'Aims, Objectives of Albright' To Be Theme of 1948 'Cue'

"The Aims and Objectives of Albright College" will be the theme of the 1948 "Cue" announced Fred Wolf, editor-in-chief of the senior yearbook. At the same time, Wolf revealed the tentative date of publication to be May 3.

The yearbook, which will include a complete coverage of campus life, is to be divided into nine sections: the campus, the faculty and administration, religious life on campus, fraternities and sororities, student organizations—the governing bodies and student publications, sports, special events, the classes, and the student directory. The major portion of photography for the publication will be that taken by the student staff headed by Esther Savidge with Dr. Virgil Zener as advisor.

Yearbook Staff

Working with Wolf is the following staff: Charles Stump, business manager; Lucy Smith and Catherine Frantz, associate editors; Barbara Keffer, art director; David Voigt, men's sports editor; Jeanne Flickinger, women's sports editor; and Miss Savidge, photography editor.

Although Albright is not sponsoring the institute, all students are invited to attend the conferences which will be held on the following schedule:

March 12—1 p.m.—"The Political Attack."
3 p.m.—"The Propaganda Attack."

March 13—10 a.m.—"Fighting Back—Education."

Foreign Traveler Speaker Religious Emphasis Week

Antonina H. Froendt, the newly appointed staff member of the American Committee for the World Council of Churches, will be the speaker during Religious Emphasis Week, announced Rev. Eugene H. Barth, Director of Religious Activities. Miss Froendt has just returned from a year's service in Europe as War Correspondent for the Religious News Service. She was officially designated to gather vital information for the American Office of the World Council, and to this assignment she brought the experience of nearly twenty-five years as American Secretary of the Central Bureau for European Interchurch Aid.

She has brought from post-war Europe a greatly increased knowledge of both underlying religious problems and those that now confront Christendom as the result of the crises provoked by the war. During nearly four months in Geneva, she was able to meet many outstanding figures in recent ecumenical history.

Miss Froendt was educated at Hunter College and did her post-graduate work at Columbia University. Her eleven visits to the continent, during the years between World War I and World War II, have provided her with an extensive knowledge and understanding of European Church life.

Hunter Graduate

Miss Froendt will speak on Tuesday, March 16, at Freshman Junior Chapel and at 7:30 in the Sylvan Chapel. On Wednesday, March 17, she will speak again at 7:30 in Sylvan Chapel, and on Thursday, March 18, at Sophomore-Senior Chapel.

Soloist Kenneth Spencer To Return For Cultural Program, March 11

Kenneth Spencer, American bass-baritone will appear here in the March 11 Cultural Program. Dr. Milton W. Hamilton, committee chairman, announced. Mr. Spencer, who is renowned for his recent recreation of the role of Joe in "Showboat," has appeared in two MGM Films, "Cabin in the Sky" and "Bataan." He has also made soloist appearances with the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra.

Born 34 years ago in Los Angeles, Mr. Spencer had a voice which showed promise from the very beginning, but he had to earn every penny he paid for music lessons.

By the time he was in high school he had started voice lessons with a local teacher and was singing in a YMCA quartet. But it was his speaking voice, the voice that a New York critic recently said "talks music," that carried off the honors on those days. Before graduation he won a debating contest on the Constitution and a Shakespearean award.

Missionaries Hold Conference; Miller, Marlow in Charge

The Mission Visitation Committee of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, which will visit Albright College February 24 to 26 inclusive, will hold personal conferences with students interested in doing religious welfare work. Students desiring such conferences with any member or members of the committee should contact Shirley Miller or William Marlow for an appointment.

Members of the committee are Miss Wavelene Babbitt, who will speak in the Tuesday Chapel Program; Rev. Carl B. Eshbach, Personal Secretary for the Dept. of World Missions of the Evangelical United Brethren Church; Mrs. Leora A. Nagel, who served among the natives on Luzon; Rev. J. Allan Ranck, Youth Director of the Evangelical United Brethren Church; and Dr. B. L. Shively, head of the religious education at Doshisha Theological Seminary.

Their purpose is to present current views of the Christian Mission field, and to discuss questions pertaining to missionary work.

Return to the West Coast

Returning to the west coast in 1938, he stopped in St. Louis to sing Joe in "Show Boat" with the Municipal Opera Company, after which he appeared as soloist with the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra at the Hollywood Bowl. This was followed by an important part in the American Opera, "Gettysburg," in Dunsany's Opera, "The Unknown Warrior," and in a series of radio broadcasts for N.B.C.

