Mayor, City Queen Observe Pan American Celebration

In celebration of Pan American Day on April 14, La Sociedad Cultural Espanola and students from the Spanish classes are preparing a series of events to commemorate the eighteenth anniversary of the day. Having as the theme of this year's celebration, "The Americas Must Serve Mankind," the Albright commemoration will be highlighted by a program and fiesta to be held in the Student Union Building on Wednesday, April 14 at 8:00 p.m., Stockler in charge. All students are invited to attend the program.

Upon request of La Sociedad Cultural Espanola, The Honorable John F. Davis, Mayor of the City of Reading, will issue a proclamation asking schools and civic organizations in the city to observe the day appropriately, announced Mary Fry, president. The proclamation was prepared and delivered to the Mayor by several club members.

Miss Marie Henne, Reading's Bicentennial Queen, will attend the Wednesday evening program on campus and have a part in the program. The Spanish students will present the Albright radio program on Tuesday, April 13 from 2:15 to 2:30 p.m.

Invitations Extended

Because of the community and civic interest in Pan American Day, La Sociedad Cultural Espanola has extended invitations to the civic clubs of Reading, the Spanish classes of city and county high schools, and various Reading churches.

Also invited are the Ladies' Auxiliary of the College, the College Faculty, the Veterans' Wives Organization, Dr. J. Arthur Heck of the Theological Seminary, and the Spanish group from Lebanon Valley College.

Four Profs Attend Science Academy; Read Biol. Papers

Dr. Clarence A. Horn, Professors Marcus H. Green, Charles Hollenbach, and Larry Haag represented Albright College at the annual spring meeting of the Pennsylvania Academy of Science held at Grove City College on March 25, 26, and 27.

Discussions and papers presented on genetics, biology, and botany, and the means of finding talent in the science field and securing proper educational opportunities for these qualified persons comprised the subjects discussed at the meeting.

Albright Alumni

Professor Green read a paper, "An unusual collateral vascular adaption which compensates for the absence of a cilia axis in Squalus acanthias (Lin.)." "An anomaly of the abdominal vein in the adult bullfrog" was the subject of a paper presented by Professor Hollenbach. Albright alumni attending the sessions were Kenneth Dearoff, curator of the State Museum at Harrisburg, Pa.; Kenneth Bergstresser, head of the Biology Department at Moravian College; and Dennis Strawbridge, at present of Syracuse University, who also read a paper.

The meeting was attended by geologists, physicists, and biologists from practically every university, college, and high school in Pennsylvania. Professor Green served during the past year as vice-president of the eastern district of the Academy.

Hamilton Appointed Penn Summer Prof

Dr. Milton W. Hamilton, Professor of History, has been appointed Visiting Professor of History at the University of Pennsylvania six weeks summer session this year. He will offer two courses: "The History of the United States and Pennsylvania, and Methods of Teaching the Social Studies."

The history professor taught at the University in the 1946 summer session and previously held a similar summer appointment at Penn State. He is now editor of the Pennsylvania Historical Association journal, "Pennsylvania History," which is issued under the imprint of the University of Pennsylvania Press.

Scene of Spring 'Y' Retreat

Schnable Retreat Speaker; Registration Starts Tomorrow

Rev. George E. Schnable will be the guest speaker at the annual spring "Y" Retreat to be held the weekend of May 1 and 2 at Bynden Wood, announced Shirley Doudy and Ralph Stoudt, co-chairmen of the retreat. Rev. Schnable, pastor of Albright Memorial E. U. B. Church of Washington, D. C., is a graduate of Albright, Class of 1917, and Syracuse University. The retreat speaker, a native of Olean, New York, organized the congregation

Attention Veterans

Unless veterans attending colleges and universities under the G. I. Bill notify Veterans Administration within 30 days before the end of a term or semester that they do not want to take leave, VA automatically will place them on 15 days leave.

VA explained that veterans in these schools are placed on subsistence rolls from the date of enrollment until 15 days after the close of the term or semester. This automatic 15-day leave policy makes it possible for veterans studying under the accelerated program to receive unbroken subsistence payments between terms or semesters.

A veteran placed on 15 days' leave will receive subsistence allowance for that period. His period of training at government expense will be reduced to 15 days.

Veterans who do not want their entitlement so reduced should notify VA to that effect. VA forms to be used by veterans to signify that they do not want the leave are available at all schools. Forms referred to are not available at present. A formal written request from the veteran will suffice.

Those veterans who had an opportunity to express their choice on enrollment need not submit this form unless they want to change their previous selection.

'Y's Discuss Co-Ed Social Problems; Meet 7:30 Tonight

Dr. Marjorie Morrison, of Lebanon, Pa., will speak on the social problems of college men and women, especially pertaining to dating, courtship, and marriage, at the regular "Y" meeting tonight in the Lower Social Room at 7:30 p.m. Dr. Morrison is very well-known as a speaker on this subject, especially when it is presented to a co-ed group. The meeting will be very informal, and a discussion period will follow Dr. Morrison's talk.

Workshop and interest groups are being planned for the April 13 "Y" meeting. The worship committee is preparing a study of church music which will include the history of hymns and the importance of church music in the church program. Papers will be prepared by various members of the committee and will be presented at the meeting.

As another workshop group, approximately thirty students will visit the Old Folks' Home in Shillington, where they will present a varied music and talent program. Kay Collins and Peter Bohren of the Social Actions Committee are in charge of the program.

Last Tuesday, under the direction of Frank Bird and Esther Savidge, students worked on leather craft and made coin purses, wallets, belts, and running shorts. The "Y" meeting held in the Lower Social attracted about twenty-five students.

