Frank York Elected Student Council President

New Y Presidents Announced; Stillwaggon, Fisher Elected

Carolyn Stillwaggon, '59, and Frank Fisher, '58, were elected president of the YW and YM organizations, respectively, in all-campus balloting concluded on Wednesday. Mary Ellen Appleman, '58, and Carlton Dodge, '58, were also candidates for the two positions. Miss Stillwaggon is a native of Long Island, N. Y., and Fisher hails from Rummerfield.

The vote totals, as compiled by William West, '58, chairman of Student Council's Election Committee, gave Miss Stillwaggon a 92-54 edge over Miss Appleman and Fisher a 258-102 margin over Dodge. A total of 360 votes were cast for the YM head and 146 for the YW head.

Miss Stillwaggon is a dean's list student and an English major. She is a member of the Pi Alpha Tau sorority and the YW cabinet, and is active in the Dorm Council, Women's Student Senate, and Future Teachers of America.

Science Student

Fisher is a science student and a member of the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity. In addition, he is active in the YM cabinet and the Alchemists and German clubs.

Miss Stillwaggon and Fisher will replace Mary Jo Wolf, '57, and Ehrhardt Lang, '57, respectively.

Elections were held for three days beginning last Monday in the administration building. In accordance with Council's newly-formulated Election Code, different ballots were used for the YM and YW voting, which were distinguishable by a difference in color. Men voted only for the YM president and women only for the YW leader.

Selection of the Y vice-president, secretary, and treasurer will take place at a later time. The newly-elected leaders will have the responsibility for organizing the many-sided activities of the campus Y, which include, in addition to weekly meetings on Tuesday evenings, a fall and a spring retreat and many other similar activities.

'I'm A Fool' Set For April Presentation By Dramatics Group

A one-act play, "I'm a Fool", will be presented on April 12 at 10:45 a.m. and also on April 26 at 8:30 a.m. in the Wyomissing, Governor Mifflin and Hamburg high schools, respectively. Cgrustian Serge's play will be given by the Domino Club.

"I'm a Fool" is the tragically comic predicament of a boy who bragged too much at the wrong time. After swabbing horses all summer as a stablehand, George finally has been put into decent clothes again. Encouraged by a dude he meets, he begins to give himself airs and piles them on as he sees a young gentleman with his beautiful sister and a girlfriend. Knowing how one of the races will turn out, he tips them off—this is in order to meet the sister.

Investigation

They start talking, and George can't admit he's just a stable hand, so he starts telling about an imaginary estate and its thoroughbred horses—he even gives the names. The girl is impressed, and then she and George really begin to fall in love. She's the most wonderful girl George ever met! But she must leave soon. However, she sweetly tells him she'll write—she knows the address of his estate! George is crushed and he doesn't dare tell her the truth. Her letters will all be sent back to her! "There ain't no such guy—gosh, almighty, I hope I get cancer and die!"

Alexander Wipf, '60, plays the part of George, the stablehand, and Suzanne Kaltenstein, '60, plays the beautiful Lucy. Others in the cast are: Elizabeth Reynolds, '57, Harold Baughman, '58, Wilma Rieser, '58, Mary Ellen Wray, '58, Vaughn Mervine, '59, and Michael Teitelman, '60.

Dietzel Re-Elected President Of Class; Sudock Is Veep

Fred Dietzel was re-elected president of the class of 1959 at a sophomore class meeting held on Wednesday after chapel. Other newly-elected officers are: Frank Sudock, vice-president; Elizabeth Smith, secretary; Thomas Grant, treasurer; and Daniel Skeath, Student Council representative.

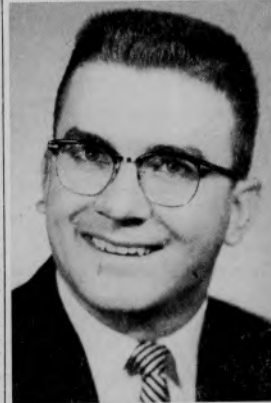

Dietzel, who has been a class officer since his enrollment at Albright, is a liberal arts student majoring in history. He comes from Ephrata, and is a member of the varsity basketball and baseball teams plus the Zeta Omega Epsilon fraternity. During his freshman year, he was vice-president of his class, and this year served as president.

History Student

Hailing from West Hazleton, Sudock is also a liberal arts student majoring in history. He is a member of the Zeta Omega Epsilon fraternity and the football team, and plays intramural basketball and baseball.

Miss Smith is another re-elected officer. She was secretary of the sophomore class this year. A home economics major from Lancaster, Miss Smith is active in cheerleading, women's basketball and hockey, and the Home Economics Organization. She also is a member of the Pi Alpha Tau sorority and is news editor of The Albrightian.