In the Movies

Since then he has appeared at New York's famous "City Society" in two MGM films, and with various symphony orchestras. He has made a transcontinental concert tour in United States and Canada, and has performed as narrator-soloist with Rodzinski and the New York Philharmonic Symphony in Aaron Copeland's "A Lincoln Portrait." He has also recorded for Columbia and Sonora Records. Spencer has given two Town Hall concerts and has sung for the late President Roosevelt and at Wendell Wilkie's funeral.

During the war, he organized the first all-Negro unit, which he took on a three month's tour of the Caribbean and Southwest Pacific bases.

'Family Portrait' Opens 3 Day Campus Run Tomorrow Night

When "Family Portrait" was presented on Broadway a number of years ago, it was declared a beautiful, humanistic, and dignified play, written with honesty and simplicity. The star of the show, Judith Anderson, portrayed Mary, the mother of Jesus, so sincerely and understandingly that it was an instant success. We predict our Judith Anderson, Marjorie Christ, will at once capture the audience with her sympathetic portrayal of Mary. The simplicity of her interpretation of Jesus' teachings creates an atmosphere of love, loyalty and understanding.

PLAYS STAR ROLE

Marjorie Christ

At Nazareth
The story centers around a family much like your own, bickering one moment and happy the next. The scene is laid in Nazareth and encompasses the last three years of Christ's life. In Nazareth, Christ's brothers understand only that he has left them at the height of the building season and depleted the working force.

The scene shifts to Capernaum, where tavern-keepers and promoters have capitalized on his growing power and popularity, returns to Nazareth and the disillusioning experience among his neighbors, and journeys swiftly to Jerusalem, where the fickle crowd turns from its cry of love to shouts of hatred. Another shift of scene, and we are in the chamber where, after the Last Supper, Mary awaits her son's return from Gettysburg. The final scene is again in Nazareth several years after the crucifixion, where Jesus' family still labors under the blind delusion that they have been disgraced.

Comedy, Too

In direct contrast to the serious aspects of this play, Melvin Botvornick, portraying Daniel, the small grandson of Mary, provides amusing entertainment as he graphically shows "where that darn ole goat butted me."

Mary Cleophas, witty but sincere sister of Mary, is played by Kathryn Morrison, and Kathleen Guenther portrays Selima, the head business woman who owns the wine shop in Capernaum. Her brazen, dominating personality brings a light touch to a dramatic scene.

Ralph Stoudt is the local big-wig, Mordecai, who displays his red-headed temper when he bargains for the services of the sons of the House of Joseph.

Sons and Wives

William Walker, Ralph Stutzman, John Fausnaght, and Lamer Kopp as the four sons of Mary portray contrasting character traits within the family circle which are instrumental in precipitating many dramatic moments throughout the play.

Nathan Heckman and Alma Natanabul as the wives of Joseph and Simon effectively complete the domestic portrait of Christ's family.

Women Agree to Support Adoption Of War Orphan

Ninety-eight percent of the girls on campus have pledged complete support for the war orphan adoption by the Senate, with Hazel Moerder and Doris Chanin as co-chairmen of the plan. The committee of solicitors consists of Geneva Bolton, Ruth Gray, Patricia Leavitt, Jean Magee, Kathryn Morrison, Patty Lou Wright, Janet Coombs, Grace Cunningham, Kay Collins, Doris Downes, Jean Fehr, Harriet Greenberg, Lois Lecky, Helen Sieber, Jean Borgstrom, Grace Miller, Marion Gerberich, Betty Shroyer and Dorothy Yeager. Watch "The Albrightian" for stories about the child.

Vocational Films

On February 20th at 4:15 p. m., the first of a series of vocational guidance films obtained from Penn State were shown. Shirley Miller was in charge of arrangements and Walter Koenicke operated the machine.

The regular Senate Tea will be held on Friday, February 27, from 3 to 5 in Selwyn Parlor.

Cleta Rein was named chairman of the Senate dance to be held on April 2nd.

Albright Sororities Bid Twenty-seven Campus Women

Twenty-seven Albright women received bids to the two campus sororities last Wednesday as both of the Greek societies began preparations for the coming spring rushing season.

