

Senate Reveals Nomination List

Group Slates Induction For New Senators

Three women will be on the nomination list for the presidency of the Women's Student Senate, it was decided at the last Senate meeting. The candidates are Joy Cutler, Joan House, and Eileen O'Neil. The selections will be submitted to the Student Activities Committee and will be voted upon at the same time as the Student Council and "Y" elections.

Only women may vote for the Senate election, and the other offices for the Senate group will be decided by the members of that body. Only women who have served on Senate for at least one semester are eligible for the presidency.

Anna Wartluft, president, announced that a special induction service for new members of Senate will be held in April when the Women's Dormitory Council elects new representatives to the Senate. Rita Duncavage, president of the Dorm Council, Miss Wartluft, and Agnes Snyder, president of the Daywomen's Organization, are in charge of this special induction meeting. Joan House will handle publicity.

Dean Helen L. Cunliffe revealed that the Women's Student Senate pins will be available in the near future. They are being made and designed by Tyack's Jewelry Co.

President Wartluft welcomed the following new daywomen representatives into the Senate: Agnes Snyder, Marion Gerberich, Betty Berger, Louise Trostle, Geraldine Wentzel, and Helen Capozello.

Alumnus Clergyman Narrates on Travels

The Rev. Clarence W. Smith, renowned authority on Palestine, will discuss that country tonight at 7:30 at the regular "Y" meeting. Rev. Smith spent considerable time visiting and studying scenes of Christianity, and has collected a vast store of interesting experiences and anecdotes. Rev. Smith graduated from Albright, then Schuylkill College, in 1917.

Among the many places visited in his travels were the Tomb of the Virgin, Gethsemane, Place of the Last Supper, and Pilat's Judgment Hall in Jerusalem. He passed a great deal of time in Mizpeh, Nazareth, Galilee, and Syria. While in Bethlehem, Rev. Smith was inspired to compose his famous hymn, "The King's Fair City."

Rev. Smith, though ordained a Protestant minister, will conduct this lecture service in a non-sectarian manner.

Next week, April 2, the speaker at the third "Y" Lenten service will be Reverend Paul T. Slinghoff, pastor of St. Mark's Reformed Church in Reading.

Frosh Plan Spring Ball, Will Have Roast, Swim

Discussion of the Frosh-Soph Ball to be held April 26 was the highlight of the freshman class meeting held last Thursday. Many plans not yet revealed were formulated at this meeting. Jean Long disclosed that the class doggie roast will be held sometime in April, and a swimming party May 31. Perry Matz, treasurer, urged everyone to pay his class dues as soon as possible. Joseph Kubisen presided at the meeting.

Pi Tau's Give Rules To Six New Initiates

The Pi Tau Beta Fraternity met on Monday, March 18 to initiate their six pledges, Allen Fisher, Harry Kousaros, Oldric Von Seckamm, Ira Custman, Donald Lykens, and Jack Allen. Each pledge was given a mission to fulfill before the next meeting.

Spanish Classes To Note Pan American Day

In line with the presidential proclamation that April 14 shall be observed as Pan American Day in all the Americas, the Spanish classes of Albright, under the leadership of Professor Consuelo Rodriguez, will present a musical play written by a committee of students at the chapel programs of April 11. The idea of the play will be to demonstrate the customs and habits of the other American peoples.

The committee of Spanish students who prepare this program, the motto for which is "United for Peace," consists of Carolyn Powers, chairman, Betty Thompson, Mary Fry, Loretta Henrich, Elaine Huber, Jean Long, Waid Rowland, James Conroy, Margery Plowfield, Helen Ross, Nancy Matten, and Rhea Dobb.

The aims of the observance of Pan American Day, as proclaimed by President Truman, are (1) to acquaint the peoples of the various American countries with the life and culture of one another; (2) to develop interest in international cooperation; (3) to help banish prejudices and false ideas various peoples may have about one another; and (4) to help in building up peace and international cooperation.

W.S.S.F. To Conduct Drive April 1-5

The World Student Service Fund will go into its last week at Albright April 1-5 when each student, organization, and faculty member will be personally contacted for a voluntary contribution, announced Robert Schneider and Agnes Snyder, co-chairmen.

Five hundred dollars is Albright's goal for this drive, say the chairmen. Fifty dollars have already been raised from the proceeds of a dance and several canteens held by various groups.