Albright Group Plans NY Trip

Six junior home economics majors will take part in the department's annual trip to New York City next Monday through Thursday, April 15 to 18. Miss Ernestine Elder, assistant professor of art and home economics, and Mrs. Pearl Bright, instructor in home economics, will accompany the group which will leave Reading by train early Monday morning.

Those students participating are Sandra Goepfert, Sheila Greene, Virginia Hatton, Bonnie Orr, Dorothy Spohn, and Elva Zarefoss, all of the class of '58.

Tour Agenda

Their agenda will include visits to the Good Housekeeping Institute, General Foods, Sears, Roebuck and Company, Hotel Suter food service, the Simplicity Pattern Company, and an all-night market trip.

The Albright group will also visit a variety of restaurants specializing in different types of food and service. Among those scheduled are the Charleston Garden's of B. Altman's, the Marine Grill of the Sheraton-McAlpin Hotel, the Bird Cage tea room in Lord and Taylor's, the Miako restaurant, and possibly the Rockefeller Center Restaurant, which is the largest service restaurant in the world.

In the entertainment line, they will attend a performance of "The Happiest Millionaire," the TV center of the "Voice of Firestone," and Radio City Music Hall.

IFC Spring Dance Slated For May 4

Inter-Fraternity Council's all-campus spring semi-formal dance will be held on May 4 in the Rajah Temple Ballroom, Larry Nester, '57, president of IFC has announced. Johnny Weiss' Band will provide the music from 9 p.m. to midnight. Tickets are on sale now for $2.50 a couple and may be obtained from any fraternity man. This is the first IFC spring all-campus dance and is open to both fraternity and independent students.

bright. He was class treasurer this year and is recording secretary of the Pi Tau Beta fraternity.

Winner Holds 123 Vote Edge

Frank York, '58, was elected president of Student Council for 1957-58 during the three-day all-campus elections concluded on Wednesday. Final tabulation of the ballots showed York ahead with a total of 328 votes to 205 for his opponent, Clair Matz, '58.

A total of 533 votes were cast in the all-campus balloting out of a possible 652. This represents an 81.7% turnout of the student body for the election. York's 328 total gave him 61.5% of the votes cast.

York is a junior from Nesquehoning who is a member of the Zeta Omega Epsilon fraternity. A business administration student, he has participated in football and track at Albright. York is at present a member of Student Council, representing his fraternity, and is chairman of Council's Student-Faculty Committee.

This committee has been active in working with the administration to solve the parking regulation problem that arose at the end of the first semester.

York based his campaign on an eight-point platform in which he pledged to: (1) hold periodic meetings with the presidents of all campus organizations, (2) strengthen school spirit, (3) attempt to open the library on Saturdays for the students, (4) maintain equality to all campus organizations in appointing committee chairmen and in planning activities.

Also to: (5) continue the student book exchange program, (6) improve the Friday night dances by having campus organizations sponsor them, (7) alter the orientation program, and (8) obtain a student parking lot to help relieve the tensions that have built up over the parking problem.

The new president's campaign managers were Robert Florindo, '57, and Robert Van Hoove, '58.

William West, '58, chairman of Council's Election Committee, was in charge of the election and the compilation of the results. York will succeed Clement Cassidy, '57, as president of Albright's student government.

Easter Communion

The Easter dawn Communion service will be held on April 17 at 6 a.m. in Teel Hall chapel. Featured speaker will be Reverend Lester E. Fetter of Alsace Lutheran Church, Reading. Student worship leader will be Harold Baughman, '58, and the chaplain's position will be filled by Reverend Ronald Crocroft. Ronald Shannon, '60, will be a soloist.

Mixing Religion With Life

Gathered in the Blue Room of Selwyn Hall, Carolyn Stillwaggon, '59, Dr. Harry A. DeWire, and Rev. Robert S. Smethers, director of church relations, discuss religion and its connection with life. This was one of the many informal discussions that were held at various spots on campus this week in connection with Religion-in-Life Week.

Reflection

Now that Religion-in-Life Week has ended, it is fitting to look back over the multi-faceted program of events and reflect on the value of this special week to us, the students at a small liberal arts college. Foremost in our minds is perhaps the opportunity given to the student by the college through such programs to obtain a comprehensive view of life. By its very title, the emphasis is placed on making religion a part of our everyday lives and not just a weekly or monthly or yearly phenomenon.