Phi Beta

As announced by Grace Miller, president, the following upper-class women have accepted Phi Beta Mu Sorority bids to pledge-ship: Betty Bratton, Virginia Fox, Betty Sarge, and Pauline Swope. Freshman pledges to the Mu Sorority include Evelyn Brown, Marjorie Gardiner, Kathleen Guenther, Nan Heckman, Louise Hoff, Jean Magee, Barbara Miller and Charlotte Winner.

PAT Bids

The Pi Alpha Tau Sorority has extended bids to seven women, seven of whom are upperclassmen. These include Doris Chanin, Jean Fehr, Lois Lecky, Marie Palmer, Patricia Pearce, Ariane Smiley, and Margaret Zeock. Freshman pledges to the PAT Sorority are Geneva Bolton, Betty Ann Cohn, Anna Mae Grimes, Virginia Kitzmiller, Lorraine Martin, Barbara Nagel, Janice Neuroth, and Eleanor Spring.

Dorothy Moyer, PAT president, announced that their pledge service will be held on Monday, March 1 at 7:30 p.m.

Duddy Announces Dates of Chorus, Glee Club Concerts

The various musical organizations on campus have compiled their schedules for the spring season. Dr. John H. Duddy has announced the dates of the concerts to be presented by the Women's Glee Club, Men's Glee Club, and Mixed Chorus.

On March 2, the Men's Glee Club will sing at the Trinity Evangelical Congregational Church in Royersford. Soloists will be David Bailey, Glenn Bailey and David DeWitt. The Women's Glee Club will present a concert on March 7 at St. Matthew's Evangelical United Brethren Church in Reading. Ruth Kachel and Dorace Hornberger will be soloists.

The "Lenten Messiah" will be presented by the Mixed Chorus on March 14 in Norristown under the direction of Dr. Duddy. There will be approximately 100 voices participating in this concert.

At a George Washington Tea, Miss Hornberger, a contralto, presented a concert last Thursday, in the First Presbyterian Church of Reading.

Our Voice in the Future

Student Council has been digging into student suggestions recently and has turned out action which shows promise of giving us Albrightians a chance to help in making our college grow in wisdom as well as stature. Education, primarily, exists for the student. In college his future is at stake. Yet, too often, authorities ignore the opinions of the college students, thus making the students lose confidence in their college and, in later years, in their government. At Albright authorities have realized that it is important and invaluable to hear the students express their opinions.

Therefore, at this time Student Council is working on two projects, the grading of profs and a gripe box. The former was brought to our attention by a freshman who knew of the Lehigh plan. Through The Albrightian the plan was brought to the attention of the student body and through it to Council. Student Council, the administration and the faculty agreed that the idea was an excellent one, and they are now working together on the detailed plans.

In accepting this opportunity, we Albrightians must realize that a great responsibility goes with it. We have asked for a faculty-evaluation plan in order that our professors may be better able to instruct us. What we learn at Albright will determine the course of the rest of our lives. The academic rating of our college will determine the position we get after graduation. Our object is to recognize and strengthen good points and to correct weak points. With a constructive attitude, let's review our courses, our profs, their presentation and the various other points suggested.

A gripe box should be treated in the same manner. One of the men on campus has said he is willing to hear your complaints if you can at the same time give a suggestion for bettering the situation. Perhaps we should keep this in mind when we voice our criticisms through the gripe box.

The Basketball Story

Our sports news and comment is usually confined to the sports page; however, we feel it only fitting and proper that in this space we commend both of our basketball teams for their sticktiveness in their recent contests.

Although everyone of our games this season has not brought us a winning score, may we say that most of them have been hard fought contests for our teams. When our players and our coaches try their best, we should consider them successful—in our minds we should think good of them and think of them as winning combines.

Our freshman squad deserves as much credit along these lines as our varsity squad. Need we say that most of them will comprise the future Albright varsity basketball team. Their hard work, team-play, and good sportsmanship deserve mention. Under a new coach, a complete new group of players is working together to attain those desired victories. So let's give our freshman team our loyal support — let's cheer for them just as we do for our varsity squad.

And although our varsity team does not have a "superior" standing this season, let's continue to stand behind them. 'Tis true, it's always easy for a person to find fault with a school athletic team; however, we hope that we can class Albright students above that level.

Most of us have been doing a good job—in supporting our teams and in cheering for them. Let's keep it up so that both the players and the coaches will know that each and every fellow Albrightian is behind them—and so they can bring home some more victories.