Albrightians, along with students in other colleges in the United States and in several other lands, are asked to contribute to this fund to aid needy students in the many countries devastated by war. The money will be used to purchase the bare necessities of life for these students, as well as the supplies necessary for study.

In addition to the soliciting drive next week and the dance and canteens operated for the benefit of W. S. S. F., the campaign for this year will include a chapel program to be presented next Tuesday, April 2 under the leadership of the two chairmen.

Zetas Pledge Four, Plan Initiation Period

Zeta Omega Epsilon Fraternity took into active pledgeship four pledges last week: John Woynarowski, Forrest Compton, Perry Matz, and Samuel LaRue. The secretary, Newell Wert, presented the four men to President Dennis Ertel as candidates for pledgeship after Herbert Ziegler, the chaplain, had read a passage of scripture. After the pledges received their pins, Warren Pfof, the pledgemaster, disclosed the regulations for the pledge period.

Talk Times Changed

Dean Helen Cunliffe has announced that there will be a change in time for the lecture of the Elizabeth Arden representative at the Women's Senate Career Conferences tomorrow. The cosmetic representative will speak at 3:30 p. m. instead of 2:30 p. m. as originally scheduled.

Miss Ethel Hicks, who will speak on teaching as a career, will hold her conference from 4:30 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. instead of the appointed time from 4 to 5 p. m.

Dean Cunliffe said that men students are welcome to attend the lecture to be given tomorrow evening by Alice Rogers Hager, air expert.

Vets to Voice Views On Frosh Orientation

Freshman orientation will be the question under discussion at the Veterans' Club meeting tomorrow at 12:50 p. m. in the Science Lecture Hall. A sub-committee from the faculty committee on frosh orientation and the Student Council committee, headed by Herbert Hyman, will talk to the group to ascertain veteran opinion about an orientation program for former service men and women who will enter Albright as freshmen next fall.

The program will probably be based on the veterans' decisions about the matter. Dennis Ertel, president, urges all veterans to be present at this meeting so that they may voice their opinions.

Future Teachers Meet For Movies, Election

A meeting of interest to Albright's embryo teachers was held last evening at 7:30 p. m. in the Botany Laboratory of the Merner-Pfeiffer Hall of Science.

Lester L. Stabler, director of public relations, reported on the educational convention which he attended in Harrisburg. A movie called "Assignment Tomorrow" was shown in case of the challenge it poses to America's future teachers.

Election of officers for the coming year was held after which refreshments were served with Anna Wartluft in charge.

Salfetty to Read, Banquet in May

Gloria Salfetty will read a paper on "The Life and Philosophy of Laotzu" at the monthly meeting of the Philosophy Club Thursday evening. The club will meet at the home of Dr. Daniel J. Wetzel at 8 p. m.

Further plans will be discussed for the annual Philosophy Club banquet which will be held in place of the May meeting.

APOs, Pledges Meet, Discuss Alumni Meeting

The Alpha Pi Omega Fraternity met on Monday, March 18 with the ten pledges that were inducted last week. Plans for a future Alumni meeting were discussed in the business meeting. The new pledges are: Edward Bigler, Jerome Dersh, Nevin Follweiler, Evans Keim, Donald Liddicoat, Abraham Markowitz, Irvin Mull, Waid Roland, Jacob Sklover, and John Werner.

Councilmen Broach Solutions To Misunderstandings On Campus

A meeting designed to foster more clearly-defined faculty-administration-student relations was held in President Harry V. Masters' office last Tuesday, revealed Reed Frederick, chairman of Student Council's probing committee on faculty-administration-student relations. At this meeting, by the invitation of faculty representatives, the Council committee was represented.

After lengthy discussion, the following potential solutions for widespread misunderstanding on campus were offered:

Aims and Objectives

1. A renewed effort should be made to make all students aware of the aims and objectives of Albright College.

Student Polling

2. A system of polling through The Albrightian should be undertaken, whereby Student Council may determine the reactions and opinions of students about current issues on campus.

Publicity

3. The student body, through Student Council, should be consulted before any publicity detrimental to the College is released.

Relations

4. A publicity campaign should be carried out whereby the student body may be correctly informed on matters pertaining to student-faculty-administration relations.

Faculty Advisors

5. All organizations who have important problems concerning either the faculty or administration and themselves should exercise the right to discuss such matters with their faculty advisors and committees.

Friction

Frederick said that it was agreed upon at the meeting that much of the friction arising among faculty, administration, and students is due to the fact that these groups are not properly informed of each other's actions, and that students are not always aware of their existing rights.

