Annual Pretzel Bowl Game TomorrowOver 1000 Alumni Attend
Homecoming Day Festivities

More than 1000 graduate Al-brightians returned to the scene of their college days for the annual Homecoming get-together Saturday.

The ground-breaking for the Merner-Peiffer-Klein chapel auditorium headed the day's program which included an alumni luncheon, a football game with Moravian College, and an after-the-game celebration in the physical education building.

Queen

A "queen and her court" was announced Friday evening at the Ivy Ball to reign over the week-end festivities. Jane Yeager, a junior from Phoenixville, was elected queen, and Diane Andriella, '61; Mary Bray, '59; Marilyn Hogg, '61; Barbara Schaefer, '61; Carolyn Sharpless, '62; and Carole Wilson served as her attendants.

Dr. Masters Speaks

President Harry V. Masters spoke at the luncheon conducted by the Rev. Cecil P. E. Pottiger, pastor of Grace Evangelical United Brethren Church, Telford. Rev. Pottiger offered a memorial tribute to the recently deceased Charles (Pop) Kelchner.

The Kappa Upsilon Phi fraternity enjoyed the distinction of witnessing two of its alumni brothers

'Crichton' Slated
For Fall Production
By Domino Club

The Domino Club will present "The Admirable Crichton" by J. M. Barrie for its fall production. "Crichton" is one of the best known of Barrie's modern fantastic plays.

J. M. Barrie, a late 19th and early 20th century English playwright, is noted for his gift of writing fantasy and making the dream-like world seem real. Barrie's best known, and in the opinion of many the best of his plays, is Peter Pan, which has enjoyed a long and successful stage history.

Cast

The cast of the play includes Steven Roth, '61, in the title role of Crichton (Roth will be remembered for his portrayal of Professor Henry Higgins in the Domino production of "Pygmalion" last spring); Ronald Eisenberg, '61, as Ernest; James Garafalo, '61, as Treherne; Howard Deck, '61, as Lord Loam; and Diane Andriella, '61, as Lady Mary.

Also Robert Bollinger, '62, as Lord Brocklehurst; Margaret Frieden-

Janice E. Killian Is
Pretzel Bowl Queen

Janice E. Killian, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Killian, 534 Schuylkill Ave., Reading, will reign as queen of the eighth annual Shrine Pretzel Bowl game tomorrow. Janice, an eighth grade student at Northwest Junior High School, was a patient in the Philadelphia unit of the Shriners' Crippled Children's Hospital for 7½ months during the past year.

To Present Ball

The queen, who will present the official football to the opposing teams during the pre-game ceremonies, will enter the stadium on a float drawn by ponies.

Befitting a queen, she will wear a regal robe and crown. She will be accompanied onto the field by Robert E. Henninger, potentate of Rajah Temple, and Leon S. Blimline, director general of the charity event.—Reading Times Staff Photo.

'Strong Legs Help Weak
Legs' Is Pretzel Bowl Ideal

"Strong legs run that weak legs may walk." Having this as its ideal, as its guiding purpose, the Pretzel Bowl is more than a football game.

Conceived in 1950 by Walter (Wally) Spotts, now potentate of the Rajah Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, the first game in 1951 realized $16,500 for the crippled children in the Philadelphia Shriner's Hospital. In both 1956 and 1957, the hospital received a check for $30,000. The outlook for this year is even better.

Spotts and Leon S. Blimline, another past potentate, have worked tirelessly to improve the event. They credit "about 300 others" with assistance. That the Bowl still in existence is quite an accomplishment if one is aware that the initial program was arranged without money and was greeted by a heavy rainstorm and a bus strike.

Blimline

Blimline, who has been general chairman of the affair for seven of the eight years, noted that "my job is getting easier each year, because I have good, hard-working people who have become accustomed to their tasks and handle them beautifully."

The first game brought the Rajah Temple the Benjamin Rush Award presented by the Berks County Medical Society. This award is considered to be the Nobel Prize of Pennsylvania.

Bowl Idea

The idea for the Bowl came to Spotts in 1950 during the return trip for the Oyster Bowl sponsored by the Khedive Temple in Norfolk, Va. Spotts told those who had made the trip with him, "We'll have our own bowl in Reading next year."