Council Receives Favorable Reply on Prof-Grading

Of the two following letters, the one is a copy of a letter sent to Dr. Harry V. Masters by George Koehler and Beverly Bresler, the Student Council committee for Grading-of-Prof's project, the other is a copy of a letter received by the committee from Dean George W. Walton. Council members, after being notified as to the progress of the committee, voted that work on the project be continued. Student Council originally undertook this matter as a result of student interest in the editorial in the Jan. 13, 1947, issue of The Albrightian.

February 19, 1948

Dear Dr. Masters: Student Council has appointed a committee to investigate the possibilities of devising a suitable plan for evaluating the faculty at this institution. As members of this committee we would like your cooperation and administrative approval in this matter.

No plan has been suggested as yet, but our conception of the project involves the following specific points:

- (1) There is no desire on the part of student council to publish the results.
(2) The approach to this evaluation is from a purely constructive educational standpoint.
(3) Student Council desires administrative counsel in this endeavor.
(4) We submit to you the names of Dr. Russell Smith and Dean George Walton as possible advisors.

Respectfully submitted,
George E. Koehler
Beverly Bresler

Home Ec Omelet

Fredabery Moyer will serve as the new proxy of the HEO Club next year, announced Miriam Parker, president, after the recent election of the group held in Sherman Cottage on February 16. Other newly elected officers are: vice-president, Beverly Morgan; secretary, Ella Mae Sheesley; and treasurer, Evelyn Brown.

Doris Hicks was in charge of the recreation which was followed by refreshments.

News About Barry

Shortly before Christmas the Albright campus bade farewell to its little pal Barry. While he was given all the love and care that any child would desire, Barry was a merry one in the household with a bright-eyed little boy to whom to play with. His stay there certainly was a happy one and beneficial to him. He soon was able to toddle up the street to meet any of his previous "Mamas" who came to call.

His Christmas

When Barry left Sherman Cottage he was taken to the home of Miriam Parker. Here he was given all the love and care that any child would desire. Barry was a merry one in the household with a bright-eyed little boy to whom to play with. His stay there certainly was a happy one and beneficial to him. He soon was able to toddle up the street to meet any of his previous "Mamas" who came to call.

Barry Moves

Because of the illness of Mrs. Parker in the last week of January, it was necessary for Barry to leave this home and go to another. He is again in capable hands, having been placed in another home by the Children's Aid. That is about all we can tell you about Barry's son. Oh yes!—he now has a vocabulary of several words.

Nutrition—Up-to-Date

In recent years there has been a great emphasis upon nutrition, and the need for better nutrition is still being felt. Answering this call, the State Home Economics Association has recently appointed several committees to arouse interest in nutrition. Miss Innis has been appointed chairman of a committee to compile a bibliography of this subject for lay public, and the committee will also do a similar project for students. These materials will be distributed to the libraries through a library news letter. There is also a committee to gain foreign interest in our foods.

The Student Council of Albright College

Committee:
Mr. George Koehler
Miss Beverly Bresler

Dear Mr. Koehler & Miss Bresler: The plan submitted by the Student Council of Albright College through you for a faculty evaluation has the support of the administration of the college. This support was expressed in the meeting of the President's Committee on Administration on Tuesday morning of this week. The faculty, through a secret ballot vote, has given similar approval of the project. The names of Dr. Russell B. Smith and the Dean of the college were approved as an advisory committee to work with your committee in the organization and execution of the plan.

It is interesting to note in this connection that quite recently the faculty gave considerable consideration to the organization of an equivalent program of self-initiated evaluation, but found it inadvisable to attempt the study at that time because of the volume of work which they felt would be necessary if accurate and complete results were to be obtained and compiled for the use of those concerned. It is the hope of the administration that this project may prove to be both constructive and beneficial to all the academic interests of the college.

May I suggest that you consult our office as soon as convenient so that an early date may be set for a conference with Dr. Smith and me in order that plans may be formulated for the initiation of the study.

Sincerely yours,
George W. Walton, Dean

Last Wednesday the Reading Chemists' Society held their monthly meeting. The highlight of the evening was a talk given by Dr. Munch, M.D., of pharmacological research in the School of Pharmacy at Temple. Dr. Munch spoke of many things, but the most absorbing items follow.