7 Future Teachers To Attend Confab

Seven delegates will represent the Albright chapter of the Future Teachers of America at an Inter-regional Conference which is to be held at West Chester State Teachers College on Friday, April 9.

Lucy Smith, vice president, presided over the April 1 F. T. A. meeting, and Ray Fidler led the discussion on the procedure for applying for a teachers' position through the teacher placement agencies. Election of new officers will be conducted by personally distributed ballots during the next week, and the new officers will be inducted at the next meeting.

It was also announced that Mr. Newton W. Geiss, former superintendent of Berks County schools, will be the speaker at the May 6 meeting of the group.

Albright Delegates Attend Model U. N. Represent United States on Four Committees

By VI SEIBERT

The third annual meeting of the Model General Assembly of the United Nations concluded its session at Cornell University on Saturday, April 3. At this meeting the United States was represented by delegates from the International Relations Club of Albright: Beverly Bresler, Vi Seibert, Dave Voigt, and Fred Wolf.

The present turmoil in international affairs was reflected in the deliberations of this Student Assembly in the opinion of the Albright delegation. The Assembly was divided for its work sessions into four main committees, namely, the Political and Security, the Social and Humanitarian, the Trusteeship, and the Economic and Financial Committee.

The Political and Security Committee adopted a resolution with the backing of the United States which recommends the elimination of the use of the veto in the Security Council in matters pertaining to the admittance of new members to the United Nations. On the afternoon that this resolution was passed by the Student Assembly, the Interim Committee of the General Assembly at Lake Success adopted a resolution embodying the same principle. Other action taken by this student committee was a resolution recommending the establishment of a Permanent Committee to replace the Interim Committee of of which he is now pastor. While at Albright, he was a member of varsity football squad and a roommate of Professor Lewis Smith.

Registration for the retreat will be held tomorrow and Thursday, April 7 and 8 on the first floor of the Administrative Building. The total cost of the week-end advance is $4.25, $1.25 of which is payable at registration. The camp can accommodate only 125 persons for the retreat.

The co-chairmen have also announced that the theme for the retreat program is "The Church." Included on the program will be varied forms of recreation, including swimming, hikes, ping pong, badminton, volley ball, bowling, archery, and softball. All meals will be served in the dining room of the main lodge. Buses will be chartered if no other transportation is available. The complete program for the week-end will be announced in a later issue of The Albrightian.

Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Handorf and Mrs. Annadora Vesper will be chaperons for the week-end. Other chaperons, as announced by Stoudt and Miss Doudy, are as follows: Stoudt, Thelma Degler, Tony Connor, Janice Miller, and Carl Bretz; worship, Shirley Miles, Wilson, Dickert, William Kellow, Edward Yarnell, and Kathleen Guenther; recreation, Marjorie Christ, Gloria McKittick, Jack Snook, and Jay Shenk. (Continued on Page 4)

Winter Honored By Chemist Society

Among the five science students honored by the Reading Chemists Club and the Lehigh Valley Section of the American Chemists Society was Stephen S. Winter, Albright chem major, who was awarded a prize for outstanding scholarship.

The award was made at a meeting of the group held recently on campus. Other award winners were students from Cedar Crest College, Lafayette College, Lehigh University, and Muhlenberg College.

Glee Clubs to Give Spring Concerts

The Men's Glee Club of Albright College will present a concert tonight, April 6, at 8:00 p.m. at Emmanuel Evangelical United Brethren Church, Sixth and Kerper Streets, Reading. Richard Cattermole, Business Manager, also announced that a concert will be given in the Trinity Evangelical Church on Sunday, April 11.

Both the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs will offer selections in the regular chapel programs, April 13 and 15 and will appear in Allentown on Friday, April 16.

Politics Class To Go to Penn For Meeting

Professor Lewis Smith's class in Political Parties will represent Albright College at the Model Political Convention in Philadelphia on April 9 and April 10. The convention, sponsored by the Intercollegiate Conference on Government, will be attended by students from the majority of colleges and universities of Pennsylvania. Convention headquarters will be at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, and all general sessions will be held in the Irvine Auditorium at the University of Pennsylvania.

United States Senator Francis J. Meyers, of Philadelphia, will welcome the delegates at the opening session. The planks of the Republican and Democratic parties will be presented by Congressman Donald Jackson of California and Congressman A. J. Forand of Rhode Island; the "Third Party" speaker will be designated in time for the convention. An actual political platform will be adopted at this convention, and the highlight of the sessions will be the nomination of actual candidates for the office of President and Vice-President of the United States.

Harp Chairman

Robert Harp will serve as the student chairman for the Albright delegation attending the convention, and Prof. Smith will accompany the group. Among the Albrightians planning to attend the conference are: Fred Wolf, William Ganster, Evans Keim, George Nahm, Allan Hyman, Ray Guest-wite, James Feeley, Eldon Young, Paul Ruth, Peter Shanaman, Lester Swartzel, Eugene Duffy, Gerald Hertzog, and Harp.

Dominos Sponsor Campus-wide Trip To Phila. Theatre

Dominos Club will sponsor a trip to Philadelphia this Saturday to see the matinee performance of Shakespeare's Anthony and Cleopatra, starring Katherine Cornell and Geoffrey Toole, announced Norman Telsey, president of the club.

Tickets Available

Tickets, which cost $3.30 per person and cover the entire trip, may be purchased from Telsey or Dorothy McFarland. Buses will leave the front of the college at 11:45 a. m. All students are invited to attend, and are advised to get their tickets early, as there are only 60 seats on the buses.

The London Evening Standard has called the play "noble and magnificent," and critics of three centuries, with few exceptions, from Coleridge to Watts, have been unanimous in their acclaim of this mighty love story, a tragedy of imperial as well as personal collapse.

