Annual Event To Be Staged In Colorful Fashion At Five P. M. On Mohn Hall Campus

THEME IS "MOTHER GOOSE"

Susanna Heinze To Reign As Queen Over Gala Celebration—Preparations All Made

Attention Alumni, Faculty, Friends and Students! Lest we forget! May Day will be held May 19th, at 5 P. M. on the south campus. The final preparations have been made. Everything is ready for our colorful gala event. The stage is set, the characters prepared. All we need is the audience and the striking of the clock to start the fete into action.

Mother Goose, in her usual manner is ready to sweep with her brand new broom the famous Mother Goose characters on the stage in a pantomime attraction for the pleasure of the May Queen, Miss Susanna Heinze. The dancers in their gay costumes will then take the stage and close the program with the customary May Pole Dance.

As usual, the Y. W. C. A. will have a booth on the campus where candy, ice cream, cake and pop may be bought. We hope that our patrons will remember this booth.

Following the May Day fete, on Saturday, the Boys Glee Club will render a concert in the chapel at 8 P. M. We invite all those who attend May Day to stay and hear this concert.

Don't forget the date—May 19th, the time—5 P. M., the place—Albright College campus. Come and join with us in this gala celebration.

LEON HOOD '28 SECOND IN PEACE ORATORICAL CONTEST

Winner Of Local Contest Judged Second Best In Meet With Representatives From Other Schools of State

"CIVILIZATION" HIS SUBJECT

Last Saturday evening Leon C. Hood, '28, represented Albright College in the State Peace Oratorical Contest at Swarthmore College. Hood succeeded in winning second place in the contest, while Miss Virginia Hearne, of Temple University copped the first prize. She will represent Pennsylvania in the final Peace Contest to be held in Washington some time in the near future.

Miss Hearne, who played such an important part in winning the debate held here some time ago between the Temple and Albright girls teams, did not seem to be at her best. However, she had very good delivery, an attractive voice and personality, which did much to convince the judges in her favor.

Hood's oration was considered by some of those who were present to have been the best all around presentation in the contest. His subject material was good and his delivery excellent.

Lewis of Geneva gave a fair oration, showing at times excellent subject material and delivery.

The oration delivered by Trimble, Swarthmore's representative, was the most scholarly speech he went to the very depths of economics, sociology, and philosophy to illustrate the reasons of war. Then he traced the development of merchantism and nationalism, showing how they promoted the war fever. He had a very pleasing voice and delivery. He would have won it easily if he had

NOVEL INSTALLATION OF NEW 'Y' OFFICERS

Early Service Beneath Trees of Campus Makes Event One Of Unusual Dignity And Solemnity

Last Friday a number of the boys rose at an early hour to attend the installation of the officers of the Y. M. C. A. for the coming year. The meeting opened at six o'clock beneath the beautiful spruce tree on the boys' campus. A song was sung and a prayer offered, after which the outgoing president, Glenn Morris pointed out extensive opportunities for real Christian work on the campus. The new president, Carl Gunther, gave an interesting talk. He commended "Red" for the work that he had done on the campus in relation to the Y. M. C. A. He also stated that the spiritual and mental sides of life have already been well stressed by the Y. M. C. A. and it now remains to stress the social side. We should mix more with those who are not interested in the higher things in life and try to get them to see things in their true perspective. Life is a great game and we should try to play it fairly and squarely. He stated that his platform for the coming year will be, "Make Christ All." He ended his speech with a plea for the co-operation of every fellow.

Prof. Zener followed with some very pleasing remarks, after which the officers were installed and the meeting closed with prayer.

RED AND WHITE SINGS FINAL CONCERTS

The Quartet gave an excellent concert in Wrightsville, at the Imperial Theatre, last Friday night. The concert was sponsored by the B-Natural Music Club of that city. Miss Mary Shultz, an Albright graduate class of '26, head of the Music Club delightfully entertained the members of the quartet at her home that evening. The quartet sang at two performances in the Lion Theatre at Red Lion, on Saturday. They then returned to Wrightsville and sang a concert in the Evangelical Church on Mother's Day.

