

Recodr Class To Bring 221 New Students

With a record-breaking enrollment of 221 students, the incoming freshman class will be the largest class ever to enter Albright College, announced Professor Newton S. Danford, College Registrar. Topping last year's freshman class by only six students, the new frosh class will be composed largely of local students. Ninety-five members of the class live in Reading; 41 more are Berks Countians.

In the Class of 1952 women are in the minority with only 55 in their group, as compared with 166 frosh men.

Included among the Readingites are: Kathleen M. Albert, 1429 Union St.; George M. Ammon, 1162 N. Ninth St.; John P. Angstadt, 1142 Green St.; Jacqueline U. Artz, 520 McKnight St.; Edgar A. Baer, 1048 Mulberry St.; Anna L. Barnes, 336 S. Third St.; Catherine L. Barto, 1525 N. 14th St.; Margurite E. Beard, 627 N. 5th St.; James A. Beck, 1301 N. 11th St.; Frederick C. Becker, 419 Sunset Road.

Frosh Orientation Plans Include Assemblies, Socials, Job Analyses

The formal Freshman Orientation Program to be held from Tuesday, September 14 to Monday, September 20 has been released by Lester L. Stabler, Director of Public Relations. Destined to orientate all incoming freshmen to Albright College and college life, the orientation schedule will consist of various programs, activities, and intergroup activities. Included in this year's program is a complete vocational analysis for each freshman, conducted under the direction of the College Psychological Service Center.

The over-all program, planned and directed by the College, Student Council, the Y.M.C.A., and the Y.W.C.A., will be a general faculty-student committee in charge, consisting of: Dr. George W. Walton, Dean of the College, as general chairman; Mr. Stabler, Director of Public Relations, in charge of the Orientation Week Program; LeVan P. Smith, Dean of Men, advisor to the Student Council position of orientation; Mrs. Helen B. Silverthorne, Dean of Women; Clyde A. Harding, Chairman of Student Organizations & Activities Committee; and these students, William Carson, President of Student Council; William Marlow, President of the Y.M.C.A.; Doris Downes, President of the Y.W.C.A.; Helen Seiber, President of Women's Senate; and Jay Shenk, President of the Sophomore Class Committee.

Also coming for the Orientation Week festivities are: Jack Snook, John Faunsnaught, Elmer Good, Carl Bretz, Shirley Miller, Owen Henry, Kathleen Guenther, Vi Seibert, Jean Long, Terry Connor, Joyce Thompson, Frank Bird, Jerry Pedota, Margaret E. Smith, Marilyn Himmelstein, Jean Magee, Charlotte Winner, and Michael Plaskonis.

The general faculty-student committee will meet in the Public Relations Office Monday, September 13 at 10:00 a.m. to discuss further orientation plans. The following schedule is tentative and is subject to change.

- The program: Monday, Sept. 13
- 6:00 p.m.—First meal, boarding freshmen
- Tuesday, Sept. 14

Albright Officially NSA Member; Delegate at UW

Albright College has officially become a member of the National Student Association, according to a letter received on July 9 from the National Office of the United States National Student Association, and of the Pennsylvania Regional Branch of the USA.

Doris Chanin is the Albright delegate at the First National Student Congress at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wisconsin, from August 23 to 28.

Regional Confab

The College was represented by Jerome Dersh and Kathleen Guenther at the second regional assembly of the Pennsylvania Region of the NSA at State College on June 10, 11, and 12. Delegates from colleges throughout the state met to take up the domestic and international problems facing today's American student.

In the first plenary session on the evening of June 10, Mr. A. Blair Knapp, Dean of Students at Temple University and one of the nation's foremost educators, in his keynote address to the conference, analyzed the organization, problems, and purposes of student government.

The agenda for the National Affairs Workshop sessions on Friday, June 11, consisted of student government, interracial relations, cultural activities, and student welfare.

Workshops

The afternoon International Affairs Workshops included foreign student welfare, student travel and exchange, followed by ways and means, constitutional, and nomination committee meetings. On Saturday, June 12, the convention considered the reports of the special committee meetings, and closed with the election of new officers for the school year 1948-1949.

Throughout the conference a closer alliance between NSA and individual college student councils was stressed, and the need for better trained, more aggressive, more conscientious leaders was emphasized.

Jacobi and Zener Resign Positions

Dr. John E. Jacobi and Dr. Virgin C. Zener will not return to their classes in September, announced President Harry V. Masters. Dr. Jacobi, a professor of sociology while at Albright, will return to Lehigh University, his Alma Mater, to become an associate professor of sociology. Dr. Zener, who officially retired two years ago, will now relinquish his duties permanently.

A graduate of Lehigh in 1929, Dr. Jacobi received his Doctor of Philosophy degree from New York University. He taught at the University of Maryland, Florida State College, and Tusculum College, Greenville, Tennessee, where he was also dean. He came to Albright in 1941.

Community Worker

While in Reading, Dr. Jacobi was active in community activities, as a member of the boys' work committee of the Central YMCA, as chairman of the education committee of the local Camp Fire Girls, as a Cub Scout leader, and as social director of Bynden Wood last summer.

Dr. Zener graduated from Indiana State Teachers' College, Indiana, Pa., in 1900 and enrolled in the University of Michigan where he received his A. B. Degree. In 1918, he finished his work for a master's degree at Albright College, Myerstown. After teaching school for six years, Dr. Zener started to teach at Albright. He was granted a university scholarship to the University of Pennsylvania in 1924.

Zener's Honors

Dr. Zener is a member of the American Academy of Political and Social Science; Phi Gamma Mu, national honorary society of science fraternity; Phi Delta Kappa, national honorary education fraternity; New Education Fellowship; Progressive Educational Association; and a life member of the National Education Association.

Dr. Zener, who was made a professor emeritus upon his retirement two years ago, has been serving part-time in the education department since then.

Faculty Rejects Class Dues Plan

The proposed plans for including class dues with the regular college fee has been rejected by the executive committee of the College, announced Charles L. Gordon, Treasurer. In refusing to incorporate the dues into the college fee, the Administration felt that too much would be added to the already heavy fee assessments. As a result of this decision, the collection of dues will be left to the class treasurers.

The plan, as originally proposed, was voted upon by the student body near the close of the last school year and passed by the Student Council, from which it was forwarded to the executive committee for final approval.

Albright Staff Increased By Eight Faculty Additions

The appointments of eight new faculty members have been announced by President Harry V. Masters. Beginning their duties in September will be Mr. Paul Rusby, associate professor of business administration; Dr. Edith B. Douds, assistant professor of English; Mr. William R. Bishop, Jr., assistant professor of history; Mr. Elmer L. Smith, instructor in sociology; and Mr. Garland L. Thomas, instructor in mathematics and physics. The Rev. Harry W. Mengel will be teaching part time in the Department of Education; while Mrs. Jean Voss will be a part-time instructor in public speaking. Mr. Franklin Ritter will return to Albright as a full-time graduate assistant in biology.

DR. EDITH B. DOUDS

21 Seniors to Get Degrees Next Fri.

Graduation exercises for seniors finishing their college work this summer will be held September 3 at 2 p.m., in the Student Union Building, announced Dr. George W. Walton, Dean of the College. Professor John W. Khouri, of the College History Department, will deliver the commencement address, entitled "Follow Through," to the twenty-three seniors who are completing work for their degrees and to the 150 guests who are expected to attend the exercises and the reception following.

President Harry V. Masters and Dean Wenzler will confer the degrees. Following the alumni induction ceremony by Mr. Fred E. Luckenbill, Alumni Association President, George D. Nahn will accept the alumni membership challenge for the evaluating seniors.

Academic Garb

Rev. Eugene B. Parth will offer the invocation and benediction at the exercises, for which both faculty and students will be in academic dress. Miss Dorace Hornberger will render a vocal selection, and Dr. Edith B. Douds will serve as hostess at the tea and reception.

Among the students reaching for the sheepskin are: Harold L. Bare, Walter J. Bennis, Robert Dombro, John H. Reyd, Arthur B. Himmelfinger, Paul Jensen, Evans R. Keim, Carl E. Kern, Kenneth R. Lieb, Abraham Markowitz, William H. Miller, Robert L. Morgan, Nahn, James R. Nini-vaggi, Samuel P. Orlando, John H. Petrician, Frederick H. Perrett, Clair W. Reed, Ariane M. Smiley, Ermine S. Stockler, Katherine M. Stokes, Mary E. Umberger, and John M. Werner.

