Traveling Student To Visit Campus On December 3, 4

Dean Leeper Wishes To Share Conviction On Foreign Missions

Dean Leeper, a traveling student for the Student Volunteer Movement, will visit our campus December 3 and 4. He has achieved an outstanding academic record and has participated in a wide variety of extra-curricular activities.

In 1941, he received a B. S. degree with high honors from the University of Illinois. Having done his main work in the agricultural sciences, he was elected to Gamma Sigma Delta, Alpha Zeta, and Phi Eta Sigma and was awarded the Illinois scholarship key.

Moreover, he was a member of the University Band and worked on the Illinois Agriculturalist.

While at the University of Illinois, he was a member of the Wesley Foundation Council and the university Y. M. C. A. for two years. In his senior year, he was president of the university Y. M. C. A. He was chaplain of the Alpha Kappa Lambda fraternity. He attended the American Youth Foundation Congress during the summer of 1940, and was at the "Y" school at Blue Ridge, North Carolina.

The genius of the Student Movement lies in the fact that its major work is done by students who have caught the vision of the Christian faith fearlessly, with romance, and yet, with unlooked for wisdom.

A Student Volunteer Movement visitor is a recent graduate from college who has no professional training as yet. He is no authority, but he possesses a conviction about the value of foreign missions, and desires to share this conviction with other students in any way which will be most helpful on the campus.

Dean Leeper will be available for personal talks with individuals and also with groups.

Buy Your Xmas Seals; Help Your Neighbor

Dr. Horn wishes to announce that the school will receive forty dollars worth of Christmas seals from the Berks County Tuberculosis Association. The student council has assumed the responsibility of disposing of them among the student body.

Each student is urged to give liberally toward this humanitarian cause. Your nickel or dime will help your neighbor or perhaps even your fellow roommate.

Ensign Warnagiris Earns Navy Wings

Former Student Guest At Dinner

Ensign Thomas W. Warnagiris, a graduate of Albright College, has recently received his "Navy Wings of Gold," according to a report of the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board. On November 14, 1941 he completed his training at the United States Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Florida. Warnagiris received his initial training at the elimination base in Philadelphia, and reported at Pensacola on April 4, 1941.

While at Albright, Ensign Warnagiris was a member of the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity and was on both the football and baseball teams. He also belonged to the business club.

Last week-end, Warnagiris returned to school for the Bucknell game and joined his fraternity brothers for Sunday dinner in the Albright dining hall.

I. R. C. Delegates To Attend Conference

A paper on "America in an Undeclared War" will be delivered by William Bottonari at the International Relations Club conference being held at Lehigh University today and tomorrow.

Dr. Milton W. Hamilton and Patricia Smith of the I. R. C. are also attending the conference as representatives of Albright.

International Relations Group To Hear D. F. White Speak Dec. 4

'Soviet Army' To Be Topic Of Discussion

"The Soviet Army" will be the topic of a speech to be delivered by D. Fedotoff White at a meeting of the International Relations Club next Thursday December 4, at 8 o'clock, in the chapel.

Mr. White, admiral of the Russian Baltic fleet during the World War, is no stranger to the students of Albright. He has spoken here at previous occasions and everytime has been acclaimed by all as being a most interesting speaker and keen analyst of world affairs.

He has written a book, "Survival," which is an autobiographical account of his experiences during the war and the Russian revolution. Sent to Siberia as a prisoner, Mr. White escaped and made his way to Finland and then to London. He is at present general manager of a large steamship line. Mr. White is now working upon a book dealing with the Red army.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend the lecture. A discussion period will follow the talk.

Shall We Accept Peace Now?

By ART MCKAY

The time for negotiation or mediation in the European conflict with the best chance of success seems to be approaching. If Germany defeats Russia, it is generally predicted that a peace offer will be made. If its terms should approximate those of the Eight-Point "Atlantic Charter" of Winston Churchill or President Roosevelt, the opportunity to end this unparalleled slaughter and destruction should be seized.