MARK JUNE 5TH ON THE CALENDAR

A MESSAGE FROM YOUR LEADER

Fellow-alumni—
The time is almost here for our annual reunion, its sport, its fellowship, its business meeting, and its lunction. The general program for Albright's "Commencement Week" will come to you through other channels. I am particularly concerned that we have a large group of alumni present on Tuesday, June 5th, "Alumni Day."

May I urge every graduate and former student of Albright, who can possibly spare the day, to return for our great annual gathering. So much depends upon the faithfulness, loyalty, and enthusiasm of alumni right at this time, that I am seriously desirous of having the biggest annual meeting that we have ever had.

In these days of transition toward Albright's new and larger program, who we love the institution that has helped to make us what we are can not afford to be indifferent to her present needs or to her continued prosperity.

I anticipate that some very important business will come before us for consideration and action. We want you there to help inaugurate a forward-looking program for our association.

I am not yet able to give definite information concerning "sport prospects", but I feel that if we come in great force we can easily find stirring entertainment for ourselves among ourselves on the diamond or campus.

Let the five-year classes plan special "doings." We will give you special recognition at the banquet also.

"Everybody out!" is the old cry. We are issuing the call now to you. Rally to the alumni standard, and

SENIORS POSTPONE PLAY TILL MAY 30

Due to conflicting arrangements and lack of sufficient time for preparation and rehearsals, the Senior Class has postponed their play, "Adam and Eva", until a later date. As yet a definite date has not been announced, but the play will probably be given on or about May 30th.

DR. SOTTERY HEAD OF CHEM. DEPT. RESIGNS

Accepts Assistantship At St. Stephens College—To Teach Organic And Physical Chem.

Dr. Sottery, Professor of Chemistry at Albright College presented his resignation a few weeks ago, and has accepted the position as Assistant Professor of Chemistry at St. Stephens College at Annadale-on-the-Hudson, N. Y. He will teach organic chemistry and physical chemistry. St. Stephens, after July 1, will be incorporated under Columbia University. Pres. Butler, of Columbia University will become President of St. Stephens. The members of the teaching staff will assume the ratings of Columbia University professors. St. Stephens limits its student body to 250 with a faculty of 30.

Dr. Sottery has been doing excellent work for the last three years. During his stay the Chemistry laboratory has been put into better condition than it has ever been before. Also he has built up the organic chemistry laboratory, making it one of the best laboratories of its class. During his professorship three of his students have been granted Assistant-

CLASS OF '26 TO HOLD REUNION JUNE 2ND

Plans Being Made For Huge Get-together Of 1926 Graduating Class—All Members Are Urged To Return

Extensive plans are being made by the committee in charge of the reunion of the class of 1926, which is to be held on Saturday, June 2nd, in connection with the commencement week activities.

The program which is being arranged promises a busy day for all who will return. The tentative schedule as it is at present made up is as follows:

Beginning at 4 P. M. Saturday afternoon will be a business meeting, followed by a sumptuous banquet at the Taste Good at 6 o'clock. An interesting program, consisting of toasts, musical numbers, and readings has also been arranged as entertainment at the banquet. ## MRS. LANDIS GIVES LECTURE IN C. E.

"Stewardship" was the topic for Christian Endeavor in the College Chapel, Sunday evening. The song service and devotions were in charge of the president, Miss Grace Poff, who also read a collection of poems commemorating Mother's Day.

The special feature of the program was a lecture by Mrs. Landis, on the subject of Stewardship. In the course of her lecture she emphasized the fact that we are God's stewards and should follow the example of the great steward, Christ. This was the first of a series of three lectures to be given by Mrs. Landis in our Christian Endeavor. Although few were present the entire meeting was very inspirational.

The leader for next Sunday evening will be the vice-president, Mr. Benjamin Heiser. The topic for discussions and lecture will be "Stewardship of Time."

DIAMONDTEERS HAVE BAD WEEK WITH TWO LOSSES

Drop First To Schuylkill "Lions" On Wednesday In Hard Fought Dual By Tune Of 3-2

HAMIL PITCHES GOOD BALL

Costly Errors Cause Red & White Nine To Lose To Penn State 10-5—Sherid In Fine Form

After holding the powerful Schuylkill team for seven innings Uncle Jakes boys weakened and were nosed out by one run in the closing frame of the ninth inning, after leading with a two run margin from the early part of the game. From the start when the Ump. called play ball, the game became one of great interest to the fans that turned out to witness the fray. Many loyal students went down to the game to cheer for the Red and White.