PAT to Entertain Mus at Movie Party

Members of the Pi Alpha Tau Sorority will entertain the Phi Beta Mu Sorority Friday night in a movie party at the Loew's Theater. The women will meet at the theater at 7:30 p. m. After the movie, the Pats will entertain their guests at the St. Lawrence Luncheonette.

Jeanne Schlegel is heading arrangements for the movie party.

Sophs Order Emblems With Lions Design

Discussion of a red and white embroidered emblem for the sophomore class was the main item on the agenda last Thursday at the class meeting. Harold Wolf, representative of a school supply company, described the emblem. The emblem will have the numerals 48 placed on a blue background.

Warren Pfof, president of the class, stated that these emblems will be available around May 1. The emblems will be given free of charge to those who have paid their dues in full.

Alumni Design Home Coming, Reunion Dinner

On Saturday, June 1 the Alumni Association of Albright College will combine its annual association meeting with its victory home coming on Albright campus. Because of former traveling restrictions this will be the first annual meeting since the spring of 1942. It will be held in conjunction with the observance of the ninetieth anniversary of the founding of the college.

The program of the meeting will include a luncheon meeting at noon, a business meeting in the afternoon, and class reunions following the business meeting. Classes which will have their reunions are those of 1891, 1896, 1901, 1906, 1911, 1916, 1921, 1926, 1931, 1936, 1941. The association will also be invited to attend a dinner meeting which will be a College function held in observance of the ninetieth anniversary of the College.

The Alumni Association of Albright will hold its second annual Alumni senior dinner on Friday evening, May 31, for the class of 1946. The committee for the occasion consists of: Lydia Roland, class of '32, chairman, Dorothy Gaul Stradley, '42, William S. Harris, Jr., '36, Marie Bonner, president of the senior class, and Lester L. Stabler, '36.

Domino to Dramatize "The Rock" April 14

"The Rock," a play in three acts by Roy P. Hamlin, will be the Easter season presentation of the Domino Club. Under the direction of S. Helen Ahrens, the play will be presented in the College Chapel the evening of Palm Sunday, April 14. The drama has not yet been cast.

The "Rock," the story of Simon Peter, shows the development of the character of Peter from a strong-willed impetuosity to a mature realization of his strength as the rock of Jesus, until finally Peter completely submerges his personality in that of Christ.

The story presents an attempt to answer the age-old question: "Does man really succeed in that in which he seems to fail?"

Miss Hamlin is also co-author with George Arliss of "Hamilton."

Marie Bonner, president of Domino, revealed that the cast and the time for rehearsals will be announced later.

Upperclasses Prepare For Junior-Senior Prom

Plans for the traditional Junior-Senior Prom to be held June 1 are already getting under way, according to Newell Wert and Marie Bonner, presidents of the two classes.

The Prom is held every year as a part of the June commencement ceremonies. It is sponsored by the two classes, and is one of the highlights of the spring activities.

Worthy Causes

Both "Red Cross" and "World Student Service Fund" have become familiar words to Albrightians within the last month or so. We are all aware that both these organizations are conducting fund campaigns currently to raise money. But have we actually grasped what these organizations mean? We wonder if Albrightians have stopped to think what the Red Cross means to a flood-stranded family, to a homesick, wounded soldier overseas, to G.J. Joe's family, to displaced persons wandering in Europe, to the countless peoples caught in the maze of war and its after effects.

We wonder how many Albrightians have stopped to reflect thoughtfully about what the World Student Service Fund means to millions of young people throughout the world who have lived through the horrors of war and are now eager to resume or to start their studies.

We wonder if Albrightians realize even partially the conditions under which these people have been living for years. It isn't just a picture conjured up to look dramatic on the front page of the daily paper. Don't ever think that. Just ask some of our servicemen who have seen conditions over there. They'll tell you simple and eloquently that the conditions are only too true.

There is still something we Albrightians can do about all this suffering and heartbreak. The 1946 Red Cross drive ends this week. Everyone who has not yet done so can see Professor Elsie Garlach with his contribution. The World Student Service Fund drive will be in progress another week yet. All Albrightians can still meet the challenge of this campaign by being ready when student solicitors call upon them for their contributions.

Back It Up

A part of Albright's spring program which we have always awaited in anticipation has been Domino's Easter play. It is with mixed pleasure and apprehension that we see that Domino has again planned an Easter season production; with pleasure, because it is a good traditional custom that the club is following; with apprehension, because we fear something may happen to delay the presentation as the Domino fall play was delayed and finally cancelled.