There are two significant facts to be seen before discussing the hard questions which a negotiated or mediated peace raises. First, the British Empire is intact, plus accretions in the Middle East and Africa, despite the crushing of every British ally in turn. A nation negotiates more successfully at its peak of power than when it has begun to slip, as Britain may well do if Hitler's armies are transferred to the Middle East and the Mediterranean area.

Second, negotiations with Hitler after a Russian defeat would not be "surrender" as some interventionists say. Of course, on the one side would be the greatest military power in the world, but on the other side, the British Empire backed by the United States would represent by far the greatest naval power in the world coupled with three-fifths of the world's economic power.

It seems to me that the arrangement of affairs in the world today

A Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

A great era of school spirit, in fact the greatest era of the past four years, was recently climaxed by a stirring and colorful pep rally at the band shell in city park. A great deal of work by many individuals was necessary to make this affair a success. The highest authorities of the administration down to the ordinary students like you and I each did his part in this spirited program. However, dear editor, it is not of these that I write you, but of two students on our campus who undertook on their own initiative to launch this school spirit campaign.

"Shorty" Miller and Saul Pokrass, a few weeks ago, launched this school spirit campaign with their much-publicized "N" stunt. They kept this spirit rolling by undertaking to sponsor the most gigantic pep rally that any student on campus has ever had the good fortune in which to participate. The startling success of this venture is now known and appreciated by every school-spirited student. Too many laurels cannot be bestowed upon these two true Albrightians for their fine spirit and efforts.

Sincerely,

A loyal student.

Let Us Give More Than Thanks

We, students, oft-times fail to appreciate the blessing of freedom in education which our American democracy has bestowed upon us. This Thanksgiving of 1941 is an opportune time to consider and to seriously reflect upon this precious right which the youth of America receive as citizens of the first democracy of the world.

The fight for freedom in education has been and will continue to be a great struggle. There is so much to do and so few to do it. The educational world is lacking in sufficient dynamic personalities. The results which have been achieved are simply amazing when one considers the difficulties that had to be overcome and the problems that had to be solved. Patience has always been a marked characteristic of the good teacher.

Man may spend years in building an edifice which nature can destroy in a day. Men may strive for years and even centuries to develop an institution which will bring great and lasting benefits to the human race but fools can destroy their contribution to world civilization in a very short time.

The intellectual giants who first conceived of freedom in education realized that only an enlightened people can create and mold a free nation. For a people to be free, they need free minds—free from ignorance, prejudice, hate, bigotry, and intolerance!

With the barbarians on the march in Europe, the intellectual freedom of the universities is threatened with extinction. Men of genius have found themselves victims of suppression and violence because their only crime was their genius. They wanted their students to think and reason like intelligent human beings rather than human robots. The Nazis have taken every measure to insure the destruction of freedom in education by closing the colleges and universities or hiring professors who are fanatical Nazis, admirers of the ridiculous racial and blood theories of the Swastika state.

Thus, the seats of learning of Europe have been closed or set up as instruments of propaganda for the state. Freedom of discussion has been outlawed. To read, to speak, to write as your mind would dictate is to play with death. The truth must be suppressed.

American colleges and universities are still seats of learning and intellectual freedom engaged in the task of seeking out and discovering the truth whatever the truth may be. If for nothing else, we American students should be thankful for this blessing.

Yes, let us give thanks. But let us also give more than thanks. Let us so live that our institutions of learning shall remain forever free.

—S. Mendelsohn.

STRICTLY PARTIAL

RALPH FLEMING

Hello folks,

Well, this week we at last have the answer to that problem that's been keeping us awake nights (theoretically), namely: What's been happening to those tanks, planes and miscellaneous articles that we've been shipping to Suez?

There was a rumor floating around (originating at the German embassy, of course) that the British were melting our tanks down to make steel corset staves which they promptly sold back to us at a 300% profit. The British drive in Libya, refutes this argument however. (Nasty thing to spread around, wasn't it?)

The drive into Mussolini's backyard brings back memories of last winter when the British were capturing the Italians in astronomical number and the only thing that stood between Il Duce and a perfectly good suicide was a shortage of ammunitions (plus the nerve to do it.) Muss was bad off then and he's not much better off now. He's tied up in an alliance with the Emperor of Japan, a gent of divine origin, and Adolf Hitler, who is on a level with the gods to say the least. (He's not on the level with anybody else, though.) With two partners like these how can the Duce help but be eclipsed? Oh, well. It doesn't matter much anyway. Italy has become so Germanized that his worthy subjects are beginning to call him "Der" Duce.