Sherid became the loser of the ball game after a bit of Jake Weller's strategy failed to pan out. Weller, the Albright coach, placed Sherid on the hill in the eighth inning when Schuylkill worked two men to the base paths with one out. Sherid succeeded Harvey Hamill, a former Chambersburg lad, who allowed only four hits in seven and one-third innings of toiling.

Sherid took the hill with Albright in the van by 2 to 0. He was called to erase the young Schuylkill tossers after Yeter had started a rally with a single and Vince Grant followed with a lusty double to right. One was away when Sherid strode to the pentagon.

Sherid Is Bumped

Showing plenty of form, Sherid fanned Frankie White. Then, using plenty of strategy, he walked Dixie Radcliffe, who had hit safely twice before in the game. Radcliffe's frank filled the bases.

It was good baseball to walk Radcliffe, but the strategy was all wet after Kotzy Roth slammed a luscious double to right and scored Yeter and Grant. Sherid then bore down

AFFIRMATIVE DEBATERS CLOSE YEAR AT TEMPLE

Engage In Abbreviated No Decision Contest—Attend Meeting Of The American Academy Of Political Science At Bellevue-Stratford

CHEER HOOD AT SWARTHMORE

Trekking to Temple University determined to end their debating season in a blaze of glory, by repeating the Muhlenberg victory in the "City of Brotherly Love," the Albright Affirmative team was compelled to be satisfied to engage in a no-decision contest in Conwell Hall, last Friday evening.

Because of the small audience and the inability of the Temple manager to secure judges for the contest, there was nothing left, no other course to follow except to engage in a debate in which neither team could claim a decision. There were not enough in the audience to have an open forum vote.

As the debate was late in starting due to the failure of the second Temple speaker to show up, the length of the speeches was cut down to eight minutes, with a single rebuttal speech of five minutes for each side. As the absent negative debater continued to baffle both his friends and foe by his non-appearance, only two speakers from each side represented their colleges. Hood, third speaker of the affirmative, in order to save his voice for the Oratorical contest at Swarthmore the following evening dropped

OUR POLICIES

- 1. Fair treatment for all.
2. Full support of all student enterprises.
3. Athletics for all.
4. Progress in all respects—curricular and extra-curricular.
5. Increased student activity and honor.
6. An Albright Individuality.

LAST YEAR many of the alumni who returned to Commencement remarked that they were disappointed in the activities of Commencement Week. Most of their criticism was justified in that several of the activities were cancelled at the last minute.

This year's graduating class has been on the job and everything points to a full commencement program. But in order to make this week of activities a successful one the senior class needs the cooperation of all the students. Many schools make more of Commencement Week than does Albright. But we are progressing rapidly toward the ideal.

There is something grand, something fascinating about commencement. The campus is covered with families and friends of the students, the air is filled with wishes of good luck, and everything is unbelievably beautiful.

Let us stay for Commencement, students, and enjoy the pleasures and sights of a banner commencement.

and struck out Harry Knorr to complete the inning.

Hamil Mesmerizes Lions

Hamil, who faced Schuykill through seven innings, was very stingy with his blows. He was seldom in hot water, although his wildness almost had him in trouble in the second. Then Radcliffe's single and two base on balls filled the bases, but Hamil bore down and erased the side without damage being inflicted.

Not a man reached third base after that frame until the eighth, when Hamil was relieved.

Yetzer hurled neat ball, but his support was nothing to write home about. Five errors were chalked up by the Schuykill nine, with an error of omission helping along the first Albright run and a glaring error of commission helping the second.

Albright Scores Early

The Albright team scored in the very first frame. With one away, Sherrid tried to drag a single thru the infield. Yetzer should have taken the ball, but instead of fielding the bunt, he called for help. While he was looking for aid, Sherrid reached first without a struggle. Then Waitkus slammed a long triple to left to score Sherrid. Waitkus' blow might have been held down to a double had not Frankie White misjudged the fly.