We hope that the play will get all the student and college support that it deserves and we also trust that Domino Club itself will support the play that it announces it will present.

Spring - 1946

Ho, hum . . . Spring is sprang, the grass is riz. I wonder where the bodies is. That season is here again, with its peculiar fever, its completely changeable weather (right now as we write this it's pouring rain), its unique quality of lifting the spirits. Something tells us it's going to be a particularly nice spring at Albright, with so many of our men back, with our sports program slowly climbing back to normal. There's a lot to look forward to this spring, eating lunch out on the benches, feeding the squirrels, track, tennis, sorority and fraternity formals, studying on the grass, the championship game with Horatio, the Skunk as the trophy, running around campus in shirt sleeves and short sleeves, getting autographs for our "Cues."

Then there is the never-to-be-forgotten Commencement week, with dinners, dances, breakfasts—crowded in around the studying-for-exams schedule.

Yes, it promises to be a spring crammed full with rich experiences. We for one don't intend to miss out on any of them.

BY ANNE ONYMOUS

Marybeth Schofer was at a Haverford week-end party with Dick Schlegel, a former student at Albright. Marybeth was in safe hands—Haverford is a Quaker school.

Aline Wylde receives collect telegrams from a Marine at Charlotte, N. C. However, he refuses to accept them from her—so she pays double.

Joyce Ruth had a bad case of Pharyngitis. We were going to send sympathies, but when a guy like Sgt. Bill Hill feeds you pills every two hours, people send congratulations.

The sorority pledges have complained to me that the fraternity pledge got off easy. But I don't think that many people know that a three day restoration of "Hell Week" has been planned. After just such a fraternity initiation Milton wrote "Paradise Lost."

Jean Long, Elaine Huber, and Arlene Schell ended up in the infirmary after a basketball encounter with the upper classwomen. But they swore by their broken bones to get even.

When I asked Evans Keim about his cigar he retorted that he would rather smoke in this world than in the next. Then he added, "That's a pun son!"

Speaking of other words, Julius Glickman and Sylvia Amsterdam have one all their own—wars and all. They have warned that no intruder would be properly appreciated.

Orchards to Robin "Lakehurst" Fenichel, who betrayed her best friend to give me the above article. That really shows some fine Albrightian spirit. By the way, she studies "personality" dancing on the side.

Donald Gittleman also has some spirit, for after a hard day here at school he climbs Mt. Penn to study the flights of the geese from the tower. He isn't telling anyone who his midnight teacher is.

Dolores Reinhardt had the true St. Patrick's Day spirit this year. She fell for a guy named Kelly at a St. Patrick's Day party and she's still blushing green.

Heber Yeagley wanted to take Jeanne Flickinger and Mary Eschwei to Philadelphia last Tuesday—where they arranged the girls' basketball and tennis schedule—but gawsh k's bashful.

Betty Deibert would like to curl up in Gene "Souze" Shollenberger's lap. Her words, "He looks so comfy," his buddy, Jimmie Brush, is way ahead of him. In the words of Jeanne Borgstrom, "He is so comfy."

Most of the girls have reached the bleach-hair age, but only Nancy Matten had the audacity to get up in public speaking class to show us how.

Pete Bohren, the ex-bookstore assistant, is at Fort McClellan, Alabama. So if you see a bright light over the girls' dorm it isn't the midnight oil or the torch of education, it's Lois Lackey's torch of love.

Because Paul Rabuck and Ruthie Homan are so quiet about their personal affairs they expected that love affair to pass by unnoticed. June Plowfield thinks that Guy Wildermuth is O.K. even if the chassis of his limousine drags, the roof leaks, and the rumble seat is too small.

It's too bad when Dr. Gingrich doesn't even recognize his students in Classical Civ. Poor Gloria Salfetty was bewildered when he asked where she was last week. But, then, we wouldn't have known you in that new hairdo, either, Gloria.

Conscription Editor Suggests Methods To Avert Future War

On Tuesday morning, March 19, in the College Chapel, the students of Albright were privileged to hear an address by Mr. John Swomley, entitled "How to Prevent a Third World War."

Mr. Swomley is the editor of Conscription News, and is concerned with politics as they affect conscription. His three suggestions for the checking of future wars were (1) to solve the problem of poverty and abundance by helping to feed the starving peoples of Europe, (2) to give up the idea of national sovereignty, and (3) to abolish militarism by world wide disarmament. He presented sound reasons to back up this plan, and he added further force to his speech by concluding with a poem written by a soldier in Germany to his infant son, in which he described the terrors of war.