Bones Club Stages Film on Anesthesia

The Skull and Bones Society will present a film entitled the "Adventure of Anesthesia" tomorrow evening, April 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the Merner-Pfeiffer Hall of Science. Prior to the film, Harold Cooper, treasurer of the group, will present a paper on anesthesia. In his paper, Cooper will present the latest available evidence on the technique and principles of anesthesia.

All members are urged to attend this meeting. Following the program a business meeting will be held, announced Franklin Ritter, president.

'Y' Services Need Musicians, Speakers

There is a need for speakers, pianists, and vocalists for devotional and recreational programs which the "Y" will present in various Reading churches. Anyone interested in helping in the deputations should contact Cieta Rein, Marjorie Christ, John Reside, or Robert Zeigler.

Council's Job

Within the next two weeks every Albrightian should receive five forms for the grading-of-the-professors. The idea which initiated this project came into reality largely through the efforts of Student Council representatives George Koehler and Beverly Bresler in cooperation with President Harry V. Masters and Dean George W. Walton. This accomplishment is rather surprising in view of the fact that among the students the opinion that "the thing will never go through" flowed comparatively freely some weeks back. This negativistic attitude was also expressed in the erroneous rumor by some students that the faculty had voted the project down before it had been presented in Council.

The bare fact of the matter is that our Student Council is functioning fairly well in spite of students misunderstanding its capacity. This organization is the student governing body representative of all the students, with the exception of evening students, through one organization or another. Even if a student belongs to no club, fraternity, or sorority, he is still represented by his class president in Council.

This governing body is the organization which is representatively able to take matters to and to come to an understanding with the faculty and administration. However, Council could function better than just "fairly well," if we students were to demand that. Each Council member represents an organization or class. Students belonging to these various groups could require that their representatives attend Council meetings, vote, and act on behalf of their respective groups.

Last Thursday's Council meeting shelved several constitutional amendments because the required legal voting majority of representatives was not present. This meant, in plain words, that a large number of students were not represented at the last meeting.

Council can be a strong, efficient governing body, or it can be passively weak and ineffectual. Which it shall be depends largely upon our selection of representatives, what we demand of them, and our interest in what is currently happening.

Welcome "Y Brightian"

Well, although an issue of "The Albrightian" did not appear last week, Tuesday was still "Newspaper Day." Yes, the Y's came through again, and the first issue of "The Y Brightian" was available to all of the students.

"The Albrightian" has been and still is the official college newspaper, that which covers all campus news. Various organizations have at times printed a news sheet, but we believe that this is the first time that a newspaper, other than "The Albrightian," has been published for all students.

The Y's deserve all due credit for a job well done. Although we understand that the new publication is not to be a weekly, we know that its purpose will be met if all of us share in the activities which it publicizes.

Gaining The Most

Several weeks ago in the "Y" Communion Service, the Rev. Mr. Mervin Heller stressed a point which we think deserves mention to all students—the majority of which were not at the service.

Rev. Heller said that we gain the most from college not from the classroom but from just being students. May we interpret his thought further and say that in order to be students, we must develop ourselves mentally, physically, culturally, and socially. And if we are to be students, we must put all we can into college—not only by having a very high academic standing, but by actively participating in extra-curricular activities of the college.

It is in these activities that we learn to know each other better, and learn the true ideals and goals which the college has set before us, which we, as college students, should attain. Let's be all-round students!

The object of Dandy's affections this week is Dotty Lou Moyer, who, underneath the red hair, is soft spoken and sweet, thus making Dandy's job a pleasant one.

This busy senior taught biology at Northwest Junior High, which accounts for the fact that we haven't seen her as much as we'd like to. Here on the campus, though, you may have seen her at FTA meetings, or perhaps you noticed her in the "Alto Row" with the Women's Glee Club. She's president of the PAT Sorority, too. Just ask a PAT who Dotty Lou Moyer is, and Dandy needn't say another word.

When May Day comes along, and she takes her place in the Court as Maid of Honor, Albright, Reading, and "Just at Dickinson College" will be very proud because, in one way or another, she belongs to all three of them. Whether she decides after graduation to pick up a biology book or a cook book, we know Dotty Lou will be a success. With her good nature good wishes from her fellow Albrightians and a hope that she won't forget us.

Child and Adult

One day a child asked, "Who are you?" I said the name by which I'm known. And then she asked, "What do you do?" Why do you walk here all alone? Before I answered her, she smiled. She looked about her with a smile. "I found a flower over there. And watched it dance for me awhile. Did you hear the wind last night? It played the angel's harp so loud." She looked up in the mid-air glow. "What was it that you said you do?" Tell me that when I'm grown. I can be as wise as you— "Why did you say you were alone?" —Jane Reynolds

Hits-- And Misses!

CHALK ONE UP: For the retiring editorial and business staffs of The Albrightian for carrying the campus newsheet through another eventful year of publication.

For Mort, who cleverly satirized the campus life of Albright in his unofficial "gripe column." The staff is sorry to hear that this week's "Mort Says" will be his last. It seems a shame to see his talents limited to completing term papers, but it seems the professors' threats speak louder than the student body's clamours.

for the dorm women who walked over the Greek gals in their recent basketball tournament.

for the organizers of the Little Cultural Program. It took them to discover such latent talent; those of our own "Col. Napoleon" Barth.

for Albright's delegation to the Cornell Model U. N. Conference. As representatives of Albright, they carried a big part of our campus in which representatives from schools throughout the nation met to discuss and analyze problems of universal significance.

for all the students who have managed to survive mid-semester exams. (Guess we'd better include all those poor profs who have to read the blue books, even though they brought it on themselves.)