KTX Ask Frosh To Fall Meeting

As their first fall meeting, Kappa Tau Chi, the campus ministerial fraternity, will hold a fellowship outing Thursday, September 23 at Egelman's Park with the Froshman Class invited as guests.

The group will leave the Administration Building at 4 p.m. in cars to be provided for those needing transportation, announced Kopp, chairman of the program committee. On the program will be recreation, a doggie roast, and a camp fire devotional service to be led by Professor Eugene H. Barth, advisor of the group.

Among the freshmen invited to attend are: Leonard Buxton, William Heck, Harry Irvin, Thomas Jones, Kenneth Kine, Charles Klingler, Galen Klingler, William Sailer, Elwood Schall, Herman Showers, Norman Snook, William Snyder, and Peter Young.

Mr. Rusby attended Mt. Union College and received his A. B. degree from Columbia University in 1922 and his A. M. degree from the same school in 1924. In 1925, he was a professor of economics at Alfred University; and from 1930 to 1941, he held the same position at Middlebury College in Vermont. The new faculty member later attended Rutgers University and Harvard University for graduate study.

Traveler

Having traveled in France and in Canada, Mr. Rusby has been associated with the War Labor Board and the Veterans' Administration. From 1941 to 1942, he was a supervisor of the Federal Works Agency in Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont; and for the last two years, has been a training officer for the wounded veterans in the U. S. Veterans' Administration.

A native of Barryville, N. Y., Mr. Rusby is currently living in New York City. He is married and has a son and a daughter.

Having received her A. B. degree cum laude, and her M. A. degree from the University of Mississippi, Dr. Douds has attended Randolph-Macon Women's College, the University of Colorado, and Cornell University, from where she received her Ph. D. in 1934.

Dr. Douds has traveled widely in the United States, Mexico, Canada, Cuba, England, France, and (Continued on page 3)

310 Albrightians In Summer Term

Three hundred and ten students, the largest number in the history of Albright summer session, are at present registered in thirty-four courses of summer school. Of this number, one hundred and ninety-seven are veterans and forty-three are students from 16 other colleges.

Other colleges represented on Albright campus this summer are: Miami, Franklin and Marshall, Haverford, Missouri, Syracuse, Swarthmore, Johns Hopkins, Lake Erie, Southern Methodist, Hood, Ursinus, Muhlenberg, Dickinson, Lafayette, Rutgers, and Kutztown.

Marlow Elected 'Y' School Prexy

William Marlow, president of the Albright Y. M. C. A., was recently elected to head the President School Christian Association, a model Christian Association of the 'Y Presidents' School held at Union Theological Seminary in New York City this summer. Marlow will serve as co-president with Cynthia Patrick, of Westhampton College, of the University of Richmond.

The new prexy and Doris Downes, president of the campus Y.W.C.A., were the Albright delegates attending this six-week course.

Dorms, Lab Redone For Campus Betterment

Campus improvements during the summer months include the conversion of the dormitories on the third floor of the Administration Building into three classrooms and two offices, announced President Harry V. Masters. Lavatory facilities for both men and women will also be located on the third floor.

Home economic students will find the clothing laboratory on the second floor of the Administration Building much improved with new linoleum and repainting and decorating.

Trust In Mankind

On August 14, newspapers throughout the country carried the story of a Mrs. Tony Furio hitch-hiking with her small son from Bangor, Maine, to California. Mrs. Furio said her soldier-husband's allotment checks had been delayed. This left her without money for transportation, so she was hitch-hiking across the country. Her husband was scheduled to go overseas, August 20.

Peculiarly significant of this deed was the fact that Mrs. Furio was faced with a desperate situation. In her mind, she mustered courage enough to entrust the safety of herself and her son to many strangers. But the urgency was there; and it generated a trust. That trust is one of the basic factors in a belief in mankind. But ironically enough, neither trust nor belief is often present except in distress. However, this distress results usually in an attitude of indifference in college students unless it affects us directly.

So what if a bunch of Jews and Arabs are dying in a war? So what if a couple million Germans in Berlin face starvation this winter? Maybe we can fly in enough food before winter. Our government has plenty of money to throw away at the rate of a million and a half on an air ferry. Besides, we've got enough to eat.

Getting right down to college life—all over America—who cares if a prof gives a student a raw deal or wants to discriminate against any minority group? It's not our tough luck.

But wait a minute, maybe it is our misfortune. If our diplomats can't persuade Joe Stalin for a few things, we might have a war. Yeah, that's right. After all, the V.F.W. only last week advocated a forceful breaking of the Russian blockade around Berlin. And we can't tell about the Palestine situation. Why, we might even be drafted into the army. Oh my, isn't war terrible?!!

And come to think of it, we might be the ones on the end of a raw deal, or we might be the ones against whom discrimination is directed.

Maybe we are connected, directly or indirectly, to everything that is happening. A much stronger belief in mankind might help us. Trusting the next man would be a step in that direction. We certainly have nothing to gain by an "ostrich with his head in the sand" attitude of indifference. But what we need to do is to relate ourselves to the rest of the world. Then we'll find our places and learn our true value.

A little trust like that of Mrs. Furio will do a lot of good in time of need. It could do a great deal more good without the need.

We Want More

Several weeks ago, our summer students forsook their books to attend one of the best picnics ever! About 200 students and faculty gobbled up oodles and oodles of food and played with balloons and baseballs to have a hilarious time. The summer school picnic was a great success!

We had a lot of fun at that outing, but we also gained a lot more. The bond between faculty and students was made closer; we learned to know the pros and their wives much better. Yes, and we saw that the pros can have just as much fun as we do—there's not only a life of serious classroom work. They, like any one of us, enjoy social activities with the students. That picnic certainly brought many faculty and students to know each other better—as good friends. And all of us do agree—this faculty-student relationship is a very important part of college.

To the committee in charge, we say a big "thank you." "Thank you" for showing us a wonderful time. The faculty-student committee and the hard worker who prepared the food for us certainly deserve a lot of credit for a job well done.

Let's get faculty and students together more often—socially. What do you say?

Hope to See You Soon

Hello, everybody! Hope you have had a very nice summer. When the last week in August rolls around, we know that before long, Albrightians will be returning to campus to renew old acquaintances and make new ones.

We are very anxious to see all of you again. There'll be many new faces on campus this year—over 200 new freshmen and quite a few new professors, too. So, upperclassmen, come September 20, we'll all be back at it again, hoping to have a very successful year at Albright.

And a big "Hello" to you, Class of 1952. It's you that we are very eager to see—eager to see just what you look like—and eager to see just what kind of Albrightians you'll be. Every wish for success and happiness during your four years at Albright is yours. May you put to use every bit of opportunity that you receive here.

Students Vacation At Shore, Camps

The close of the summer finds our industrious Albrightians spread far and wide at sundry places and positions. Here's what some are doing—

One of the most popular locations for summer employment is the seashore; and the fortunate folks working there are Shirley Miller, Anna Lauver, and Betty Shroyer at the Quaker Inn, Ocean Grove, N.J.; Virginia Fox and Bob Ziegler at the Seaside Hotel, also in Ocean Grove; Jeanne and John Flickinger and Janet Tonkin at the West End in Asbury Park, N.J.; Betty Savage at Ocean City, N.J.; and Hazel Moeder and Bev Morgan at Atlantic City, N.J. Kathleen Gunther, Joyce Thompson, and Jean Long were at Ocean City also, but are now serving in various capacities around Reading. At Asbury Park, Lindy Smith's dipping Kohr's frozen custard, and at Long Branch, N.J., we find Jerry Pedota operating a roulette wheel—nuff said.

Camp Men

Several of Jerry's colleagues, Frank Bird, Don Haller, Wilson Serfas, Bernie Yanowski, Bob Bernhart, Bill Hutchinson, Stan Taub, Ed Anlian, and George Rasner are counsellors and camp structures at Camp Winesapkeek, N. H. Oh, yes, Jerry Dersh is a nature instructor in the N.H. wilds also—Albright's original "nature boy."

Marge Lyman, Shirley Johnson, Ruth Homan, and Dottie Rath were at Camp Riley and Alma McLaughlin, Marjorie Christ, Bill Marlow, Jack Snook, and Johnny Fausnaugh were at Red Bird Mission in Kentucky for a month. Cieta Rein is at Camp Christmas Seal.