From the many favorable comments heard concerning Mr. Swomley's talk, we gathered that he was quite successful in giving Albright's student body food for thought.

By FRED PERFECT

"Physiology or a study of chyme" . . . of all the characters, and that is a very broad term, who have tread the marbled halls of the Science Building, "Keim," it may be safely said, will leave his mark. Perhaps this mark will be an extra fold on the calculating brow of Prof. Green or, on the other hand, some slightly indented crows-feet about the eyes of Dr. Horn. Nevertheless, these signs of strain will have resulted from pleasant spasms of laughter, and, to be truthful, at times, short gasps of what we shall call "academic pain," for Keim and Biology are not exactly akin.

Little Caesar

Down the hall this "Little Caesar" treads with an attracting coyness; an attitude of brim-bow, for it's all teratology to me, which by the way, is Keim's favorite word, and it means a study of monsters.

The Reverend

Yes, the Reverend has made his mark, and he will not soon be forgotten. Though a Liberal Arts student, he is inclined to see nothing even vaguely liberal in the field of Biology. His jests have often been launched against Prof. Green in the back room of Father's Food Emporium during the noon hour. These jests have at times suggested that perhaps the good professor's enzymes got out of the wrong side of bed, that there was an over-indulgence in teratological literature, or finally that the pituitary glands might be staying out late nights with the super-renal body. And so much for a good character of the Science Hall.

Temple Vice-Prexy, Clergyman to Speak

Dr. M. E. Gladfelter will be the speaker on a timely topic in the Thursday assembly at 10:10 and 10:40 a. m. Dr. Gladfelter is vice-president of Temple University.

A World Student Service Fund program will highlight the assembly Tuesday, April 2. Carolyn Powers, a pupil of Professor John Duddy, will appear in a vocal concert in chapel next Thursday, April 4.

Reverend R. S. Kresge spoke on a Lenten subject this morning in chapel. Reverend Kresge, a graduate of Albright College and the Evangelical School of Theology, is pastor of Christ Evangelical Church.

Dandy roars out a great big welcome that can be heard round the campus for the subject of this week's column. She's Marion Latta, a young lady whose appearance has caused stronger men than Dandy to roar or howl, whichever it is young men do when they approve of a member of the opposite sex.

Marion is one of Albright's contenders for the Academy Award, or should be, as she has taken many leads in Domino productions during her four years in college. Few of us will forget her playing of the dashing Antiope in "The Warrior's Husband" or the winsome "Grazia" in "Death Takes a Holiday."

There's no stunner Pat on campus than Marion, and she will proudly extol its virtues to the member of any other organization who may challenge her. Marion's ability as a writer is well known. She has been on the staff of The Albrightian for four years, holding the feature editorship during 1945-46. Her dramatic ability took another path during her freshman year, when her one act play was produced by the Domino Club.

Majoring in English and psychology, Marion has been a member of Sigma Tau Delta for three years, and this year has become a member of Pi Gamma Mu. Our Dandy Lion has had plenty of chance to use her executive ability as she is the president of Sigma Tau Delta, vice-president of the Pats, and also an active member of the Daywomen's Club and IRC.

Dandy's going to miss Marion when she graduates this spring, but since she's a day student, she probably will come to see him often next year. And just in case he gets too lonesome, Dandy has her telephone number—4-7165—scratched on his paw.

Airwaves

Radio's newest star is Kenny Delmar. The popular comedian, who has appeared on many of the top-flight network shows, won that title in Billboard Magazine's annual poll of radio editors. Delmar is better known as "Senator Claghorn" of Fred Allen's show. Other winners in the poll, which is broadcasting's equivalent of an "Oscar," were Fred Allen, Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, and Dinah Shore. Allen was acclaimed as tops in "the program they hate to miss" classification.

Favorite Comedian

Bob Hope repeated his 1944 win as the favorite network comedian, while Bing Crosby and Dinah Shore rate as the best male and female singers. Honors also went to the New York Philharmonic as the foremost symphony orchestra, to the Lux Radio Theater as the best dramatic program, and to "Information Please" for the best quiz show.

