STUDENTS HEAR HITLER LECTURE BY J. G. BUCHER

Fellow of Royal Geographical Society of London Speaks on
"Germany Under Hitler"

On Wednesday morning at ten o'clock, John George Bucher, Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society of London, addressed the student body on "Germany Under Hitler." His discussion was entirely unbiased.

Mr. Bucher presented an interesting background from the German viewpoint of the rise of Hitler. He described the appalling conditions which existed after the war. Inflation, he said, was one of the disturbing factors following the peace treaty. The development of many political parties complicated the government. Unemployment prevailed throughout the country. The cry among the people was, "Give us a leader."

Hitler, according to Mr. Bucher, brought a new deal to the people. Much of his success was due to the fact that he was the first great German orator.

The changes due to Hitler's reign were many, liberty does not exist there. There is no freedom of speech, press or radio; everything is regulated.

Progress has been made throughout the country. The people are unified and two and one-half million have received employment.

The one mistake that Hitler made was in his attempt to solve the Jewish problem. In banishing the Jews from the country, nine Nobel prize winners were removed. Driving the wise men from the country is quite disastrous he claims.

The youth of Germany are behind Hitler. The girls as well as the boys are constantly parading in uniform.

Taxes in Germany are high and varied. Wherever possible, taxes are placed. There is even a church tax. Those who join church are members until their written resignations are received. Taxes must be paid before a person may be married or buried by a clergyman.

Marriage is stressed in Germany. If a woman leaves a job to get married, she may borrow 1,000 marks from the government. This is paid back at one per cent a month. If a child is born, twenty-five per cent of the amount is dropped. To furnish this money, people who are over 18 and single, pay a tax amounting to ten per cent of their income tax.

Mr. Bucher was born and educated in Philadelphia. His ancestors fought in the French and Indian Wars and in the American Revolution. He is a former newspaper correspondent, and saw service with the American Army during the World War and later spent much time in central Europe in famine relief work.

PROF. BUCKWALTER IS COUNCIL SPEAKER

We are pleased to announce that Prof. Buckwalter has been chosen to speak in the training courses sponsored by the Federal Emergency Education Relief Council. Mr. Buckwalter will speak January 22 on the subject, "The Principles of the National Recovery Act With Particular Emphasis on Creating Better Economic Conditions."

FOOTBALL BANQUET

The Annual Football Banquet will be held Thursday evening, January 18, in the College Dining Hall. Boarding students will attend without cost, while day students will be charged a minimum price. The toastmaster of the evening will be Rev. Oscar Hyden, of Mohnton, and the introductory remarks will be made by President J. W. Klein. Mr. Howard has not as yet announced the principle speaker of the occasion.

STUDENTS SUPPORT XMAS SEAL SALE

We wish to thank the faculty and student body of the college for the splendid co-operation manifested in the sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals recently conducted by our student council. Professor Horn reports the sale to be unusually successful, the entire quantity allotted to the college being sold. Adding to the amount received from the sale of seals, we wish to recognize the gift of five dollars given by the parents of Julia Bowman, which will swell the contribution made by our school. The class sales show the Freshmen topping the list with a hundred per cent record, while the Sophomores are at the bottom with a low percentage.

Results of the tuberculosis tests recently given the Freshmen class, and which last year were given the entire student body, proved the first year group to be 68 per cent positive.

SKULL AND BONES HONORS M. LUSTIG

At the regular meeting of the Skull and Bones Society, held Monday evening, January 8th, at 8:00 P. M., in the Science Hall, Melvin Lustig read a very interesting and well prepared paper on the subject, "Osler, the Great Physician." This paper has quite helpful and presented profitable sidelights on the medical profession.

Following the reading of his paper, Mr. Lustig was presented the Skull and Bones certificate, which is awarded only after the presentation of a paper before the society and other interested persons. We congratulate Mr. Lustig on this achievement and wish him well as he goes on to be an M. D.

Gridmen Vote No Captain for '34 Season

By the end of next year's football season Albright gridiron teams will have tried every kind of squad leadership—so decided the 1933 gridriders on Tuesday evening when they voted to elect their captain before each game and then to name an honorary captain at the conclusion of the 1934 schedule.

