

LET'S GET CLUBBY

Alchemists Map Future

The first meeting of the Alchemists was held on Wednesday, October 13, with President Walter Koch presiding, at which time plans for future meetings were made. Since speakers will be unavailable because of demands by the war effort the club decided that the meetings will be student directed and will consist mainly of field trips to the chemical labs of nearby industrial plants to see chemistry in action.

The Alchemists will meet on the second Wednesday of every month, and, as was the case last year, they are encouraged to attend the meetings of the Reading Chemists Club which will be held on the third Tuesday of every month in the Science Lecture Hall.

Heo Inducts Fresh

The induction of home economics women into the Heo Club was the climax of the white uniforms, pie pans, hats, and original corsages seen on campus last week. The highlight of the induction was the rainbow candle-light ceremony in which the ideals and aims of the club were stressed.

In the absence of President Jean Seidel, Mildred Reubsamen, vice-president, conducted the business meeting which followed. Refreshments and group singing concluded the program.

The following women were inducted: Mildred Reubsamen, Alice Albright, Dorothy Bennett, Opal Brown, Joy Cutler, Helen Harrison, Mary Ellen Hill, Anna Mae Kemmerly, Elaine Kyle, Jane Miller, Elaine Schwartz, Minnie Silberman, Louise Trostle, Margaret Walton, Virginia Woerle, Selma Schatz, and Margaret Hoeh.

Philosophy Club Hears Paper

"Immortality" was the subject of a paper presented by James Snelbaker and the topic of discussion at the meeting of the Philosophy Club held last Wednesday, October 20, at the home of Dr. Morris Greth, advisor.

Emma Cora Hafer and Vester Peters were accepted into the club as new members.

At the next meeting to be held at Gretchen Bieber's home on November 17, Geraldine Bowker will present a paper on "The Idea of God." A special open meeting is planned for later in the year.

Lay That Textbook Down, Babe, Or, One Hour in the Zeta House

Several sad-eyed visiting Zetas have asked us to tell them what is really going on in their house. "Do the mice still romp as they used to do?" "Have they thrown that broken down couch out of Hauser's room?" "Do they keep Miss Garlach warm in the electric chair?" These are some of the questions they asked. We decided that we had better take advantage of our correspondent's privileges and visit the Zeta house so we would be able to give a more detailed answer when next queried.

Coming along the walk by the side of the house, we heard strange sounds. On getting closer, we discovered that they were voices, (and what voices!) which were really shakin' the dust off of "Pistol Packin' Mama." After we had adjusted our ear plugs, we rang the bell and walked in the door which had been hastily opened by someone who flew back to the group around the piano. To the left we found the telephone booth (the only one of its kind in the world with a piano in it) and there was quite a motley assortment of ear-crackers. We came just in time to hear Helen Grass beating out "St. Louis Blues" on top of the piano, while Christy was engaged in an endurance contest with the keys. After rendering "Temptation", with fire and gestures, they stopped long enough to decide what the next number on the block would be and told us that this sort of thing happens quite frequently, or whenever a bunch of old and new Zetas get together with anyone else who is attracted by the noise.

Their press agent, one F. G. Epstein, says that since many passing cadets have shown an interest in the music, the Zeta House Ensemble will be available for concerts after their coming tour of the music halls of Pottstown, Norristown, and Wernersville.

Freshmen Elect Wert Prexy; Cooper, Brown, Schofer Chosen Aides Cecil Petteiger Wins Y.M.C.A. Poll In Vice Presidential Race; Clewell, Secretary

Newell Wert, pre-ministerial student from Allentown, Pa., won a sweeping victory in the freshman elections held in the college chapel Tuesday, October 12, and takes the president's gavel for the remainder of this year.

An honor student at Allentown High, Mr. Wert is writing for The Albrightian and singing in the glee club. Assisting him in his new office will be Harold Cooper vice president; Mary Beth Schofer, secretary; and Opal Brown, treasurer.

Mr. Cooper is a pre-med from Port Clinton and was also a high school honor student. Miss Schofer of West Reading started at Albright during the summer session. She is preparing for social service. Miss Brown was valedictorian at the Red Bird High School in Little Island, Kentucky, and is studying for nursing.

On the same ballot were the Y. M. C. A. nominations for vice-president and secretary of that organization. Cecil Petteiger, a junior pre-ministerial student from Mt. Carmel was elected as vice-prexy to Bill Gerald Heilman's shoes when the latter graduates in January. Mr. Petteiger sings in the Glee Club and served on the Athletic Council. He was vice-president of Kappa Tau Chi and holds the same position in the Junior Class. He is also on the Y. M. C. A. cabinet and the sports staff of The Albrightian.

Fred Clewell, a sophomore from Berwick, won the election for Y. M. C. A. secretary. He, too, is a ministerial student and is on the Y. M. C. A. cabinet.

The freshman class was inducted at a ceremony in the Chapel Friday.