Rochester

FUNNY STORY FOR THE WEEK: Rochester tells this one. Recently, he attended a party in the home of a Hollywood "name," where the uninvited outnumbered the guests. After a noisy three hours, the NBC comedian had enough and was on his way to the door, when he spied one of the maids in the act of reaching for something on the floor. As Rochester drew near, he heard this: "Mah, goodness," she said, as she picked up a silver teaspoon, "one of them guests must have had a hole in his pocket."

WORSHIP

BIBLE STUDIES

Dr. F. W. Gingrich will teach the Bible Class Sunday morning, March 3. His subject will be "A Nation Demands a King." Stewart McCleary will lead the devotional service. Last Sunday Professor Lewis E. Smith discussed "A People Demands a King" and Irene Fisher was in charge of the worship service.

VESPER SERVICE

Helen Sieber and Betty Leinbach will lead Vespers on Sunday, March 31st, at 7:30 p. m. in Sylvan Chapel. Stewart McCleary led last Sunday and spoke on the subject "Time Is Valuable, Use It Wisely."

NOON PRAYER

Starting today, the Noonday Prayer Group leaders for the week are: today, Robert Buxton; Wednesday, Joy Cutler; Thursday, Kenneth Good; Friday, Ray Pottlienger, and Monday, April 1, Jack Shaffer. The Prayer Group meets in Sylvan Chapel at 1 p. m.

Vocalists, Orchestra Present Music Fete

"Birds on the Wing, Music's the Thing" was the theme of musical talent night last Friday evening in the College Dining Hall. The College Orchestra and Glee Club participated, directed by Hans Nix and Professor John Duddy, respectively.

The soloists were Dorace Hornberger, Jeanne Schlegel, and David DeWitt. Elizabeth Pottlienger, Betty Fioletz, and Carolyn Powers comprised the trio. Shirley Sperans managed the affair for Student Council.

Lions-in-the-Ranks

By JEAN HARER

This seems to be the week for fan mail. First is a letter from Bill Miller in Japan saying, "Here's a letter thanking you for the last issue of The Albrightian that I received yesterday. It sure is appreciated in this section of the world. I really get the urge to come back when I read about all the fellows I know that are starting the second semester.

Music and Sports

"As for myself over here, life isn't very dull. I'm indulging quite a bit in music, playing with a five-piece combo. That takes three nights a week and then I play basketball two nights. I'm not doing very much work over here. I'm a clerk and really do some loafing. I'm hoping to get a three-day pass soon to visit Braun. If transportation were as good here as in the states we could get together every weekend. He's 300 miles from here. I'm keeping a lookout for some Albrightians over here but as yet had no luck in finding them."

Strangely enough, our second letter is also from a Miller, this time Ensign Herbert Miller, who says:

"For the past two years and longer I have been receiving The Albrightian quite regularly but have never acknowledged the fact to you openly. Perhaps it may seem strange to you that I should at this time voice my appreciation. On the contrary, now is the time for all who call themselves Albrightians to rise up and declare just how much such a school paper means to them.

News From Albright

"Just as a starving man seeks out his life-blood, so do Albrightians search out for news from home . . . from the Alma Mater. The edition of February 19 brought to the limelight the current situation in the publishing of the paper. I am quite confident that certain persons will 'wake up to the call' and not let the Alma Mater go without its newspaper.

"To harp for a moment on an old theme, Albrightians still away from Reading most certainly look forward to getting the 'word' from there. I'm sure you have been deluged with correspondence from men and women still in the service to this effect. I am looking forward to the restoration of full publication with 'all cylinders firing' this time."

Addresses

We have received addresses from several fellows who left at the end of the first semester. Pete Bohren's is: Pvt. Peter L. Bohren, 4255 U-46 Co. A, 16th Bn., 6th R.C., Fort McClellan, Al.

Dick Ulrich and Bernie Lillis are both at the same place, the only difference in their addresses being the last figure in their serial numbers:

Richard Ulrich, AS 2484207
 Co. No. 75, N.T.S.
 Naval Station
 Norfolk 11, Va.

Bernie's address is the same as this, except that his serial number is 2484209.

Appears in Eagle

The March 18 issue of the "Reading Eagle" carried a most interesting story about Manfred Zitzman. We are quoting it here as it appeared in the "Eagle."

"The duties of an obstretrition are probably not included in navy regulations governing his rank but an emergency requiring the need of one faced Ph.M. 2/c Manfred Zitzman of West Wyoming on a six-day voyage in an LST between Saipan and Okinawa.