Religion, to be of the most possible value to the student (or anyone), must be practiced seven days a week and 365 a year. Religious beliefs are not something that can be put on or taken off like a jacket and still retain meaning. The significant part of being a religious person is that the true beliefs come from the inside and can not be replaced by superficial external temptations.

Religion-in-Life Week gives a person the opportunity, no matter what his individual faith, to examine his beliefs and to determine whether they are always a part of his life or whether they are as a jacket to him. Our religious beliefs must become integral parts of our everyday life and our religion. Religion-in-Life Week presents to us the opportunity to analyze the character of our faith and determine whether we have set our standards high enough. P. A. E.

Dances

A long-awaited event here at Albright will finally become a reality this spring, but in double quantity. Talk of a spring all-campus dance comparable to the Ivy Ball of the first semester has persisted for some years on our campus, and some of the class dances have even been opened to everyone and thus became all-campus dances of a sort. But no one organization set out to have, and did have, an all-campus spring semi-formal. This year not one, but two organizations planned such spring dances and both will become realities in the near future. Student Council has set its "Spring Fantasy" for April 26 and the Inter-Fraternity Council plans its spring ball for May 4. Together these two dances should meet the persistent student suggestions for better social events here at Albright.

New social projects such as these two dances deserve the support of all Albrightians. The degree of support given to the events can be regarded as a valid measurement of the extent to which we as students are willing to support the ideas to which we are ever-ready to give lip service. Should we as students support these two dances, it will be giving verifiable proof that we are able to carry through our ideas to successful completion. Both Student Council and its spring dance committee under Dan Skeath and IFC, under president Larry Nester and vice-president Ernie Brodbeck, have worked hard to make their respective dances a success. Let's help them by giving our support to the projects by being in attendance on April 26 and May 4. P. A. E.

On The Bus

By George Withers

As the bus stopped to pick up a group of people standing on the sidewalk, the passengers were pushed forward. Conversation was interrupted for some and deep thoughts were invaded for an elderly man whose face seemed to forecast the end of the world.

The first of the group to enter was a sixteen-year-old boy with a bad complexion. A pair of skates knocked the philosophical old gentleman in the face, as the boy filed down the aisle.

The next to alight was a couple about fifteen and seventeen years of age. They were trying to be mature, but really portrayed that they were adolescents. They found room for two on the long bench against the bus and became absorbed in each other.

Weary

The next, a weary, white-haired woman, dragged her bag up the steps and set it down while rummaging for change. As she moved down the aisle, it was evident there were no vacant seats. She carried the cumbersome bag along, while the passengers looked straight ahead or out of the window.

The pair of lovers were making plans for the May prom. The old man seemed to be calculating the time for the end of the world, as his eyes pierced into the darkness. The teenager was too absorbed by a pert red-head in front of him to notice anyone else. The rest of the passengers: four middle-aged women were discussing their weekly bowling match—their chance of winning and of losing; sixteen others—brazen girls and boys of junior high level, going to a class party.

Old Woman

The old woman put down her bag and leaned against a seat. In the light, one could see a face outlined by wrinkles and a frail body draped with cast-off clothes. It seemed that for the next ten minutes the only thing that prevented her from falling was sheer determination.

Suddenly the bus swerved to the right and stopped, throwing the old woman into a young boy who glared at her. Haughtily a bleached blond stepped up, receiving careful scrutiny from the bus driver. She, however, did not have to stand, for three seats were hastily offered her—one from the old man, one from the sixteen-year-old, and one from the youth who had just glared at the old woman. She accepted the seat from the youth matter-of-factly, pulled out a file and began to work on her nails.

The old woman stood by the blonde, as if she had seen nothing. Then she jerked the bell for the bus to stop and wobbled indignantly down the aisle, as though she had always been accustomed to this subservient treatment.

Albright Personality

• Betty Weilenman •

By Ann Miller

Four years ago this active, young lady arrived at Albright College from Cliffside Park, New Jersey. She immediately has launched into studies in the psychology course.

Betty's years at Albright have been filled with more than many activities. She has been very active in "Y" cabinet and is at the present time serving as secretary of that group. As a member of the Pi Alpha Tau sorority, she is kept busy as recording secretary. Since Betty is especially fond of music, she is a member of the college glee club, and returned last week from the club's annual tour. Among her other activities are membership in Pi Gamma Mu and past membership in the German Club. She is presently pledging the honorary alumnae sorority, Phi Delta Sigma.

Her hobbies include not only music and dancing, but an interest in our feline friends. Betty has more than once offered her piano playing talent to evening vesper programs and "Y" activities.

Dream

One of her long-range dreams is graduate school in social work. This week-end she made a long trip west to the University of Pittsburgh for an interview and to attend a social work career day.