Psychologists

Coming closer to home, we find several of Dr. Gell's psychology students plugging for A's in Abnormal Psych, while working as attendants in the wards at Wernersville State Hospital. Ida Palmer, Kathryn Miller, Dolores Marques, Jean Fehr, and Beverly Bresler are helping out in the women's wards; while Dale Webster, Norman Telesky, Bob Morgan, Cal Lieberman, and Humbert Manzollito are on duty in the men's wards.

Profs Study, Travel In the West, London, Puerto Rico, Mexico

A professional vacation is really an important essential. How else would your pros be able to tell you this winter about the ones that got away on Lake Wausau, the curious native dances of the Ambango Islanders, or Dr. Von Blow's theory of the inveterate difference of the substantial? Seriously, though, our professors manage to combine teaching and learning and pleasure in a way that puts less energetic and enterprising vacationers to shame.

Take, for instance, Reverend Barth, who not only spoke at various church conferences this summer, but also found time for a ten-day trip with his family. At present he is working with Dr. Gingrich, who is teaching summer school, on a history of Albright.

German Clan

Dr. Memming journeyed to his beloved Midwest to attend an annual gathering of the American members of the Ostrifresens, a Low-German clan, who have settled in Iowa. Miss Mary Jane Ward "did" Mexico from Kochi-pronounce them either) and from bull fights to jal alai games. She is now attending the Berlitz School of Languages in Philadelphia.

Among the "at homes" are Miss Garlach, spending a quiet summer at Gettysburg, Prof Lewis Smith, relaxing at his country home at Catawissa, Pa., and Miss Elder, who with Miss Rodriguez, is busily furnishing their new apartment. In June, Miss Rodriguez flew home to Puerto Rico for a short visit, returning home in time to teach summer school.

Albright Misses Become Mrs.'s

Maybe it was the balmy weather or the fact that a young man's fancy turns come spring that caused many of our campus "steadies" to "plight their troth." But they certainly did it during the summer months.

Our raven-haired May Queen, Betty Cusano, now reigns supreme over Eddie Kalbich since their recent nuptials; and "the couple" of the Science Hall, Catherine Frantz and John Woyanowski, have found an unbeatable formula: J. W. + C. F. = Happiness.

The June wedding of Mary Beth Shofer to Kenny Leih was a lovely one held in Trinity Lutheran Church. Henrietta Morrison and Charlie Kachel were wed by Charlie's father. Closely followed her brother's wedding, Ruth Kachel was wed to Charles Ziebler. Marion Gerberich's wedding to Herb Stoltz had a patriotic atmosphere—it took place on July 4.

More Matches

George Oksanen and Ruth Zerbe and Robert Stapleton and Marjorie Hipple are also listed among the newlyweds. Among the co-eds who marched down the aisle were Joyce Hottenstein, whose wedding to Harry Schiffer took place in St. Peter's Methodist Church, and Anne Wickham, whose wedding to George Mohn was a major social event of the summer.

September wedding bells will peal for Erma Seidel and Bob Reed, our happy Editorial Assistant, and for Ariane Smiley, who intends to be wed to her New York fiancée, Pat Herrick's wedding to Herbert Jung took place last Saturday.

Engagements

Among the engaged couples we find Elaine Huber and Jack Bayley, Pat Strausser and Art Lockner, and Florence Meredith and Jean Moyer. Dorothy Burkhardt is also sporting a brand new diamond ring.

New Arrivals

And along with Cupid's best victims is "Daddy" Forwalk, who is still standing out cigars since the birth of his son last May. Mrs. Forwalk is the former Virginia Corliss. Yes, and to Mr. and Mrs. Philip Angstadt came a brand new daughter!

Congratulations, everybody—from all of us!

One of the brightest stars in the Albright constellation these days is one Morris Knouse, better known to his fellow Albrightians as just plain "Bud."

Besides being versatile, conscientious, and friendly, this Knouse fellow, who hails from Robesonia, is quite a competent character to boot. You may recall him as "Judah" in the Domino production of "Family Portrait," and none of us will forget his most stirring portrayal of "Wilson" in "In Time to Come." As if these accomplishments in the dramatic field weren't enough, he also managed to hold The Albrightian's News Staff together for two years besides contributing prominently to "The Cue."

Catch him in a talkative mood, he'll most likely break out in one of his easy, familiar grins and tell you that music is his biggest joy. You can readily verify this, too, by dropping into the Domino Club rehearsals, which are invariably accompanied by "virtuoso" Bud Knouse.

Bud "gave the Navy a break" in the last war—a long break, two and one half years of his time. By the way, this college business is really old stuff to him by now, since he "did time" at both Colgate University in New York state, and Holy Cross way up north in Massachusetts.

All this schooling, however, has only whetted Bud's appetite for learning because after graduation, in February, he is quite seriously planning to enter the University of Pennsylvania to study architecture.

We all wish lots of luck to you, Bud. Be sure to keep that star polished, because we'll expect to see it shining brightly in the heavens of success "In Time to Come."

Summer Students and Faculty Let Loose At Get-together of Games, Food and Fun

Miss Irmintrude Krausheimer Du-Drop-Inn
Mouse-Trap-in the Catskills
State of Confusion
Dear Irmintrude,

Albright College
Friday 13, 1948

Gee, kid, it's dull here without you. Now I have nothing to do at night except study Shakespeare and American history, and that keeps me busy only until about 2 a.m. But last night, Irmintrude, gee, I had fun. No, dear, I was not out with the boys. I was at the summer school picnic at Egelman's Park.

People began to arrive about 4:30. Bud and Peggy Dombro know what they were doing, they rode in on the food truck. For a while there was some excitement when a keg of "Old Reading" appeared with the food. (Now don't get excited, Irmintrude, it was only birch beer!) A flash of red appeared in the woods and there were cries of, "Look! Over there is Dr. Hamilton! What a bright he wore!" John "Mad Russian" Kucha arrived with Miss and Mrs. Kucha, and Mr. Kucha immediately headed for the see-saws (to watch his little girl of course.) Prof "Card Shark" Gates arrived, found a deck of cards and spent a profitable evening until someone brought on the watermelon. Dorace Hornberger appeared on the scene and proved that she is something unusual—a woman who looks good in slacks. (All the girls except Doris looked as if they had been poured, do you remember telling me those famous ties of Prof Khouri's—the one that kept you a wake during eight o'clock classes? Well, he didn't have one of those illustrious red and purple jobs on last night, but he did live up to his reputation by coming as "Little Boy Blue." He was a veritable "Rhapsody in Blue" except for those yellow socks.

Checker Fans

Festivities soon began with Profs Barth, "Levan P." and a few kibitzers absorbed in a rugged game of checkers. All the WBTA (Would-Be Teachers of America) were asking each other one question, "Do you have a job yet?"

The first contest of the evening was a lively balloon stomp. Irmintrude, did you ever see some great, big, dignified, intellectual college men tie balloons around their ankles and proceed to stomp on one another's balloons? Prof Haas, who has a mighty wicked stomp, must have developed his technique by using the Big Apple. The next game was a little number in which our athletic young Albrightians tried to knock paper bags off each other's heads with newspapers. And Irmintrude, would you believe it, some student, (or perhaps some ex-student) had nerve enough to get better with a paper bag over his head. Of course, no one agreed with him.

Entertainment

Next we had a unique race in which wives, fiancées, and sweethearts tried to break paper bags over the heads of their men folk. (About this time I began to hear Bill Carson mumble things about divorce.) I think, dear, that with your—er—healthy vigor, it is just as well that you weren't here to participate in this race. After a few games of volley ball, we started to eat. Those with the daintier appetites limited themselves to two hot dogs and three pieces of watermelon. While a very long chow line passed in review before the food table, Paul Eshelman, our man about campus who brought the food down, did a swell job of dishing out hot dogs, and Doty Slapikas, our hostess at the cañon, did the honors with the watermelon. Speaking of watermelon, I saw Prof Gates drag one down to the stream where he could drool watermelon juice in peace and solitude. I hear John Kucha tried a watermelon rind last night, though it really wasn't necessary after his Rayve Creme Shampoo. I also heard that Hazel Calder tried a watermelon facial. Chivalry can't be too dead, when a boy pushes a girl's head into a piece of watermelon and then gives her his handkerchief to dry herself.) Jean Swavely probably won't wear open-toed sandals again for quite some time, some spilled birch beer all over her dainty tootsies.