Maternity Ship

"In a letter to his parents, the sailor related his unique experience. The LST was transporting Okinawa natives from Saipan, when Zitzman was informed that one of the women was about to give birth to a child.

Twin Boys

"With no other medical officer aboard, the pharmacist with the aid of the other native women, took over and delivered twin boys. In the letter Zitzman stated that these are 'probably the only twins born on an LST.' Later on the same voyage another woman gave birth to a girl."

Television Near

Television is just around the corner for people who live near large metropolitan cities. RCA and several other large manufacturers expect to have receivers on the market within the next six months. They'll sell for around two hundred dollars and the picture they pick up in your home will be as good as the average 16 mm. movie.

Everybody Out

The final rehearsal of the "Seven Last Words" has been scheduled for this Thursday at 7 p. m. The attendance has been good, but Prof. Duddy requests that since this will be the concluding rehearsal, the group turn out to the last man, and woman.

So "ladies and gentlemen of the chorus," take your vitamins, and come prepared for a full hour's rehearsal.

COUNCILMEN

Woerle, Ira Custman, Herbert Hyman, and Frederick.

It was decided at last Thursday's Council meeting that this Relations committee be retained as a standing committee to act as an intermediary between students having complaints and the faculty and administration. It was also decided that Council act immediately upon some of the suggestions offered.

Clarify Bureau

Kenneth Good, president, appointed Dennis Ertel, Fred Perfect, and Dr. H. P. Tripp to compose a committee to explain and clarify to groups on campus the details and ramifications of the Bureau of Student Publications, which was introduced at the Council meeting of March 14 by Professor Lewis Smith. This action arose because representatives felt that their groups did not understand what the "Press" Bureau would mean.

Boxes for Europe

Irene Fisher suggested that Council be responsible for sending at least one box of food and clothing a week to needy in Europe. She suggested that a box be placed in Alumni Memorial Library where students and faculty may leave contributions for these boxes, and that a money box also be placed there.

The following representatives were absent from Student Council last week: Agnes Snyder, daywomen; Newell Wert, junior class; Marie Bonner, senior class; Ira Custman, daymen; Herbert Hyman, A.P.O.; Betty Burnett, PAT; Shirley Sperans, dorm women; Herbert Vogt, Zetas; and Leroy Hertzog, dorm men. The faculty advisors missing were Lester L. Stabler and Professor Lewis Smith.

Albrightians Outscore Opponents; Cappel High Scorer, Kubisen Next

Bill Beal finally put his slide rule away and for the first time allowed we, the people, to take a look at the official statistics of the basketball season.

After a shaky start, the Albright Lions rallied to win twelve of their last sixteen games to end the season with twelve victories and ten defeats for a percentage of .545.

Cappel High Scorer

High scorer of the season was lanky Lee Cappel, winner of the most valuable player award, who dunked in 207 points in nineteen games for a 10.89 average per game. Joltin' Joe Kubisen was second with 136 points, nosing out ex-GI Russ Guensch whose 133 points in nine games gave him a 14.77 average per game, high for the team.

Seaman Bernie Lillis finished in fourth place, two points behind Guensch, with 131 points. Center Mort Witman with 101 points was the remaining player who cracked the 100 mark.

Gannon Mauld

High game score was the 70 points the team poured through the nets at Buffalo against Gannon. The scoring famine came against G-burg when the Red and White could only manufacture 25 points. The best individual game score was Lee Cappel's 26 points against LaSalle and his 20 points against Gannon. Russ Guensch followed with 24 points against West Chester and 21 against the hapless Gannon. Joe Kubisen's 21 against Lebanon Valley was the only other score over 20.

1053 Points

The Albrightians outscored their opponents 1053 to 1023, for an average of 47.86 per game to 46.5. The team made 235 fouls out of 419 tries, while the opponents made 211 out of 410. Bill Emerich's 12 fouls out of 16 was high percentage in the foul department. Lee Cappel's 51 fouls topped that department.

All told, Coach Harris had a total of 25 players in the Albright uniform, which is some kind of record.

Rdg. High Sextet Drubs Freshmen

The Reading High girls' basketball team nudged the freshmen team of Albright 28-24. The Readingites breathed hard in the last quarter with only a bucket lead until Mary Blecker slipped past the Albright defense to tab two markers to clinch the game for the Red and Black.

Frosh Fuld

The Red and White started off with a bang, collecting eight markers and holding their opponents scoreless. The Reading sextet soon shook their slump, and that marked the beginning of a neck-in-neck contest till the final whistle. The Albrightians fought hard but couldn't seem to get those last two baskets.