In connection with courses in social work and leadership training, Betty worked with the Family Service and the Y.W.C.A. in Reading. This summer, she hopes to work at a social service agency. Betty plans to follow a career along this line.

the profs have turned human and are beginning to realize that spring has arrived. They are becoming more lenient(?) with homework and they even allow the students to leave five minutes before the bell rings. (Please! If anyone attends a class such as this, let me know and I'll enroll immediately.)

Favorite

Spring has its "Ups and downs", but it's still my favorite season, because, just think, only two more months of school!

By the way, the winner of the "What To Do With Albright's Unused Social Rooms" contest (March 29, 1957) is Mike Teitelman. Mike suggested that the rooms be used to house counterfeiting machines. This will also take care of all the financial problems of the students of Albright. So put in your orders now, if you're low in cash. Mr. Teitelman will receive the prize which is a year's subscription to "Playboy" Magazine.

gled cries of joy and pain from the afflicted within.

Fortunately, contagious as it is, the fever does not leave any permanent scars or deformities, and with some cases seems to come and go in attacks. When it has passed, the afflicted is almost normal again.

Out Of Hand

This is the first time in the history of Albright College that one problem has gotten so out of hand. Investigators say that fresh air, sunshine and active outdoor sports afford the best remedy. Already some of the stronger ones have made it to the tennis courts and baseball diamond. They are showing signs of great improvement. A complete cure is not known yet and attacks may recur at any time.

Take Heed

Those of you who haven't been affected as yet please heed this report and avoid the isolation wards. The cries of . . . "Double ill" . . . "100 Aces" . . . "Overstick" . . . "Misdeal" . . . "Yippee! You bucked!" . . . should be enough to keep you away. But remember, only the strong ones survive, and if you yield to the temptation of curiosity, you, too, may become an addict of the disease . . . Pinochle!!! "What's trump" . . . "You're under" . . . "You reneged!" . . . "Play your Ace" . . . "Double Pinochle — 30 points!!!"

Fever

By Sandra Gerhart

Berks County is famous for its beautiful (?) spring weather. You haven't lived until you've taken a walk in an open field, oozing with mud or experienced one of the late, late snow storms. And what can beat a ride to the Pagoda in a gorgeous convertible where you can see all the "sights" of Reading?

There is also a change in fashions during the spring season. Monstrosities are created and are classified as hats. Colors that aren't suitable for a dog-house are used in the new spring outfits. On campus bermudas that have been seen all winter are still being seen—only now the long socks have been discarded.

Love is in the air. Fellows, who have hibernated all winter, finally leave their shells and choose the girl of their dreams.

Albright students are patiently awaiting the longest vacation of the year. But we can always look forward to the final exams in May. (Who am I trying to kid!) Even

Epidemic

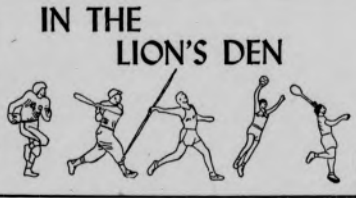

By Patricia Nein

Flash! Word has just been received that an epidemic has broken out on the campus of Albright College. Over 50 per cent of the student body are suffering from the disease.

Investigation

Immediate investigation has not been able to discover a cause or cure for the malady. Many would diagnose it as Spring fever, because it has some similar symptoms: no desire for learning, yawning in class (when present, which isn't often) and lack of interest in life's responsibilities. But this is a different disease. It has several symptoms which contradict the Spring-Fever Theory. Those suffering from this fever are generally found in the Daymen's room, Daywomen's room, or TV room. Those who were frequenters of the SUB have vacated it. Spring fever is a call to the outdoors, but this disease calls its victims inside. Visitors passing the TV room are sure to hear min-

Lions Defeat Penn In Season's Opening Game

By Lee Swartz, Sports Editor

Fair April skies, and in the air
The stroke of bat, the whistling sphere,
The men in blue who call them fair,
Another baseball season's here.

Congratulations to Coach Potsklan and the baseball squad for an impressive performance against a tough University of Pennsylvania team. Those Penn Quakers walloped Villanova 12-6, in their debut, but bit off more than they could chew against our Lions. Get a load of that powerful keystone combination—second baseman Bob Kovack and short-stop Bob Shoup with back to back triples in the first inning. Also a pat on the back to Jim Doremus, freshman catcher, who made his entrance into college ball a resounding one, banging out three timely hits.

