IRC Receives Books On World Affairs

To Be Reviewed At Next Meeting

The International Relations Club has received from the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace a number of interesting and authoritative books on world affairs. Among these are a group of three on Canada written by Canadians, "Canada and the United States" by F. R. Scott, "Canada and the Far East, 1940" by A. R. M. Lower, and "Canada in Peace and War," edited by Chester Martin. There is another book by Clarence K. Streit, famous for his "Union Now," "Union Now With Britain," advocating a plan of union adapted to the change of world conditions that made his first union impracticable.

Of vital interest in the present crisis is the book of William C. Johnstone Jr., "The United States and Japan's New Order," which deals with the rights and interests of the U. S. in respect to the conflict in China and discusses the possibilities of a constructive Far Eastern policy. There is "Against This Torrent," Edward Mead Earle's unofficial answer to Anne Lindbergh's "The Wave of the Future," a current best-seller.

His publishers call his book "a source book for Americanism." J. B. Condliffe's "The Reconstruction of World Trade" presents the economic and political issues which must be faced if there is to be effective reconstruction after the war. Percy W. Bidwell includes the controversial question of joint action of the Americas in the "Economic Defense of Latin America." The last of the books is an interesting informal study, "Australia and the United States" by Fred Alexander, who has recently returned to Australia after spending eleven months in the United States.

Students desiring to read these books which are now in the I. R. C. Library should see Dr. Hamilton, the faculty advisor.

At the next regular meeting of the I. R. C., the new books will be reviewed by members of the club.

Personal Thanks

To the Freshman Class:

I want to express my appreciation for the honor and privilege you have given me in choosing me as your head for the coming year. I think that we should strive from the very beginning to make our class not just another Freshman class, but rather, a distinctive one. We can achieve this by one means, and one alone—full cooperation at all times. I sincerely hope that we may have 100 per cent attendance at our class meetings, and whole-hearted interest in elections and class activities. Let us work together! Your officers, we promise, will give you their best. We know we shall have your cooperation. Let us be able to say a few years from now, "The class of '45 made a great contribution to Albright College."

Here's to a successful year,

MARSHALL SPAAN.

548 Defense Students Enrolled In Penn State Extension Courses

Cook, Buckwalter, Speicher, George, Danford On Staff

The tuition-free defense training school, sponsored by the Penn State College extension service, got underway October 13 with the enrollment of eighty-eight students. At the present date 548 students are enrolled, with ages ranging from 18 to 70. This fifteen week course is designed to relieve a shortage of technical workers in defense industries.

Of the sixteen courses offered to the students, the foundation engineering courses seem the most popular, said Dr. Milton G. Geil, administrative head of the extension school. The forty girls who have matriculated have shown the greatest interest in office management and chemistry courses. The courses, taught by the eighteen qualified teachers from the surrounding schools and colleges, meet Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday from 7 to 10.30 p.m. Each class meets twice a week for two and a half hours.

Dr. Graham Cook is the chemistry supervisor for the district and Professor Oliver George is the physics head. Professors Paul Speicher, Newton Danford, and Henry Buckwalter are also members of the teaching staff. Dr. Milton Geil and his secretary, Myrtle Stegman, have their headquarters in room 114 in the science hall.

After the 15-weeks courses, which have been approved by the United States Office of Education, have been completed, registration for the second semester will begin.

Pi Gamma Mu Listens To Esther Gringrich

The Pi Gamma Mu enjoyed a very interesting talk at its meeting on Wednesday at 4.30 p.m.

The speaker, Esther Gringrich, presented a talk on the American Youth Hostel Movement. She explained its inception and purpose.

Miss Gringrich tells us that this American Youth movement was planned to embrace with trails the surviving landmarks of early colonial settlements and Indian pueblo villages. One of the main ideas was to give access to the scenic wonderlands of our great country.

In a war-weary world to go down these hostel trails reveals what a real democracy looks like from the inside.

Staff Meeting Today; Frash Urged To Come

The Albrightian staff will meet this noon at 1.00 p.m. in room 104 in the administration building. This is the regular time of meeting.

The editor requests the attendance of all staff members who can possibly be there.