But if Muss is out of trump his partner is still running high. This week Hitler's boys have thrown another "iron ring" around Leningrad. Poor Leningrad! The joint has so many iron rings around it already that it's beginning to look like a quoit hub. They've circled that place so often that the Leningrad citadel must begin to feel like a maypole.

To get an idea of just how far the Germans have advanced in Russia (according to their own reports) we have but to consider this fact. If the Ger-is greatly to the advantage of Great Britain and particularly when, and she sits down to negotiate with Hitler. Britain will be in a position to advance our interests also. Our buried gold would stabilize the world's currencies. Our market will be by far the most desirable market in the post-war world. If the war ends before we are too exhausted, we shall possess what all of the European nations will need—food and the materials for reconstruction. Under these conditions peace negotiations on the basis of the Eight Points can in no sense be called "appeasement" of Hitler.

Last week we raised some pertinent questions that might be asked by critics of a negotiated peace. Let's consider them briefly now.

Can we trust Hitler's word? No government's word can be trusted at present, if keeping it would be against the nation's interests. That is as true of the U. S. and Great Britain as it is of Germany or Russia. But today all the peoples of the world, including the German people are tired of this war and would, I feel, unquestionably support an honest and sincere settlement on the basis of the Eight Points.

By ANNE ONYMOUS

That day student table in the dining hall must be a riot. Polly Brossman said to Sherman after he had expressed his egotism, "I like me; who do you like?" (Sort of a boomerang, eh, Polly?)

The next day Ralph Miller and Polly discussed Mr. Sherman.

Ralph: The more I look at him, the more I believe in birth control.

Polly: Wh-er-ah-blush.

Jim Spatz will wear himself to toothpick size rolling our new asphalt walks. What some girls wouldn't do to be Jim Spatz!!!

Boy, Mike, if I had a gal like Kay, I'd show her off at football games, too.

"Chuck" Klein certainly stole the show at the Kappa dance with his "La Conga." He and Coccodrilli can jitter, bug too.

Overheard in Miss Shaffer's English class during a discussion on love:

Betty Werley: I think people nowadays love differently than they used to. (How do you know, Bets?)

Our sympathy goes out to the freshman girls. It's unbelievably odd that frosh boys can be that bashful, or maybe they don't like cider.

Who is willing to plow fields for Carl Osenbach?

See Sammy Rothermel to make your German translations more vivid.

The reason you haven't seen the name Rudzinski in this column is because he doesn't want it in, not because we couldn't find anything "interesting" about him.

Faculty

Professor Henry G. Buckwalter will appear before the Potsttown Women's Club to give an illustrated lecture on his recent trip to Mexico. He is going to use 500 still-photos and 400 feet of color films.

Professor Buckwalter will attend an all day session of the Western Hemisphere division of the League of Nations on a discussion of post war organization.

Doesn't Hitler want to dominate the world? Perhaps, just as Secretary Knox does, but insuperable obstacles prevent any government from carrying out such an ambition. The discontent of conquered peoples is one obstacle. The width of the oceans is another. The war weariness of the cannon fodder is a third. The strength of the opposition is a fourth. The universal love of freedom is a fifth.

Would not this peace be a mere armistice preceding another war? That depends on the sincerity and the wisdom of the "have" nations. If we start immediately implementing our peace agreement with international commissions to deal at once with such cancers as economic injustices, oppressive tariffs, crushing armaments burdens and unstable currencies, world cooperation and world organization for peace will be under way.

To be sure there are difficulties ahead but we must face up to the fact that now the nations of the world MUST decide whether it shall be "We or They" or "We and They."

Intra-Frat Cage Loop Opens

The football season is over. For us and eleven other seniors there will remain some pleasant memories and then some times that were not so good—like the Bucknell game. "That's all water over the dam," as Coach Dietz would say. Did you ever have a day when everything you attempted went wrong? You did? Well, that's our explanation of the Bucknell defeat. Eleven fellows (the Albright team) had that kind of day all in one afternoon.