The idea became a dream, the dream became a reality, and now each year in Reading "Strong legs run that weak legs may walk."

Bohemian Theme For
Mu Fall Rush Party

"Strictly Bohemian, man!" This was the theme of the Pi Beta Mu fall rush party held for approximately 38 freshmen women Monday night at Schlegel Park from 7:30 to 9:30.

Sandra Strickler, '60, was chairman for the event; Cynthia Cook, '61; Carole Rischman, '61; and Patricia Cush, '60, assisted her.

Games and skits based entirely on Bohemian atmosphere were the entertainment for the party. Refreshments were served and favors were given to the women. The favors consisted of live turtles bearing the Mu emblem.

Election Night Watch

More than 100 Albright students, professors and interested spectators visited the Pine Room Tuesday night to help the Political Parties class keep their "Election Night Watch." Students from the class kept up-to-the-minute results from all crucial areas posted on a large blackboard. The watch was financed mainly by the Citizenship Clearing House.

Albright Eleven
Set To Better
Past Record

The annual Shriner's Pretzel Bowl, slated for tomorrow afternoon in Albright Stadium, will be the eighth game in the series which was inaugurated in 1951. Having as its purpose the raising of financial assistance for the crippled children in the Shriner's Hospital in Philadelphia, the Bowl has, despite some ill weather, been particularly successful in the past.

Lion Record

Albright has snared two victories, dropped four encounters, and once fought to a tie in the seven-year history of the affair. In the initial encounter in 1951 the Rams from West Chester State Teachers College stunned a strong Lion squad in a 32-9 melee. The Lions scored first on a pass from Chauncey Krout to Gerry Potts with Tony DiApolito making the placement; it was all West Chester after that except for an Albright touchback later in the game. Twenty-seven high school bands performed before a vast audience of 7,500 at Municipal Stadium that day, and the initial Pretzel Bowl game went into

President Masters Expresses College's Thanks To Council

President Harry V. Masters made his first appearance of the current semester before Student Council Tuesday. His visit was prompted by a two-fold purpose.

President Masters told Council members, "I want to express the appreciation of the college generally and of myself particularly for the wonderful Homecoming." It was, according to President Masters, "the finest Homecoming ever." He requested that Council members carry home to their groups the "sincere appreciation" of the administration for "a job well done."

Second Purpose

The second purpose for his visit was to request Student Council to give consideration to the matter of appointing two students to a committee to be formed in the near future. The committee would have the responsibility of developing the "Albright Image." The "Image" would be a short description of the type of person the student should hope to be at the completion of his undergraduate days at Albright College.

Also included in the business of the last meeting were the proposed Student Council budget for the first semester, the float parade and a report from the Friday night activities committee.

Allan Kütner, '60 (Dorm rep.), treasurer, presented the proposed budget to the Council. Emphasizing that the figures, for the most part, were only approximations

Music Concerts
Series Opens
Here Sunday

Albright students are invited to attend the 1958-1959 concert series sponsored by The Greater Friends of Music. These musical presentations are held on the Albright College campus and are open to the general public.

Local Artists

Featuring local artists, performing on a non-professional basis, the series is an outgrowth of a similar group of concerts held in the Jewish Community Center for the past few seasons.

A committee composed of Dr. Samuel B. Shirk, Director of Public Relations at Albright, William E. Maier, '31, and Max Winter have announced the first program for Sunday at 3 p.m., in Krause Hall. Subsequent programs are planned for Sundays Jan. 11, March 8 and April 19, 1959.

Featured Composers

The pre-classical composers, Vivaldi, Handel, and Graupner, and 18th century Haydn, will be featured Nov. 9, with vocal and instrumental numbers on the program. Howard Deck, '61, will direct the Paganini Symphonette of the Wyoming Institute of Fine Arts.

receive special awards: Elmer L. Mohn, class of '02, was recognized as the oldest member of the alumni in attendance, and Renaldo Ridolfi, '47; was credited with traveling farthest to attend. His home is Detroit, Michigan.

The presence of Atty. Carl F. Mogel, president of the Alumni Association, and Student Council President Herbert Zakrison was acknowledged at the luncheon.