Rat Poison

In the development of rat poisons, chemists have come across a compound, sodium monofluoracetate, which is so powerful that one tenth of a milligram (about as much as you could get onto the top of a pinhead) will kill a rat weighing one kilogram (a little over two-pounds-worth) dead! There's only one hitch; the poison is so powerful that the insects who eat it would die and this would kill the birds that ate the insects and they would in turn die and the cats that ate the birds would die and then the buzzards that ate the cats would die and then the cycle would stop because nothing eats buzzards. This is a fine way to kill the buzzards but how about the rats, you ask? Well, one tenth of a milligram of the stuff will kill a rat weighing one kilogram, but the insects would die and that... ah, use strychnine.

Resistance

Dr. Munch also pointed out the recently discovered fact that the resistance rats offer to fatal doses of poisons differs with the seasons of the year. During August, September, and October, for instance, ten milligrams of a certain type of poison may kill a rat, while during the cold months of January, February and March, it may take 250 milligrams of the same poison to kill a rat of the same size. Before this fact was discovered a user of a certain type of rat poison would be successful in eliminating the rodents with the dosage of the poison as prescribed in the direction on the container, but he would consistently be thwarted in his attempts in the period of high resistance.

Frosh-Juniors See Capades; Thrilled By Ballets, Bats

By Vi Seibert and Ralph Stutzman

Driving by devious routes, the juniors took the highroad by bus and the frosh took the railroad—one hundred and twenty Albrightians invaded the Ice Capades at Hershey last Friday evening.

Having gotten supplies for the journey, pop corn, Hershey bars, chocolate kisses, hot dogs, cokes and eskimo pies, the hardy group adjusted their oxygen masks and ascended to the seventh heaven, the last group of seats pressed just the roof.

In the hush following the overture, giant spotlights converged on the "Ballet Bleu," a graceful pageant of ballet techniques on ice. There followed in quick sequence fantasy, comedy, acrobatics, juggling, and chorus-line precision on skates—everything from the traditionally sublime to the truly ridiculous.

Mother Goose On Ice

Some of the unforgettable highlights were the three pigs and Little Red Riding-Hood in a "Mother Goose Omelet," the colorful "Dutch Treat" featuring Donna Atwood and Bobby Specht, and the rhytanical waltz skating of "The Old Smoothies." Our group agreed that Trixie really used her head in an amazing juggling act.

A mood of fear and suspense fell upon the audience as the Bat Man raced over hurdles and finally to his throne of fire.

Mexican Finale

"But that's impossible," one of the Albrightians exclaimed as the Hub Trio jumped backward somersaults through hoops. Many other exciting moments were enjoyed by all before the final number "Mexicana," a colorful salute to our neighbors to the south done in "black lighting."

As our group descended from the heavens, the booklet next to me said "Wasn't it wonderful! I just hate to go back to school."

Her escort replied, "But my dear, it's all in a college education."

Hits--And Misses!

HOMERUNS FOR—

the Daywomen and the Ladies' Auxiliary for supplying us with cake and coffee last Wednesday. Since the Book Store migrated, the between-classes snack has gone out of our lives, and Wednesday seemed like old times.

The Administration for allowing the students an equal vote on policies concerning the Student Union Building. We appreciate the chance to show our interest and the opportunity to give weight to our opinions.

The dynamic senior class whose Tuesday "dues-day" really paid off. The other classes might do well to follow suit in thinking up some clever publicity stunt to pry loose those needed class dues.

Bev Bresler and George Koehler for their work on behalf of a constructive plan of faculty evaluation and for the faculty for their enthusiasm and support.

A FOUL BALL FOR—

the idea of selling comic books in the Book Store. Not that Superman's curves aren't provocative, but there certainly is better literature that could occupy that space in the store and absorb the shekels from the students' pockets. Frankly, we don't see how the sale of comic books could improve the status of our Book Store or of our College itself. After all, how would an out-of-town visitor react (and there will be many of them coming to see the SUB) when confronted with the bookbois of li pulp world.

Grandma

Rodents also wise up to a particular poison when it is used time and again. They also build up a resistance to the poison and pass it along hereditarily; moreover, they begin to taste the poison and refuse to take it. It all boils down to this: if you have mice in your house, hire somebody's grandmother (one of those old gals with an enquiring eye), equip her with a rocking chair and some big lead foil balls (those that you made in your childhood from the foil in cigarette packs), and give her full command. It's the best Mickey you can give a mouse!