Another Albright counter was manufactured in the fourth. Waitkus received a life when Roth booted his grounder. Shoap then doubled to left and Waitkus scored.

Yetzer was in little trouble after that frame. He was forced to bear down in the ninth, when with two out, Gilbert doubled to center. Clemens, however, was easy, skying to left. Yetzer had good control, walking only two men.

"Parrakeet's Prattle"

Pretty poses—some pink, some white. Parrakeet thinks they are beautiful. He wonders why the girls and boys don't always wear them. He heard someone say though that the reason there were so many flowers was 'cause it's 'Mother's Day.'

Take a big deep breath folks and listen. Parrakeet saw a brand new case on the campus, Friday. The girl was Pearl Ansel and the boy—you'd never guess—Benny Heiser! Dare Parrakeet ask how serious this is?

"In the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love." That's why Parrakeet has something more to sell in the line of cases. (As Henrietta might say.) Marion Shaw was out with Tommy and Ey—oh dear, Parrakeet promised not to tell til next week. Stew dad folks.

Where did all the girls go? Why did Prof. Zener think Laucks was cutting Ed? Oh, of course, Parrakeet is so dumb and innocent. The Glee was on a trip and poor Mikey and Russ had to take care of themselves three whole days.

Snip, snip—slash, slash—stitch, stitch. Piles and piles of costumes all ready to wear on May Day. Parrakeet's patiently waiting for the time to come. Nobody remembers a little Parrakeet then but oh my—why worry. Even if not a soul cared for or ever thought about him, Parrakeet would be glad anyway, just to be livin'.

RED AND WHITE BOWS TO NIT-TANY LIONS

Sherrid Termed Best Pitcher Facing State College

The Red and White "batmen" fell neath the conquering roar of the Penn State Lions, by a score of 10-5. "Uncle Jake's Boys" had the better of the argument until the fourth inning by a score of 4-3.

Vanatta, the Nittany Lion southpaw allowed three of Albright's six hits in the second inning when two errors helped the Wellermen earn three runs. After that, Vanatta pitched a tight-ball game, having eleven strike-outs to his credit. Sherrid who twirled the "agate" for Albright, received poor support, especially at the time most needed.

Albright took the lead in the second, when hits by Hamil, Clemens and Waitkus, coupled with the errors of Dobbelar and Lungren, sent in three runs. A double by Lesko, triple by Wolff, and "Lefty" Shoap's error put Penn State ahead in the fourth inning. Gilbert added in the seventh, and Dobbelar came walking to home plate in back of Kent who had singled.

In the eighth Clemens dropped Lesk's hot liner, Wolff doubled, Harrington sacrificed, and Vanatta singled, the whole netting three runs.

Sherrid, Albright's hurling "ace", has been the best pitcher Penn State has met for some time. He weakened toward the end from the strain of hurling two games in three days, and from the bad support. He scored 9 strike-outs.

Clemens and Delp are credited with a home run each.

TWO MORE SENIORS GIVE RECITALS

Suzanna Heinze And Katherine Kulp Play And Sing in Graduation Recital

This is a month of opportunity for music lovers. Recitals almost as often as we'd like to have them and good ones, too. On last Monday evening we had another pleasing recital by the seniors in the department of piano and voice. All of the seniors thus far have shown an exceptional feeling for music and decidedly good technique. There is absolutely no comparison between their first appearance in recitals and their performance in their senior recitals.

Miss Heinze and Miss Kulp were exceptionally fine on Monday evening and all the students can feel justly proud that they are graduating from Albright. Their numbers were greatly appreciated by the audience as is shown by the continuous rounds of applause.

On Tuesday evening we will hear another of the seniors in addition to Miss Eisenhower and Miss Kulp who have appeared in their voice recitals and will now appear as pianists. Mr. Robert Feger, baritone, will sing a number of varied selections and we are sure that he will be more than worth listening to.

Miss Eisenhower and Miss Kulp who have already scored decided hits as singers will undoubtedly be just as successful as pianists. In their previous appearances as pianists they were always well appreciated.

The devotional services were conducted by Mrs. Ray Mease, of Lebanon, Pa. She used the love story of Isaac and Rebecca as found in Genesis 23 as her lesson content. The following themes were given:

The Choosing of the Bride. Divine Guidance.