Moravian Wins, 15-12

The football game, won by Moravian, 15-12, was preceded by the traditional float parade with all the college fraternities and sororities in competition for the two prizes awarded. The Zeta Omega Epsilon entry, entitled, "Moravian in the Doghouse," was adjudged the winner while the Kappa float with the theme, "Greyhound Stew," was given second place.

Song Fest

For the first time the campus groups engaged in songfest competition held in the Physical Education Building immediately after the game. The Pi Alpha Tau sorority took the honors here. Frank Sudock, senior Lion quarterback, was awarded the "Haps Benfer" Trophy given to Albright's most valuable player of Homecoming Day. Albrightian sports editor Michael Teitelman made the presentation.

The Ivy Ball, which officially opened the round of festivities, was acclaimed a "huge success" by chairman Marianna Wonder, '60. Music for the affair was provided by Johnny Barker and his Redcoats.

berg, '62, as Lady Catherine; Nancy Hellman, '60, Lady Agatha; and Sandra Mendelsohn, '62, as Countess of Brocklehurst. Other members of the cast include Anne Gilbert, '60; John Grove, '62; Sandra Hart, '62; Terry Haines, '62; Frances Jervis, '60; Andrea Larson, '62; and John Weaver, '61.

Hostetter To Direct

"Crichton" will be directed by Miss Patricia A. Hostetter, instructor in English and advisor to the Domino Club. Mrs. R. B. Harrison, Shillington, will coach the English dialects for the play. Mrs. Harrison served in the same advisory capacity for Pygmalion.

Four-Act Play

A four-act play, the action takes place partly in the drawing room of an aristocratic English household and partly on a desert island. Shipwrecked on the island for two years the English family becomes the willing slaves of their former butler; however, upon their return to civilization the original positions of the characters are resumed.

ACS Program

A movie entitled "Cancer" has been scheduled for the program portion of the next meeting of the American Chemical Society. Refreshments will be served after the meeting, which is on the calendar for 7:30 p.m., Wednesday in the science hall.

Robert Goldsmith, '59, president, promises that this will be "one of the best and most interesting meetings of the year."

Council

Kutner asked for Council's approval of the budget. It was unanimously approved.

A discussion of Saturday's float parade was precipitated when Michael Teitelman, '60 (Jr. Class rep.), suggested that the float parade be held during the half time ceremonies from now on. Herbert Zakrison, '59, president, commented on the small attendance at the time of the parade and voiced agreement with Teitelman's idea. Zakrison decided that the suggestion be in-

Summer Job Opportunities In Europe

The American Student Information Service, located in Limburg/Lahn, Germany, has announced that it will again have jobs to offer to American university students who wish to work in Europe next summer. Most of the jobs available are on farms, in factories, on construction projects, at resorts, with the forestry service, and in various technical industries. The wages and conditions of all the jobs are the same as those of the people with which the students are working.

Founded Last Year

The American Student Information Service, founded last year as an experiment to see if American university students would be interested in working during the summer months in Europe, is a non-profit organization whose main purpose it is to promote closer relations and understanding between the future leaders of Europe and America. The experiment proved itself a success after a number of students reported their unforgettable experiences working throughout Europe last summer.

Requirements

Students interested in working in Europe next summer must join the American Student Information Service at a cost of $12 (membership is renewable and valid for four years regardless of class). In addition to the membership fee, the organization must have the student's name, university address, age, sex, course of study, previous work experience, and the date the student wishes to begin working, in order to process job applications. The mailing address of the American Student Information Service is Josef-Ludwig Str. 4a, Limburg/Lahn, Germany.

Letters To The Editor The Universalist

Mr. James M. Still
Editor-in-Chief
THE ALBRIGHTIAN

Dear Jim:

On behalf of the Albright College Alumni Association, and in particular, those alumni who returned to campus last Saturday, we want to say "thank you" to all Albright students who helped make 1958 Homecoming a great day!

If it were not for the sincere efforts of many students who plan so appropriately for returning Albrightians, Homecoming would lack the color, pageantry and "welcome home" atmosphere that make it so enjoyable. To the athletic teams, marching band, organizations participating in the float parade and songfest competition, and all members of the student Homecoming Committee, we want to express sincere appreciation for the part each had in making the day's program a success!