Red and White pigskin followers of the past have already employed the single and double captaincy systems. The latter experiment occurred only last fall, when Stan Hino and Charley Karlovich piloted the destinies of a lower than average squad. All Lion athletic teams previous to that time were led into action by a captain chosen before the season on merit displayed the year before.

Hepler, Slack, Gass, Halderman, Lund, Sutcliffe, Yentsch, and Danford were the seniors with three years of

COLLEGE IS HOST TO READING HI MIXED CHORUS

Mixed Group Present Musicales
During Dinner Hour Tuesday
Evening in College Hall

On Tuesday evening a mixed chorus of 100 voices of the Reading High School, under the direction of Miss Katherine M. Hassler, gave a musicale at a dinner in the college dining hall. Selections from Victor Herbert's light opera, "Sweethearts," which was staged recently at the high school, were featured. Solos were given by Loreen Rhoda and Betty Kirling. The members of the chorus and its directress are to be highly commended for their splendid performance.

This fine program, which students of Albright were privileged to witness, is an indication of the alertness on the part of our administration in taking advantage of every opportunity to secure worthwhile entertainment, entertainment not only highly enjoyable, but also rich in cultural and aesthetic values. We are looking forward to a like practice being continued in the future.

Prior to the rendition of the musicale, Mr. Lozo, head of the high school, addressed students of both institutions. He declared that he hopes to see the time when it will be a natural step for students to enter Albright from senior high.

"The power to do great things in education within the city of Reading," said Mr. Lozo, "exists in the closer relationship between Albright and Reading High."

"There was a time when music was one of the so-called 'frills' in school just as athletics are an extra part of the activities today, but the time is not far distant when athletics will become a vital part of the curriculum, the same as music and art are at present. A similar change is taking place in colleges and universities."

It was Mr. Lozo's contention that the natural "merger" of Reading High with Albright would eventually result in building the latter to a university.

"I hope to see the time," he said, "when students step into the 10th grade at the Senior High School and keep going to school in their own home town right through to the 16th grade with a continuous program of education. In other words, a natural step from the Senior

YWCA SPONSORS NOVEL FORM OF ENTERTAINMENT

Selwyn Hall is Scene of Mardi Gras
Thursday Evening; Program
Features Minstrel Show

The Y. W. C. A. introduced a novel form of entertainment last evening when it sponsored a Mardi Gras in Selwyn Hall. The dormitory was transformed into a veritable midway, while a minstrel show was featured in the chapel and refreshments were sold in the Spanish dining room. The barkers began to solicit business at 7:30 and the Mardi Gras was in full swing.

Pennies were in evidence since that was the admittance fee to the most attractive booths. Many mysterious signs announced special attractions. A Fishing Pond was open for the followers of Isaac Walton, and many surprising fish were caught. A Museum and Art Gallery contained unusual exhibits of that nature. The glib people made themselves at home in room 211 where fortunes were read from tea leaves. A Zoo was open for those who dared to venture inside. Bordering on the weird was a Cave of the West Winds. A Chinese Garden with soft lights furnished relaxation for frayed nerves. Horse racing proved to be a popular sport, while everyone wanted to see the green pig and the freak show.

Extra attractions consisted of a human finger from the recent train wreck in France; a trip around the world for one cent; a girl who sleeps, drinks, eats, and lives under water; and many of the boys took advantage of the opportunity to get a sweet kiss. The free show, consisting of a corpse, aroused much interest.

The main feature of the evening was a Minstrel Show in the Chapel at 9:00 o'clock. Those taking part in the minstrel were: Interlocutor, Peg Wittmann; end men: Marjorie Beglinger, Betty Rimelspacher, Kay Yerkes, and Dorcas Haines; chorus: Mildred Rothermel, Ethel Sprinkle, Jean Rosenbrance, Jean Goodling, Grace Ketter, and Betty Campbell, accompanied by Harriet Venus. Features on the program were a tap dance and a Scotch jig.

Committees in charge were: booths, Peg Wittmann, chairman; Gladys Novaky, Martha Felmece, Marjorie Beglinger, and Betty Campbell; minstrel, Mildred Rothermel and Kay Yerkes; refreshments, Dorcas Haines, chairman, Catherine Winter, Jean Goodling, Betty Rimelspacher, and Ruth Hicks.