We like to pay tribute to those boys who played their final collegiate football game yesterday afternoon. They might not have been All-Americans but for those of you who have had personal contacts with them know and feel that each and every one had the true Albright spirit. They gave their all.

No matter what the experts say Coach Dietz and Jim Horn will miss such players as Bob Baum, Sam Coccodrilli, Stan Kuklis, Steve Plaskonos, Jimmy Breen, and Frank Bertino next year. There's a lot of high class football material in that list in our opinion. And for those lads like Tom Lubin, Paul Michaels, Chuck Klein, Burd Miller, and Mike Dutzer who all saw reserve duty we wish them the best of luck.

Here's our selection of an All-Opponent team. In justice to the Millersville club, we were unable to give them consideration because of our early date with the printers.

The choices were made on the basis on the players outstanding performance against Albright. However, not in the case of McMonigle, left end of Moravian who was rated a great pass receiver by every one who saw him play. Albright was warned about the Greyhound star and had three men working on him (ask Demidovich, Coccodrilli and Harpster about that) so that he didn't catch one pass all afternoon. We placed him on our first team because if he would have ever got loose—well.

Here it is:

- L. E.—McMonigle, Moravian.
- L. T.—Watkins, P.M.C.
- L. G.—Daher, F. & M.
- C.—Holets, Carnegie Tech.
- R. G.—Petro, Muhlenberg.
- R. T.—Stefanik, Moravian.
- R. E.—Wisneski, West Chester.
- Q. B.—Glenn, P.M.C.
- L. H.—Cantini, Carnegie Tech.
- R. H.—Ventresca, Leb. Valley.
- F. B.—Podd, Bucknell.

Sehl, Leinbach, Horn Battling For Important Center Berth

Harris Will Welcome Spangler, Miller, Urosevich Next Week

With the opening of the 1941-42 Albright basketball season one week away, Coach Neal O. Harris is faced with the problem of finding a center for his starting five.

Bill Spangler, Burd Miller, and George Urosevich one of whom Harris is depending to fill the tap off spot left vacant by the graduation of Bill McKinney have just completed a tough grid season and will not be in the kind of shape necessary for the cage sport for several weeks. They will report next week.

At present, Sam Sehl, Paul Leinbach, and George Horn are battling for the starting pivot assignment. Sehl, rangy senior cager from Fleetwood, appears to have the inside track. Leinbach, a six feet five inch performer from Mt. Penn, has been too inconsistent in the scrimmages to date. However, Leinbach is a valuable hoopster to have around with his great stature.

Horn is a natural guard and Harris hopes to use ex-Brooklyn Boys High at that position as soon as possible.

Holdovers, Chiny Rhoads and the sharpshooting Dick Shollenberger will likely retain their first string forward berths. Shollenberger, last year as a sophomore, led the Eastern Penn Collegiate League in scoring. Raymer Kent and George Manderbach are the other front court aspirants.

At guard, the veteran Jim Kane is receiving a merry battle for a starting post from sophomore Dewey Boltz, Co-captain of last year's Frosh club. Both are rated as deadly long shot artists and fine defensive performers. Ken Hopkins will handle the other guard station. Hopkins was chosen on the first All-League team last season.

Harris has been drilling the freshmen in an attempt to build a smooth working five. So far, Walt Hauser, Dick Stark, Jimmy Bunn, Russ Guensch, Tom McDonough, and Johnny Patricia have been impressive. Big Bill Dearden and Les Pushman, Frosh footballers, are slated to report on Monday.

Millersville Game Omitted From Paper

Due to the fact that the printers have a Thanksgiving holiday and also the fact that the Millersville football game comes on a Thursday, we have been forced to omit the story of the game entirely.

Frat Football Ends As APO's Grab Win

Daymen, Frosh Tie For Second

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Kappas	5	0	0	10
Day Students	3	2	0	6
Frosh	3	2	0	6
A. P. O.	2	2	1	5
Z. O. E.	0	3	2	2
P. T. B.	0	4	1	1

With the A. P. O.'s blanking the Day Students 6-0 last Tuesday afternoon the curtain came down on another intramural touch football race.