It is only on occasions such as Homecoming that all Albrightians can be together. You have helped make our recent celebration again one to be remembered.

Sincerely yours,
MARY FRY GOOD,
Executive Secretary

An Open Letter To The Students Of Albright College:

Throughout the week there has been much discussion concerning trophy winners in last weekend's Homecoming float competition. Some contend that the best float did not win the trophy, some say the competition was fixed, and a few go so far as to say the winning fraternity had a hand in fixing the decision.

I could simply reply "sour grapes" and let it go at that, but I want to emphasize that a fraternity loses much of the pride and sentiment that goes with winning a trophy when others are saying, "We should have won it." So let me attempt to clarify things.

The latter two accusations mentioned above are ridiculous. If one has knowledge or proof that such a "fix" took place, let them come forth, but to even so much as mention them only tends to cripple the tradition and meaning of fraternity-sorority competition.

As far as the first accusation goes, I have this to say. Any one of normal intelligence should know better than to question the decision of a judge. They are selected to render a decision and, whether we all agree with it or not, this decision must be final. The float judges were picked in good faith by the college to do a job. They did that job by awarding the trophy to the fraternity that THEY thought presented the best float . . . so be it!! I might add that all three judges rated the floats individually at first and then compared ratings. The Zetas were a unanimous choice for Number One.

In closing, I want to say that I know it is tough to work very hard on something and get no more recognition than a pat on the back. Material gains in the form of a trophy, naturally, mean so much more. However, if each fraternity and sorority presents a good showing in competition, as was the case last weekend, they should all feel a sense of accomplishment and pride, even if there is a vacant spot on the mantle where the trophy would have gone. The pride rests in knowing your group worked together as a unit to produce a good thing. This alone, is one of the good things about fraternities and sororities.

So let's allow history to remain as such. Homecoming 1958 was a success, the floats were beautiful, the trophies were awarded, and the Zetas and Kappas are quite happy.

The Universalist differs from other churches in that it is a non-creedal church. The Universalist places religious fellowship upon a spiritual rather than a verbal basis—faith is larger than creed. Universalists feel that creeds restrict the right and the opportunity to recognize and reflect in religion the change and growth which is a part of life itself.

While Universalists admit there are limitations of knowledge which prevent the expression of any certain and definite familiarity with whatever lies beyond mortal existence, they contend that the energies and powers of humanity should and must be directed toward the achievement of brotherhood among men.

Universalism

Universalism recognizes that religion has been divided into many forms and believes that an appreciation and an understanding of other faiths and traditions should be developed. Regarding each faith as a part of the infinite spiritual wealth with which man has been endowed, the Universalist's aim is to seek and to discover the values and inspirations in all religions.

Among the blessings mankind has received, the Universalist affirms that the power to think and to reason is the most divine. They claim that there is no other way to separate error from truth except by investigation and the use of reason.

The creation of our world and the universe transcends our human intelligence, but Universalists have faith in its dependability, and believe that from man's intelligence must be produced the means for curing the ills of existence.

Universalists realize that not one of the values of faith they affirm is more than a fantasy unless the conviction behind it is committed to life. However, they know that when this faith is given its rightful place in our daily lives, it brings to us and to all mankind a sense of kinship and of solidarity which is the purpose and goal of universal religion.

Albright Is Talking About

By Barbara Sychterz

. . . The Zeta Omega Epsilon fraternity winning first place in the float competition in the stadium last Saturday. I think that congratulations are in order for Ron Whitmoyer, chairman of the Zeta float committee, and his co-workers, for a job well done.

. . . The quaint song called "Wim-O-Way," which won the PATs a first place plaque in the songfest held in the gym after the Homecoming game. Not only did the PATs sing a winning song, but their appearance in white blazers and dark skirts gave their performance an air of uniformity which made them outstanding.

. . . The really beautiful float entered in the float competition by the Pi Tau Beta fraternity. In my opinion, it was one of the most outstanding floats in the parade. No "slip-shod" workmanship was evident on the float, and I think that the brothers of Pi Tau Beta should be commended on entering what was, in my estimation, a "prize winning" float.