Wetzel To Lead Religious Week; Students Will Conduct Devotions, Faculty Lead Opening Services

Rev. Daniel J. Wetzel

Preparatory services for Religious Emphasis Week began yesterday when Dean George W. Walton conducted the first service at 1:15 in the College Chapel. Plans for the preparatory services as well as for the services of religious emphasis week, have been made by the combined "Y's".

Prof. Elsie A. Garlach is in charge of the service to be held today in the College Chapel at 1:15 P. M. and Dr. Morris S. Greth and Librarian Esther Fenili will speak on Wednesday and Thursday, respectively. Jane Redcay Kriebel is supplying the organ music for these services.

In the morning and evening services to be held next week, Dr. Daniel

J. Wetzel, pastor of the First Reformed Church of Reading, will strive to bring to every Albright student the reality of religion as he develops the topic, "Religion in Life." The morning services will be held in the College Chapel and the evening services in the Chapel of the School of Theology Building.

At the opening meeting on Monday, November 1, at 9:30 A. M., Dr. Wetzel will discuss the question, "Why Believe in Religion?" Robert Klenck will be the devotional leader. "What Christianity Demands of Me" will be the topic at 7:30 P. M. with Joanna Wentz and Gerald Heilman presiding. "The Nature of Temptation" is the topic to be presented on Tuesday at 9:30 A. M. by Geraldine Bowker who will have charge of the devotion. At the evening service conducted by Betsy Hummel and Orlan Petteiger, Dr. Wetzel will discuss the question, "Why the Church?"

On Wednesday at 10:30 A. M., Vester Peters will lead the devotions and the topic will be "Man's Worst Enemy," while the theme of the evening service conducted by Reed and Jane Teitsworth will be "The Power to Become." In the Alumni Memorial Library after the evening services, Dr. Wetzel will lead a discussion of questions that have arisen during the week.

The student leader at the 10:30 session on Thursday will be Louise Auchenbach and "Faith and Reason" will be discussed. Lamar Derk and Ruth Ritzman have charge of the closing meeting to be held on Thursday evening when Dr. Wetzel will discuss "The Cost and Crown of Consecration." Following this final address he will administer Holy Communion to the group.

Should anyone desire an individual conference with Rev. Wetzel during his stay, it can be arranged through William Lippert.

Dominos Induct Five; Select Cast for Play "The Warrior's Husband" Has 13 Female, 5 Male Roles

When the Dominos convened at 8:30 p. m., October 21, in the College Chapel, five sophomores were inducted. The new members are Marion Latta, Marie Bonner, Gayle Haupt, Margaret Hendricks and Lucille Lott. Try-outs were then held for parts in "The Warrior's Husband" with the following cast chosen by Director Paul Bentley Sands:

First Sergeant, Anne deFarges; Buria, Eleanor Platt; Second Sergeant, Millie Reubsamen; First Sentry, Margaret Hendricks; Second Sentry, Ruth Smith; Third Sentry, June Weidner; Caustica, Jeanne Miller; Heroica, Lynn Parr; Pomposia, Felice Epstein; Hippolyta, Jeanne Schlegel; Sapiens, Anthony Cagiano; Mariens Major, John Young; Antelope, Marlon Latta; Captain of Aechus, Marie Bonner; Thesus, Jack Teger; Homer, Morris Knouse; Runner, Alice Voit; Caganus, the Herald, Norman Telsey; Achilles, Paul Deysher.

The first rehearsal will be held in the chapel at 7:30 p. m. tonight, and thereafter rehearsals will be held every Monday and Wed. evening.

Baby Betty Ann Queen of Home Ec Territory Latest Arrival Captures Hearts of All Campus Admirers

Elizabeth Ann (or Betty, as everyone calls her) is the baby who has been "adopted" this year for the five weeks of practice house in Sherman Cottage. Each week one of the five senior Home Economics students living in the cottage for this period will be Betty's special nurse. Everyone who visits her (visiting permitted between three and five o'clock p. m.) says Betty is really a delightful baby.

On Sunday October 17, the day before she arrived at Albright, Betty was just nine months old. She weighs nearly eighteen pounds. In contrast to Sherry, baby in practice house last year, Betty has dark hair and dark sparkling eyes.

Although Elizabeth Ann is a sturdy baby and healthy in all other respects, she was born with the serious handicap of club feet. Already she has had a successful operation on one foot. While she is here, she will be receiving weekly treatment from a physiotherapist and daily massage by the women.

Each spring Professor Florence Innis, head of the Home Economics department, makes her application to the Children's Aid Society of Reading, to have them choose some underprivileged child for the senior Home Economics students to care for during the fall practice house. The Children's Aid Society working with the Social Welfare League, makes it possible. The child is here with legal sanction.

Stripes and Stars Vie With Eleanor In Our Day

Albright String Ensemble Entertains at Hungry Club

The String Ensemble, directed by Hans Nix, entertained the Hungry Club last Friday noon at a meeting in the Abraham Lincoln Hotel.