Frosh Organize Cheerleading Squad

A new freshman cheerleading squad has been organized to lead the cheering during the preliminaries at Albright basketball games at Northwest, beginning at 7:15 p. m. Members of this year's squad are Evelyn Brown, Betty Ann Cohen, Dolores Genetti, Eleanor Spring, and Nancy Stump.

Femmes Drop First To S'burg Gals

On February 17th Albright's varsity lassies were turned back by the East Stroudsburg women. The physical educational school had little trouble in handing Red and White their first setback in three starts.

SKIRT LIONS

East Stroudsburg handed the lassies their first defeat of the season while a gymful of state teachers' college students cheered on their prodigies. The large gym floor combined with out-of-this-world shots by the opposition set the red and white back on their heels time and again.

Homeward Bound

Backstage spirits dampened slightly by the defeat soon recovered by the actions and antics such as Joyce Hottenstein and Betty Sarge's water-proof watch.

Milkmaid's Win

By now everyone has heard of the practice game between the Albright Lassies and the Clover Farms Milkmaids. With such coaches' names on the Milkmaid's roster as Miriam Griesemer, Kay Kaufman and Myrtle Johnson the game took on an air of suspense.

Frosh Lick Rider

Lion fans were treated to a rough and tumble game of basketball as the Albright frosh nosed Rider frosh, 53-52. Danny Bieber's 26 points set a high for the year of frosh runners as his mates won their third straight ball game.

Daymen Locked Out

William Miller was elected president, and James Braun, vice president of the Daymen, at a meeting which took place Wednesday, February 19. Miller announced that in the near future the former daymen's quarters will be entirely closed in order that renovations may be made.

Lions Snap Five Game Loss Streak; Anlian Cans 23

Victors Chalk Sixth Conquest Against Foe

Albright's battered Lions showed that there is still part of their tail which remains untwisted as they slashed their way back into the win column at the expense of highly touted Rider College, 61-59 last Saturday. In nosing the New Jerseyites, the big cats came roaring back from behind a 10 point deficit as a convincer to fair weather fans that there is still considerable in much the same style as the hero in a Ritz western.

Big Eddie Anlian, the black-thatched bombshell from Union City, New Jersey looked like the Eddie of yore as he twirled the twines for 23 digits. (The Lion gunner has tallied 44 points in his last two contests.) However, the feline sharpshooter was forced to take a back seat to Herb Krautblatt, uncanny Rider marksman, whose 30 digits set the pace for both squads.

It was in the third chapter that the Lions caught fire and the pessimistic fans sat up on their collective hunches. Ed Anlian, in the words of Cret Hagan, waxed "hotter than a dime store pistol." He poured in three straight buckets to put the cats in clawing distance. With big Ozzie Kriebel chipping in the Lions caught up to their Jersey opponents and stalemated the businessmen, 46-46 at three quarter time.

The last quarter was as full of action as any contest on the spacious Northwest palestra this year. The lead changed hands eight times after Albright had grabbed an early lead. Anlian, Mort Whitman, Jesse Ervin, and Ozzie Kriebel were the principal cord cutters for the locals and it was big Ed, who, with 30 seconds remaining dunked the game's winning shot. Albright, with Jesse Ervin sparking, froze the pellet for the remaining seconds allowing 1500 fans to go happily homeward.

Ursinus Bests Gals

The gymnasium at 13th and Union was the scene of great excitement on Saturday, Feb. 21, for the girl's basketball team tackled one of the toughest teams of their schedule, Ursinus.

Both teams played great games but even with Albright's Marge Zeock, we lost by one point. The final score was 38-37. Both players and spectators were tense as the two teams battled for supremacy.

Following the varsity game, the J. V.'s took to the court and vied again for victory. Albright's team however, was no match for the sizzling group from Ursinus. The final score for the junior varsity game was 37-22.

The Zeta Omega Epsilon Fraternity strengthened their hold on first place in the Intramural Basketball league last week, increasing their record to seven wins against no reverses. Frosh Appoint Two For Stunt Night

The freshman class in its first meeting of the new semester, February 19, began plans for the second term. Treasurer Dave Smith reported that $22.07 was given the class from the Frosh-Soph Ball.

Harry Nelson and Charlotte Winner were appointed by president Jay Shenk to make arrangements for Stunt Night, March 5. The class decided to set aside a dues day in order to have all dues paid by the end of the year.