A call is also sent out to the freshmen. They are to be reminded that the future editors and associates will be chosen from the active members of the present staff.

Professional Barkers To Sell At Stunt Nite
Whoops! You turned upside down to find out that the annual "Y" stunt night is Tuesday, November 25. Eleven his acts of vaudeville! Curtain rises at 7:30 p. m. Park your chewing gum at the door as refreshments will be sold by Professional salesmen!

Chamber Music Trio To Start 7th Season

Program Contains Varied Selections

The Reading Chamber Music Trio commences its seventh season of fine musical presentations on Monday evening, November 17, at 8:15 p. m. This trio consisting of Hans Nix, violinist; Chester Wittell, pianist; and Walter Schmidt, cellist, will present their first concert of the current season in the college chapel. The program consists of Haydn's Trio No. 10, D Major; Beethoven's Trio Op. 1, No. 3, C Minor; and Tchaikowsky's Trio Op. 50, A Minor.

The second concert of this seventh season will be presented Monday, February 2, 1942, with trios by Parker, Chausson, and Dvorak.

This is the fourth highlight of the college cultural program.

ABC To Be Hosts To OPM Secretary

On Wednesday evening, November 19, at 8 p. m., the Albright Business Club will present as its guest speaker, Mr. E. Lawrence Chalmers, Secretary of the OPM in the Berks County District. He will speak on the subject of "Priority Allocations."

All ABC members are requested to attend and visitors are cordially invited. Following Mr. Chalmers' talk, which will be held in the Y Rooms, refreshments will be served.

Armistice Day! What For?

By ART McKAY

One wonders on Armistice Day, 1941, whether there is anything to commend continued observance of so incongruous a commemoration. When one recalls that this is the day set aside as the anniversary of cessation of hostilities in the "war to end all wars," it is not difficult to speak in ironic vein of the celebration.

There were many talks throughout the United States this past week, extolling the virtues of those who gave their lives in that great conflict to make the world safe for democracy. Praises were sung and flung abroad of the courage and fervor with which the finest men of the last generation sacrificed for their convictions.

Council Of Defense Organizes Group At First Meeting

Student Council Praxy Becomes Member Automatically

The Albright College Council of Defense composed of seven faculty members and seven students held its first meeting Monday, November 10, 1941. The entire time was spent in organizing the group into an efficient council. Upon the suggestion of President Harry Masters, it was decided that the president of Student Council should automatically upon election be president of the defense council. This was to insure a direct connection with both the student body and the faculty.

Ray Hain and Mrs. Anna Smith were elected co-chairmen. Jane Spotts was elected secretary. The need for several committees was evident so a Committee on Committees consisting of the newly elected officers was appointed. These persons will nominate students from the general student body, for service with the council. Everyone's cooperation is solicited and will be appreciated.

"Y's" To Solicit For Student Service

The combined "Y's" will sponsor their annual campaign for the World Student Service Fund next Monday, November 17. The purpose of this drive is to provide funds for the relief of the refugee students in Europe and the Far East.

Two "Y"-planned chapel services on Monday and Tuesday will officially open the campaign.

This year there is a special table in the college library for the "Y" books. Students may take these books out of the library by signing for them at the desk.

Kappas Winter Dance To Be Held Nov. 22

The annual winter dance of the Kappa Upsilon Phi fraternity will be held on Saturday, November 22, at the Hotel Berkshire ballroom. Music will be furnished by Jack Kenney and the Royal Mandrillers.

My own Dad went to France and saw real action. He went, like many of the young men of his age, because he believed that the threat which the aggressive powers were making against our own type of government and idealism was dangerous enough to call forth our greatest efforts to defeat it.

But my Dad came back, convinced, I think, that there is something essentially false about reasoning that by force and bloodshed one can safeguard the values of democracy. He had seen the dirt and degradation that accompanied the fight, eventually shoving the idealism into the background.