Included on their program were "Water Music" by Handel, "Death and the Maiden" by Schubert, "Militaire Minuet" by Haydn, "Waltz" by Brahms. Miss Luella Moyer, pianist, played for her solo Schubert's Impromptu in A Flat Major.

Members of the ensemble who are attending Albright are Ruth Ritzman, Irma Peoples, Betty Ann Lutz, and Luella Moyer.

You can't realize it now, but what you are doing every second of the day, the books you read now, the friends you make, will all come to your assistance and show you 'a way' when you leave." He sends his greetings to the gang. Bessie Knerr will become Joe's bride on Oct. 29, at Denver, Pa. Hand congrats are offered.

CPL. PAUL KIMMEL from Fort Knox may get to see us before this semester is over. He sends his thanks for The Albrightian and thinks it's O. K. Say, Cpl., you might look up GERALD WHITE. We've heard that he is at Knox, too. Or Gerry, you might look up Chic.

ROBERT REESER, Yoeman 3/c, is now with the V-Mail Unit in Alaska. "This is the first year I haven't returned to school and it found me homesick for the old classroom." While likes the movies and canteen up there. What service man doesn't!

SGT. STEPHEN PLASKONOS writes from Camp Shark, N. Y. Stevie sends thanks for The Albrightian. "It keeps me closer to Albright, the memories of which will never be forgotten... tell Miss Benninger I said Hello." He also tells us not to be surprised at any unexpected visit from him. (We won't make any promises on that point.)

PVT. JAMES NINIVAGGI says he's not too far away to make his weekly visit, but appreciates this weekly. It gives him a chance to find out what's really going on. Here is a message to ye lowly Frosh: "I can still remember doing the strip

Sigma Taus Toss Words In English Society Game

Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity, centered the program of its monthly meeting around words. The group met last Wednesday evening in the home economics lab.

Following a business session conducted by the president, Jane Kriebel, Paul Deysher led the group in playing games relating to the theme of words. Refreshments were served during the social period.

The committee in charge of planning the program consisted of the following: Lura Heverly, Mary Jane Weber, Paul Deysher, and Jane Kriebel.

I know there's a war going on (and how!) and everybody is taking things seriously, but this is no excuse for discarding the few customs that are left." Jim is no longer at the hospital, but is now at Muhlenberg. He sends word that ROLFE HASTINGS is going to Parris Island and then to O. C. S. at Quantico.

PVT. JOHN D. MARQUETTE'S battalion is now stationed in England.

PVT. SAMUEL ROTHERMEL is out at Camp Grant, Illinois.

ROBERT STARR is an Albrightian who needs mail badly. He cannot receive The Albrightian or any other publication because the German government deems it unwise for him to do so. He can receive letters! He is only allowed to write a few cards or letters a month, but he is permitted to receive as many as you will send. Address your envelope this way:

About Face, Frosh

Now that the class of '47 has become an Albright group, we hasten to say "Congratulations", realizing that this repeats what was said at the induction service.

If those nice words Newell Wert offered as he accepted the class charge are an indication of frosh ability, we should be able to roll merrily along.

We trust that the semi-unpleasantness occurring during the trial period this year has provided an experience, constructive in nature, for all classes.

Club Feet, Chum?

With traditions taking the rumble seat on most campuses these days, let us again be "different". Contrary to popular (or G. I.) opinion, THE ALBRIGHTIAN was subtle last week. Tucked away at the end of the scoop concerning the new light in the seal in the Alumni Memorial Library was a hint: "Lift your feet, chums."

This is no hint. It's a request from Librarian Esther Fenili and says in no uncertain terms "PLEASE DO NOT TRAMP ON THE SEAL". An excellent basis for tradition, is it not?

The unveiling ceremony last Tuesday night was impressive. Prof Charles Miesse made the address, from which we quote: "Our memories are filled with thoughts of Seaman First Class Robert L. Work, of such students as Lt. Paul Golis, Ensign Mark Titus, and Jerome Bentz—all in the service of our country. It was in the dark days of 1941, when blackouts began to be the common thing in England, that the seal which we are uncovering tonight ceased to give forth its light. Now we are able to set it afire again. May its light give inspiration and courage to all the staunch sons of Truth and Justice. Might we not think of this simple event as a prelude to that long-awaited day "When the Lights Go on Again". And now, as the overhead lights are extinguished, let us sing the Alma Mater." They sang both verses.

And again we say, "Lift your feet, CHUMS."

Food For Thought

The Dining Hall Players, a dramatic group whose specialty, it has been unkindly suggested, is late entrances, have become the recipients of an interesting and rather pointed communication during the past week. Written in the first person singular, which places the Dining Hall Committee in a peculiar light, the message would effect a warning to potential evildoers.