Dean LeVan P. Smith requested that a representative be elected to the Committee of the Student Union Building, which is to form the rules for the use of the building. This committee, said Dean Smith, will consist of a representative from each class, the student council president, and five faculty members. Kathleen Guenther was elected freshman representative by an overwhelming majority.

Arrangements were discussed for a roller skating party to be held sometime in March.

Committee Reveals Plans for Stunt Nite Scheduled Mar. 5

Plans for Stunt Night, March 5, have been formulated by the Faculty-Student Committee and approved by the Student Council. The following have been sent invitations to participate: Phi Alpha Tau and Phi Beta Mu Sororities; Alpha Phi Omega, Zeta Omega Epsilon, Phi Tau Beta and Kappa Upsilon Phi Fraternities; Freshman Class, Daywomen and Daymen.

The committee has stated, however, that any other groups which can satisfy the set criteria are eligible to make application. All groups are required to return applications and Stunt Night outline on or before March 3 to the committee, members of which are Dean LeVan P. Smith, Nan Heckman and Jack Gowdner.

Criteria For Presenting Stunt-Night Activities

- The skit or stunt should have the approval of the adviser of the organization.
- It should be free of words, action, or any other reference toward practices incompatible with the principles of the school.
- The stunt should not contain any material that can be considered indecent.
- It should be prepared in such manner as to be of general appeal to the whole audience.

Judging to be done by the following points:
10 excellent—0 unacceptable.
1. Performance—10%
a. The amount of preparation apparent in the skit.
b. The excellence of performance of individual participants.
c. The continuity and smoothness with which the whole skit is presented.

a. The presentation creatively written, directed and acted by the group shall receive more consideration than one imitating or duplicating that which has been done professionally.
3. Entertainment value—10%

b. Good taste—Good taste can be defined as that which is inoffensive to the great majority of the audience.
Recommendations are:

- Each skit should be limited to a maximum time of 15 minutes. If 8 groups participated this would mean two hours.
- Three judges be selected, either two faculty people and a disinterested outsider or 3 faculty people.
- The four fraternities, two sororities, freshman class, daymen and daywomen be invited to participate. Any other groups who can satisfy the criteria suggested are eligible to make application.
- Each organization should submit a copy of their planned skit to the committee in order to prevent duplication.
- If possible, music will be provided by the dance band.

Woman Journalist Addresses STD

"Journalism as a Career" was the theme of the February meeting of Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity, last Wednesday evening. Mrs. Marjorie Moyer, an Albright alumna and experienced newspaper woman, spoke about the thrills and satisfaction of journalism, not neglecting, however, the difficulties of entrance into the profession, especially for women.

Mrs. Moyer outlined the set-up of the Reading Times (as a typical small city newspaper) and illustrated from her own experiences on the paper, the type of work demanded and the attendant difficulties. Although the turnover is great in newspaper work, the beginner often has difficulty breaking into the field. Mrs. Moyer suggested that future Ernie Pyles apply to the managing editor and then submit assignments proving that they are competent and interested.

President Henrietta Morrison announced that next month Sigma Tau Delta would open its meeting to all campus for the presentation of a sound movie in color showing magazines in making. The film, "Magazine Magic," is furnished by the Curtis Publishing Company and should be of interest to all.

Landman Praises Bible as Great Force, Discusses Religion as an Opiate

Rabbi Solomon Landman, of Kew Gardens, Long Island, was on campus last Tuesday and Wednesday and delivered a series of lectures on Judaism before chapel programs and religion classes. Brought here through arrangements with the Jewish Chataqua Society, Rabbi Landman also addressed the weekly "Y" meeting and led a discussion following his talk.

Highlighting the chapel service on Tuesday was Rabbi Landman's discussion of the importance of the Bible throughout the years. He expressed the idea that although many people of this modern era tend to doubt and take on a new attitude of the Holy Book, it still remains the greatest historical, literary, legal, humanistic, and idealistic force of our times. He then pointed out that the struggle in the Bible days is basically the same struggle we have today the struggle for a better society.

Smith Urges Swift Action in Founding World Government

"Union now or never," was the warning that Professor Lewy Smith gave to the students and faculty assembled for the annual open meeting of the Philosophy Club on Monday, February 16.