To see men's bodies blown apart, to sense the vast destruction of potential service as the best men are slain, to

ITALIAN BLACKOUT

Vesuvius Lights the Way

The rolling lava from Mt. Vesuvius does not threaten Naples today but the light of its fire guides the British bombers on their deadly missions of destruction. By bombing the key centers of Italy, the British are hindering the war effort of the Italians on behalf of their Nazi overlords and demonstrating to the apathetic Italian people that the British are not done yet. A nation is only invincible until that nation is beaten.

Armistice Day 1918 saw Italy a victorious nation with colonies. 1941 sees Italy a colony of victorious Germany. The nation which Italy helped to defeat 23 years ago has come back to collect for the damages inflicted and to gratify its revenge. We can see in Italy the tragic plight of a people, who having sold their birthright for a mess of pottage, witness the purchaser trade their country for a 20 year endowment policy with the hope that the insurance agent—Hitler and Co.—will not declare itself insolvent in the interim.

The position of the Italian people today is one of utter despair and hopelessness. All that they won with the last Armistice they have lost. All that they cherish has been obliterated. Twenty-three years has been sufficient time to prove to the Italian people that the road to dictatorship is the road to war and ruin. If Mt. Vesuvius could speak, it would surely have warned them for it knows only too well "the power and the grandeur that was once Rome's."

—Seymour Mendelsohn.

A Letter To The Students

TO THE STUDENTS OF THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA

Dear Fellow Students:

Accept our profound gratitude for the material aid which you are giving us and for your genuine sympathy in the cause for which we are fighting. We shall never forget that you have come to our assistance when we needed you most.

Ours is the happy lot to be fighting for the nation where democracy emerged. We are glad for the privilege to make the supreme sacrifice for our Christian faith and national freedom. Our religious and democratic heritage will be defended to the last

STRICTLY PARTIAL

RALPH FLEMING

Hello, folks.

This week we have as a pleasant surprise (and besides I couldn't dig up anything better) a letter from our old friend and colleague, that fugitive from a gold fish lottery bowl, Jasper Snodgrass. Jasper is still a private, I'm sorry to say and his two years at Snerdville Prep didn't do him much good as far as promotions go. (The sergeant only got out of 10th grade and doesn't like the idea of having any one go past him).

Dear R. F. (note the business-like approach)

Guess what! I'm in the guard house again. Last week when I was on K. P. duty the colonel came past and saw me carrying a large kettle.

"Here you, K. P.," he bel-lows. "Let me taste that!"

What could I do but let him taste it? After all the guy is a colonel. He takes one slurp and then goes up like the Hindenburg.

"You stupid fool!" he roars. "Do you call that soup?"

"No, sir," I says, respectfully. "That's just some dish water I'm carrying out."

So, as I said before, I'm in the guard house. But I'm not alone. Not by a long shot. I've got plenty of company. Take Tony here for instance. Tony walked past a hotel two weeks ago, mistook a general for a doorman, and asked him to call a cab for him. That didn't go over with the big boy at all so he called a guard wagon and poor Tony was inducted into the potato peeling squad.

Then too, there's Horace. Interesting fellow, Horace. I never used to believe him when he said he took up French, Spanish, German, and Chinese in one summer. Just last week I found out that he was an elevator boy at the World's Fair. Horace broke up a dress parade by forgetting to remove a hand grenade from his hand before saluting. This annoyed the sergeant no end. Hence Horace's present position.

Last but not least, there's Boswell, our semi-famous string bugler. Boswell had a peculiar dream two nights ago. He dreamed that he was a fly who had fallen into a glass of the major's best wine. The effects of this vision were so potent that when dawn came, he crawled out of his tent and promptly began to give up a special arrangement of reveille and "Show Me the Way to Go Home."

student. For us, as it was for our ancestors, there is but one choice—liberty or death.

We do not know how much more destruction these scientific barbarians will bring on our land and on the rest of Europe before they are whipped but we are certain that their doom is near. After they are defeated, victors and vanquished must work together for lasting peace and world brotherhood.

We wish it were possible to convey in person our deep appreciation for your kindness and be assured that we shall remain indebted to you for ever.

Faithfully yours,

THE STUDENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ATHENS,

By (For fear of reprisals, The American Hellenic Student Committee deems it wise to omit the names of the signers of this letter.)

