projects on campus. Besides the customary routine work of house cleaning the buildings and caring for the grounds, the men will be occupied with various outdoor and indoor improvements. A considerable amount of indoor redecoration is planned. The north wing of Selwyn Hall, taking priority over most of the other work, will undergo complete redecoration, while the third floor will be supplied with new metal furniture and painted. Pastel color schemes will be followed throughout the dormitories. After the Selwyn Hall project is under way, the staff will replaster, where necessary, and redecorate the chapel dormitory. With the help of the home economics department Sherman Cottage will also share in the redecoration program.

On June 13 the men began to tear down the partition between the sewing rooms, 206 and 207 in the Administration Building, making one large room. With the cooperation of Dr. Thomas P. Merritt a new laboratory for advanced physics will be equipped in the basement of the science hall.

Out-of-doors, Mr. Pierce's staff will undertake the removal of diseased trees, which has already been started, and the repair of sidewalks and curbs. The brick walk to the south of Selwyn Hall will be replaced by a wider cement walk. Since it is necessary that some repair work be done to the exterior of Union Hall, this building will be included in the summer's improvements. What material will be used here has not yet been determined.

Time permitting, the reading room of the library and the offices in the Administration Building will be renovated and redecorated. If these two projects are not completed during the summer, they will be held over till a later date, probably the Christmas recess.