STRIKE ONE OUT: against those profs who sandwiched tests into the crowded schedule following the return from Easter vacation and the mid-semester deadline.

against those on the SUB committee who can't see why the recreation hall should be open to students for an hour or two after dinner.

against the powers that be who have not provided a record player and record library for student use under competent proctors. With all the lovers of both popular and classic music on campus there should be some on-the-campus-spot for listening to good music.

against Mother Nature! It's not that we don't like this balmy weather, but can't you break us in a little easy-like? It's awful trying to concentrate with the warm sunlight outside your window and all that grand spring sunshine going to waste.

Talents Contributed By Students, Faculty In Cultural Series

One of the most unusual and entertaining chapel programs of the year was presented last Thursday morning when students and faculty contributed to produce a highly varied—and often surprising—display of talents. Ray Fidler served as M.C. for the program, which was one of Student Council's Little Culture Series.

Everyone knows Rev. Barth's ability as a prof, but few people realized his potentialities as a comedian. Rev. Barth gave one of his "spoonerisms"—the story of the lion and the mouse—completely unrecognizable, but certainly appreciated by his audience.

Own Composition

Skilled virtuoso, Sterling Rickenbach played his own arrangement of Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" and also an original composition, "Fantasy of Moods." Another high spot was the student-faculty trio—Margaret Ann Smith, Mrs. Annadora Vesper, and Dr. Russell Smith, who played "On Wings of Love" by Mendelssohn and Victor Herbert's "Gipsy Love Song."

An excerpt from Green Pastures was given by Domino players, Norman Teley and Dorothy MacFarland. The concert-master of the Albright Symphony Orchestra, Edwin Funk, played the first and fourth movements of Handel's Sixth Sonata. On the lighter side Bob Reed certainly put his harmonica to work on "Our Love" and "You Made Me Love You."

Contralto soloist, Dorace Hornberger sang "Serenade of the Bells" and also the particularly charming "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling." Last on the program was David DeWitt's bass solo, "On the Road to Mandalay."

Programs of this type certainly reveal hidden talents; and since Thursday's presentation, everyone is clamoring for more of the same.

Mort Says

OR NOTES TO YOU

Due to circumstances beyond the control of circumstances this is the last "Mort Says" column. Unfortunately, or fortunately, depending on how you look at it, there are a few column subjects that are still left over. Among the printable left overs are the following: The Meet Your Local Bar Tender Series; How to Win Friends... and the Hall of Fame with B. O. and Hallitus; Why Not Flunk Out Now and Be Sure of Knowing Something On Graduation Day; Are All College Editors in the Know or Just the Why?; The Story of the Fraternity With Ninety Pledges and Eight Presidents of Something; Methods to Beat the Draft At College; and Can You Get the Most Out of Chapel Programs by Doing Homework?

There are also a few jokes that are left over and couldn't be worked into any story. For instance, there's the one about the guy who moved back into the city after President Truman's speech last week because he heard the country might be at war... The one about the woman who was cured by following directions, "Keep bottle tightly corked" on her medicine... And there's the slogan for Mother's Day, "Don't pull the trigger; father may be loaded too."

For many weeks it has been rumored that this column has never had a kind word for anyone and since this is the last week it really is only fitting that a few kind words be included.

Thanks, first of all, to the printer even though the jokes weren't good, he made them look funny... Thanks to the Biology Department for a comprehensive study of worms, good background for writing about profs... Thanks to the Pittsburgh Pirates Department for the fine publicity; even though there was no charge for it, maybe someone got a little... Thanks most of all to the reader, I hope that someone will buy you a new tin cup and cane... To end this last column I won't say good-bye or even so-long but just Hello—spelled inside out, natchery.

Former Albrightian Now Serving in China; Witnesses Unusual Oriental Christmas

Ed. Note: The following letter was received from a graduate of Albright, the former Jane Teitworth, and her husband who are now serving as missionaries in China. The letter was written shortly after Christmas but was not received until several weeks ago.

Dear Friend, Just before church, Miss Well, our Bible woman, our servants, and we ourselves gathered around the Christmas tree in our home. Jane and I had piled below the tree their gifts, and ours. We sang their gifts, and then I played Santa, distributing gifts to all. We had a nice little Christmas observance of our own.

Chicken Dinner

After church, we returned to a Christmas dinner of chicken, filling, mince pie, and all the trimmings. The only trouble was that in a short time I was due to return to the church for the Christmas dinner there, and I wasn't at all hungry. However, just being present was the important thing. A Christmas dinner at church is quite a general custom among Christians in these parts, and it's really very important to them. You see, living in a non-Christian environment, their Christmas naturally centers in the church rather than in the home or community. It's one of the few days in the year that they take off from their labors, and they fellowship together practically all day at the church.

The Christmas evening service was of a more informal nature, with some speeches and a lot of singing. Yes, the Chinese Christians love to sing the same carols that you sing, and they also have some beautiful carols of their own. We learned them this year, and they rank among our favorites. Some day we hope to have the pleasure of singing them for you. Our first Christmas in China came to a close as we burned our Christmas candle.

Sincerely, Jane and Bill

Christmas Spirit The din was terrific—I never saw anything like it, except perhaps at a ball game. This unruly, poorly-dressed mob of people certainly presented a sharp contrast to our quiet, nicely-dressed congregations at home. Most of the people knew nothing or little about a church or Christianity, so they can be excused for their behavior. Despite all this, there was much in the way of Christmas spirit among many of the folks attending.