READING CHEMISTS' TO HEAR DR. LUNDELL

On Tuesday evening, January 16, at 8:00, the Reading Chemists' Club will hold its first regular meeting for this year in the Science Hall Lecture room. The guest speaker is to be Dr. G. E. F. Lundell, chief of the Analytical Division of the Bureau of Standards in Washington.

Dr. Lundell, an expert in analytical chemistry, will speak on the subject "Analysis of Things As They Are." The speaker is one of the best known chemists in the country and the opportunity to hear him speak on the Albright campus is not one to be missed. The Reading Chemists' Club invites the Albright students to share this occasion with them.

A NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION

Should we be privileged to make New Year's Resolutions applying to the life of the student body at Albright, the following statement would provide an adequate summary for our worthy intention: "Resolved, that our school cultivate a higher standard of friendship." Recognized as one of the finest achievements of a college education, and sad to say, one that many students are passing by unheeded, is the art of learning to know one's associates, or the ability to cultivate friendship.

Since Friendship is an attainment of abstract quality, we are unable to use the excuse of not being able to afford it. Indeed it is a luxury which can only be purchased through the medium of time and effort. In order that we might develop this fellowship, it is necessary that a definite interest be taken. To some it will require a vigorous change of attitude and a great deal of will-power in overcoming reticent qualities which are deeply rooted within them. To others it will be easy, for their natural behavior reflects this characteristic. If you are one that finds it difficult to express intimacy and radiate a friendly attitude, force yourself into conversation with others, endeavor to be less critical of the manner in which others behave, and above all try to understand the other fellow's point of view. Remember that no one is too busy to be courteous, and this is the first step in developing friendship.

It is during the week-end recess that we are afforded the best opportunity to exercise this spirit of fellowship. Coupled with other activities, the religious organizations of our campus strive to instill into the lives of the students this quality above all others. In this brief period of relaxation between studies, we are able to find time to form more intimate acquaintances, to actually know our fellow-student better.

Won't you join us in adopting this resolution as a major issue for the year of 1934? Through the co-operation of each individual student, Albright College may be able to recognize a more friendly attitude on its campus.

A NEW YEAR MESSAGE

I asked the New Year for some message sweet,
 Some rule of life with which to guide my feet;
 I asked, and paused; he answered soft and low,
 "God's will to know."

"Will knowledge then suffice, New Year?" I cried;
 And, ere the question into silence died,
 The answer came, "Nay, but remember, too,
 "God's will to do."

Once more I asked, "Is there no more to tell?"
 And once more again the answer sweetly fell,
 "Yes! this one thing, all other things above:
 "God's will to love."

PRE-VUES

Stella M. Hetrick

Have you ever had a yen to visit Mexico—that fascinating country with its Aztec remains, its Indian population and its strong Spanish characteristics? It is one of the most interesting countries in North America and perhaps, the least known.

You would, no doubt, answer in the affirmative, adding that you always had a hankering to see that country, but that such a trip would be far too expensive. Then too, you might inform me that you are addicted to seasickness and a voyage of approximately five days would be agony, to say the least.

If that constitutes the bulk of your problems, then I dare say they are solved or will be before another year rolls around.

Mexico, our southern neighbor, although one of the last countries to forego her customs and traditions in substituting the new for the old, feels the need of American trade. Thanks to modern invention plus ingenuity of the Mexican government, a super-highway is being quietly and efficiently constructed, which will connect Mexico with these United States and points north! The engineers predict that this road will be open for traffic about November 1, 1934.

This should be welcome news, especially for our Nicaraguan student at Albright, as he will now be able to drive home for his annual vacation—a feat undreamed of a year ago!

Just as the highway along the St. Lawrence to Quebec has shown us the scenic beauty of our northern neighbor, so this will acquaint us with that big world south of us, which continues to be quaint.

See America first—roll down to Mexico on your next vacation. Only seven hundred miles south of the Rio Grande, less than the distance between New York and Chicago... an economical, entirely new and mighty interesting trip, and no passport necessary!

As one writer describes it: "Take the palaces of Venice, the cathedrals of Spain, the boulevards of Paris, add the lure of the Far East, wall all this exotic beauty around snow-topped mountains, and you have Mexico City!"