There is some question as to the ability of those who have read the thing to appreciate its implications. It is THE ALBRIGHTIAN's opinion that the writer of it, though motivated by the highest impulses, has, in reference to student maturity, been guilty of gross floccinaucinihilipilification. Which isn't good on an empty stomach.

"Ummm, potato chips. May I have some, Emma Cora?" That is a typical Bieber observation, usually uttered as a saucy nose peers into the ecstasies of a neighbor's lunch kit. This week it is Gretchen A. (as in Dean's list) Bieber who is tucking a dandelion into her dark hair.

Gretchen is a pre-med who will graduate in January, entering the medical college at the University of Pennsylvania next October. Her plans go still farther and she ultimately aims to be a medical missionary for the Lutheran Church somewhere out Burma way.

After concluding a salutatorian success at Mt. Penn High, Gretchen came to Albright with quite an attractive bang—curled neatly at the edge—which has since yielded to a feather cut befitting the dignity of a senior.

She has quite an assortment of activities on campus. For the fourth year, she bass-fiddles in the College Orchestra. For best results, she uses the play-in-nylon-hose-minus-tight-pumps technique. Then again, there probably is method to her madness, for her lower extremities must bear much while she is strutting with the Color Guard.

Her duties on the YWCA cabinet included handling the girls' side of the successful "Y"-Retreat. To enter a discussion on most anything, provided Dr. Greth is also entered, makes her an active member of the Philosophy Club, of which she is secretary.

The most exacting job she holds now is prexy to the Daywomen. 'Tis no fun to be firm pleasantly. This is her second season on the news staff of THE Albrightian.

Gretchen has a friendly interest in the entire human race. Accompanying this amiability is a valiant effort to view both sides of a disagreeable situation. Being exposed to the rash frankness of Dr. Horn hasn't ruined Gretchen's femininity, for she still blushes a delicate pink at the suitable moment and flutters modestly when teased. If one were to ask her what she likes best, the first answers would no doubt include Philosophy Club, Prof. Green, and, of course, potato chips. Her pet dislike is to be called "Gretch," but she answers to it just the same. Her profs refer to her as persistent; her fellow Daywomen stand in awe of her high-piled shelf, equipped fully, if not alphabetically in order.

Outside Albright, Gretchen is observing social conditions as a clerk at Wetherhold and Metzger's Shoe Store. At the present moment, she says there is no basis for the rumor that women wearing size 6-B have an I. Q. of 127.6.

Pickens Addresses "Y's" On W.S.S.F. Aid in China

The Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. held a combined meeting last Tuesday, October 19, in the College Chapel, in order that both organizations could have the privilege of hearing Rev. C. L. Pickens, who represents the Student Volunteer Movement.

Rev. Pickens spoke on "Conditions in Colleges in Free China" and talked about the translation of the Bible into the Chinese vernacular. "Service without Christianity is useless," was a point he stressed particularly, and he also spoke of the great benefits of W.S.S.F. funds to colleges of China.

A discussion period followed the address. One point which Rev. Pickens emphasized during the discussion was the fact that Christianity is also recognized in Japan, and that the students in America must not forget that fact.

Lay That Textbook Down, Babe

We next stopped in to see "Mom," or Miss Garlach, as she is known to outsiders and found her busily polishing her chessmen and going over strategy for her next game. Leiby and Seltzer also live in the sometime peace and quiet of the first floor. Dottie was absorbed in figuring up laundry bills while Aida was dreaming of how to spend the as-yet-uncollected funds of the Zeta House treasury, of which she is the guardian.
 Quiet hours were then in effect and not a sound could be heard throughout the whole house. Thinking this very strange (as indeed it was), we tiptoed into the nearest room and discovered Ann de Farges hard at work at her favorite hobby of decorating stationery. (Catalog of the de Farges Printing Co. will be mailed on request.) Her room-mate, Barbara Vidgor, was enjoying the view of the campus from her window, which she boasts is better than the one from the Pagoda.

Across the hall live Mary Bowlin and Mary Alice Lippert. They seem to get along all right with the spirits of Bertino, Seltzer, and Peters, the former inhabitants. We interrupted Mary B's reading of "The Robe," which she says she hopes to finish by her senior year, to ask Mary A. to give us a demonstration of the bell on her alarm clock. After hearing it, we knew why so many Zetas get up for breakfast.

With one eye open for mice in the next room were Jean Harer, who has earned the title of the "girl who sleeps latest in the Zeta House," engrossed in "William Tell"; Irene Fisher, lost in the depths of Greek; and Mary Jane Weber, knitting industriously while cooking up next week's LION TALES.

We stumbled over an ironing board into "Klein aber Mein" where Pat Kramer, another knitter, was tangled up in a sweater for the RAF. Reading "Life in a Putty Knife Factory," a sociological treatise (she says) was Marian Christ while Felice Epstein was preparing her next week's Sunday School lesson.