Service in Testimony. Asposual and the Gift.

The Winning of the Bride.

Mrs. Mease is a most able teacher and each of her lectures, which were most inspiring, were well received.

Conferences on Administration, the Young People's Division, Temperance and Law Observance, Religious Education, The Children's Division, the Daily Vocation Bible School and Our Training Camps were conducted by the State Workers.

The Music of the Convention was under the leadership of the Rev. M. V. Fridinger. Special musical numbers were rendered as volunteer service by the Moyer Brothers Quartette, and Miss Myrtle Turby, and Mrs. C. F. Harnish, soloist.

Saturday evening at five o'clock the annual Lebanon County Teacher Training Alumni Banquet was held in the U. B. Church. A large crowd of Teacher Training graduates were in attendance. After the banquet some business was transacted.

Dr. A. E. Gobble, Secretary of Albright College was re-elected as Pres. of the Lebanon County Sabbath School Association. Dr. Gobble has proved to be very efficient and is most capable as a leader of the Lebanon County S. S. Association. He is a consecrated and enthusiastic christian worker.

The theme of the Convention, "Personal Evangelism" was stressed by the various speakers in their addresses.

A very interesting and good report of this Convention was given to the Sunday School by Miss Spangler, on Sunday morning. The report will be concluded by Miss Bittle on next Sunday morning.

FROSH LOSE FIRST GAME OF SEASON

Last week the Srs. and Jrs. met and the Jrs. came out on top with an overwhelming score of 27-16. Before the Srs. knew what was happening the Jrs. had piled up such a lead that they were never headed. The Jrs. using a rearranged batting order were able to get men on base each inning and drive them around for tallies.

Both teams were hitting the pill hard, but the Srs. didn't seem to be able to connect at the right time. Their bingles always came when no one was on base. While the Jrs. besides giving Gunther air tight support were able to have things pretty much their own way, all through the set.

The biggest upset of the season so far was the Sophs. coming through with a decisive victory over the Frosh. Both teams started out with a strong determination to win, but the Frosh. weakened and the Sophs. took advantage of this to pile up such a lead that they were never in danger. The Sophs. gave Hangen good support by cutting down balls that looked liked they would be going for clean hits.

The all around fielding of the Sophs. is to be commented on, for their organization and determination to come out on top. This was quite noticeable all during the game and deserves mentioning. If the others would play as hard as the Sophs. did in their effort to beat the Yearlings the league would develop much more interest and enthusiasm.

A box score would be published every game if it could be obtained by the reporters.

"7th HEAVEN" ONE OF THE GREATEST SCREEN DRAMAS

"7th Heaven" has been brought to the screen and will be shown at the Myerstown Theatre this week on Thurs. Fri. and Sat.

This picture, based on the play by Austin Strong, is said by all critics to be one of the finest productions of any type ever screened. Taken from every angle it is perfection, and more than that it has lost none of the appeal or beauty of the original play.

The atmosphere of the Paris Montmartre, where the plot of the story is laid, is accurately carried out in the settings and the photographic effects. The story follows the play itself, but bringing into actual view those things that could only be talked about in the play, thereby heightening the interest and adding greatly to the entertaining value of the picture.

The characterizations of the players are said to be inspired, particularly that of Janet Gaynor, who appears as the winsome, frightened and finally glorified "Diane", and Chas. Farrell, who is the handsome, egotistical, generous and thoroughly lovable "Chico".

Charlie Chaplin in "The Circus" has been booked for showing next week on Thurs. Fri. and Sat.—Adv.

Dettlerline's friends at Albright extend to him their hearty congratulations and best wishes for the future.

AFFIRMATIVE DEBATERS CLOSE YEAR AT TEMPLE

out, Wadsworth speaking first and Heckert second for the Red and White. Their opponents were K. Wilde Blackburne, who appeared on the local rostrum last year, and Chas. Collins.

Wadsworth showed that the direct primary system had failed to work in the past, that it failed to remedy the evils of the convention system, and that it is not sound. Heckert exposed a number of weaknesses in the system which are inherent in the plan itself, that the system has brot new evils, and finally that it should be abandoned in favor of the Hare System or single transferable vote. The negative contended that the direct primary was the most democratic, that it placed responsibility in the people, and that it is the most effective system yet devised.