After supper, we had the highlight of the evening—a faculty-

Italy. She has been an instructor in French and an acting professor of modern languages at the University of Mississippi; assistant professor of English and French at the College of William and Mary, Richmond, Va.; assistant professor of English at Baylor College, Belton, Texas; assistant professor of English at Albright from 1937 to 1938; assistant professor of French at the University of Mississippi during the summer of 1945; and a teacher of Latin, French and Spanish at Wyoming High School.

On the Reading playgrounds this summer are Dottie Seisler, Anna Mae Grimes, Molly Sohns, Alice McLeod, Jean Long, and Sarah Davenport. Jack Gounder is an announcer for WEEU. Hops Guldin is tending bar at the Crystal. Johnny Yocum and Elmer Davis were doing the same thing at the Fairgrounds 'till their employers decided to cut down expenses and fire them; they had to sample every keg—and Erma Seidel and Ella Mae Sheesley are waitresses at the same restaurant — the Crystal.

Jean Magee is working in the Whelan's Drug Store in Harrisburg; while Evelyn Brown is putting her vocal talent to use with the New Holland Victory Band.

And last, but not least, we must add a word for those valiant souls who are struggling through one or two semesters of summer school. They, too, have served.

student baseball game. Dr. Douds certainly made the English majors proud of him by the do-or-die manner in which he held down first base. Coach Smith must have neglected to eat his Wheaties yesterday, for he didn't seem to be up to snuff. He let an easy grounder pass right between his legs. We hear the Brooklyn Dodgers are looking for that man—to join the New York Yankees. Bob Dombro made a fine showing. But then he had to; his wife was watching from the sidelines. Prof Gates disappointed all his fans by not playing. All those who have seen him leaping about the tennis courts like a little gazelle thought he should have participated. No one could figure out if Prof Khouri got his training as bat boy from the Pirates or as a ballet star, but he sure looked graceful out there, ducking balls like mad.

After the game, we danced. (Yes, Irmintrude, I was faithful to you. I didn't dance with anyone except once, with Mahitabel Gugenheimer.) No one managed to get "Card Shark" Gates away from the pasteboards long enough to show how well he does the Black Bottom, but Profs Haas and Khouri stopped racing their mechanical mice across the floor and took time out to grab a lollipop and dance with their lovely spouses. (Irmintrude, remind me never to dance with a lollipop in my mouth.)

Altogether, Irmintrude, it was a wonderful evening. The committee, Prof Khouri, Bill Carson, John Scholastico, Doris Gift, and Lamarr Kopp, worked very hard and did a fine job. We ought to have more of these picnics.

I have to study for two tests tomorrow, so I had better close now.

Good night, Irmintrude.

Your friend,
Mergatroid McGillicuty

The wife of Dr. John B. Douds, head of the English Department of Albright, she holds membership in the American Association of University Women, for which she was Pennsylvania State Chairman of the Committee on Economic and Legal Status of Women; Berks County Language Teachers; Federation of Women's Clubs; the American Red Cross; and the Parent-Teachers Association. Dr. Douds also has had articles printed in the Cornell Press and in the Pennsylvania Language Association Bulletin.

A native of Baltimore, Maryland, Mr. Bishop received his A.B. from Princeton University in 1939 and his M.A. from the University of Pennsylvania in 1941. He became a Teaching Fellow at the U. of P. in 1945 and is now doing graduate work for his Ph. D.

While at Princeton, the new faculty member received departmental honors, and was a member of the Princeton Court Club and Chess Club. He has been president of the Graduate History Club at the U. of P. and is a member of the American Historical Association and the Maryland Historical Society.

Mr. Bishop has traveled in England and France.

A native of Newark, N. J., Mr. Smith attended the University of North Carolina and New York University and received his B.S.

Geil Program Head At Welfare Confab

Dr. Milton G. Geil, head of the psychology department of Albright College, will serve as program chairman for the Pennsylvania Conference on Family Relations to be held at Scranton, November 3 to 5. The meeting is being held in association with the Pennsylvania Welfare Conference.

Twenty-four Hours with a Cow—or We Visited Kentucky

Dear Editor,
Not too far from nowhere in the midst of the Kentucky hills lies the metropolis of—well, the city—u-uh, the town—the Post Office of Beverly. At Beverly is the E. U. B. mission station where we were destined ("It's in the stars," said a snake cutist with a heavy fee) to spend a month. Of course, we already knew this as we had long before signed our lives away for the month.
Although there were five Albrightians at the mission, three came the easy way—by bus and train. We came by auto—other people's autos—with only a few hours' wait between rides. In all we hitched 669½ miles and found waiting for us at Beverly six hogs directly in the middle of the road. Though this first experience surprised us, after three days in the hills, we were no longer disturbed by hogs running around like dogs—we expected it.

Hard Work
It wasn't long until we got into the swing of the work at the mission. We arrived during the noon meal, about 12:30 p.m., and at 1:15, we were on our way to work with the rest of the young people who participated in the project at Red Bird. Incidentally, we had quite a varied representation from our different church colleges. Included in the group were five from York College, two from Lebanon Valley, two from Indiana Central, two from North Central, one from Otterbein, one from the University of Dibogne, one from the Evangelical Theological Seminary, and one from Washington and Jefferson.

Of course, we couldn't all pound at the same nail or dig the same degree from Florida Southern College and his M.A. from Western Reserve University.

While in college, Mr. Smith was a member of Pi Gamma Mu, Theta Chi, Alpha Theta, Kappa Theta, and the Inter-fraternity Council. He was associate editor of the college newspaper and the business manager of the college yearbook. He also holds membership in the National Council on Family Relations and the American Sociological Society.

He has been employed by the Northern Baptist Convention, the Reading Company, and the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. The new faculty member has traveled widely throughout the United States. He is presently residing in Ocean Grove, N. J.

A native of Topeka, Kansas, Mr. Thomas received his B.S. degree from Drury College, Springfield, Missouri, in 1942, and has been granted his M.A. degree from the University of Missouri. He was active in the Civil Service as an assistant physicist in the Boston Navy Yard.

In 1944 he was an electronics officer in the Navy and in 1946, with a rank of lieutenant junior grade, he was on inactive duty with the Navy. Since then he has been at the University of Missouri where he has been a graduate assistant for two years. He plans to be married this month.

Music Head Serves At Michigan Camp

Dr. John H. Duddy, director of vocal music at Albright College, will serve as director of music for the Lutheran Music Camp at Interlocken, Michigan. Four of Dr. Duddy's own choral compositions will be included on the program for the sessions, which are expected to attract 1600 college students.

Teaching part-time in education, Rev. Mengel is presently the pastor of Calvary E.U.B. Church of Philadelphia. He is a graduate of Albright with the Class of 1939 and of the Evangelical School of Theology in 1940. He is completing his thesis for the S.T.U. degree at the Lutheran Seminary at Mt. Airy. Several years ago he received his M. Ed. degree from Temple University, where he is also continuing studies for his D. Ed. degree.

Rev. Mengel is a member of Pi Gamma Mu and is president of the Evangelical Ministerium of Philadelphia. He has been elected by the East Pennsylvania Conference to the Board of Educational Aid of the E.U.B. Church and is also a member of the Board of Christian Education and the Board of Evangelical Homes. Rev. Mengel holds membership in the Boy Scouts of America and the Boys' Work Committee of the Y.M.C.A. of Philadelphia.

A native of Easton, Pa., the new faculty member has traveled in the Southern part of the U.S. He is married and has one daughter.

Mrs. Jean Voss, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin with a major in speech, has done graduate work at the University of Wisconsin and the University of Pennsylvania, which she will be completing with her studies this summer.

Varsity Poll Picks Stassen Victorious

According to a report received from Varsity Magazine, the sponsors of the all-college residential election poll, Harold E. Stassen, not Henry A. Wallace, was victorious in placing first as a result of votes conducted at colleges and universities all over the country. The Albrightian wishes to apologize for the error in quoting these results in the issue of June 4, 1948.