Prof's Frau to Lead German Folk Dancing

Mrs. Gerrit Memming will lead folk dancing at the monthly meeting of the German Club to be held Thursday evening at 8:00 p.m. in the Lower Social Room. Accompanying herself on the lute, Mrs. Memming will also sing several folk songs. Refreshments will be served following the meeting, which all members are urged to attend.

Spanish Elections At Meeting Monday

The April meeting of La Sociedad Cultural Espanola will be held next Monday at 4:10 p.m. in the Lower Social Room. The election of officers for next year will be held at this meeting, and plans will be completed for the Pan American Day program to be held Wednesday evening, April 14.

FOUR SPRING SPORTS CARDED

BASEBALL, GOLF, TENNIS BEGIN THIS WEEK

THE PLACE OF SPORTS

By Bob Hoffman

Back in the reservoirs of my mind somewhere, I seem to remember reading a latent philosophical phrase written by the ancient classical Latins and Greeks, to wit, "Mens sana in corpore sanum." Translated into recognizable English, these words turn out to say, "A sound mind in a sound body."

What did these writers mean? I believe that the phrase can be interpreted as being their concept of the immediate goal of all humans at that time, which in other words, was to build and maintain a healthy, intellectually, mind, housed in a healthy, physically, body. This goal in itself is a primary warrant for the existence of sports entailing bodily exercise.

Minds and Bodies

A college, as no other single place, affords the opportunity to develop healthy minds along with healthy bodies. It is true that most of us come to college in order for the development of our mental faculties primarily. But what good, comparatively, will a bulging brain do housed in a weak frame? More often it is the weak-bodied individual and not the weak-minded one. Then, too, besides being a health builder, sports are an aid to social and academic fitness. For surely, if you are relaxed, steady, and tip-top, speedier progress can be made in studying, reasoning, and socializing.

On the other hand, in favor of the academics, is the logic of the futleness of a flourishing physical healthiness bound together with an undernourished mind. In college those who go in for sports excessively to the detriment of their studies are just as foolish as those who hide themselves in a room beating their brains out.

Find a Balance

In college we have the opportunity to participate in varsity, intramural, and sandlot sports, besides the requirements of curricular activities. The best athlete or the best scholar is the one who finds a balance between the two fields, not going to either extreme. Here at Albright, with an ever increasing varsity and intramural program of sports, each student has the privilege, whether he belongs to an organization on campus or not, of finding that balance for himself. He will discover that he is better for it, if he exercises his privilege.

SIDE LIONS

After having coached both the varsity and J. V. women's basketball teams through a very successful season, we feel that Mrs. Eva Mosser has earned her place along the Side Lions. Our capable women's athletic mentor with the smiling personality graduated from the local Shillington High School. From there she matriculated at Temple University where she starred in basketball and hockey.

At present Mrs. Mosser is chairman of the Reading Board of Basketball Officials and the Reading Officials Rating Committee. In addition to these duties she is also an active member of Phi Delta Pi, the national honorary physical education sorority; National Physical Ed. Association of College Teachers; National Officials Rating Commission, of which she is a judge; and the National Association for Health and Physical Education.

Golf Candidates Practice Shots

Every afternoon Albright's fair-haired Byron Nelsons are getting their irons sharpened up on the "private college greens" on Bern Street. Those linksmen going through their teeing and putting paces include Earl Langford, one of the best golfers in the section; Johnny Toucan, and Ed Funk, holdovers from last year; Joe Gilbert, a Reading High grad; Bob Batdorf, Howie Dunitz, and Art Dunlop.

Seven Racketmen Home From Rough Tour of N.C., Va.

At the time of this writing Albright College's flying racketmen were winding up their foray into Virginia and North Carolina on the hot end of a volley served up by their southern cousins. On the leg of the junket, Coach Bloom's seven shock troops who made the trip, John Dohner, Jim Mengel, Bob Ruoff, Jay Shink, Charley Schirmeister, Tom Kane, and Darlington Hoopes, met the nation's best collegiate tennis team in 1947 in the personage of William and Mary, after bouncing off the formidable rackets of the University of Richmond squad.

In the opener with Richmond, Tom Kane and Bob Ruoff captured one of the doubles matches, leaving the count 3-1 and saving the Albrightians the embarrassment of a whitewash. It was Chuck Schirmeister who helped the cause in a match with the Byrd Park crew, also of Richmond, when he gained a singles victory. In the tilt with W. and M. the men from the Williamsburg, Va., institution allowed the Lions to win only twelve games out of the eighteen sets played. Ten of the sets were of the 6-0 variety. A 9-0 blanking resulted.

Not to be outdone, the undaunted Red and White team went on to finish the tour of Dixie, and return home, joining forces with Alex Zervanos, Jim Brush, Stan Taub, and Bill Wesner, who remained here at the comparative safety of the home courts.

RICHMOND vs. LIONS
Singles
Jerry Cunningham, Richmond, defeated John Dohner, Albright, 11-9, 3-5, 5-4.
Ervan Robinson, Richmond, defeated Bob Ruoff, 6-3, 1-6, 4-1.
Jim Phipps, Richmond, defeated Tom Kane, 7-5, 6-4.
Doug King, Richmond, defeated Jay Shink, 6-4, 4-6, 6-0.
Hughes Ware, Richmond, defeated Darlington Hoopes Jr., 7-5, 6-4.

Phipps and Robinson, Richmond, defeated Dohner and Ruoff, 6-3, 6-4. Both sides, Albright, defeated Ernest Goetz and Alan Creeble, 6-2, 6-1.
Don Edel, Richmond, defeated Tom Kane, 6-2, 6-4.
Hoopes and Schirmeister, 6-2, 6-4.