Not wanting to disturb all these hard-working women, we next went quietly up the stairs, through that creaking door into the sleeping room. To our amazement, all of the beds were made! Yes, fellows, the Zeta House certainly has changed.

Yet as we consider the sleeping room before us, just one prickly thought disturbs that comfortable feeling we get. Was that lock on the front door been changed since the masculine Zetas left with their keys?

Inside Albright

By ROBERT KLENCK

By the time this paper is in your hands, the results of the "Y. M." elections will be public property. As this is being written, however, I have no idea of the election outcome. This ignorance you may or may not care to regard as important in relation to what follows here. Also, by being a candidate for one of the offices is merely incidental to the considerations below.

I think that the handling of the election, from the confirming in Council of the nominations to the handing out of ballots, has been inexcusably slipshod. It is the fault of no one in particular, apparently, but arises, if that is the word, from the general apathy peculiar to the conduct of campus elections in the Albright of our day.

Council, though it has been on the ball fairly consistently all term, muffed this one badly.

Ballots were handed out indiscriminately with no identification as a "Y. M." rather than all-campus participation. The only previous publicity appeared in the body of a news story in THE ALBRIGHTIAN of October 12 which story, it is assumed, was not read by everyone since it was but one of many news items. The story, by the way, was able only to report that the candidates had been nominated in "Y. M." Cabinet session. Before the next issue left the press, exciting Chapel students were handed ballots.

But the major objection is that Council made no provision for—now, gently . . . campaigning. Upperclassmen will recall that there was considerable noise coming forth from this department last spring in protest against people staking their records, personalities, friendships, associations, etc., in a deliberate attempt to draw votes for themselves away from the opposition, WHILE NOT BELIEVING THAT THEY THEMSELVES WERE THE MOST QUALIFIED FOR THE POSITION. Just how individuals can justify their asking others to vote for them, yet not being willing to vote for themselves, is beyond my poor sense of value.

Be that as it may, it is an inescapable fact that the eligible voters in this past election had very little by which to judge the relative qualifications of the two candidates—(limiting the discussion to the vice-presidency). Dietz Potttigger is a good guy. He will say the same for me. Both of us have a pretty good idea of the "Y. M." situation; both of us have ideas as to how the good elements should be maintained and how the poorer one should be improved. Both of us are active in other extra-curricular activities. That is about all the voters had to go on.

Did the voter, for example, have any notion of how much of my time is required by THE ALBRIGHTIAN? This information should have been his before he cast his ballot. Did the voter have any guarantee that I would withdraw from the paper to give the necessary time to the "Y" when Gerry Heilmann graduates in January? For all the voter knew, I might be so unwise as to try to do both. And THE ALBRIGHTIAN isn't the only thing.

The same thing would apply to Dietz who is by no means an inactive personage.

Had the voter an indication of how we stood on questions of "Y. M." policy? Not that we are in sharp disagreement, but it would be foolish to claim that our opinions are identical. Voters should have had the right of (1) knowing sometime in advance who was running and (2) of satisfying themselves as to qualifications and objectives.

Remember, one of us two is to be president next semester. And if you don't think it is going to be an important period, just ask some of the Cabinet members about the probing issues considered in the most recent meeting.

If we are not going to bother to provide voters with some intelligent basis from which to vote, let's just have an out and out popularity contest. Or, better still, let's give the college back to the Administration.

Student Council has granted the combined "Y's" Friday evening, October 29, for their annual Halloween Party, this year to feature a Hoe-down.

Approximately 75 couples danced to the music of the Royal Manhattans at the Ivy Ball last Friday evening.

Somehow or other THE ALBRIGHTIAN listed Mary Echwei in the right church but the wrong pen in "Who's Where Off Campus" the other week, and left Gladys Quinty out entirely. Gladys is living at 1405 N. 14th St.—dial 38909. If you want to contact Mary call 22133 at 1518 Lorraine Rd.

The Go-To Church group began its program this year by attending the Zion Baptist Church this past Sunday evening. Rev. O. P. Kelly Goodwin, a graduate of the Albright School of Theology, is the pastor.

Because of lack of transportation, the food situation, and the fact that there is no football at Albright this year, there will be no Alumni Homecoming Day. Many of the Alumni are in service and defense work which would prevent their attending the festivities. In addition, the facilities of the college are being used to further the war effort. Therefore, in view of the fact that it is impossible to sponsor Homecoming Day, the Alumni news is being sent free to all Albrightians.

EDITORIAL

This interesting bit of information has just come to our attention—there are 350,000 graduates from the liberal arts colleges of Pennsylvania alone. 200,000 of these are now living within the State. Our informant was impressed with the tremendous possibilities of such a group if its resources could be organized for action in the utilization of knowledge toward the common good.

The possibilities are indeed impressive, but your editor is also impressed with the possibilities for the common good of all alumni and for a greater Albright, if her more than 2,000 alumni could be organized for action. It can be done if in every strategic area existing local alumni chapters are maintained and new ones formed. It is our firm conviction that these nuclei could exert a tremendous amount of influence for the future of our Alma Mater.