Cow's Nurse

Last, but far from least, we posed as M.D.'s by sitting up all night with Mabel. Mabel was a cow (M.D.—Mabel Doctor). The veterinarian said that if it hadn't been for our comforting presence, Mabel would surely have died. In fact, if we hadn't maintained such a close companionship with her, we would have had a sad falling out with Mabel. Now, however, she is indebted to us for life.

Besides our week-day jobs as laborers, we all took part in leading evening recreational periods for the young people of the community and in helping with the regular church worship programs. And we certainly had a lot of fun. The food was different, the people different, the climate different, and even the mosquitoes were different—bigger.

Your fun-stuffed, mosquito-bitten,
Jack Snook and John Fausnaught

The Albrightian Staff extends their deepest sympathy to Leonard Woodring on the death of his wife, and to James Maracani on the death of his six-month old daughter.

MR. FRANKLIN RITTER

She was a high school teacher in Wisconsin, and during the recent war, was a member of the American Red Cross, spending much time in Germany. Since she has been at Albright, Mrs. Voss has been employed in the Veterans' Guidance Center, the Alumni Memorial Library, and as hostess in Union Hall.

Mr. Ritter, a graduate of Albright last June, is from Fleetwood, Pa. He entered Albright in 1942, attended Franklin & Marshall College in 1943 and 1944 under the Navy program, and then returned to Albright in 1946. During the recent war, he also was at Northwestern University in the Navy Midshipman School.

Profs Study

Dr. Hamilton journeyed through the New England states and is now teaching at the University of Pennsylvania summer school. Also traveling was Professor Gates, who made a trip through Virginia and was at Harvard Commencement to see his son graduate. Prof Khouri, after a weekend in Atlantic City, returned home to do research work and play tennis.

Dean Silverthorne is vacationing in the capitol with her husband. At Brant Beach, New Jersey, you will find Mrs. Mosser, acquiring that glorious tan she sports all winter. Miss Riddaugh traveled north to Camp Kokatosi in Maine before returning to preside over our summer school library.

Visiting Son

Our nurse, Mrs. Hain, is visiting her son, Dr. Raymond Hain, in Seattle, Washington, and Miss Innis is summering at her home in Oakland Mills, Pa. Also at home is Sally Weaver, infuriating the union by doing her own painting.

Prof Shirk had the good fortune to attend the Olympics in England, where his morale-building presence, no doubt, had something to do with the American victory. After the games, he continued on to Europe.

Many of the faculty are attending school this summer, getting new ideas and fresh viewpoints that will directly benefit us this winter in classes. Mrs. Smith and Professor Hollenbach are at Temple, and Dean LeVan Smith, Messrs Parsons and Haas, and Mrs. Voss crack the books at the University of Pennsylvania. Mrs. Vesper is studying in the Department of English at the University of Wisconsin, and at Middleburg College in Vermont, Professor Brossman is perfecting his knowledge of German. Dr. Geil attended the Rohrshack Workshop at Carmel, N. Y., where he took an intensive two week course under the instructions of Dr. Bruno Klopfer.

Choir School

Dr. Duddy, who has been attending both Westminster Choir College and the Christiansen Choral School, will, however, find time for a motor trip through Canada and to Niagara Falls. Professor Haskell is reported quietly but busily at work on his thesis.

Teaching summer school are Dr. Russell Smith (at University of West Virginia), Professor Nix (privately), Larry Haag, Professors Speicher and Green, and Doctors Horn and Douds at Albright. Busy as they are, however, these professors, too, plan vacations, trips, and diversions.

To all of our faculty, we wish the pleasantest summer ever. You know, we're sort of anxious to get back to school and hear about the one that got away at Lake Winnipou!

Ex-College Chef, VanDriel Dies

Dr. L. Clarence Hunt, former president of Albright College, Myerstown, and prominent Evangelical clergyman, died at the age of 75 on Thursday, August 19, in the Pottsville Nursing Home.

Dr. Hunt served pastorates in Reading at Grace Evangelical Church and First United Evangelical Church, and in churches in Columbia, Germantown, and Centertop, Long Island. He began his preaching career in 1896, when he was licensed to preach by the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the United Evangelical Church.

In 1897, Dr. Hunt received his B. A. from Dickinson, and in 1899 his M. A. Dr. Hunt was awarded his B. Div. from Drew Theological Seminary in 1904, and served as mathematics professor at Albright College, Myerstown, from 1898 to 1901, taking his post-graduate work at Columbia University in 1904-05.

Dr. Hunt was ill since his assignment to the Boyertown Church in Litzitz, where he was a former pastor. Interment was made in the Mount Joy Cemetery.

Marlow Relinquishes Student Council Post

William Marlow has resigned as chairman of the Student Council Chapel Committee, announced William Carson, president of Council.

Many Graduating Seniors Find Employment; Others Continue Studies in Graduate Work

Just three months after the members of the class of '48 eagerly snatched the diplomas from President Masters' hands, your roving reporter had to rove far and wide to track them down and "smoke them out."

Many are either unemployed as yet or are still recuperating from their four year struggle at Albright. However, some of the more enterprising graduates may be found in various graduate schools.

George Beshore, Dale Weber, Robert Harp, and Ira Cushman are at U. of P.; Donald Fornwalt is at U. of Vt.; Steve Winter, Walter Keller and Dave Voigt are at Columbia U.; and Humbert Manzollino is doing his graduate work at Kty. U. Those vallant pre-students who weathered the new storms in the Science Hall are now weathering bigger and better storms at medical schools. William Clouser and Harold Cooper are at Jefferson Med.; Jeanne Flickinger is studying at the Westman School of Physical Therapy at the University of Pittsburgh; Heber Yeagley and Donald Gittleman are at Penn Med.; and John Woyanowski is at Temple.

Bankers

Those needing employment will find Jean Borgstrom waiting to serve them at a local employment agency. Jim Beusch is working at the Federal Reserve Bank in Philadelphia; and George Koehler is also trying his hand at banking at the Berks Co. Trust Co.

Among those who have become school "marnms" and "masters," we find the Home Ec. girls located near and far: Betty Berger, Sinking Spring; Adele Bothroyd, Woodbury, Pa.; Doris Hicks, Montandam, Pa.; Vivian Miller, West Reading, Pa.; Elizabeth Shroyer, Hopewell, Pa.; Marjorie Swartz, Annyville, Pa.; and Lois Taylor, Roselle Park, N. J. Beth Sanger is a science teacher at Bristol, Pa.; and Ginny Hallacher abandoned teaching for the Reading Public Library. Gerry Wentzel will teach Mt. Penn students English come fall.

More Teachers

Miriam Kramer will teach math at Exeter Township High School; while William ("The Colonel") Walb will instruct in social studies at Pemberton, New Jersey.

Muscle-man George Urosevich will take the Bordentown Military Academy cadets through their paces as athletic director; and Raymond Fidler will teach social studies and industrial arts at Warwick, Pa. Lucy Smith will be teaching English at Claysburg, Pa.; and Richard Beyerle is the new math teacher at Youngsville, N. Y. Marjorie Christ is continuing her musical career as organist at Immanuel E. U. B. Church in Reading, where she is also director of religious education.

Ministers

Raymond Miller, Charlie Kachel, Gerry Hertzog, and John Spindler are still on campus attending the Evangelical School of Theology; while Fred Wolf is back in his home state of Tennessee at the Swannee Theological School, which is known as the University of the South. Bob Ziegler will continue his studies at Yale Divinity School; and Paul Ruth is attending Wharton School at U. of P.

Special Issue

The Staff is proud to be able to bring you this special six-page issue of The Albrightian. We hope that we have conveyed to you all the latest news, and regret any omissions that may have been made.

We wish to express our appreciation to every student who contributed to this issue. We sincerely hope you enjoyed it and hope that you may want to continue working with us. "Thank you."

Compass Revised For 1952 Frosh

The Compass, annual publication of the Albright College Office of Public Relations for the guidance of incoming freshman students, is in printing and will be mailed to incoming Albright frosh as soon as it is received, according to Rev. Lester L. Stabler, Director of Public Relations.

New features in this year's Compass include "The ABC of Albright Co-Eds," formerly a separate publication, a faculty and administration directory, and library rules and regulations.

"The 1948 Compass," said Rev. Stabler, "has been so revised from previous editions that it will more nearly approach its intended purpose as a freshman guide and handbook."