W. and M. vs. LIONS
Atwater defeated Dohner, 6-0, 6-0.
Macken defeated Ruoff, 6-0, 6-0.
Randall defeated Shink, 6-0, 6-0.
Doll defeated Kene, 6-0, 6-1.
Connell defeated Hoopes, 6-3, 6-0.

Doubles
Atwater and Macken defeated Dohner and Mengel, 6-1, 6-1.

W.A.A. Sponsors First SUB Dance

Under the sponsorship of the Women's Athletic Association, the first dance to be held in the new Student Union Building took place last Friday evening with "The Celebrities" providing music for dancing.
Joan Long was chairman of the cabaret-styled affair which was called the "Spring Frolic." Prizes were awarded for various specialty dances. Jean Schwartz was in charge of publicity.

Golf and Track Slates Include Eight Contests

Albright's second year golf team will swing their first sticks against the Explorers of LaSalle College in an away contest on April 7. Two weeks later the cinder and field boys break into competition in an eventful way, as they travel to Franklin Field in Philadelphia for the running of the Penn Relays. Faculty Manager of Athletics, Gene Shirk announced altogether eight track and field meets, and eight golf contests.

The college's spring sports for 1948 will again be coached by Shirk in the track events and Paul Matten, who is returning to guide the linksmen. Since the Albright golfers do not have an official home course selected as yet, only four matches, Lebanon Valley, West Chester, Ursinus and Moravian, were scheduled at home.

Besides the Penn Relays Coach Shirk's men will participate in five dual meets and one triangular meet with Franklin and Marshall and Lehigh to be held at Lancaster. In place of St. Joseph, the Ursinus runners will be here on May 5.

The first strenuous workouts for both squads were begun immediately after the Easter vacation period ended.

Complete schedules for golf and track read as follows:

- GOLF
April
7—LaSalle College, away.
14—Franklin and Marshall, away.
19—Lebanon Valley, home.
23—West Chester, home.
May
4—Moravian, away.
6—Ursinus, home.
10—Lebanon Valley, away.
14—Moravian, home.
TRACK
April
23-24—Penn Relays, Philadelphia.
27—Lafayette, home.
30—Franklin & Marshall and Lehigh, Lancaster.
May
5—Ursinus, home.
8—Junata, home.
14-15—Middle Atlantic States Championships, Easton.
19—Shippensburg, home.
29—Scranton, home.

Baseball and Tennis Teams Schedule Fifteen Games

A strenuous fifteen game schedule has been carded for both Albright's baseball and tennis teams, according to an announcement made by Eugene L. Shirk, Faculty Manager of Athletics. An average of two or three games a week, over a period of eight weeks, beginning on April 7 for the rawhiders and April 10 for racket toters, and ending on May 29, will be played.

Under the guiding hand of mentor Levan P. Smith, the Lion baseballers will first tangle with the powerful aggregation of LaSalle Explorers on the opponent's diamond in Philadelphia. Their fifth game in ten days will find the Smithmen meeting another awesome club, Muhlenberg College, on April 17, at the Mules' home field.

Altogether eight games and seven home games are scheduled to fill out the season. After a mediocre campaign last year, the first one for Albright in ten years, in which five battles were won and seven lost, Coach Smith is looking forward to a better record, having a nucleus of ten lettermen around which to form a fast, hard hitting club.

Coming through a disastrous, pre-seasoning road trip into the deep South, where the rebel racketmen showed much contempt and little hospitality toward the northern invaders, Coach Leo Bloom's tennisers have now restructuring their rackets in anticipation of finding revenge among the collegiate tennis teams of this section. Lebanon Valley will furnish the first opposition of the regular current campaign, when they come to the local courts on April 10. Other respectable opposition includes Gettysburg, Muhlenberg, Ursinus, and West Chester. An interesting match between some alumni and this year's varsity squad is in the offing on May 29. Such past Albright tennis notables as Allan Fisher, Paul Siegfried, and Aaron Taub are sure bets for the alumni team.

The following are the complete cards for baseball and tennis:

- BASEBALL

SPORTS SPOTLIGHT

By Dave Voigt
I was doing some paging through some of the old copies of Baseball Digest when I ran across a peach of a story concerning the old New York Giants' manager, John McGraw. This one was too good to pass up.

Back in the year 1917 the Giants had gone through a successful spring training season and were all set to launch a drive for the National League pennant. McGraw wanted the pennant and he knew how to whip and drive his ballplayers into a winning machine. The Little Giant was a terror and he was feared and respected by all his men.

One afternoon early in the season, Eddie Grant, McGraw's third baseman, and one of his most feared hitters in the National League, failed to show up for a game at the Polo grounds. When he finally came around about a half hour after the game was over and lost, McGraw was white with rage. "You're fined $500 for missing the game, Grant," he fumed, "and there'll be another $500 if you don't let me know where you were."

Eddie let out quietly at his irate manager. "Our country's at war," he said. "And I kind of think I should be in this fight. I took the afternoon off to sign up."

"There were tears in McGraw's eyes as he patted the player on the back. "Forget the fine, Eddie. We'll have to win this pennant without you, but when you come back you can help us hang up some more."

A few months later Eddie Grant was an officer in the Army and on his way overseas. Shortly after his arrival in France, Captain Eddie Grant was killed in action. And over in America, the land that Eddie had helped to preserve, McGraw received a telegram telling of Eddie's death.
The Little Giant, who had always been such a terror to his ballplayers, thought for a long while and then picked up a pen and paper. He wrote a letter to Eddie Grant's mother telling her of the time he had wanted to fine Eddie for missing the game. And along with the letter, McGraw sent a check for the thousand dollars, saying, "Your son wasn't able to pay the fine, so I'd like to pay this one for him."

ants. What with the cool, damp days and Easter vacation, his boys are a little behind in their workouts.
Intramural baseball, track, wrestling, and swimming are still in the offing. Coach Lloyd Parsons is especially looking for those interested in the grunt and groan sport.