It is for this reason that your Executive Secretary welcomes the opportunity to help with the work of existing regional chapters and the formulation of new ones.

Yours for a greater Albright,

THE EDITOR

Alumna Would Defray Cost of Printing News

Dear Editor:

The Alumni News is a grand idea. You might suggest to alumni in some issue approximately how much each interested person might contribute toward the expenses for this service.

For the enlightenment of any friends I may have skipped, here's an announcement of a change of name and address:

Margaret Hollenbach ('41) became Mrs. Ross Sanderson, Jr., September 4th. The new address is:

MRS. ROSS W. SANDERSON, JR.
4 Wentworth
Plymouth, New Hampshire.

Except that we're moving sometime before the end of the month. Correction will follow.

"HOLLY" SANDERSON
4 Wentworth
Plymouth, New Hampshire.

Ed. Note: Thanks for your thoughtfulness in suggesting that interested persons be given opportunity to contribute toward expenses. We assure our readers that, while our wish is for every Alumna to receive the NEWS free, contributions toward expenses involved will be greatly appreciated.

Deininger To Become Medical Corps Officer

Dear Editor:

I received the Albright Alumni News the other day and was very glad to read through it . . .

This note is written to inform you that on Nov. 8, 1943, I will enter the Medical Corps of the U. S. Navy as a Lieut. (j.g.). My first assignment is the Philadelphia Naval Hospital. For your records, this will be my official title:

J. T. Deininger, Lt. (j.g.), MC-V(8), USNR.

I hope to get up to Reading soon and when I do will most certainly get in touch with you.

With kindest regards,
JOHN T. DEININGER, M.D.

Lt. Edward Nicolai '39, Killed On September 16 After Airplane Crash Navy Fighter Squad Pilot Falls In South Pacific Area; Aimed For Tokyo

The Alumni Office has been informed of the death of Lt. (j.g.) Edward Nicolai, '39. Ed, a fighter squadron pilot in the Navy air forces on duty in the South Pacific area was killed September 16 as a result of a plane crash according to word received by his parents from the Navy Department.

His parents last heard from him September 12 after, they believe, he had returned from participating in a Marcus Island raid. He wrote them "not to worry" and his ambition was to get to Tokyo and get it over with. He was pilot of the Navy's carrier-based plane, the "Hellcat" in which he had made what his father believes was one of the first test flights last March on Long Island.

Over seas since last spring, Ed joined the Navy on April 15, 1941, in San Diego, California. After his basic training at San Diego, he went to Jacksonville, Florida, and later to Corpus Christi, Texas.

Followers of Albright sports will remember Ed as an outstanding star on the gridiron.

MEET THE OFFICERS

Louise Eastland

Berks Chapter Begins Winter Social Season With Nov. Card Party Benefit For Alumni Swim Pool To Be Held At City YWCA; Plan Holiday Party

The Berks County Chapter of the Alumni Association under the presidency of Lydia Roland, '32, began its winter season October 18 with its regular monthly business meeting and guest night for '43 grads.

The program, as discussed in the business session, includes a card party November 17 for the benefit of the Alumni Swimming Pool in the proposed physical education building, and a Christmas party in December. Tickets for the card party to be held at the Y.W.C.A. in Reading may be secured from Chapter members or by contacting Jane Mease, '31. The president also announced that the annual election of officers would be held at the December meeting.

Committee chairmen for the card party are: General Chairman, Lydia Roland; Tickets, Jane Mease; Refreshments, Anna LeVan, '28; Prizes, Mrs. E. W. P. Binckley, '28; Publicity, Stella Hetrick, '36; Cake and Candy, Elva Weaver, '40. Lester L. Stabler, '35 was appointed as chairman of the Nominating Committee for the December election. Other members of the committee are Jane Mease and Ruth Ennis, '41.

The officers of the Berks County Chapter are: President, Lydia M. Roland, '32; Vice-president, Dorothy Gaul, '42; Secretary, Anna LeVan, '28; Treasurer, Pvt. E. W. P. Binckley, '28.

Ed. Note: The Editor takes this opportunity to give recognition to the Berks County Chapter for its splendid record of activity for Albright and the Association under its able officers and cooperative members.

Kansas Army Division Unites Three Ex-Lions

Dear Editor:

An old alumnus just handed me a copy of the News. I would appreciate getting this regularly at above address. My thanks, if sending it is possible.

I graduated from Albright in '31. Am now stationed in Kansas with the 80th Division where I have been Company Clerk since my induction. Home address is now West Fairview; married and have a sweet daughter.

Also please note that Alvin Horn, Albright, now Sgt. Alvin Horn, Co. B 305th Med. Bn., APO 80, Camp Phillips, Kansas, a graduate in the class of 1931, is also in my outfit, and we enjoy many good times together.