Faculty Confer At Cedar Crest, Plan EUB Trip

Eleven members of the Albright College Faculty will attend the conference for the faculty representatives of the eight colleges of the Evangelical United Brethren Church to be held Sept. 7 to 9 at North Central College, Naperville, Illinois, announced Pres. Harry V. Masters.

Representing Albright will be Dr. Masters, Rev. Eugene Barth, Dr. Gerritt Memming, Dr. Milton Geil, Prof. Consuelo Rodriguez, Professor Clyde Harding, Dr. Wilbur Gingrich, Rev. Lester Stabler, Professor Clyde Harding, Professor Ellery Haskell, Professor Newton Danford, and Dr. Russell Smith.

Work Conference

President Masters attended the second annual work conference on higher education sponsored by the Pennsylvania Association of Colleges and Universities held at Cedar Crest College in Allentown, June 15 to 17. Staged in cooperation with the State Department of Public Instruction, State Teachers Colleges, and Junior Colleges, the confab was attended by 186 delegates. The main theme of the conference was "The Improvement of Instruction in Colleges and Universities."

President Masters was a member of the planning committee and presided over the sessions of the work group entitled, "The Visiting Committee as a Means of Improving Instruction."

Group Seminars

Other work groups included "How the Administration Can Assist in the Improvement of Instruction," "The Selection and Training of Teachers for Colleges and Universities," "Graduate Schools," "Special Aids and Techniques as a Means of Improving College Teaching," "The Improvement of Instruction Through Improved Testing Techniques," "The Rating of the Members of the Faculty," and "The Improvement of Instruction by Means of Curriculum Revision."

Others from Albright attending the same conference with President Masters were Professor Danford, Professor Marcus Green, Professor Paul Speicher, Dr. Memming, Dr. Geil, Dean LeVan Smith, Professor Harding, Professor Donald S. Gates, Professor Haskell, and Professor J. Howard Widdowson.

Albright was represented by President Masters at the General Convention of the Board of Christian Education of the Evangelical United Brethren Church held July 18 to 20 at Oakwood Park, Syracuse, Indiana.

Class of '48 Elects Alumni Officers

At a meeting held before the close of school, the Class of 1948 elected class officers of the Alumni Association. Chosen to serve for a five year term were: president, James Brusich; vice president, Marjorie Christ; secretary, Miriam Kramer; and treasurer, Heber Yeagley.

SUB Named

According to an announcement made by the College Administration, the Student Union Building officials has been named Union Hall.

HARRIS RETURNING TO ALBRIGHT

Completes Year in Egypt Developing Basketball Team

Neal O. Harris, head basketball coach and director of physical education at Albright, on leave of absence for an assignment in Egypt, will arrive in the United States this weekend from England, to resume duties here. The erstwhile mentor, well known for putting Albright College on the basketball map in recent years, has spent a year in that country to prepare an Egyptian team for the Olympic basketball tourney. Harris also was in charge of setting up a nationwide program of physical training, especially basketball, for the Egyptian government.

Egypt, in competition with the world's best in the hoop sport, made a gallant showing in London. They dropped decisions to Czechoslovakia, 52-38, Peru 52-28, Argentina, and the champion United States, 62-28, before conquering Switzerland. Eye witnesses reported that every game the Egyptians played was a rough and tough affair, with only a lack of experience telling the difference. This is to the credit of Harris, who has a wide reputation for systematic efficiency, cold calculation, and an all-out effort to pull upsets on heavy favorites.

Poor Equipment

On different occasions, Coach Harris pleaded that good equipment be sent to him from America. The Egyptian youths had to learn the art on uneven ground courts, with sundry types of balls, shooting at home-made baskets. This was true even in Alexandria and Cairo. Although hindered greatly by these lacks, Harris produced the best possible. To be sure he had no Tiny Landises to work with, but his eager proteges learned fast.

Eugene L. Shirk, Faculty Athletic Director, met Harris during the London Olympics. Harris had passage booked on the Queen Elizabeth for August 25.

Shirk and President Harry V. Masters were given official word that he would return to the Albright campus this coming semester to again head the physical training and intramural programs set up by him, tasks ably carried on during Harris' absence by Lloyd Parsons, assistant football coach, and to whip up a winning basketball combination for the 1948-49 campaign using the many returning lettermen, led last season by Bill Horine. All returnees have either played under his tutelage in the successful 1946 season, or during the pre-war year in which he won nineteen and lost one.

A great showman, Harris will probably have a bag full of interesting information to pass on to students about his stay in Egypt.

Intramural Loop Again Planned

Albright's fraternities and free-lance campus teams can be getting in shape for the renewal of frat football activities. Under the guidance of the Physical Education Department and the Intramural Athletic Council, a healthy program is expected, if all participants cooperate.

Last year the league rivalry was hot, and with the Kappas hopeful of repeating their basketball championship in football competition, a continuation is looked for. Possibly a post-season fracas between the varsity (playing under intramural rules, of course) and an all-star frat team could be arranged.

Cross Country Team To Prepare

The football boys aren't the only one who are going to sweat this fall for dear old "Alma Mammy." Coach Gene Shirk's cross-country athletes will be going through their paces soon on the stadium track in anticipation of some grueling runs. No schedule has been released to date, so all we can say for Ed Anlian and all, who run those weary miles, is "Whew."

November 6 Planned As Homecoming Day

Saturday, November 6 has been set as the date for the annual Alumni Homecoming this year, announced Lester L. Stabler, Director of Public Relations. Detailed plans for the day will be released by the program committee in a later issue of The Albrightian.

Badorf Cops Two Junior Golf Titles During Summer

Several of Albright's spring sports luminaries continued to demonstrate their abilities in city competition after concluding 1948 college play. Bob Badorf, a member of Paul Maten's golden golfing gang, swept into the spotlight by capturing the Berks County junior golf championship. Adding to his laurels, Bob journeyed down to Philadelphia to garner the Golf Association of Philadelphia's junior trophy, succeeding Buddy Lutz, also a Readingite.

For the tennis circle, Bob Ruoff, John Dohner, and Jim Mengel entered local tournaments, as did their coach, Leo Bloom, one of Berks' best tennis players. Ruoff especially sparkled in the Shillington tourney.

Help Wanted

Enthusiastic and capable reporters for the sports department. Must also be dependable and punctual. Experience helpful but not required. All present students or incoming freshmen—men and women—who are interested, please leave your name in The Albrightian Office, basement floor of the Ad Building. Help make the sports page the best possible.

NEAL O. HARRIS

Eugene Shirk Attends London Olympic Games During Tour

"The Olympics are the finest exhibit of competitive sports to be seen," declared Eugene L. Shirk, Albright's Faculty Manager of Athletics, upon returning to the campus on August 21 from a month's stay in England, Switzerland, and France. Mr. Shirk, in party with Mr. George Bollman, chairman of the College's Athletic Council, and family, and "Doc" Grant, Albright alumnus, left New York aboard the "Queen Elizabeth" on July 15, arriving at Southampton, England, five days later. It was nothing new for Mr. Shirk, as he had also seen the 1936 Olympic games in Berlin.

Upon arrival in England, after a comfortable voyage aboard the huge, luxury liner, Mr. Shirk and party journeyed to Glen Eagle in Scotland for a week, during which time they toured Edinburgh. The New York Athletic Club-planned tour brought them to London on July 29 for the impressive opening ceremonies. Mr. Shirk viewed the march into the stadium of the world's best athletes, the lighting of the Olympic torch by relay runners from Mt. Olympus in Greece, the King and Queen of England, and the synchronized release of 7,000 pigeons of six nations from cages surrounding the whole scene. Greece led the parade of athletes; and Britain, the host, brought up the rear. Otherwise the fifty-nine competing countries were in alphabetical file, the Americans having by far the largest and most informal delegation.

Various Locations

Because of the decentralization of the locations of the various events, Mr. Shirk limited himself to watching the basketball at Harringway in the mornings, the track and field events at Wembley in the afternoons, and the swimming in the evenings at the Empire Pool. At Harringway, Mr. Shirk met Neal O. Harris, who trained the Egyptian basketball squad. Harris' team looked very promising for a year's experience in the game. Like most of the foreign quintets, Egypt had to make up for poor shot-making, lack of height, and floor generalship by its enthusiasm and fight. The U. S. five showed the out-of-this-world razzle and dazzle common here.