Heckert and Blackburne spoke in the rebuttal speeches.

Immediately after the debate had ended, the Albright team jumped in Whitmoyer's Pontiac and darted for the evening (third) session of the American Academy of Political and Social Science meeting in the ballroom of the Bellevue-Startford Hotel, where they met Dr. H. D. Weber, who was also attending the meeting. Dr. Weber had gone there the day before.

The debaters, although late, arrived there in time to hear three brilliant addresses on "Recent Aspects of Our Relations with Latin America." They were delivered by Dr. Buell, Research Director of the Foreign Policy Association, Henry K. Norton, Esq., and Wallace Tompson, Esq., editor of the "Ingenueria International." All are from New York. The other speakers of the evening were Senor Don Orestes Ferrara, Ambassador of Cuba, at Washington, and Senator Walter E. Edge, from New Jersey. As they were the first to appear on the program, the debating team did not get a chance to hear them.

After spending the following day at the home of Wadsworth, the team left for Swarthmore on Saturday evening where Leon C. Hood was to represent Albright in the Peace Contest.

GIRLS GLEE CLUB ON EXTENDED TRIP

Give Concerts in Mt. Carmel, Shamokin and Pottsville in Trip Over Week End

On May 10th, the Girls' Glee Club left for a week-end trip in the coal regions. A concert was given in Shamokin on Thursday nite, the next nite the club was in Pottsville, and Saturday in Mt. Carmel. A special program was given on Friday afternoon in the Mt. Carmel high school, where the young folks seemed to enjoy the numbers immensely, especially the skit. It was here that the club received its biggest ovation from school students, for the boys and girls gave the club a Bhoom yell at the close of the program.

Several members of the club were taken thru Yuengling's ice cream plant on Saturday morning by Miss Foster, whose home is in Pottsville. To show their appreciation the girls sang a few numbers for the workers in the building.

The concerts were highly-spoken of at all the places in which the club sang, and arrangements have been made for the club to appear in these churches next year.

Special numbers were sung in the Mt. Carmel church on Sunday morning for the Mothers' Day services. On the whole this trip was one of the most enjoyable ones of the season, and also most successful, both financially and otherwise. The final scheduled concert of the season was given in Reading on Tuesday nite in Dr. Heck's church.

MUSIC FESTIVAL AT HARRISBURG WONDERFUL SUCCESS

During this last week a festival of music was held in Harrisburg, Pa. under the auspices of "The Harrisburg Music Foundation. "It was a revival of Mozart's Choral works. This was said to be the most outstanding musical event of the year in this country. Among the artists were Rosa Ponselle, Judson House, Rudolph Ganz, and others. The great Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra was there and rendered its wonderful music as it alone can do.

Many students and members of the faculty of Albright College made use of the special offer that was tendered them some time ago and journeyed to Harrisburg either Thursday afternoon or evening. In the afternoon they heard a concert by the Philadelphia Orchestra, Rudolph Ganz, and Judson House. A wonderful presentation of the opera, "Samson and Delilah" was given. Those who attended these renditions enjoyed them very much and came back feeling that it had been worth while to have made the trip.

"Bring me a ham sandwich," ordered the patron of the tea shoppe. "Yes, sir. Anything else." "Yes—two pieces of bread to put it between."

not spent so much time in leading up to the solution of war.

The prizes of the State Contest were $60.00 for the first place, and $40.00 for the second prize. Hood was able to bring back to Albright the second prize award. This was a worth while prize for the effort.

Among those who attended the Contest were the members of the Albright Affirmative debating team who helped to cheer Hood on.

The following is Hood's oration, which won second place:

CIVILIZATION

Napoleon once said, "war is the trade of Barbarians." This statement by one of the greatest military leaders of all times coupled with our experience of the unreasonableness and horror of war help us to readily accept this opinion. When we view these bloody contests as enlightened moderns we cannot help feel ashamed to give ourselves the classification of Civilized people.