This road is Mexico's surprise gift to North America and to South America as well, for the highway that the Mexicans are hewing through the mountains and stretching over eighty bridges, will be the first of a link in the great Pan-American highway, which will some day reach from Canada to the lower tip of South America. Then, who'll want to go to Europe?

COUNCIL ASKS ORGANIZATIONS TO LIST FUNCTIONS

An attempt is being made on the part of the Student Council to have every organization on the campus fix its dates for holding various social functions throughout the year in so far as this is possible. Heretofore, few have set definite or approximate dates regarding a specific social activity. Past experiences have shown such a procedure results in an inconvenience to not only the individual but to the organization as well. If each group would draw up a schedule of activities for the year, corresponding as nearly as possible to its own abilities to carry out such a program, this inconvenience to both parties would be eliminated. If it were known definitely that a particular social affair was to be held at a certain time, everyone concerned could plan accordingly, and thus the success of the event in all respects would be more definitely insured.

This endeavor is for your benefit. If every organization submits such a schedule to the Council as soon as possible, that body will be more than willing to co-operate with you by drawing up a calendar of social activities for the year at Albright. This is being done at other colleges and universities and is proving very successful. However, such a calendar can be formulated only through the co-operation of the various organizations with the Council in giving their schedule to one of the Council members.

MR. J. BENNETT NOLAN PRESENTS FINAL LECTURE

Last Friday morning J. Bennett Nolan, local historian and authority on research, completed his series of lectures on Pennsylvania history. In the course of the lectures he told about the early Swedish settlements and about William Penn's colonization here. He has dealt with the attitude of the Indians and their dealings with the white men. The different elements of the population have been pointed out, stressing the German characteristics that still remain. He has reviewed the founding of Reading by Conrad Weiser and shown the important part the Keystone State played in the Revolutionary War.

Mr. Nolan's latest book is called "Annals of Penn Square," and he is now engaged upon research of Lafayette's journeys in this country. His lectures have been particularly interesting because of new material he has presented and his frequent comments about Reading and the vicinity.

MRS. LUELLE BOWMAN SPEAKS TO Y. W. GROUP

Mrs. Luella Bowman, a graduate of Albright, spoke to the Y. M. on Wednesday night. Mrs. Bowman continued her study in training school at Yale and specialized in mental hygiene. She is now doing community work to strengthen compensation laws. In this work she has visited many homes to find out about changing morals and attitudes and home conditions due to the economic distress. She said that she was surprised how content many of the families were considering the changes they have had to make in their home life.

Z. O. E.

Pictured above is a Senior who has attained a mark of distinction during his four years at Albright. In his preparation for the ministry, LeRoy has been especially active in the religious activities of the school. Serving as an able representative of the Y. M. C. A. Council the past three years, he was president of that organization last year.

One of his many achievements consists of the high scholastic record he has maintained throughout his college career. Coupled with this "Briny" has been an active member of the Student Council and this year is president of the State Collegiate Y. M. C. A. Association.

He serves in the capacities of President of the Oxford Fellowship and Treasurer of the Albrightian Board of Control and has been an active member of the Men's Glee Club the past three years.

As Head Waiter of our Dining Room he has been a constant leader of the social life on the campus and his presence will be keenly missed next year. We wish him success in the noble profession which he has selected.

1933 is now just another chapter in Albright sport history, and we hope that the Red and White will have another year as successful in athletics as has just passed. 1934 looks very promising with a first class quintet in the Eastern Pennsylvania Conference, having won their first three contests. The girls' team is all set for the City League and from all reports have a fine chance of copping the trophy. Track seems more promising with the report that we will have some new men on the track who will greatly aid the field men in clinching the meets. Tennis should repeat again this year as they have practically the same team that had a wonderful season last year. Baseball should have a good season with two first rate pitchers to take their turn on the mound and a wealth of material in the other departments. Football is still up in the air with one of the best schedules in years arranged for the Lions.

The basketball team to date has turned in three victories that speak for themselves. One conference game has been played with Ursinus, in which the Smith quint proved easily superior. The Bears will be taken by a bigger score when they play the Lions in their own den. Any team is at least five points better on its home floor than on a foreign one. Tonight we tackle Drexel at the Y and from indicated reports Drexel will not be at the cellar of the league as they were last year. Co-Captain De Franco stepped on a nail while at Kutztown on Tuesday night and it is doubtful whether he will start tonight.