By ANNE ONYMOUS

Those frosh football men certainly trust that Plowfield lass. Imagine—two of the brutes left her standing in front of the Ad building holding their ice cream cones!!

This column picks "Lone Star" Dietz as Chief Sitting Bull of the W. A. A. dance.

Will Lady Scarface run for Minnehaba?

Thank goodness the basketball season started. Now Chin has an excuse for that sprained ankle and a tutor in psych.

Bill Spangler had his Junior Bible down "Pat." See Smith for tutoring.

Who is "Kitten" Geib keeping a bachelor these days?

Ask Roy Sharman what it's like to have prospective-in-law-blues.

Hey, Win, why didn't that brother come to Albright?

If you want to know why Sally wasn't cheering for Albright on Saturday, it was because she found Gettysburg and the Navy-Notre Dame game more inviting.

Jim Breen is majoring in Swedish these days.

Miss Jean Bomgardner wishes to say "It ain't so," referring to that announcement made at the Mu dinner.

Jacob Wagner is available for chess games nowadays. He's a good loser, we hear.

Picture of week:

Olga carrying Shirley about campus with a football game going on in the stadium.

Glad to see Helene back for the Zeta dance.

See you at the Skunka-Kan E Unka.

This even brought the general out of bed, a feat which in itself is an accomplishment, considering the fact that on past occasions only an air raid siren could make that old buck crawl out of the hay.

Well, here come the M. P.'s again. They've got that eccentric chap with them this time. It's Marcus. That fool! He's probably been spraying his tent with Plit to keep the tent caterpillars away. I told him to watch his step. Oh, well, there's always room for one more.

Yours,

PVT. SNODGRASS.

20 Court Games Scheduled

By winning the next two games with Bucknell and Millersville, Albright's football team can establish the second best record Coach Lone Star Dietz's elevens have made in the five years the Indian mentor has served at Albright. Two victories would give the Red and White grid machine a record of seven wins and three losses. The best team Albright ever had was in 1937 with an undefeated season. A weak Ursinus team caught that great club napping to hold the Lions to a scoreless deadlock for the only blemish on the record.

So you can easily see, Dietz and his charges are mighty eager to upset the mighty Bisons and a strong Millersville aggregation in the next two weeks.

With the close of the grid season, basketball will soon be assuming the sports spotlight. From pre-season indications (although we never believe in them), Albright should have a great cage outfit. Bill McKinney, Paul Petrucka, and Leonard Sheffer are the only players missing from last year's five that led all Pennsylvania college teams in scoring.

Coach Neal Harris in starting his fourth term as mentor of the Red and White court forces will be making a serious bid for the Eastern Penn crown. This is no easy task. The loop has the distinction of being one of the strongest collegiate circuits in the country.

Franklin and Marshall's mighty team of last season is gone with four regular performers having graduated. Coach Shober Barr will be in the reconstruction business this year. Gettysburg appears to be the club to watch. The Bullets always a power in the league, didn't fare so well last time but with a horde of good performers up from an undefeated freshmen crew, the Battlefields will be one of the threats along with our Lions. Bucknell should also be a serious contender for the crown.

Frosh Grid Team To Meet F. & M. Today

Both Aggregations Seek Third Win

Riding on the crest of a two-game winning streak, the Albright frosh will invade Franklin & Marshall this afternoon in quest of their third straight triumph.

The F. and M. yearlings will also be seeking their third consecutive win, having defeated Mercersburg Academy 20-0 and Gettysburg frosh 6-0.

Women Hockeyites To Play L. V. Today

Swimming Class Practices Ballet

This afternoon at 3:30 the Albright field hockey team will entertain the Lebanon Valley team. Rivalry has been very keen between these two schools, the two teams sharing evenly in the victories. Coach Mosser is well pleased with the condition of her team in the recent practices and predicts an interesting game. The Lebanon Valley girls will be guests of the college at the dinner in the evening and they will be entertained at the Skunka-Kan E Unka dance.