And did you know that Carl Gunther is now Major Gunther and is Assistant Div. Chaplain, 80th Div., Camp Phillips, Kansas? I see Carl often as I play the chapel organ and the portable organ when we are in the field on maneuvers. Carl is doing a great piece of work and is well liked by the men.

As far as I know, we three are the only Albrightians in the 80th Div. unless you know of anyone else, in which case let me know.

Was glad to see The Albrightian again, particularly since I worked on it for three years and was ye chief in my Senior year.

More power to you all.

Sincerely,

Cpl. JOHN A. LINDER,
Co. D, 305th Med. Bn.
APO 80
Camp Phillips, Kansas.

Ed. Note: Yes, indeed, Cpl. John. Now that we have your address, THE ALBRIGHTIAN and THE ALUMNI NEWS will be coming your way regularly.

To All Albrightians:

Naturally you want to keep abreast of the developments at your Alma Mater. Of course, you receive one copy of The Albrightian free every month, but to get ALL the news you need a copy every week. $1.50 per year will do it. Fill in the form below and send to the Alumni Office.

Telling Of War Tie-up, Kellers Send Regards

Dear Editor:

Thank you for The Albrightian with its Alumni page. This is an excellent idea to keep us alumni in touch with Albright and the alumni. I read every word of the paper and enjoyed everything I read. The Kellers have two direct tie-ups with the war. Beatrice is married to Lieutenant (j.g.) Charles Snyder who is stationed in the Navy Yard in Philadelphia. Charles is doing his Primary Pilot training at Hick Field, Ft. Worth. I miss my friend with Albright but still retain my keen interest in every phase of Albright activity. Regards to my many Albright friends.

Sincerely,

I. C. KELLER,
California, Penna.

Ed. Note: We appreciate your continued interest in Albright. It is our sincere hope that THE ALUMNI NEWS will help to bring the campus to every Alumnus who, like yourself, misses contact with his Alma Mater.

Sophs Humble Frosh, Seniors Beat Juniors In Intramural Hockey

Peoples Leads Winning Eleven In Fem S.ason Opener; Bonner Soph Star

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Seniors	1	0	1.000
Sophomores	1	0	1.000
Juniors	0	1	.000
Freshmen	0	1	.000

Revised Schedule:

- Oct. 26—Seniors vs. Frosh
- Oct. 28—Juniors vs. Sophs
- Nov. 2—Juniors vs. Frosh
- Nov. 4—Seniors vs. Sophs

The women's intramural hockey league has finally gotten under way with the Seniors and Sophomores as the early powerhouses. In the first game of the season, the Seniors took over their Junior rivals, 2-0. Last Thursday the Sophomores scored a heavy victory against the humble and inexperienced Frosh.

Although it took them long enough to get started, the W.A.A. intramural hockey league is now under way at top speed. In the opening game of the season, the fighting Seniors shut out their Junior rivals, 2-0. The game was held last Tuesday on the Theolog field.

An aggressive forward line and expert defensive work in the striking circle gained for the Seniors two goals and kept the losers from getting a score through the posts. Irma Peoples took care of the scoring, as she took one through in the first half and then came back to repeat her performance in the second frame. She got forward wall support especially from Lucy Griswold who assisted in scoring the second goal.

The Junior offensive was led by Ann deFarges and Bert Blachy. Threatening to score twice, the Juniors were thwarted when Polly Walls and Doris Kinsey came through fast for the Seniors and blocked the attempted scores. Doris Armes also helped along the winners' defensive, since she proved to be the only one who could hold in check Erna Leinbach's powerful blows.

In spite of the fact that the Juniors were late in getting a team together, the game went over smoothly and was a spirited contest from beginning to end. Three referees—Marie Bonner on one side, and Mary Eschwei and Meg Hendricks on the other—took care of calling the penalties, usually "sticks".

Sophs Victorious

Sophomore hockeyettes rushed down the field to score an easy 7-0 victory over the inexperienced Frosh. Marie Bonner, the winners' captain, tallied four of the seven, while Dorothy Powick did the honors for the other three.

Most damage was done in the opening quarter when Bonner scored twice and Powick slipped in with the third. The Frosh defense tightened up, leaving the upper classmen completely scoreless in the second frame. During the second half, the Frosh eleven took an offensive position, threatening to score. However, the steel tight defense of the Sophs held the line and pushed down the field in the opposite direction to score twice in each of the last two quarters.

It was the first organized game for the Frosh and they played it against tough opposition.

Army Fives Engage In Varsity Prelims

This year's prelims to varsity basketball games will be contests between the cage teams of Army Cadet Flights on campus. Because many of the flight basketball players have seen action on high school and college courts throughout the country, these preliminaries should prove to be well-played and exciting tilts.

There was a movement afoot to have interpost games with Air Cadet fives from other nearby colleges, but this cannot be carried out because of Army disapproval.