The idea of selecting a football captain before every game is not only a novel idea but a practical one. There were too many factions at work for the election of a captain and if anyone of those factions had been successful, the much needed harmony on the team would not have existed for the coming year. This way each senior will be given a chance to captain the team at least once. Who ever was responsible for concocting the idea must be given credit.

The inter-fraternity basketball league swung into action this week and should keep the campus on fire for the next few weeks. These games are interesting to watch and everyone should plan to see them. The games are usually part football and part basketball, the sole idea being to win. The Inter-Fraternity Athletic Council has planned for a stricter supervision of the games this year, and it is hoped that this will be accomplished. The calling of personal fouls very strictly will eliminate the rough stuff and make a better league.

SWIMMING TEAM BEGINS 2nd YEAR

Albright swimming team has entered upon its second year of inter-collegiate competition. Through lack of experience, it was unable to boast an impressive record last year, but this year, under the capable tutelage of Ray Morris and represented by such men as Captain Fegley, Andy Lund, Kenneth Hafer, Aris Carpousis and Harry Amare, the Lion natators should make a much better showing.

Due to the consistent work of their manager, Lyle Bartholomew, who had much to do with the organizing of the aquatic team last year, a worthy schedule has been arranged. The present scores and remaining games are as follows:

	Alb.	Opp.
Jan. 13—Rider Col.	Trenton	9 45
Dec. 15—Reading Y. M. C. A.	26	36
Dec. 16—University of Del.	9	45

Lions Defeat Ursinus in First Conference Game

RED AND WHITE FUNCTION WELL AGAINST BEARS

"Nick" Iatesta and "Bob" Shipe Share Scoring Honors, While Co-Captains DeFranco and Oslislo Lead Defense

Ursinus bowed to a 57-43 score in a spectacular and hard fought contest at Collegeville Saturday night. The Red and White five showed championship form against the powerful Bears. "Nick" Iatesta, "Radio" DeFranco, and "Bob" Shipe shared scoring honors.

The Red and White passers, playing their first Eastern Pennsylvania Conference game, wrought havoc with the towering Ursinus quintet to continue their high scoring tactics. A smooth floor handicapped the Albright visitors in the first few minutes of play. The exciting game was packed with spills and thrills, but the Lions functioned smoothly to annex a lead early in the game, and then continued to outplay the Collegeville five throughout the game.

The fast floor play of co-Captains DeFranco and Oslislo continually broke up the Ursinus offense. Pete Slack and Red Woods, both sterling guards, gave fine exhibitions and were instrumental in holding the Bears, who fought desperately to avenge the past season's football defeat. Stan Hino ably filled the breach when DeFranco was retired on fouls. Jim Ross also was given a chance; the rangy Sophomore is proving a capable understudy to the veteran center, Bob Shipe.

Coach Smith has been working hard daily to develop the team and feels quite satisfied with their first showing in the loop. The team work, passing, and shooting are improving rapidly. With the wealth of material on hand, it looks like a good season.

The Red and White quintet annexed their third win last Tuesday evening by defeating the Kutztown teachers 48 to 34 in a return match held at Kutztown. The performance of the teachers was decidedly better than when they appeared against the Lion cage men in Reading, and they were able to give us a good battle. Scoring honors go to "Nick" Iatesta, who has proved a consistent point getter this season.

With two conference games this week, Drexel on Friday night at the local "Y," and Muhlenberg away on Saturday night, the Red and White passers hope to continue their winning streak and stabilize their chances of winning the E. P. C. Basketball League championship this season.

The lineup:

RECORDS SHOW LIONS AVERAGE BELOW PAR IN '33

Out of 47 Contests, the Red and White Have Won 21 and Lost 24

For the first time in years the records show that in the sport realm Albright has suffered a greater number of losses than wins. Taking the sum total of all men's athletics, the various teams engaged in 47 events, of which they won 21 and lost 24, a winning percentage of 45. When the girls' basketball team is included it brings the number of wins up to 29 and the losses to 26 for a total of 57 events and a winning percentage of 51. Incidentally, this is the first time in a decade that the girls' basketball team has not pulled the winning percentage down, but in this incident it manages to pull the Lions over the .500 mark.