The Albright team, built on a foundation of veterans plus a good crop of new talent should bear watching this season as one of the most powerful clubs in the eastern Pennsylvania area. Although the Lions' strength at this time seems to lie in pitching, with three starters, Tom Pollock, Fred Dietzel, and Verne Engle, back in the fold in addition to four freshmen, as of now untried, their hitting attack has proved more than adequate in the first game as a total of nine hits were pounded out against their Ivy League opponents.

Elsewhere in the area, Lafayette, a perennial favorite, Gettysburg, and Moravian pose as strong contenders with Ursinus, Susquehanna, and Bucknell erratic but dangerous in the past. Despite a strong schedule of 21 games, which includes all teams mentioned, the Lions must be picked to better their 11-5-2 record of last season.

Outdoor Sports . . .

Often times in the Spring with baseball, track, tennis and golf in the spotlight we tend to forget a sport with more participants than all these others combined. For fellows who like the seclusion of woodland and stream, April 15 is an important day indeed. Here the contest is an individual one as the sportsman battles an opponent which knows not and cares less for conventional rules. The competitor is twelve inches of flashing, slashing fury, coupled with instinctive cunning and a fighting heart, the eastern brook trout is ounce for ounce one of the toughest contestants to conquer. Monday morning at 5:00 a.m., the battle commences with the race going usually to the swiftest (the trout), although a record catch is predicted for this season. We heartily recommend fishing as an enjoyable pastime. See you all out there Monday morning. (Of course we'll all be back in time for 8:00 a.m. classes.)

Sympathy goes to Albright's Tennis and Golf squads who, due to bad weather conditions, had a combined total of three matches postponed. An exhibition track meet with Kutztown State Teachers College on Monday was also cancelled. Let's hope the April showers hold off this week, giving our athletes a chance to perform.

Intra-mural Competition . . .

With the launching of our spring inter-collegiate sports season, varsity sports are naturally the most prevalent in our minds. We become engrossed in a mass of records past and present and sometimes forget an important part of athletics on the campus. Here at Albright our intra-mural sports program is growing every year. Its spring representative is softball. Competing for league title are the four social fraternities plus the Daymen's organization and the Dormitory. Games are played both on the Science Hall Field and Kelchner Field. Although its fundamental purpose is providing recreation for those engaged in varsity sports, a trophy for the league championship is presented. With keen competition and lots of spirit the intra-mural players add to the color and tradition of the baseball season.

Dietzel Gains Victory For Albright Nine

Albright College opened its 1956 baseball season successfully against the University of Pennsylvania as they defeated the Ivy Leaguers, 6-3, at Kelchner Field on April 13. The game was played under harsh weather conditions, rain and cold.

Tom Pollock started on the hill for the Lions. He pitched five innings, giving up two runs on six hits. Pollock was relieved by Fred Dietzel who pitched two scoreless innings and gave up only one hit. Dietzel was credited with the win for Albright. Jack Langhorne was the loser for Penn.

Lions Score

Albright scored first in the contest on back to back triples by Bob Kovack and Bob Shoup and a run producing single by Captain Bob Fiorindo.

Penn scored on two errors and a single by first baseman Joe Glazer in the third inning. In the fourth inning, the Pennsylvanians scored the tying run on two more errors, a walk and a sacrifice fly.

It was not until the sixth inning, that Albright scored again in the contest. John Mishko led off the inning with a walk, and was sacrificed to second by Dietzel. Jim Doremus socked the second of his three hits to score Mishko and give Albright a 3-2 lead. Dale Yoder reached first on an error by the shortstop and the Lions had runners on first and second with one down.

Jones Singles

Bob Jones stepped up to the dish and laced out a sharp single to rightfield that scored Doremus and advanced Yoder to third base. Yoder scored a moment later on Kovack's fly to centerfield that was ruled a trapped ball but later resulted as a force play on Jones. The Lions scored three runs and led 5-3.

In the seventh inning, a walk, single, error, and a very alert double play from Kovacks, to Shoup to Mishko, to Doremus resulted in a Penn run but got Albright out of a tight jam.

'Ore Run

Albright countered in the seventh on a leadoff single by Fiorindo, a walk issued to Mishko, and a solid double by catcher Doremus to right-center field.

The game was halted after seven innings by the umpires because of darkness with the score: Albright 6, University of Pennsylvania 3.

Trackmen Meet St. Joseph's

The Albright College Track team will face powerful St. Joseph's tomorrow afternoon in the college stadium. Co-captains Don Gottshall and Ken Greenawald will lead the Lions against one or the better track teams of the east. Gottshall runs in the 440 and 880 while Greenawald runs the 100 and 220.