Resulting from civilian manpower shortages, the interflight games will take the place of the Junior Varsity preliminaries played in former years.

Knights Defeated 6-0, By Hurricane's Squad

Defense Holds Down Invaders In Muddy Lions' Stadium

Reading High's still inexperienced Knights came closer to winning a conference game than they have in any previous games last Saturday when they held the Bethlehem eleven down to a 6-0 win in the Albright Stadium. Their next game, they invaded York, hoping for their first conference win.

Bad weather helped the locals by preventing the Hurricane from unleashing an aerial offense, but did not stop the winners from scoring in the third minute of play. Taking the ball on their own 49-yard line, the Bethlehem gridders were down on the enemy 12 in a hurry. On the touchdown play, Bill Wash reversed to Carl Spadt, who went around left and into paydirt. The extra point was bad.

The Reading line was like a dishrag in the first half. After allowing the Hurricane to score, they were forced again to their own 2 by the pressure of a Bethlehem advance. The winners' Tony Amptiero went over for an apparent score, but it was nullified because of backfield in motion. Timely tackling by the Knights pushed the Bethlehem line out of danger.

In the second half the local gridders came back of the defensive with renewed determination and made up for their slipshod work of the first frame. Especially effective were Roger Hertz, who took care of the blocker, and Marty Binder, who nabbed the ball-carrier on each play. Surprising both the Bethlehem team and the rain-soaked spectators.

Not much can be done to climax that intramural football league successfully in one week when it has been unsuccessful for over a month of its existence. This past week no scheduled games have been played. And even now plans are made to revise the schedule to include the reorganized United Brethren team.

It seems that the Interfrat Council has been kicked around this fall as far as playing conditions and schedule are concerned. We believe that the problem boils down to the idea of authority. In former years representatives from each fraternity met to plan a sports program and the Interfrat Council meant what the name implies. But this year there is only one fraternity. Usually there was an active and interested president to hold the Council together and to keep it running; this year no president has been elected yet.

The suggestion was made in Student Council on Thursday that the Interfrat Council should come under the jurisdiction of the former organization. This would be a step toward placing on someone or something the responsibility of maintaining a successful intramural sports program.

Here are some of the problems that could be solved more readily if the Interfrat Council had some authority to keep it going: Why hasn't the Council elected regular officers and held regular weekly meetings? Ken Faylor heads the grid planning group as chairman, not as president. Why hasn't the league been given a definite place to play, where there would be no army interference? Dr. Masters himself is working on the problem now.

Putting the Interfraternity Council under someone's wing may not bring about any solution to the present problems about the football season. It is too late for that. But it would help the future intramural sports program of basketball and softball. As far as we can see, our only hope for any kind of successful intramural sports this year lies in making someone definitely responsible for them.

Perhaps, we the sports writers, may be playing up intramural sports too much. Perhaps we should let sleeping dogs lie. If we are to blame, we would make amends. On the contrary, we think that the fighting spirit shown by the fellows in grid games and the interest of the few teams is evidence that the dogs aren't sound asleep.

Conditioning Practices Scheduled In First Cage Workout By Harris

With the Lions' basketball season just around the corner, Coach Neal O. Harris issued a statement urging all men interested in the game to be on hand for the initial practice to be held on Monday, November 1. Scrimmage will be held in the Thirteenth and Union Gym, the same place as in previous years.

The first week of cage practice will consist mainly of conditioning and hardening exercises in preparation for actual court play in the following sessions. Harris expects all those who are varsity candidates out for the first week's conditioning practices so that all the cagers are in shape for actual scrimmages.

No definite players have been selected as yet. Albright's mentor announced that he would like to have all possible aspirants out for the first practice so that he can look over the ability of his material. The reason for the entirely new combination is that the players of last year's wonder crew have either graduated or are in the service.

Daymen "Pickups" Tie In Pigskin Contest 6-6

Grid Schedule Will Be Revised, Including U.B.'s In Loop

The interfraternity football league, still suffering from the recent break due to playing conditions, ran through an unscheduled game on Tuesday, October 19, when a pick-up team, made up of some United Brethren and a few men from other teams, met the regular Daymen in a practice game. The teams battled to a 6-6 deadlock.

The "Pick-Ups" showed early supremacy as Don Reinhold of the Daymen fumbled the opening kick off and Ken Faylor recovered. From this point they ran through four plays, climaxed by a short pass from Tony Stish to Faylor for the first score of the game.

The Daymen fought back furiously, and, after several exchanges of the pigskin, Reinhold heaved the ball to Boudin Procho, who ran for paydirt, tying the score. The game ended soon afterwards, leaving a 6-6 score on the books.

The regularly scheduled Frosh-Daymen game on Thursday was cancelled because of schedule difficulties. Plans are now in progress for a complete revision of the remaining schedule based on the United Brethren's re-entrance into the league and the Army-Interfrat Council agreement about use of the stadium.