The swimming classes have been progressing quite well. Of the 24 girls who entered the plunges, only five are beginners, the others being advanced swimmers. The girls are practicing their strokes and diving and if the interest is maintained, they will probably compete in meets with nearby schools. The girls are also working on water ballets and formation swimming. Thus far, the most difficult feat performed has been a raft formation. The star of the outfit was Bom Bongardner, who insisted upon doing a submarine act. Scoop Hopkins, Bert Blauch, and Millie Rebsamen will probably form the nucleus for the swimming team.

W. A. A. Sponsors Skunka-Kan E Unka

Hiawatha, Minnehaha To Be Chosen

The social event of the week will be held tonight in the dining hall when the Skunka-Kan E Unka will take place. The dance will be sponsored by the W. A. A. and will be built about an Indian theme. "Lone Star" Dietz suggested the name for the dance which he interpreted as being "the Dance of the Wolves." The young braves of the football team will be conspicuous by their presence.

Joanie "Little Foot" Belmont is the general chairman of the dance. The chaperones are Mr. and Mrs. Neal O. Harris of the "Bow Tie" tribe, Dr. Milton Geil of the "Readum-your-mind-for-10c" tribe, and Mrs. Eva Mosser of the tribe of the "Gym-Gyms."

The highlight of the dance will be the choosing of a Hiawatha and Minnehaha, who will guide the various tribes through the Rain-dance and other famous Indian dances.

The price of admission is ten strings of buffalo teeth or 15c in cold cash.—K. G.

Coach Harris will probably start the same team that whitewashed the Neversink Collegians 26-0 and the Gablesville Owls 3-0.

Varsity To Meet Eastern Penn Teams In 12 Loop Tilts

L. I. U., Villanova, University of Wyoming Outstanding Teams

With a week of light drills under their belts, Albright's varsity and freshmen basketball squads will start bearing down the next few weeks for the opening game of the 1941-42 cage season with Moravian. The first contest of the 20 game schedule will be played at Northwest Junior High on Saturday, December 6.

The Lion varsity will attempt to gain the Eastern Penn Collegiate League crown with eight lettermen returning from last year's five that finished in a tie for second place. The first loop fray is with Bucknell at home on December 13.

Local fans will have an opportunity to see three of the top quintets in the nation when Long Island University, Villanova and the University of Wyoming invade the Northwest court. It will be the first time any Albright team has entertained at home in one season three such outstanding attractions. Villanova's crack club appeared here last winter with the Red and White passers giving the Wildcats a terrific struggle before bowing by a close margin.

Twelve of the 20 games will be Eastern Penn loop engagements. Bucknell, Franklin and Marshall, last year's undefeated champions, Lebanon Valley, Muhlenberg, Gettysburg, Ursinus, and Albright comprise the seven team circuit.

The Lion cubs will not participate in any league but will play their contests with several of the freshmen clubs of the schools in the E. P. C. L., junior college and independent teams.

Kappa Touch Team Wins Seven Straight

Zetas, Kappas Tie As First Half Ends

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Kappas	2	0	0	4
A. P. O.	1	1	1	3
Frosh	1	0	0	2
Zetas	0	2	1	1

The mighty Kappa touch football team continues to dominate the top bracket as the league swings into the second half of play.

By defeating the Zetas 26-6, and the surprisingly good A. P. O. team 12-0, the Kappas ran their consecutive number of "games won" to seven. They have scored 168 points to their opponents' 12 in these seven games.

The end of the first half found the Zetas and Kappas tied for first place with four wins and one tie each. In third place were the frosh; fourth, day students; fifth, Pi Taus; sixth, A. P. O.'s.

Faculty

Addressing the Hungry Club at their noon meeting on October 31, Professor Henry Buckwalter discussed "Trade Possibilities in Mexico." His material was the result of a 3,000 mile automobile trip this summer to Mexico.

While in Mexico, Professor Buckwalter worked under Hubert Herring on an inter-American Seminar. He was also appointed to the committee of Lecturers and Discussion leaders which included many important educators in the field of Western Hemisphere Relations.

He also addressed the Scranton, Pa., Kiwanis Club at its meeting on Wednesday. He spoke about present social and political war conditions and illustrated his talk with 800 feet of Kodachrome movies taken on his last visit to Russia.