BASEBALL TIME
4:00 p.m.—During the week.
2:30 p.m.—On Saturdays.

Faculty Bowling Continues Tuesday

Although unpublicized in this sports page for quite sometime, the Faculty Bowling League has continued every Tuesday at 4:00 p.m. We haven't heard of any permanent dethroning of the leaders like Herr Dr. Memming, but it has been discovered that a certain professor of business administration garnered one game in which he rolled in the 160's. For him—that is superb.

Girls' Ball Workout

Baseball practice for the girls' ball team began last Thursday afternoon and will continue at 4:00 p.m. at the Thirteenth and Union gym every afternoon from now on. Plans have been laid for a schedule comprising four or five games.

From the Exchange File . . .

A poll was taken at Susquehanna University asking students to list campus improvements they thought necessary. Among the results were: a lounge, snack bar, or soda fountain on campus; widened sidewalks to accommodate a larger student body; a worship center for quiet meditation; and a central clock with the correct time.

Juniata College is sponsoring a General Information Contest this month. Questions to be used are those that have stamped the experts recently.

Penn State is introducing a short course on Dairy Bacteriology, which will be followed by an examination of the State Dept. of Health. The exam is for licenses to become Dairy Laboratory Directors in Pennsylvania.

Bucknell University students are opening a campaign for a new college heating system. On the same campus a box has been placed in the Women's Dining Hall, the purpose of which is to have the women students voice their opinions as to the food served in the dining hall, and to suggest favorite dishes.

Students from Western Union College LeMars, Iowa, sponsored a contest of informal photographs. Pictures were then kept and used for the college yearbook.

College Dean at the University of Pennsylvania has recently announced that the College will open a department of religion in the near future.

The Spanish Club of Wilkes College is sponsoring a trip to Cuba; the trip is open to all college students for the price of $185.

Two Films Booked For Chem Club

Two films will be shown on Wednesday evening, April 14, at 8:00 p.m. at the Alchemists Club meeting. Produced by the Malinekrodt Chemical Works of Philadelphia, the first is entitled "Ether for Anesthesia" and depicts the different methods of preparation of ether and its relationship to the field of anesthesia. The second film, "Fashions of Textiles," is a story of rayon textiles, their manufacture, and the principal characteristics of rayon.

The regular business meeting of the group will be held at 7:30 p.m., prior to the program.

KTX Sponsors Visit To Jesuit Novitiate

On Tuesday, March 31, members of Kappa Tau Chi, the pre-ministerial fraternity on campus, visited the Jesuit Novitiate at Wernersville, Pa., as the first in a series of visits to nearby centers of religious interest.

Father Kelley acted as host for the group and, in a tour of the school, explained much of the form of the church. Following a brief sketch of the Jesuit history, Father Kelley demonstrated the garbs worn in mass and explained the many practical uses which they had before they took their symbolic meaning known in the church today.

The committee in charge of the visits is headed by John Fausnaught. Also on the committee are Percy Brown, Wilson Dickert and Gerald Hertzog, president of the organization.

'Y' Retreat

Ping pong and badminton, Anna Lauver, and Jay Kyle; volley ball and bowling, Don White; archery, Helen Seiber and Bob White; softball, Gerry Fedota; and transportation, Dick Miller. Marjorie Lyman and Elmer Good will serve as life guards for the water-front activities. Waiters and waitresses include Miss Degler, Gerald Hertzog, Vernon Miller, Donald Haller, Miss Christ, Violette Seibert, Snook, Marlow, Good, Kazuye Kiyono, Ralph Stutzman, Esther Messersmith, and Jane Roney.

Cabin counselors, who will conduct the fireside meditation Saturday evening, are Arthur Lockner, Miss Kiyono, Shirley Johnson, Miss Roney, and William Walker. Geneva Bolton will act as pianist for the retreat, and David Bailey will be music director.

including train fare, reservations, meals, etc.

Beginning with the Class of 1951, sophomores at Muhlenberg College will be required to take a comprehensive test, which will have a bearing on a sophomore's becoming a junior. A general test, it will replace some of the final examinations at the end of the spring term.

Penn State College recently held an all-college bridge tournament, which was sponsored by the Men's Bridge Club. Something new every day!

Freshmen women at Pittsburgh are required to take custom examinations aiming to acquaint the frosh with the ways of Pitt. The one-hour test consists of questions on nationality rooms, the history of the University, songs, cheers, and other matters pertaining to school life.

Via "The Pitt News", we read that W. Va. University faculty members set up a shoe-shining establishment in front of the College Administration Building and shined students' shoes at a rate of 50 cents per pair. The faculty were trying to raise money for the World Student Service Fund (WSSF).

Yes, and in "The Daily Pennsylvanian" we read this comment: A biology student at Albright, when asked to comment on the school's assembly programs replied, "Being a graduate student, I am not required to attend. Consequently, I find them much to my liking!"

Frosh, Jr. Classes Plan Doggie Roasts

On April 10 the freshman class will have a doggie roast at Egelman's Park. Plans are being made by Ely Spring and Harry Nelson for the freshman class booth for the Mardi Gras.

The junior class will hold a doggie roast on Saturday, April 17 from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m., announced Jean Long, social chairman of the class.

Special committees planned for the affair are as follows: refreshments, Betty Sarge, Virginia Fox, and Elaine Huber; publicity, Dorothy Holl and Jean Schwartz; and place, Hampton Pullis.