Mary Blecker starred for the Castle on the Hill while Jean Long copped top honors for the Alma Mater. The game was the last of the season for the Frosh who won one and dropped two.

Frosh Beat Uppers

On Tuesday, March 19, the women's intermural basketball league got under way as the frosh team downed the upperclassmen 19-12.

The first half found the frosh boasting eleven points with the upperclassmen staring at a hopeless zero for their side. The second half proved to be better for the latter for they outscored the frosh 12-8. In spite of this rally, the upperclassmen found themselves lacking enough to overcome the freshmen sextet.

Side Lions

"Whatever is worth doing is worth doing well." Half-hearted efforts net half-hearted results. A gal or fellow who does not have his or her heart and soul in the work should not participate . . . too much depends on every individual. A trainer can make or break a team; so can a player.

Let's squash animosities between one another on our fields of play; confidence and cheerfulness are contagious . . . let's start throwing around a few of these germs; 'twill be good practice for next year's contestants and on-lookers.

Competition calls for great expenditure of energy; competition is fun and healthy for us all . . . so how about us getting loaded with surplus energy: Let's sleep and eat like normal people. Was it Wordsworth who said: "Books, what a dull and endless strife" . . . or something like that . . . oh, oh, put that pistol down, Prof!!!

Mama always said that the best years of life are wasted on youth . . . let's not degenerate into flabby, pot-bellied, mushy-faced, bleary-eyed travesties of men and women . . .

Come, kiddies, let's be dynamic and peppy!!!!!!!

FEMME SPORTS

The lassies of Albright are still plugging right along at the old bowling ball. This past week the head ten coeds of the ten-pins are:

1. Reinhart—135
2. Roth—133
3. Reinsel—129
4. Miller—122
5. Volt—121
6. Hornberger—119
7. Moyer—118
8. Seisler—111
9. Griesemer—104
10. Deibert—101

On Tuesday, March 19, Mary Eschwei, softball manager, and Jeanne Flickinger, tennis manager, attended a conference of athletic managers from the colleges of the Philadelphia area held at Temple University. Schedules for spring sports were drawn up at this time.

Softball will probably predominate the femme varsity schedule for spring, with tennis running a close second. Archery, badminton, and other spring sports will continue in the intramural list. The tentative softball schedule includes the following contests:

- Ursinus at UrsinusApril 24
- Temple at AlbrightMay 4
- Drexel at AlbrightMay 13
- Beaver at BeaverMay 18

A softball playday is being arranged for April 13. Cedar Crest, Moravian, and Kutatown have been invited to participate.

The tennis team will see action in the following matches:

- Ursinus at AlbrightApril 26
- Drexel at AlbrightMay 13
- E. Stroudsburg at E. StroudsburgMay 17

Around this time of each year we start to wonder what is going to be done about the formation of intramural softball. Last year as we remember, the softball league did not fare too badly. In spite of the fact that the set up worked pretty well, the number of participants was minimized because of the fact that there just wasn't too much Albright manpower.

This year things look much brighter and a pre-war softball league should not be hard to formulate. We don't know what the Interfrat Athletic Council has planned; however, it is a sure thing that there is enough available material to support at least a 6-team league. By way of suggestion, we would like to ask the Council to set up a league as soon as possible.

In talking about things for the future, two traditional sports events are brought to mind. One is the annual Skunk Day softball game in which the females play the males for the Skunk trophy, "Horatio," who now resides in The Albrightian office. This event is sponsored by The Albrightian and will be held sometime in April or May. The other traditional classic is the Interfraternity Track Meet which for the last few years has been on the shelf. With most of the fraternities getting back to pre-war standards, we think it is time for this event to be revived. What do you say?

It's good to see Bud Fromuth elected captain of next year's football team. Bud's a "go getter" and should be a valuable asset to the Albright squad. Incidentally, Bud's brother "Joey" frequently breaks the headlines since he too is quite an athlete at Central Catholic.

Incidentally, this past week Albright's Russ Guensch was given honorable mention on the Pennsylvania all-state team. Although playing in only the last nine games of the season after his Navy discharge, Guensch scored 133 points to place him among the state's highest average men.

Some players the Albrightians faced who were also mentioned were Bill Polletti of St. Joe's, Bobby Walters of LaSalle, Frankie Heath of Elizabethtown, and Joe Lord of Villanova.