Of primary interest, of course, to Mr. Shirk were the track and field contests at Wembley. As usual, the Americans outclassed the Europeans in the fast sprint events, but fell off in the stamina-required races over the 800 meters. "Browning Ross of Villanova deserved much praise," Mr. Shirk commented. Ross finished seventh in the wearisome 3,000 meter steepclimb, easily captured by a Czech. The Finns and Swedes looked great in the 5,000 and 10,000 meters, especially Strand, who breezed to the tape in the four-mile feature. Mr. Shirk thought Gil Dodds would have done well in the 1500 meters.

Thrilling

Two of the most thrilling races to Mr. Shirk were the 100 meters and 110 meter hurdles. In the 100, Ewell, a good friend of Mr. Shirk, narrowly missed beating Harrison Dillard by a breath. After edging Patton and LaBeach, Ewell thought he had won; but Dillard, at the far end, nicked him at the tape. In the hurdles, the three Edleman men streaked past the rest of the field and fought it out among themselves all the way. Bill Porter finally won. Mal Whitfield impressed Mr. Shirk in the 400 meters, as did the giant Jamaican, Arthur Wint, who defeated Herb McKenney, the favorite, in the 800 meters.

Rainy Weather

Mr. Shirk believed the rainy weather so prevalent in England hindered several favorites. Dwight Edleman in the high jump, Bob Morcum in the pole vault, Irv Mondshein in the decathlon, and Jack Kelly in the soccer came far below normal performances at home. However, Bill Mathias was at ease in it all and won the decathlon. A great performance was put on by the attractive Dutch housewife, Fanny Blankers-Koern. She won four track events and probably could have taken two field events had she entered them.

To the praise of England, Mr. Shirk thought was their fine attendance and sportsmanship. The stadium was filled each day; and applause rang out equally for all winners, although Britain had little to offer. Friendship and goodwill abounded, overwhelming the small fusses unavoidable in a high-tensioned gathering. London's Olympic devastation was very evident except in the spirit of the people who gave an all-out effort for the world in the first Olympics since Hitler was host in 1936. The Olympics, the international sports extravaganza, should not continue in Helsinki, Finland, in 1952.

European Visits

From London, Mr. Shirk flew to Zurich, Switzerland. He then went to Lucerne in the Alps, from where he flew to Paris. He left Southampton on the "Queen Elizabeth," August 14, aboard with the Olympic champions, sports scribes, and Broadway and Hollywood celebrities.—R. H.

Smith Invites 40 Candidates To Aug. 30 Workouts; Nine Contests Scheduled for Lions

King Football will start to take his throne at Albright College on August 30, announced Head Coach LeVan P. Smith, when forty-nine candidates, including nine freshmen, are expected to come to the breakfast table at 7:30 a.m. in the College Dining Hall. First workouts will begin at 9:00 a.m. at the stadium field.

Smith emphasized that with hard blocking, good tackling, and top conditioning, Albright's football outlook would soar above the record posted last year of two wins, six losses and two ties. Of the 1947 Lion team, only Captain George Urosavick graduated. Although Smith and Assistant Coach, Lloyd Parsons, expect to shift the positions of some of the veteran gridgers, they know pretty well the capabilities of the first and second stringers, a decided advantage over last season's problem of finding the best starting combination and offensive formations. The occasional slips because of greenness and lack of alertness that dotted the periods of brilliance are sure to be lessened.

Keen competition will be keen this year. Of the forty aspirants trying out, only thirty-five will find permanent berths on the squad.

Returning to captain the Lions on the field will be fullback Mike Plaskonis, of McAdoo, a great leader and blocker. Accompanying him in the backfield will be Al Harnly, passing and running quarterback, and Jim Maracani, a fleet-footed, hard-driving, ground gainer at half. Also trying for backfield posts are speedy Billy Kroeth, leading point-getter; Sam Willard, Frank Kuklis, Gerry Shaeffer, Jay Scherlag, Dick Lee, Andy Hydeok, George Ross, Steve Stoudt, Bill Wesner, Wilson Serfass, Jay Shenk, and Johnny Krouse.

Lions Open Oct. 2 With Gettysburg

On October 2, the Lions will tangle with the Gettysburg Bulldogs just where they left off in 1947. In that fray, the two teams battled to a 13-13 tie, with the Red and White almost snatching a win several times. Jim Maracani ran and Al Harnly passed superbly, while Musselman of G-burg kept banging his way into Lion territory. It was in those last three games against Juniata, Pa. Military College, and Gettysburg, that Albright really demonstrated its potential ability.

Scranton and Muhlenberg, U. S. men streaked past the rest of the field and fought it out among themselves all the way. Bill Porter finally won. Mal Whitfield impressed Mr. Shirk in the 400 meters, as did the giant Jamaican, Arthur Wint, who defeated Herb McKenney, the favorite, in the 800 meters.

Smith won't commit himself on long handed predictions, but hints that the Lions will give every opponent a battle and have a "fair" season.

1948 Football Schedule

- October —
- 2—Sat., Gettysburg, away
- 8—Fri., Moravian, home
- 16—Sat., pending
- 23—Sat., F. & M., away

- 13—Sat., Scranton U., home
- 20—Sat., Pa. Military, away
- 25—Thurs., Muhlenberg, away (Denotes Night Game)

G-burg Info

Gettysburg College, Albright's first football opponent on October 2, has 44 grid candidates at their Carlisle camp. Twenty-four are returnees and nineteen are letter men, veterans of the furious 13-13 battle with the Red and White last year. Joe Cervino, Charley Rambo, Art Smith and Russel Wileman, however, are missing.

The Bullets open their 55th season, with Drexel on September 25. Coach Hen Bream is still at the helm, directing the modified T-formation and the single wing for the 19th year. Al Sherman, Philadelphia Eagle quarterback, schooled the Bullet signal callers in spring practice.

On the average, Gettysburg teams have been equal to all opposition. Since football's inception at Gettysburg, the G-Bullets have recorded 234 wins, 201 losses and 31 ties.

Larry Delewski, the famous alternate with Walt Cizewski, will be back competing for a guard position. Also scheduled to work out are 222-pound Frank Bird at tackle, Bernie Mankoski, Jerry Pedota, Jim Bowman, Dick Koch, Art Halprin, Walt Drazek, Bill Marson, Bernie Koskultz, Dick Lee, Andy Hydeok, George Ross, Steve Stoudt, Bill Wesner, Wilson Serfass, Jay Shenk, and Johnny Krouse.

Nine freshmen were selected to try out with the upperclassmen. Due to arrive here Monday will be Tom Savage, a potential triple threat in the backfield, who hails from Asbury Park, N. J.; Chauncey Crout, a Lansdale High grad, and backfield man for two years at Brown Prep; Bud Czutno, a G. I. from Hazelton, another back; Mac Staverosis, a 6' 2", 185-lb. North Coventry grad, who may perform in the backfield or at end; Dave Latanzio, recipient of the Reading High Booster Club Award for his sterling work at tackle; Sid Howarth, Pitman, N. J. tackle; Bud Murphy, a Perkiomen Prep tackle and guard, and brother of the Lions' Roderick Murphy; and Pete Nicholas, a guard who makes his home in McAdoo.

Several other frosh prospects will be looked at after College commences: P. Whelan, Bordentown, N. J.; N. Detra, Fleetwood; R. Elsass, Bordentown; Jay Weeks and R. Frutig, Red Lion; and P. Young, Brooklyne, N. Y.

Nine Games

Athletic Director Gene Shirk scheduled nine games for the Smiththens, five away, and four at home. Missed from last year's card are Millersville, West Chester, and Juniata. However, Otterbein College, of Ohio, a brand new opponent for any Albright team, was added. Champions of their conference, one equal to the Middle Atlantic, Otterbein battled such foes as Oberlin and Dennison, using a modified T-formation.

Albright Host to Friends' Institute

The Friends' Institute of International Relations met on Albright's campus August 13-25, when a group of one hundred interested listeners heard noted speakers talk on the general theme, "Dangerous Illusions of 1948."

Matters of economy, religion, and world politics were discussed by the speakers of many nationalities. Among the topics presented were "The Danube Question," "The Unity of Oriental Religions," "Wallace for President," and "Art in the World Today."

British Mayor Visits Albright College As Part of Bicentennial Program

The British landed full force on campus last Saturday afternoon when Mayor and Mayoress H. V. Kersley and party visited Albright as part of a tour conducted in connection with the local Bicentennial Celebration. President Harry V. Masters and administrative officials greeted them.