Now as never before are we faced with the problem of deciding between peace and war as future policies. With that decision goes our decision to be civilized or to be barbarians. If we choose the former then we must put aside the childish and savage playthings of war and take on a really civilized complex, a scientific attitude of study, research, and cooperation. The unreasonableness, waste, and irrational rivalry, and conflict can then no longer be incorporated into our plans of progress. Mankind can prosper only by labor, wealth, justice and liberty. War stops labor, swallows up wealth, tramples upon justice and liberty is made meaningless.

Materially war is wasteful to the "Nth" degree. Wealth is consumed with no consideration of the dependable factors. Every particle of energy must be absorbed in war. Society must stand still or even be in part undone in the chance of war, with the best lives destroyed and all work ruined.

Modern war like most everything from religion to sports is commercialized. To business, war is merely an investment which must bring in its return. A nation may have to draw upon its life blood for a time, but with the victory, for which each participant is dying will come the spoils to sweeten the incidental sorrow and replenish the veins of exhausted industry and commerce. The last war has shown us the folly of this notion. Not only will we who lived thru this war realize the absurdity of this notion, but our posterity for many generations will be tied with the obligations, and handicaps effected thru this last evidence of barbarism.

Of course we have more millionsaires today than in any other period of the earth's history. Likewise we also have more paupers and the gap between the social classes is exaggerated far beyond that which is desirable in modern society.

Aside from the material and sociological losses of war we figure that it is one of the principal causes of the degradation of the human race.

The physiological devastation of war is even more terrible than the material. The barbaric substratum is brought to the surface replacing the finer things which civilization has spent years in building up. The baser instincts are called forth and encouraged. This is the gravest danger of war. A nation to redeem her honor will sink to the lowest depths of dishonor to get revenge for a hurt and thereby lose the very thing for which it was giving it's all.

The question then is: Who is to be blamed, what is the cause, and what can be done about it? Can we really point our finger at the person and say, "You are to blame", or to the group and say, "You are to blame?" It seems that we can. It is those persons who are the real victors or have some end to be gained from their part in war, those who reap the bloody lure as their spoils—upon them we can lay the major responsibility for this barbarism. Those

:-Who's Who At Albright:-*JONATHAN HIRAM SWOPE
Frystown, Pa.

A little man with broad shoulders and light, wavy hair, "Swope" is an all-round good fellow, an active day student with true Albright spirit. After one year at F. and M. he came to Albright, liked it, and stayed. Always good-natured and friendly, he usually finds room in his car for just one more, and where ever he goes, one sees with him some of his student friends. And we believe he is quite as friendly to certain members of the opposite sex—yes, we believe—

Swope is also a good student. Perhaps we should put the "also" first. He is a Neocosmian, and his pleasing tenor voice assured him a place on the Men's Glee Club, for three years. Church work among the youth appeals to him, and he is very active in the Sunday School, the Choir, and the Young People's Society of his church.

Although Swope seemed inclined toward business, we find him about to enter the teaching profession, as he has accepted an offer to teach general science in the Palmyra high school. We feel that Swope is particularly fitted for teaching because of his whole-hearted interest in young people, and when one chooses a life work centered about one's chief interest, there can be no doubt that success will follow.

who make war their business, those who have power, the selfish and egotistic persons who have ends to serve and are not possessed with civilized ideals are the responsible ones. They are the persons who have the notion that nations are supreme and use it to compel thousands to march to martial music, to kill and by the law of the beasts claim might to make right and thus swell the causers of the leading selfish interests.

So that which is claimed is: that war is brought about, not by a necessity of nature, nor by any law outside of human control, but by certain persons who have immediate power over other men and are possessed with a notion that their political group or nation is supreme and must expand indefinitely even at the expense of other groups who are possessed with the same idea. These states are perpetually in antagonism with each other and accept themselves as natural enemies. These few persons are the governmental heads and feel that all those under their jurisdiction must form in lock step with them. Those who oppose them are considered as weak or as dangerous rebels. Thus the lives of the whole nation, yea all nations and the whole world are bent in ceaseless competition and contest with each other.

This is originally the idea of a governing group. The common class of people do not have this notion by their own initiative. People of other nations are not their predestined enemies any more than the man in the next block or next town. These people in their daily life do not think in terms of things. They think only in terms of things with which they come in contact and if left alone they would think of others only in terms of cooperation. The individual then as a unit is more civilized than the nation.