. . . The fact that on the whole, this year's Homecoming was a wonderful success. Will Stitzel can rightfully sit back and feel proud that he was the chairman of such a tremendous weekend.

. . . The interesting talk given on alcoholism in chapel last Tuesday. The lecture was presented by an alcoholic who is now a successful man due to his association with the Alcoholics Anonymous.

'On Customs And Avoiding Them'

By Paul Keller

"Button, Frosh!" "Louder, Frosh!" "Let's hear the Alma Mater, Frosh!" By the way, Frosh, what's on page 16 of the Compass?"

These are the sounds of Customs, an extremely miserable period in the life of the college freshman. Supposedly Customs is a period in which the upperclassmen take time out to meet and acquaint the freshmen with the games of Albright. This is to be accomplished through an extremely crude process called buttoning, on which the Compass has this to say: "Freshmen will be required to 'button' when requested by upperclassmen, after which the upperclassman will introduce himself to the Freshman." I have buttoned at least 30 times and out of these 30 times, three upperclassmen have taken time to introduce themselves.

Customs are disgusting, not because of upperclassmen as a whole, but because of a small, power-happy minority called "Frosh Beaters." All "Frosh Beaters" fall into one of two categories. In the first category we find the "Flunkies" who, because they are on probation or close to it, take up "Froshbeating" as an outlet of emotions and an easier of tensions. Into the second category fall the egotists who feel neglected or merely want to show off.

The "Frosh Beaters" are an evil cult, a wolf pack which will on a whim subject the innocent young freshmen to all sorts of tortures among which are twirling the hula hoop, bowing to their pagan idols, or performing a solfeggio on the second verse of the Alma Mater.

If the trusting young freshman has not been humiliated sufficiently, the "Frosh Beater" will turn his name in to the Kangaroo Court which acts as the Gestapo of the Customs program and holds weekly purges. Once in Kangaroo Court, the freshman is given a sentence without trial and is required to carry a sign and wear pajamas to class.

Customs

Customs are miserable and disgusting, but they can be almost completely avoided by the shrewd individual.

Avoiding White Chapel steps, the Buchenwald of Albright, is the first and most important rule in addition to wearing your dink and name card. If, however, you should blunder into a "Frosh Beater," or still worse, a whole nest of them, there are two courses you can follow. Open one of the books you are carrying and walk alone as if deeply engrossed in it. If you have no books, look as miserable as you possibly can and maybe even start a coughing fit as you walk along with your look of agony. This sympathy "angle" makes the egotists feel good and keeps them from bothering you.

The second method involves walking right into the yogi cult, saying "Hi," and asking a question like, "Pardon me, but could you tell me where the lost and found is?" For variety also make it a point to ask what time it is once in a while.

If you are asked to button, do so loudly and leave the scene quickly. Never press an upperclassman to introduce himself because this will irritate him if he is an egotist. If your next period is a free one, I would suggest that you remain in the building and get a drink or read a bulletin board until the wolf pack outside clears.

By far the hardest situation to get out of and not lose out in the end is Kangaroo Court, for once a person has had his name turned in, he has "had it." The audacious individual, however, still has several courses to follow. Other than cyanide, the first move is to be in a place other than your room on court night. Then, if your name appears on the violator list, carefully forge another list and omit your name. When the hall is empty, quickly switch lists and make yourself scarce for the next week.

If you follow these instructions, you will find that Customs is a game, a game YOU can win.

IN THE LION'S DEN

By MICHAEL TEITELMAN, Sports Editor

The play of the Lions in their first six games has not won many games but it certainly has been improved over the past few campaigns. The line play has been superb in all but two games, the F&M and Lycoming conflicts. Particularly outstanding has been the play of the interior linemen, Jim Doremus, Tony LaSapio and Bob Myers.

Doremus has played three positions this year, he started at center, was shifted to guard, and now plays one of the tackle slots with George Reagen at the other tackle spot. Coach John Potsklan has been more than satisfied with the play from tackle to tackle, but admits that injuries to Claude Lynch definitely hurt the end play.