Hill Chapel Guest, Speaks on Nature

Mr. Edward A. Hill, nationally known natural science lecturer and photographer, gave an illustrated lecture on nature in the Frosh-Junior Chapel program on Tuesday, March 30. Mr. Hill spoke mainly on the American Eagle, our national symbol, a bird which is now becoming extinct in the United States. With the aid of colored slides and motion pictures, which were taken in an eagle sanctuary on the Susquehanna River, the lecturer, gave a clear picture of the beautiful and powerful bird. He also spoke about wild flowers and plants which grow on the rocks in the Susquehanna River.

Mr. Hill appeared as part of the Little Culture Series which is being presented by the Student Council.

Senat Sponsors Tea; Mogel in Charge

The Women's Student Senate sponsored a Tea last Friday afternoon in the Selwyn Hall Parlors. Barbara Mogel was in charge of the affair.

Election Edition

In order to announce the results of the All-College election to be held Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, April 12, 13, and 14, the next issue of The Albrightian will be released on Friday, April 16 instead of the regular Tuesday date.

The deadline for all sports and feature copy will be Monday, April 12. News deadline will be Tuesday, April 13, announced Mary Fry, editor.

Zeta Frat Inducts Eleven Pledges

The Zeta Omega Epsilon Fraternity recently inducted into their group as pledges the following eleven men: Robert Bernhardt, John Krouse, Earl Langford, Charles Schirmeister, William Walker, Richard Bansher, Robert Miller, Rudy Walenta, James Mengel, William Skinner, and Donald Ertel.

Joseph Reeves will act as pledge-master for the prospective Zetas, announced James Brush, president.

Duddy to Select U.S.A.F. Vocalist

Dr. John H. Duddy, of the College music department, will be one of the committee of three to judge a contest determining the high school boy or girl vocalist who will sing as guest soloist with the United States Air Force Band on its nationwide radio broadcast from the Reading Fair. On the committee with Dr. Duddy, will be Miss Emily B. Smith, and Miss Stetle Harrap, both of Philadelphia. Miss Smith, who is director of the Girls' Glee Club at Temple University, is a graduate of Temple, and has studied at the University of Southern California, and Harvard Summer School.

Miss Harrap was graduated from West Chester State Teachers College in 1945, in which year she also won the "Voice of Tomorrow Contest." She has sung with the Philadelphia and Baltimore Symphony Orchestras, and is soloist at the Washington Memorial Chapel at Valley Forge.

Dale Weber to Talk At Philosophy Club

Dale Weber will speak on the subject of "Time and Eternity" at the April meeting of Philosophy Club to be held next Monday evening at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Charles Kachel, 1608 North 15th Street.

Last month at the home of Robert Ziegler, Kachel read a paper on "The Philosophy of Recreation," in which he expressed the belief that leisure activities influence a person's personality more than the school or church. It is possible to earn much about a person's character by knowing the type of activity in which the individual partakes during leisure time.

Smethers Speaks At Vesper Service

Rev. Robert Smethers, pastor of Emmanuel Evangelical United Brethren Church, spoke at the Faculty-Student Vespers last Sunday afternoon in the College Chapel. Shirley Dooty and Gerald Hertzog were in charge of the devotional program, which included selections by a twenty-five voice choir.

After the service a buffet supper was held in the College Dining Hall for all who attended the service.

COUNCIL SAYS

Meeting of April 1

John Woyanowski Presiding
Ray Fidler, Chapel program chairman, commented favorably on the Albright talent program of last week, and indicated that another student-talent show, Mirth and Madness, would be presented today.

Easter cards were sent to the Albright men-in-service. The number of these servicemen has declined from 35 to 24, reported Bob Reed, of that committee.

George Koehler, of the "grading the profs" project, mentioned that the grading forms would be distributed within one or two weeks.

Reporting for the N.S.A. committee, Jerry Dersh pointed out that Ted Harris, president of the Pennsylvania district of N.S.A., would speak in the April 27 Chapel program, and will try to secure a student to speak with him on that date. Both speakers will attempt to clarify the aims of the N.S.A. to the student body.

Dersh also reported that as of the present no "gripe box" had been purchased, and that an attempt was being made to have the available oversize box cut to fit the purpose.

Joyce Thompson of the Constitution Committee, clarified the procedure for amending Student Council's constitution, and proposed several amendments. After discussion it was pointed out that an insufficient number of representatives were present to take any action on the proposals.

At the request of President Woyanowski for an all-college election date, Ray Fidler moved that the election be held April 12, 13, and 14. The motion carried.

William Marlow requested that Council provide the Parents-Week-End Committee with money for flowers to be given to parents.

President Woyanowski pointed out that Council's budget was inadequate to handle this sum. Marlow proposed having the Public Relations Office bear the expense. Esther Savidge of that committee will be notified to contact the P.R. Office concerning the matter.

Absent from the meeting were Jay Shenk, Frosh Class; William Heckler, Day Men; Beverly Bresler and Virginia Fox, Day Women; Lois Lackey, Dorm Women; Richard Dexter, Zetas; Dave Voigt, Pi Tau; Dean Helen Silverthorne, Dean LeVan Smith, and Professor John Khouri of the faculty.

Divorce Discussed At Wives Meeting

At the Veterans' Wives meeting Wednesday, March 17, Dr. Milton W. Gell, head of the psychology department, spoke to twenty wives of college veterans on "Human Relationship and Divorce." Afterwards refreshments were served by Mrs. Auge and Mrs. Dreasler.

Next week Rev. Lester L. Stabler will show a motion picture, "Campus Life." At the last meeting, Miss Virginia Woerle, graduate assistant of the home economics department, was chosen faculty advisor.