So we cannot blame the people directly for war, rather let us blame those governmental heads, or the government, if we are allowed to use that term in a liberal sense as applied to national systems. Take the last great World War. Before it broke out nobody outside of government circles was expecting or planning for it. Nobody desired it. Few even during the war could see any real reason for it as far as the general welfare was concerned, but many went to the battle-front under orders of their particular governments to fight a fight which they had no reason to desire. Such a step as was taken by the governments of Europe in 1914 would never have been made had the decision rested with the millions who really paid the cost of the miserable dem-

CHARLES WILLIAM DUNLAP, Jr.

"Charlie" Dunlap is the talkative fellow with the big smile (its so big he can almost hide behind it). His jolly, good natured personality makes up for his small stature.

Dunlap is majoring in Chemistry. As to extra-curricular activities, his participation in class basketball and class plays prove his ability as an athlete and an actor. He is a Neocosmian, and a member of the "Steitz Collegiate Club."

But Charlie's geography has been sadly neglected—he thinks Womelsdorf is the capital of the U. S. Perhaps he has "hallucinations"—but even his best friend won't tell him. As to the future, we prophecy success and happiness in the field Charlie finally chooses to serve.

onstration of the methods of "civilization."

The ordinary man has a blank mind open to suggestion and easy to handle by the government authorities. This sounds much like autocracy, and that is really in fact what it is for democracy has not helped a great deal in registering public opinion in this respect.

This idea of the supremacy of states is false and abstract. The real are the men and women who make up the world. Without the contest of states under the leadership of a group of government heads commercialized and selfishly aggressive there would be no necessity for aggressive war, and of course no cause for defensive war.

Now we are aware of the real causes of war rooted in nationalism. What then is the remedy to be applied? Super-nationalism! Our task then in order to fully realize the true grandeur of civilization which should be ours, is to recognize that men and women are the real and not nations with their notions of honor, vanity, pride and aggressiveness with the bloody contests connected with their attempted realization.

Among individuals we frown with disapproval upon acts which for nations we grant our approval. Can nations be less amenable to moral laws than individuals? The mass should be like the individuals of which it is composed. Then is it not an evidence of barbarism for a nation to do things which are classed as crimes for individuals. A person is graded as savage when he commits such crimes that for nations are in the category of honor and bravery.

As in the physical world so in the moral, there is but one rule for the individual and the mass. The law which binds the individual binds the community, state, nation, race and embraces the entire human family. How can we, claiming to be civilized, also grant approval to war?

The world has no visible enemy as does a nation and so appears not to be confronted with the necessity of uniting as do the people of a nation. That is probably the reason why we cannot easily convince ourselves of the necessity for a world union. But the enemy is present altho invisible. It is nationalism.

The solution to this problem then is to leave the nation and look forward to a super-national society. As we have left the family, the tribe, and the confederacy so we must move upward and leave the nations as absolute units, behind. This is no new thought, for we have had tendencies toward that evidenced in the Hague Conference, the World Court, Arbitration Treaties, Peace Conferences, Disarmament Conferences, and the League of Nations. When the Super-national society is effected was then can be placed on the books as unlawful. Now, nations being only aggregations of individuals do not have the right within themselves, under the subject of law to make war among themselves, and as such aggregations should not be permitted to wage war against other such groups.

In man's grand march upward he has outgrown many savage habits. He no longer eats his fellow men, sacrifices human life heedlessly, confis-cates private property, throws his children by the wayside exposed to the elements to die, and he has given women a position equal to the men—he is becoming civilized! He even makes various practices in war itself unlawful. How long will it be until he makes war itself unbecoming of civilized men? We are still marching and will soon reach that day when the world will declare itself thru the reign of universal law as opposed to this one great remnant of barbarism and use his wealth, labor and make liberty and justice meaningful and grant a perpetual era of peace and prosperity.

Ethel was sitting on the bench giggling when Bess came along and asked the reason.

"Oh, ut isn't George the cut-up?" replied Ethel, between gasps of laughter.

"Yes, but where is he now?" Bess wanted to know.

"Well, he made a comic dive a while ago, and for the longest time he's been down under the water blowing bubbles for me."