The basketball and tennis were the only teams to turn in a record with a greater amount of wins than losses. The basketball team was tied for second place in Eastern Pennsylvania Basketball Conference, and but for the scarlet fever epidemic would have in all probability won the Conference championship. The tennis team, with a wealth of material, turned in a fine season marred only with defeats by the Alumni and Juniata Cottage.

Baseball was a decided failure, having practically the same team that won the distinction the year before as being one of the two undefeated teams in the country. Track, with a wealth of material in the field events, did not have the men on the track to garner the necessary points for victories. They placed second in the Central Pennsylvania track meet. Football was a nightmare, with the Lions at last finding themselves in the last two games of the season.

Much credit must be given to the girls' basketball team. Hampered by the lack of funds, they could not schedule games in the collegiate circles so they entered a league in the city and emerged from it in second place. Without a doubt it was the best team the girls have turned out in many a moon.

Record of men's sports:

	No. of Games	Won	Lost	Tied

INTER-FRATERNITY B. B. SCHEDULE IS ANNOUNCED

Heavy Competition is Expected; Dick Brown to Officiate All Games

After closing the tough football season with the awarding of its trophy to the winning Zeta Omega Epsilon fraternity, inter-mural athletics now turn to America's national winter sport, basketball. Perhaps you've noticed the boys burning the midnight oil (in the gymnasium) getting in shape for the keen competition which will undoubtedly permeate the league which will be composed of the Lions Club and the four active fraternities on the campus—K. U. Phi, Z. O. E., P. T. B., and A. P. O.

The Kappa Epsilon Phi fraternity captured last year's trophy after the disastrous epidemic pre-terminated the season; this year it appears to be anybody's championship. We feel safe in predicting, however, that the trophy-winning quintet will represent the best playing team. This prediction is based on the fact that fast, clean basketball will be required by the official referee, Dick Brown, who has acted as football trainer and is now coach of the Frosh basketball team. The victorious five will most likely be composed of big men, for a small fellow is easily lost in the spacious "cigar box."

The inter-fraternity athletic council has completed the following schedule (subject to necessary change) for the first half of the inter-fraternity basketball league:

Thurs., Jan. 11, 7:30	K. U. Phi vs. Z. O. E.
8:30	A. P. O. vs. P. T. B.
Tues., Jan. 16, 7:30	Lions vs. A. P. O.
8:30	K. U. Phi vs. P. T. B.
Thurs., Jan. 18, 7:30	Z. O. E. vs. A. P. O.
8:30	Lions vs. P. T. B.
Tues., Jan. 23, 7:30	K. U. Phi vs. A. P. O.
8:30	Z. O. E. vs. Lions.
Thurs., Feb. 6, 7:30	Lions vs. K. U. Phi.
8:30	P. T. B. vs. Z. O. E.

High School to Albright College, and I hope in time a university. The ties between them should dovetail."

He also emphasized the fact that baseball, basketball and football men from the Reading High should come to Albright instead of carrying the banners for institutions outside the city.

Following this, the Rev. Dr. J. Warren Klein arose to express his enthusiasm over Mr. Lozo's remarks. The program closed with an ovation to the chorus by Albright students and the singing of the Alma Mater.

After the game on Friday evening, Mary Yohn will serve a luncheon to the following at her home: Elma Kaseman, Carl Schaeffer, Edwin Minnick, Cora Schenkel, and John Springer.

The following members of the faculty spent several days in New York recently: Dr. Klein, Prof. Gode von Aesch and Dr. Gingrich.

On December 27th the Girl Grad Club of Reading held a dance at the Women's Club at which time the following Albrightians were present: Art Erickson, Earl Loder, Peter Foltz, and George and John Deininger.

Mary Yost will entertain several of the freshman girls and members of the Pi Alpha Tau sorority at her home on Wednesday evening.

CAMELOUGE

The camel isn't very bright
In spite of his amazing height,
And so obeys the greater guile
Of creatures he could kick a mile.

He's tall and scraggly, even thin
And can't subsist on wood or tin.
And when the weather's cold you'll note
He snuggles in his camel coat.

He ambles to a mirage lake
And takes a drink of water fake,
Then stores above in a mammoth tank
The water that he lately drank.

It seems the least that we can do
Is give to him a license too;
For when he waddles thru the street,
The people trample on his feet.
P. S. I'd walk a mile for a camel.