Other lettermen that Coach Eugene Shirk can bank on include Norm Klingerman, Ray Feick, Jack Cunningham, Dick Thrasher, Bob Wetzel, George Mack, Clell Hostetter, Pierre Blanchet, Dick Kelly, and Tom Faust.

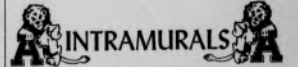

Freshmen Charlie Smith, Sam Rufford, Larry Barr, Fred Little, Dennis Bohn, Jim Ream, and Jim Todd will also be counted on. Freshman Lew Molnar, who runs the 440 and 880 will see no action due to an ankle injury. The trackmen will also entertain Swarthmore in a dual meet at home next Wed., April 17. The 1956 team won five dual meets and lost one. They also won two triangular meets and placed second in another.

Baseball, Net Squads To Play

The Albright College baseball and tennis squads will have a busy weekend. The baseball team journeys to Wilkes in Wilkes-Barre today and plays host to Dickinson's Red Devils on Monday. The netmen will tangle with West Chester at West Chester today and meet St. Joseph's tomorrow on the Lions' courts.

Wilkes is an addition to the baseball schedule this year, but Dickinson is an old rival who was added to the Red and White's list of victories last year. This season, however, the Red Devils have a victory over Bucknell under their belt thus far and the game should prove a difficult test.

West Chester, always a tough net foe, defeated the Albright team last year, while the Lions defeated St. Joseph's in a close match.

Kappa, Zeta Baseball Victors

Defending softball champs Alpha Pi Omega were defeated by last year's first half champs, Kappa Upsilon Phi, in one of the two opening games of the softball intramurals. In the other game Zeta Omega Epsilon put on a late rally to defeat Pi Tau Beta.

Kappa started with last year's All-Star hurler, Larry Nester, who went the distance giving up five hits with only one walk while striking out three. Kappa scored the only two runs of the game in the first inning on one hit as Jay Miller walked and romped home on Steve Nicolo's triple to deep right field. Nicolo scored the last run seconds later when Bill Brenneman tied to left field. From then on Jack Linton allowed only three hits and four walks while striking out one, but the damage was done.

One Chance

APO's lone chance to score occurred in the 6th inning when, with two out, Brooke Moyer and Larry Harter made back to back singles to left field. Moyer was declared out when he tried to go from first to third on Harter's single.

Doug Layman hit a three run homer in the first inning to put Pi Tau Beta in front, but Zeta's Frank Sudock did the same thing to climax a seven run outburst in the 5th inning to lead the Zeta's to a 12-9 win. Ernie Brodbeck led the Zeta attack on All Star hurler Myron Hallock with 5 for 5, including a double. Frank Hoffman went the route for the victors giving up 11 hits. Layman, Lou Benedict, Al Ellis, and Ron Brown each collected two hits to pace Pi Tau.

Monday's action finds Kappa playing the Daymen on the Science Field and APO playing Pi Tau on the Baseball Field. Kappa hosts Zeta on Tuesday on the Science Field while the Daymen visit APO at the Baseball Field. All afternoon games start at 4:05 p.m.

Golfers Host To F&M Today

After having two previous matches cancelled due to rain, the golf team will play its first home match today at Reading Country Club. Coach Paul Madden will have Bill Brenneman in the first position with Captain Willie Smith second, Dom Mazza in the third slot and Ernie Brodbeck, Bill Protheroe, and Gene Burns in the fourth, fifth, and sixth positions, respectively. Their opponents will be the Franklin and Marshall team.

The contest is played according to college match rules which award one point in the singles competition to the winner of the first nine holes, one point for the back nine, and one point for the entire match, a total of three points per individual singles and eighteen points for the contest.

Albright Students Express Varied Opinions On Unions

In a recent all-campus survey among the student body on the question of the week, "In view of the recent investigations of labor unions, do you think that new laws should be proposed to regulate such groups," Albrightians revealed the following varied comments, as gathered by Robert Poff, '60.

Mel Horst, '57: "No, any groups organized for the benefit of large segments of our population have the constitutional right to administer their funds and operate their organization in the way they desire. Restricting laws are necessary only where the constitutionality of our judiciary system is being jeopardized."

Madelyn Reist, '58: "Yes, these unions have only defeated their own purposes in these instances. New laws should be made to regulate such practices."

Robert Wool, '59: "The proposal is, of course, an excellent one. The labor unions at present are powerful political machines which have been enforcing their own legislation with the government and public watching quite stupidly. When we begin to realize that these "juvenile delinquents" can be slapped down, we'll begin to free ourselves from their yokes."