The Lions tackle a tough Muhlenberg squad in the eighth annual Pretzel Bowl tomorrow. The Mules are led by swift halfback Herb Owens and sophomore sensation Ed Yost in the backfield. Depth is no problem for the Mules under Ray Whispell, who defeated strong Hofstra 12-0 last week for his third victory of the campaign.

Remaining Schedule Tough . . .

The schedule for now until the end of the year is tough, with the Mules tomorrow and then the real powerful foe of the Lions, the Juniata Indians, undefeated in 18 games and once beaten in five years on the gridiron. The Scranton Royals, who opened the campaign taking a 48-0 shellacking from Boston College, have played good football the rest of the year and should prove tough opposition to the Lions.

Hats off to little Mike Varano for a superb performance last week. And congratulations to Frank Sudock for winning the 'Haps Benfer' Award. Tomorrow the Pretzel Bowl Committee will give a trophy to the outstanding Albright and Muhlenberg player of the day.

Moravian Halts Late Lion Rally To Gain 15-12 Win

A Moravian interception halted a Lion last ditch, do-or-die, aerial barrage to preserve a 15-12 decision over faltering Albright College last Saturday at the Stadium.

The annual Homecoming Day attraction was highlighted by the presentation of the Haps Benfer Trophy to quarterback Frank Sudock, most valuable player of the host team.

Greyhound halfback Ron Meyers snatched one of Sudock's desperation passes in the final seconds of play to clinch the game for the visitors from Bethlehem. In dropping their fourth straight decision of the campaign, Albright, led by Mike Varano's 66 yards and two touchdowns, gained 320 yards and fifteen first downs. The Lions racked up 118 air yards on seven completions.

Moravian Gains 201 Yards

Moravian ground out 201 yards, with 25 of them earned on three forward passes. They piled up ten first downs.

Albright assumed the lead midway in the opening period as Mike Varano crossed into paydirt on a nine yard pass from Sudock.

The Lions moved from their own 22 to the Moravian 45 in seven plays with the help of Gerry Bricker's 14 yard draw play. From there Sudock pitched out to Varano who dodged his way to the enemy six, where it became first and goal.

Albright was pushed back to the nine, when, on fourth down, Sudock threw the touchdown pass to Varano. Sudock fumbled on the attempted conversion, but the Lions led, 6-0. A screen pass from quarterback Tony Matz to halfback Larry Reuben put Moravian on Albright's seven early in the second quarter. From there it was all George Hollendersky, who lugged the ball over on his third attempt.

The two-yard thrust came with two minutes gone into the second frame. Hollendersky also booted the conversion as the Greyhounds posted a 7-6 advantage. The Bethlehem gridders retained possession throughout half of the third quarter before Hollendersky scored on a five yard plunge with 7½ minutes remaining.

Victory On Conversion

The conversion pass from Matz to end John Olson eventually proved to be their insurance of victory as they forged ahead, 15-6.

Joe Esposito took the second half kick-off from the eight to his own 36. Fifteen plays and 64 yards later the Greyhounds had the game-winning tally under their belts. Moravian got much of their yardage on plays off the left side of the line.

A 35-yard pass from Sudock to Gary Sheeler, coupled with sizable gains by Bricker and Sudock, put the Lions on the Moravian 27 in the third quarter. Tough little Varano sliced off the right tackle and kept on churning until he had crossed the goal stripe and almost run right off the gridiron. Bricker tried a plunge for the PAT, but failed. This ended the scoring with Albright trailing, 15-12.

the books as a "tremendous success."

Tenley Outstanding Player

Bruce Tenley, Albright halfback who was voted the outstanding player in the 1952 game, scored two touchdowns on a 4-yard slant off tackle and a 20-yard pitchout around left end to lead the 20-0 massacre of Pennsylvania Military College. The Lion defensive unit, rated second to none that year in schools of comparative size tied up the P.M.C. offense in the pouring rain and brought about Albright's fifth win in seven starts in the 1952 season.

Lose 13-0 To L.V.

The 1953 battle saw Albright lose, 13-0, to the Flying Dutchmen of Lebanon Valley. Jack Huntzinger won the most valuable player award for Albright, while Lou Sorrentino copped the prize for L.V. Sorrentino was quite a nemesis for the Lions as he scored both touchdowns and completed nine out of 23 passes on the snow-covered field.