The race for first place was dominated all the way by the Kappas, but second place was a wide open affair between the Frosh, Day Students and A. P. O. The race was decided Tuesday when the inspired A. P. O.'s defeated the Day Students 6-0 and tossed them into a second place tie with the Frosh.

In fourth place are the A. P. O.'s, the most improved team of the second half, while in fifth place are the Zetas, the second half's biggest disappointment. At the bottom of the pile, we find the Pi Taus hanging on to the spot made so famous by the Phillies.

Girl Basketeers Take Referee Exam

Inactive Tennisers Automatically Dropped

On Monday evening from 6 to 10 o'clock, the practical side of the girl's national basketball refereeing exam was given at the 13th and Union gym. Six basketball teams made up of Albright girls furnished the necessary action for the potential referees. The members of last year's varsity team acted as captains of the various teams. The turnout showed that interest among the girls is keeping this year than it was last year at the same time. Eleanor Pegg, "Worm" Leinbach, and Mary Votzeiger are some of the frosh who will be pushing last year's players for varsity position.

Basketball preliminaries have been started in the gym classes and varsity practices will begin next week. The girls are scheduled to use the gym on Tuesday afternoons and Friday evenings. The manager, Ellen Witmoyer, and the leader, Esther Whitehead, have been contacting nearby colleges and they expect to complete a schedule of approximately ten games. Those colleges with whom Albright will definitely have games are Ursinus, which has one of the best basketball teams in this section, Lebanon Valley, and Moravian.

Alpha Pi Omegas Defend Court Crown In Opener With PTB

Zeta Team To Figure In Close Race

With the blast of the referee's whistle, the 1941-42 intramural basketball league will swing into action Monday night when the Frosh and Day Students tangle at Northeast Junior High School at 6:45.

The A. P. O.'s will start defending their title against the Pi Taus, who shouldn't give the champs any trouble. The Zetas, runnersup in last year's campaign loom as pre-season candidates to give the A. P. O.'s a close race.

The strength of the Frosh is not known, but this column puts them up among the leaders. Also figuring in pre-season dope are the Kappas who will be paced by Tony Stish and Nick Schneider.

Down at the bottom should be the Day Students and Pi Taus, but we might be surprised.

The athletic council announced that all Monday games will be played at the Northeast Junior High School gymnasium, while all other games will be played in the gym at 13th and Union streets.

June Strawbridge, manager of table tennis, has announced that all girls who have not played at least 2 games on the ladder before December 6 will automatically be dropped. This is done to speed up the games and to give the girls most interested a greater chance to reach the top. At the present time, Louise Auchenbach heads the ladder and close at her heels are Jeanie Belmont, Olga Bitler, Jeanie Bomgardner, and Dorothy Furno.

Men and Women in White

School year after school year rolls around in orderly fashion, and year after year an orderly procedure is maintained in the various science laboratories. This procedure is due in no small part to a group of efficient white-coated laboratory assistants who buzz around answering questions, directing laboratory procedure, filling reagent bottles, and generally maintaining an academic air among their flock.

This week we wish to salute these talented men and women who by their high academic standards have earned these positions and who in turn now pass on to the underclassmen the procedures they have mastered.

In the physics department we salute Donald Buxton and Mervin Runner.

Our compliments go out to the biology department for its capable staff of assistants among whose ranks we find Ellen Witmoyer, assistant in zoology, Ray Hain, assistant in comparative anatomy, Dick Reinsel, assistant in physiology, and Marie Kauffman, Winfield Morgan, Elaine Shade and Lewis Pearce, assistants in general biology.

Our compliments now journey upstairs to the chemistry department—and to Ferril Miller, Ralph Frymoyer, Bob Bull, Jim Kane, assistants in general chemistry. We further extend our compliments to Nick Schneider—assistant in qualitative analysis and Leon Steckley, assistant in general organic chemistry.

This column firmly believes that the high standards already achieved by this group of students will act as a stimulus for further effort on the part of those students now