Raymond Sauer, '60: "Yes, there should be legislation enacted to prevent the misuse of union funds. Possibly, an outside, unprejudiced group could be formed by law to check and regulate the use of such funds."

Parents' Weekend Schedule Announced

Barbara Pelkus, '58, has announced that the 1957 Parents' Weekend will be held on May 11 and 12. Miss Pelkus, who serves as chairman of the Student Council Committee in charge of the event said that registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. on Saturday, May 11 in both Selwyn Hall and Teel Hall.

Tours of the campus and a luncheon at noon will follow for the parents. Featured in the day's program will be the traditional May Queen Coronation at 2 p.m. and a banquet and spring musicale in the evening.

The Pi Alpha Tau Sorority will conduct a tree-planting ceremony on Sunday morning, May 12, after which there will be a morning worship service in White Chapel Hall.

Sonia Kay Flicker, '57: "It is my opinion that any corruption in our society should be dealt with through the passing of new laws, though I believe that a group as large as a labor union should have some way of keeping check on their own funds—if this is impossible then laws would be proposed."

John Preska, '58: "No, I think that, as a result of these investigations the top officials of the labor unions will make stronger efforts to keep them in line."

Martha Richards, '59: "No, strict regulations for such groups defeat the purpose of the organization. Some laws are necessary but this is a democratic government and as long as these organizations adhere to federal law they should not be restricted."

Alexander Wipf, '60: "Questions! Questions! Questions! All I get is questions. Every day in the classroom, on the street corner, in the local hang outs. I'm sick and tired of questions. Sick! Sick! Sick! If you don't stop I'll go mad. Ah! Ah!"

Berks County Day Held On Campus

Juniors and seniors from Berks County High Schools got a taste of college life on Berks County Day, last Saturday.

Seventy-five students registered for the first Berks County Day since 1950. After registering, the students were taken on guided tours where they saw exhibits in the chemistry, biology, physics, education, home economics and modern language departments.

Following the tour they returned to Krause Hall where they were addressed by Dean George W. Walton. Other speakers were Terrence Connor, a Reading attorney; Melvin Horst, senior class president, and Jane Shay, '57, who acted as mistress of ceremonies.

A panel discussion was the feature of the program and participating in this were Eustace Renner, '59, moderator; Clair Matz, '58; Josephine Seyfert, '58, William Garrett, '59, and Nancy Heilman, '60. The topic was "A Day at Albright."

After the morning activities, the students were guests at a luncheon in the cottage dining hall.

Spring Retreat Set For April At YW Camp

The Spring Y Retreat will be held on April 27 and 28. Chairman Mildred Folk, '58, has announced. The retreat will be held at the Blue Mountain Y.W.C.A. Camp.

The group will leave Saturday morning, April 27 and return Sunday afternoon, April 28. Transportation will be provided. The featured speaker will be Willy Mallon, a graduate of Albright. His topic will be, "Encounter with God."

Other highlights of the retreat will be that the men will cook the meals on Saturday and also serve them. Boating and possibly swimming will be provided for recreation.

Registration

Registration for the retreat will take place next week and the following week until Thursday, April 25 on the first floor of the administration building. The fee is $2.50 per person.

At its meeting on Tuesday, the Y will sponsor an Easter egg hunt for the children of the Children's Home in Reading. Mary Ann Sherk, '59, is chairman of the event.

Cars will be leaving the Selwyn Hall parking lot at 6:15 p.m. and the egg hunt will start at approximately 6:30 p.m. Small gifts of candy will also be given to the children.

On April 23, slides of Y retreats of past years will be shown. A movie will also be presented and slides of Sierra Leone, Africa. Mary Ellen Wray, '58, is in charge of the meeting, which will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Pine Room, Selwyn Hall. Everyone is invited to participate.

Tonight!

"Lost Horizon" will be shown tonight in Krause Hall at 8 p.m. as the Student Council Movie of the Week. Ronald Coleman, Thomas Mitchell, June Wyatt will star in tonight's feature. Admission is free at this all-campus affair.

Glee Club Presents Religious Concert

The Glee Club gave a sacred concert at the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Nativity, Reading, last Sunday evening.

Under the direction of Lester R. Yeager, assistant professor of music, the group sang nine sacred numbers. Sonia Flicker, '57, sang the soprano solo in "Psalm 122" (Taylor).

Included in the repertoire were selections by the women's chorus and an alto solo by Kathleen Forry, '57, "As the Rain Cometh Down" (MacDermid). The octet sang, "Deep River," "Sarry" and "Glory and Honor" (Machmaninoff).