Professor Smith pointed out in his talk that the type of philosophy behind the world state to be established will depend upon the purpose for which it is organized—to rid the world of war (dictatorship could do it), to extend freedom to all peoples, or to obtain greater power for individuals or one group. Professor Smith went on to say that out of sheer necessity, a world state will be born. Depending upon the outcome of a third world war, it will be either communistic, democratic or anarchistic. Because the democratic nations have been too slow in adjusting to changing world conditions, because the Russians are further advanced in unified planning for world government and because Moscow has been out-guessing London and Washington in world politics (Palestine and China, for example) the indications are that the world state will be communistic—unless the democracies accelerate their world education program and take immediate steps to counter check Russia.

Professor Smith outlined these steps as being: First, the establishment within a year of a United States of Europe. Second, the unionization of Canada, Australia, and the United States and the final federation with the United States of Europe. Only in this way can the democracies become so invincible that Russia will not dare to attack, and Russia, unless she collapses from within, will be forced to join them. Only through a democratic world state be assured.

In discussing the Marshall Plan Professor Smith maintained that the United States is not capable of carrying on long-range financing of support of Europe and of the expensive preparedness plans which we have made. The possibility of a depression in our nation is ever present. Thirdly, the debts incurred by Britain, France and the United States from the last two wars can not be liquidated and the economy stabilized unless an over-all government assumes the debts of these nations as our nation did after the American Revolution. Only by this means can the four hundred billion dollar debt of the combined countries be resolved.

In conclusion, Professor Smith stated that if we want a world state based upon democratic principles, it is necessary that we move swiftly—that we act now, by-passing the United States for the present. A world state is in the balance, and the scales are tipping in the direction of Moscow.

Spanish Club Plugs Pan-American Day

At a meeting of La Sociedad Cultural Espanol held last Monday, plans were revealed for the club's celebration of Pan American Day on April 1. Joyce Thompson and Ernest Schleier, co-chairmen of the committee, presented the tentative program for the affair and announced the following committee heads:

Decorations, Samuel Santasprit; food, Dorothy Yeager; programs, Marilyn Himmelstein; publicity, Mary Fry, president of the group; costume, Humbert Manzoillo; music, Janet Tonkin; and dance, Nancy Matten.

Juniors Plan For Future 'Cue' Election

At a junior class meeting last Thursday, William Marlow, class president, asked the students for suggestions to give to the student-faculty committee on the student Union Building. He also asked the class to think about candidates for "Cue" editor and business manager; election for these offices will be held at the next class meeting.

The World Challenges

In conclusion, the guest speaker said it is a challenge to us that we make the kind of a world in which we and our children live. The ideals of the Bible are still the ideals to which we dedicate ourselves if we are to gain in justice and righteousness.

At the "Y" meeting Tuesday evening Rabbi Landman had as his theme "Is Religion an Opiate of the Masses?" He believes that religion is an opiate when it is true religion. Some over-emphasize the fact that religion teaches that economically dependent people should remain so because they will receive their reward thereafter. He also pointed out that religion is based on revelation and revelation is the direct word of God which must be obeyed. Rabbi Landman then suggested a third opiate in religion; that is, the element of other worldliness.

No Regard for Words

Finally he stated that realistic observation, with no regard for moral values but having a magical procedure for securing life in the other world, is another opiate. In conclusion, he said that religion must be a way of life. Man must forever strive for the ideal of righteousness. When the prophetic element is strong in religion, said Rabbi Landman, it can not become an opiate.

Regner Addresses Thursday Chapel

Rabbi Sidney L. Regner was the guest speaker in senior-sophomore chapel, Thursday. Speaking on what life demands of us, he said that the important thing in life is giving, not getting.

Rabbi Regner remarked that Joseph Lieberman, author of the new best-seller "Peace of Mind," begins his book by relating that when he was a boy, he made a list of the things he thought life should give him, including health, riches, beauty and success. When he showed this list to his spiritual counselor, the man crossed off all the items on the list and wrote in their place, peace of mind. Rabbi Regner then said that we should consider not what life owes us, but what it demands of us.

Giving in Marriage

The important thing in a marriage is that both husband and wife cooperate instead of concentrating on their own satisfactions. In college we can also see that one cannot expect to appreciate a course if he expects the professor to do all the work. The student must participate as well.

Many people think that the trouble with our civilization is that the physical sciences are far ahead of the social sciences, and they insist that if we envened up the two, our problems would be solved.

The important thing for us to remember is that life is demanding, and the degree to which we give is the degree to which we will achieve success and peace of mind.