Dr. F. Wilbur Gingrich will represent the Chicago University School of Divinity at Dr. J. Arthur Heck's inauguration Tuesday, November 25.

Dr. John B. Douds spoke to a forum of Reading High School students Wednesday, November 12, at 10:15 on "Journalism as a Vocation."

He was also a panel speaker at the annual meeting of the Association of Liberal Arts Colleges of Pennsylvania for the advancement of teaching on Friday, November 7, in the assembly room of the Penn-Harris Hotel in Harrisburg.

Professor Lewis Smith recently addressed the Reading Lions Club on the subject of "Economic Democracy."

Dr. Morris Greth addressed the Reading Ministerial Association at its last meeting in the Reading Y. M. C. A. His topic was "Religious Education in Reading."

Dr. Harry V. Masters was the Armistice Day speaker at the City Park band shell Tuesday, November 8, at 8 p. m.

He was also one of three speakers in a symposium on "Education in Religion" at the meeting of the Berks County Sabbath Association at Shoemakersville Wednesday, November 9.

IRC Club Members In Radio Discussion

Arguments for an against the sending of an American expeditionary force outside the Western Hemisphere to combat the Axis powers were broadcast on Wednesday by three members of the International Relations Club.

Taking part in the informal radio discussion were Verna Fye and Seymour Mendelsohn. The former opposed an A. E. F. Dr. Milton W. Hamilton, sponsor of the I. R. C., acted as chairman and moderator.

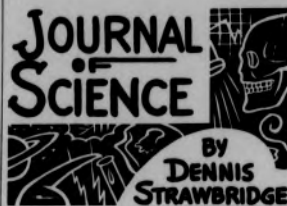

The program was sponsored by the Berks County Federation of Women's Clubs in celebration of Armistice Day.

Journal of Success

This week the Journal of Science bows in favor of a far more academic and intellectual journal, the Journal of the American Chemical Society. Great men throughout the past have sought to publish their findings in this learned journal. To have one's thesis published in this journal is a mark of distinction in the chemical field. The September issue of this journal carried a paper on "The Kinetics of the Photochemical Formation of Phosgene" by Drs. Paul M. Fye and J. J. Beaver. Dr. Fye is an alumnus of Albright and a member of the class of "35." There is a very dignified senior girl on campus that we think is very lucky to have an intellectually capable brother. That dignified senior is Verna Fye. Hypertrophic cerebral development must run in their family.

Today, Dick—Tomorrow, Doc

Some people say, "the early bird gets the worm;" others say, "if you have enough push you need no pull;" and still others say, "today is ours . . . tomorrow belongs to the gods." I think all these apply to Dick Reinsel, for today he has planned his career most efficiently. The medical school of Temple University has already announced his acceptance for next year. This column wishes much success to the president of the Skull and Bones Society in his future work at medical school. If the gods plan his future as carefully as Dick has taken care of his present, it won't be long before he will have the pleasure of making incoming freshmen say "Ah," as he rams a depressor down their throats.

Armistice Day

grasp the futility of doing any more than sowing the seeds of hatred and mistrust by war—all these exert their force in bringing a man to believe that there MUST be a better way.

I believe that Armistice Day ought to be the occasion for repentance and prayer. We should repent for the fact that this year finds us on the brink of participation in a second World War, repentance for the way in which we have violated the charge the men who gave their lives last time entrusted to us, repentance because now again we are gearing our whole economy and directing all our resources toward destructive and wasteful expenditure of property and human life.

We ought to be praying for the coming of peace. As the greatest nation in the world we CAN exercise a good amount of control over the length of time this war shall last, as well as over the sort of peace which shall follow it.

Can we resolve that we shall accept the truth that alone makes Armistice Day worthwhile? There can never be a war to save democracy—there must be a PEACE that will permit it to flourish!

Pi Taus Tap Starr At Nov. 3 Meeting

Robert L. Starr of Selinsgrove, Pa., was formally inducted as a member of the Pi Tau Beta fraternity in a formal meeting on November 3.

Bob, who is a senior business administration student, has been very active in extracurricular activities and was a member of last year's tennis squad.