At a first glance, Mayoress Kersley appeared to be a sweet little woman, quick in action, and quite eager to learn all she possibly could. The Mayor was a sedate but very friendly gentleman, wearing his regal chain around his neck. Also impressive, especially to your reporter, was Ex-Mayor G. Frederick Sainsbury, who clutched a copy of the "Reading Eagle" under his arm during the entire tour.

As the group toured the campus during their half-hour stay, President Masters pointed out the various buildings and explained a typical American college program. Several of the Britishers were of the opinion that even a college education is free in the U. S. After our fees were discussed, the visitors decided that a comparable British study program would cost one-half as much. The Americans are misled in their belief that living conditions are almost twice as expensive in England as in the U. S. Our taxes make our cost of living very high, explained the visitors.

When asked about the schools in Reading, England that would compare with Albright, Mayor Kersley explained that there is a Reading University which specializes in the study of agriculture and in research for the English government. It is a co-ed institution with an enrollment of about 600 students.

Apparently willing to tell all about her official duties, the Mayoress said it was her job to make awards and present prizes at garden fetes, athletic contests, and baby shows. "Babies," she said, "were very thankful for American orange juice."

To the visitors, one of the most impressive spots on campus was Sylvan Chapel. They thought it was very nice that the students got their own leaders for the services.

Upon leaving, the Mayoress said that this was her first visit to the U. S. She said, "Everybody has been wonderful to us."

Four Albright 'Y' Delegates Spend Week In Appalachians at Student Christian Camp

Four Albright students—Shirley Johnson, Joyce Thompson, Jav-Shenk, and myself—representing the "Y" organizations on our campus, were among the 212 delegates from forty-nine colleges and universities who attended the Middle Atlantic Regional Conference of the Student Christian Movement. This conference, which was held from June 11 to 18, was located this year in the Appalachian Mountain foothills at Camp Michanx, twenty miles southwest of Carlisle, Pennsylvania. The spirit of past conferences at Eagles Mere, Kanawake, and Beaverbrook was carried to Camp Michanx as we settled down for our first Appalachian Conference in this new location.

Former P-W Camp

As we gathered at camp the first day, practically all of us were astonished to find remnants of barbed wire, and powerful searchlights, which could be illuminated at the flick of the master switch. Not too long ago, Camp Michanx has been a Prisoner-of-War Camp. Now the sight was entirely different. Joyful students had come here for a purpose. This camp became to us a symbol of chains of the past and challenges of the future as we began to think of our theme for the week—"Fulfilling God's Demands for Effective Student Living."

After rising at 6:30 a.m. and eating a healthful breakfast, we began our daily schedule. First on the program was work. All the campers were assigned to a detail every morning for performing various duties which are necessary to keep a camp in operation, such as carrying wood, making fires in the bath houses and clearing the grounds, assembly hall, barracks, and recreation hall. The rest of the morning was then spent in worship (corporate and private), Bible study, and seminars.

Group Worship

Our corporate worship was held in the chapel, where we, like those prisoners who had worshipped there a few years ago, sat on empty ammunition cases. When we left the group worship to go to our private meditation and to reflect in silence upon the depth of grace that was in Jesus Christ, the remnants of barbed wire seemed every day to become less cruel. We were assured that there was a bridge that would unite the former prisoner, who worshipped here, with us.

In our Bible Study Seminar, we used an outline which had been prepared by Dr. Edmund H. Kase, Jr., Associate Professor of Bible at Wilson College. The subjects which we considered were Stewardship, Race, The Abundant Life, Christian Liberty, and The Christian Absolute-Love. Each seminar group had one adult or young leader. Many interesting discussions or bull sessions evolved from these Bible studies. We were made to think more seriously about our convictions when we heard the ideas of others which conflicted with our own. When 212 Christian students from all walks of life come together, there are certainly going to be many conflicts in thought. However, the experiences of these discussions will be long remembered as one of the highlights of our week at Camp Michanx.

Speakers

The most outstanding of our three platform speakers, was I believe, Dr. Albert Outler, the Dwight Professor of Theology at Yale Divinity School, who presented three lectures. His subjects were "Developing a Personal Faith," "Students and the Church," and "What Christians Believe." Dr. Outler was also present as a resource speaker for a student-conducted panel on personal faith. The other platform speakers were Dr. Vernon Holloway of the Congregational Council for Social Action, and Rev. Charles M. Jones, Presbyterian minister from Chapel Hill, North Carolina. After our platform address every morning, we again gathered in seminar groups to discuss what the speaker had said in contrast to our own beliefs and convictions.

Committee meetings began our afternoon program followed by a two-hour recreation period, which included volleyball, hiking (nature or human interest), softball, and swimming in nearby Laurel Lake. The evening schedule included vespers, platform speakers, nancys, and organized recreation, such as barn dancing and folk games.

Fellowship

Of all the rich experiences which we had at Michanx, I don't believe any could surpass the fellowship which we had with the other students who were there for the same purpose that we were—to seriously consider the place of the Christian student on his campus, and then to act.

Albright Exhibits In Bicentennial

The Reading and Berks County Bicentennial Industrial Exposition opened at the Reading Fairground on Saturday, August 14, when Reading's leading business firms and manufacturers formally opened their displays to the public.

Lasting through September 6, the exposition includes nightly shows on grandstand stage, featuring the talent of such famous stars as Eddie Cantor, Frances Langford, Olsen and Johnson, Dick Haymes, Louis Armstrong, Bill Robinson, and a host of others. Highlights of the exposition will be the historic spectacle dramatizing the city's 200-year history, which has been scheduled for the final four nights as a fitting climax of the 24-day show.

Campus Pictures

Along with the industries and organizations of Reading, Albright College boasts an exhibit in the Bicentennial Exposition at the Reading Fairgrounds. A large backboard listing the subjects offered at the College is mounted in red and white. Graduation and sports photos are included in a display of pictures showing various scenes of the campus and college life.

A representative of Albright is present at all times to preside over the display. Literature is distributed to all those visiting the exhibit.

Biology Professors Attend Pa. Academy For Science Lectures

Dr. Clarence A. Horn, Professors Marcus H. Green and Charles B. Hollenbach, and Richard Baldauf of the Biology Department attended the summer meeting of the Pennsylvania Academy of Science, August 13 and 14 at Kutztown State Teachers College. Academy members from every field of science on the first day visited the Crystal Cave preserve where Dr. A. W. Rand led a discussion on conservation of game. Interest was especially focused on the preservation of the buffalo herd of the Trexler preserve. The remainder of the program was taken up by a visit to Crystal Cave and a lecture and film on conservation and human population by Dr. Francis Trembley of the Biology Department of Lehigh University.

Unsettled World

Dr. Trembley stressed the fact pertinent to us, a world conditions that in spite of wars and disease, the world-population has continued to increase. In contrast to this increase, the speaker made mention of our decreasing natural resources, including water, which is being taken from the earth more rapidly for man's uses than it is being replaced by rainfall.

A visit to the Schuylkill reclamation project was made the second day of the conference. In charge of the meeting was Academy President, L. Whitcomb, of the geology department of Lehigh University. Local arrangements were made by Dr. Cyrus Beekey of the biology department of the Geology Department of Lehigh, and Mr. Schlenker. Dr. Beekey of the Biology Department both graduates of Albright College.

Merkel, Family Suffer Injuries

Professor Roy Merkel, assistant professor of physics and mathematics, his wife, and their two children were injured in a two-car collision at the Half-Way House on the Allentown Pike on August 5. Suffering cuts of the face and ears, Professor Merkel was admitted to the Reading Hospital along with Mrs. Merkel, who sustained a broken knee cap, and their two children, Thomas and Holly, who received abrasions of the face, arms, and legs. All were treated for shock.

Professor Merkel was dismissed from the hospital on August 9 and is recovering at his home.

Ex-College Head, Dr. Hunt Dies

Jan VanDriel, former chief in the College Dining Hall, died at his home at 1230 Linden Street on July 13.

Employed as chef at Albright College for eighteen years, Mr. VanDriel is remembered by many of the Albright faculty and alumni. Rev. Ralph J. Kresge, of Philadelphia, officiated at the burial service in Schwarzwald Cemetery on July 16.

Don't Forget!