Harriers Have 2-6 Record Thus Far

The Albright College Harriers, Coached by Gene Shirk, have racked up a score of two victories and six defeats so far this season.

Stuber First

Ron Stuber finished first in the first two meets with Haverford and Dickinson. The Lions gained a win over Haverford 17-42 but Dickinson handed Albright a defeat 50-15. Meets with Lafayette on Oct. 15 and West Chester on Oct. 17 resulted in losses with scores of 50-15 in both cases.

Harriers Lose To E-Town

On Oct. 21, the Harriers suffered a loss at the hands of Elizabethtown 21-17 with George Mack of the Albright squad coming in fourth. Other Albright runners coming in were McCloy, Stuber, Sommer, Diehm, Leber, Seltzer, and Jay Miller.

in 1954 when it turned back Muhlenberg, 12-7. Tom Pollock recovered a Mule fumble on the enemy 14 yard line and intercepted a pass to set up both TD's for Albright. Willy Smith scored the second tally on a spectacular 35-yard end run. Pollock received the MVP award. It is interesting to note that Muhlenberg is the only team to have met Albright more than once in the eight years of the series.

Gettysburg Wallops Lions

Gettysburg, with the team that had "everything," came to Albright under the lights for the first time in the Pretzel Bowl series and shellacked the Lions, 46-6. Roy Dragon, Albright's outstanding player, scored the only Lion TD and completed eight out of 16 passes against the overwhelming odds. Bob Lebo starred for the Bullets.

In 1956 a chilled crowd of 4,000 saw Albright fall before the Moravian Greyhounds, 26-7. Tom Pollock again was voted Albright's MVP award in scoring the Lion's only six-pointer. George Hollendersky, who ruined the Lions just last week, received the nod for Moravian as its outstanding player.

In last year's bruiser Albright held favored Lycoming to a scoreless draw. In fact the Lions did better than that by consistently outgaining and limiting the Warrior offense which had notched 40 and 34 points in previous games to a mere 120 total net yards gained. Gerry Bricker was nominated as the outstanding Albright player.

The meet with Muhlenberg on Oct. 28 resulted in Albright's second win of the season. George Mack finished second. Other Albright sprinters to follow were McCloy, Stuber, Seltzer, Sommer, Jay Miller and Leber.

The Harriers lost to Moravian 27-20 last Saturday, George Mack coming in third. Bob McCloy was the second runner to finish for Albright.

Mules Have Good Record

This year's Shriner's Pretzel Bowl should prove to be quite a delicious affair as the Muhlenberg Mules, the salt of Lehigh County, try to match twists with the Albright Lions of Pretzel City tomorrow afternoon.

Coach Ray Whispell's hungry marauders invade the campus with a 3-2 menu to continue a long standing series in which the Mules lead, 21 games to 13. Last year's Mules-Lions battle ended in an 18-14 victory for Muhlenberg at Allentown.

Mules Have Experience

The Mules pack a lot of "dough" in the line with good experience and depth. The backfield has little experience in comparison, but can boast of several good starters, including halfback Herb Owens, who displayed tremendous speed in scoring three touchdowns against Temple to "salt" away the Mules' win. He will be joined in the backfield by either Robert Butz or Tom Wargo at the other halfback slot, Jim Nonnemaker or Ralph Borneman at quarterback, and probably Ed Yost at fullback.

Yost has been a consistent short yardage man for the Mules. He gained 62 yards in nine carries and scored the Mules' only touchdown in one of their toughest games against Gettysburg. He is also touted as a good blocking back. Ralph Borneman hails from Boyertown, Berks County, and as a soph has made a good gridiron reputation for himself.

Muhlenberg began its season by dropping a 27-14 encounter to Lafayette, but bounced back to surprise Temple in winning, 21-18. Against Albright's common opponents Whispell's men have swamped Lebanon Valley, 42-12, and lost to Gettysburg in a fierce 7-6 fray. Last week they moved over the .500 percentage mark once again as they blanked Hofstra, 12-0, in the Mules' homecoming game at Allentown. Altogether the Mules have amassed 95 points and have yielded 64 tallies in five games to their opponents.