Members of the octet for this concert were Miss Flicker, Miss Forry, William Garrett, '59, Pauling Zeigler, '59, Barbara Boyer, '60, Donald Matthews, '60, Richard Reidler, '60, and Edward Traves, '60.

Anne Young, '59, accompanied the group.

The Lutheran League of Nativity Church served refreshments to the Glee Club following the concert.

Archeologist Scheduled As Next Cultural Speaker

Dr. Helmut de Terra, whose adventures in archaeology have taken him to three continents, will present the final cultural program of 1956-57 on Thursday, April 25 at 11 a.m. in Krause Hall. He will speak on "Adventures in Antiquity on Three Continents" as the man who discovered Tepepan Man, the oldest human remains found in middle America.

Presently a research associate at Columbia University, he was in Spain on archaeological expeditions prior to a recent Italian trip. He went to Spain under the auspices of the Wenner-Gren Foundation for Anthropological Research and Columbia.

Dr. de Terra, a distinguished scientist, departed for Italy early in the spring of 1956 to join a team of Swiss, American, and Italian colleagues to hunt for the remains of a creature known to paleontologists as Oropithecus. Until recently it was thought to be a long-extinct ape.

New Discovery

Then, in March of 1956, Dr. de Terra and a fellow scientist, Dr. Johannes Hurseler, announced that it belonged to the earliest progenitor of man, who is believed to have lived ten million years ago. This startling hypothesis is said to challenge Darwin's doctrine that man and the manlike apes have a common ancestor.

Digging out the secrets of the pre-dawn of history is no novelty to Dr. de Terra. Back in 1947, in the soft wet earth of Tepepan, Mexico, his hands met a smooth bone surface, and he unearthed the skull of what is believed to be the oldest human remains ever uncovered in the Americas, the famous Tepepan Man, about 15,000 years old.

SC Spring Dance Planned For April

A spring all-campus semi-formal dance will be held on Friday, April 26 from 9 p.m. to 12 midnight in the fieldhouse. This dance, which is a new star on the horizon of campus activities this year, has been designated as "Spring Fantasy," and promises to be of the first magnitude.

Chairman of the all-school dance, Daniel Skeath, '59, has announced that music will be provided by "Maynard McKissich, His Trumpet, and His Orchestra." At intermission, Maynard McKissich will present a concert which promises to be one of the highlights of the evening.

Chairmen

In charge of publicity and decorations is John Luckenbill, '58. Refreshment chairman is John Tibbetts, '59, and ticket chairman is Clair Matz, '58.

"Spring Fantasy" is sponsored by Student Council. A large attendance is expected at this event. It is the wish of Student Council to restart an all-campus spring dance. Although such an enterprise has never been fully realized, it is hoped that the "Spring Fantasy" will be the initial step in inaugurating an annual spring all-campus event.

Eyrich Heads UN Assembly

Philip Eyrich, '58, was elected president of the 1958 Mid-Atlantic Model United Nations General Assembly at this year's meeting of that group at Princeton University last weekend. Charles A. Raith, assistant professor of political science, was also named to the Continuation Committee at the four-day sessions ending last Sunday. The 1958 Conference will be held at either Cornell University, Ithaca, New York or Duquesne University, Pittsburgh.

Others in attendance at the model U.N. from Albright, in addition to William R. Bishop, assistant professor of history, were Clement Cassidy, '57, Franklin Joseph, '57, Arthur Saylor, '57, Gerald Skrocki, '57, Ivan Mendelsohn, '58, Robert Van Hoove, '58, Robert Peckham, '59, John Tibbetts, '59, Carolyn Adams, '60, and Sandra, Miller, '60.

Resolution Passed

The Albright delegation represented the country of Japan at the meetings. A resolution drawn up by the Japanese delegation and cosponsored by six other Asian-African nations was passed by the Political and Security Committee, and by the General Assembly. The resolution pertained to the Algerian question and called for the establishment of a U.N. committee to investigate the situation.

Speakers at the conference included William L. Holland, editor of Pacific Affairs magazine, Prof. Harlan Cleveland, dean of the Maxwell Graduate School of Citizenship and Public Affairs at the University of Syracuse, and Prof. Ahmed Bokhari, Under-Secretary-General of the United Nations.

Previous to the Model U.N., the International Relations Club held its elections for 1957-58 officers on April 3. Eyrich was named president of the organization and Mendelsohn was elected vice-president. Miss Miller and Tibbetts were elected secretary and treasurer, respectively. Jack Linton, '58, was named delegate-at-large to the club's Executive Committee.

Teel Vespers

Ronald O'Reilly, '58, will be the speaker at this Sunday's vesper service in Teel Hall chapel beginning at 7:00 p.m.
